

BRILL
Jacob

JACOB M. BRILL, 76, of Pleasant Street, a professional trumpet player and retired cleaning-service proprietor, died yesterday at Oak Hill Nursing and Rehabilitation Center.

He was the husband of Deanna (Paer) Brill and the son of the late Henry and Bertha (Gerstenblatt) Brill.

A prominent local trumpet player and member of the Providence Federation of Musicians, he had played with Stan Kenton and Frankie Carl, and was listed in The Best Musicians in Rhode Island. He had also been the proprietor of the former Boston Cleaning Co. and New England Maintenance Inc., retiring in 1990.

An Army Air Forces veteran, Mr. Brill served as a trumpet player during World War II.

He was a former member of Temple Beth-El. He enjoyed spending time with his family.

Besides his wife, he leaves a son, Michael Brill of Pawtucket; two daughters, Lauri Cohen of Ashland, Mass., and Amy Benford of Holliston, Mass.; a sister, Anita Levin of North Lauderdale, Fla.; and four grandchildren.

A memorial service will be held today at 12:30 p.m. in Mount Sinai Memorial Chapel, 825 Hope St., Providence. Burial will be private.
