PHILIP ABRAAMS

Funeral services for Philip Abrams, 73, of 80 Summit Avenue, honorary president of the Mishkan Tfila Synagogue on Howell Street and New England regional vice president of Mizrahi, the Orthodox Zionist organization, were held Sunday afternoon at the synagogue. Rabbi Aaron Goldin officiated. Burial was in Lincoln Park Cemetery.

Mr. Abrams, who died early Sunday morning after a brief illness, leaves his wife, Minnie (Wilkes) Abrams; three daughters, Mrs. William Aron, Mrs. Edward C. Spencer and Miss Edith Abrams, all of this city; a brother, David, of New York City, and eight grandchildren.

He came to Providence from Poland in 1904 and established a wholesale glass container business which he operated until the time of his death.

Mr. Abrams was treasurer of the Chesed Shel Emes, and the Moes Chitim, local treasurer of Mizrahi and a former treasurer of the Hebrew Free Loan Association. He was a former president of Congregation Ahavath Shalom. In addition, he served as a member of the board of directors of the Waad Hakashruth, and was a member of the Miriam Hospital, Hebrew Sheltering Association, Jewish Home for the Aged, Zionist District of Providence, and the Hapoel Mizrahi. ✓
