JOHNSTON — Louis Astrachan, 81, of Cherry Hill Manor, a film projectionist for General Cinema and other theaters in Rochester, N.Y., for 50 years before retiring 12 years ago, died yesterday at St. Joseph Hospital, North Providence. He was the husband of Esther (Beckler) Astrachan.

Born in Rochester, a son of the late Israel and Lottie (Goldman) Astrachan, he lived in Cranston for 10 years, before moving to Johnston two years ago.

Mr. Astrachan was a member of Temple Sinai, Cranston, and elected secretary of its Brotherhood. He was a member of the ritual committee of the temple, and led the daily Minyan services. He was a member of the temple bowling league, and served on the bingo committee. He was a member of the Majestic Senior Guild.

In Rochester, he was a member of the Elks and secretary of Local 253, I.A.T.S.E., where he was a 50-year member. He was a former member of Temple B'rith Kodesh of Rochester.

Besides his wife he leaves a son, Rabbi George Astrachan of Warwick, rabbi of Temple Sinai, Cranston; a daughter, Cheryl Feinstein of Coral Springs, Fla.; a brother, Max Astrachan of Los Angeles, Calif., and four grandchildren.
