Ellie was born in Providence, the daughter of Anna (Gubernick) and William Kelman on March 22, 1930. She grew up in Cranston (Edgewood) and witnessed the construction of the Edgewood Port shipyard. She attended Syracuse University, where she received an interior design degree in 1951. Ellie used her design skills to construct or renovate many residential and commercial properties in and around Rhode Island.

As a mother of four children in the early 1960s, she pursued a painting degree at the Rhode Island School of Design. She also co-founded The Arboretum, an East Providence restaurant that combined gourmet dining with an art gallery and folk-art store.

Ellie was everyone’s cool mom; she could tell a captivating story sprinkled with humorous quips and rhymes. With no hesitation, she could intellectualize about race, religion, politics and art. She was open to and promoted diversity and strongly believed in standing up against all forms of discrimination.

Ellie’s artistic talents were undisputable, and she will live on in her design work, paintings, drawings and many other creative projects. Her entire home embodies her life as an artist and designer.

A memorial-celebration for Ellie will be held at noon at her home in Warren on Sunday, December 10 (potluck contributions welcome). RSVP to elliesmemorialcelebration@gmail.com.

Sidney Chafetz

CHAFETZ Sidney Chafetz, renowned artist and professor emeritus of art at The Ohio State University, died January 12, 2013, at his home in Columbus, Ohio. He was 90. Chafetz was passionately interested in politics, justice, education, and literature and almost equally fond of puns, jokes, and bawdy humor. To him, being an artist meant "using satire to stab at pomposity, whether in my own field of academe or in our political world" and "honoring the great poets and writers who speak to the human condition." These beliefs permeated his art. He produced memorable images chronicling political foibles and outrages from the 1950s through the first decade of the 21st century; "academic satires" of life on a large Midwestern college campus; countless portraits of authors and poets as varied as Sholem Aleichem and Amy Lowell; and moving prints celebrating his immigrant ancestors and heritage as a Jewish American. Chafetz also believed his art should challenge viewers never to forget "the evil mere mortals can do when they abuse power." His Perpetrators series depicting individuals who bore responsibility for the Holocaust captured this belief.

Born on March 27, 1922, in Providence, Rhode Island, Chafetz enrolled at the Rhode Island School of Design in 1940. He was drafted into the U.S. Army two years later, and served until 1945. As a soldier in the famed 99th Infantry Division, he was injured in the Battle of the Bulge. After recovering, Chafetz returned to the Rhode Island School of Design, graduating in 1947. He then went back to Europe and continued his professional training at L'Ecole Americaine des Beaux-Arts in Fontainebleau, France; the Académie Julian in Paris; and with artists Fernand Léger and Stanley W. Hayter. He exhibited extensively from 1947 onward, with his work regularly represented in major print exhibitions worldwide, and in solo shows in Paris, New York, and other cities in the United States and abroad. After arriving to teach at The Ohio State University in 1948, Chafetz was instrumental in establishing and nurturing the printmaking program in the Department of Art. He retired from the university as professor emeritus in 1982 so he could concentrate on his own work. Chafetz remained active as a working and exhibiting artist throughout his life, with ideas for new projects percolating even in his last days. His deep appreciation for literature sparked his longtime involvement with Ohio State's Logan Elm Press. His relationship with Logan Elm began with the press's first broadsheet publication in 1978. His honors and awards included two Fulbright Fellowships, a Louis Comfort Tiffany Award, a MacDowell Fellowship, and a Ford Foundation grant. His prints are held in private and corporate collections worldwide, and in such museums as the Cincinnati Art Museum, the Cleveland Museum of Art, the Library of Congress, the Museum of Modern Art, the Morgan Library, the New York Public Library, the Philadelphia Museum of Art, and the Columbus Museum of Art, a major repository of his work. He was elected to the National Academy of Design in 1981 and received the Ohio Arts Council's Governor's Award in 1991. His work is represented by Sherrie Gallery in Columbus. Chafetz was preceded in death by his son Jonathan and his beloved wife, Adrienne Bosworth Chafetz. Survivors include sons, Dan Chafetz (Tucson, Ariz.), Adam Chafetz (Columbus), and Seth Chafetz (Detroit, Mich.); stepdaughters, Karen Elzey and her husband, Chris (Washington, D.C.); and Dana Marshall and her husband, Wes (Fredricksburg, Va.); grandson, Kenny Chafetz and his companion, Allie Klunk (Columbus); and great-granddaughter, Lucy Chafetz (Columbus). He is also survived by his brother, Lester Chafetz, and sister-in-law, Jan (Leawood, Kan.), along with countless friends and lifelong students who knew him as encouraging, demanding, erudite, and witty. Funeral services will be held at 12 Noon on Tuesday, January 15th at THE EPSTEIN MEMORIAL CHAPEL, 3323 E. Main St. with Rabbi Sharon Mars officiating. Burial will follow at New Agudas Achim Cemetery. In lieu of flowers, donations are requested to the Adrienne and Sid Chafetz Printmaking Residency Fellowship Fund (contributions may be sent to Chafetz Fellowship Fund, 1165 Kinnear Road., Room 101A, Columbus, Ohio 43212; checks should be made out to The Ohio State University, with the notation Chafetz Fellowship Fund, #482383). E. Leonard Chaset; Bristol Town Leader

E. Leonard Chaset, 52, of 103 Aaron Ave., Bristol, president of the Bristol Chamber of Commerce and vice-chairman of the town school committee, died yesterday at The Miriam Hospital. He was the husband of Sybil (Blackman) Chaset.

Mr. Chaset, a Providence native, attended Providence College and the University of Rhode Island before joining the Air Force at the start of World War II. Serving as a weatherman in Newfoundland, he rose to staff sergeant.

On leaving the service, he became a partner in the family business, the Superior Coal Co. of Providence. He left that firm in 1963 to start a new company, Heat and Process Engineering Inc., which sells and installs industrial heating equipment.

Mr. Chaset lived in Providence until about five years ago, when he moved to Bristol. He quickly became active in town affairs.

He was especially interested in anti-pollution measures, and founded and led the town anti-pollution committee, which set up a recycling program, among other measures. He was a member of Save the Bay, Inc.

He ran for the school committee as a Democrat in 1970, defeated the Republican incumbent and was elected vice-chairman. He also was a member of the Bristol Rotary Club and Bristol Yacht Club.

Mr. Chaset was interested in cable television and, last month, at the current state hearings on cable television franchises, testified as the prospective general manager of a Warren-Bristol cable system if the license were granted.

He was a member of the century clubs of URI and Roger Williams College, the Bristol Historical and Preservation Society, the Rhode Island Historical Society, the Providence Preservation Society, the Bristol Art Museum, and the Museum of Art at the Rhode Island School of Design.

He was an avid gardener, and belonged to the American Rose Society.

Mr. Chaset was a member of the congregation of Temple Emanuel El of Providence, and the temple's religious school board. He was a former director of the Ledgemont Country Club, and was formerly a Boy Scout leader.

He was a baseball commissioner for the Jewish Community Center, and was a member of the United Jewish Appeal, Fraternal Order of Police Associates, the Roosevelt Lodge of Freemasons, and Palestinian Shrine.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by a daughter, Miss Marjorie A. Chaset, and a son, Laurence G. Chaset, both at home; his mother, Mrs. Ed Chaset Rosenfeld of Miami Beach; and two brothers, Dr. Nathan Chaset and Archie Chaset, both of Providence.

The funeral will be held today at 11 a.m. at the Max Sugarman Funeral Home, 458 Hope St., Providence. The family intends to establish a memorial scholarship fund at Brown University.

Israel Chernick Dies; Bail Bondsman Was 84

Israel Chernick, 84, a professional bail bondsman whose activities occasionally got him in trouble with the courts with which he was familiar, died today at The Miriam Hospital after a two-month illness.

Mr. Chernick, who lived at 14 Sargent Ave., had over the years posted bonds that enabled hundreds of defendants in criminal cases to remain free pending trial. The bondsman, who in early years was a bill collector and later served briefly as a deputy sheriff, owned considerable property in Providence, much of it in the city's poorer neighborhoods.

On occasion over the years Mr. Chernick was barred temporarily from bonding persons by various judges. The usual reason was an excess of bail commitments over the value of his property. But Mr. Chernick managed after each such encounter to work his way back into the court's favor.

The bondsman, whose occupation was listed as the "insurance business" by his family, became known to thousands of criminal defendants over the years. They, in turn, paid him thousands of dollars in fees for posting the bonds that enabled them to retain their freedom while awaiting trial on various charges.

Mr. Chernick in more recent years was a quiet figure, so familiar in the state's court rooms that he blended in with the decor. But the early days of his career were more checkered.

Mr. Chernick, in 1932, was lured to a Benefit Street house where he was beaten and robbed. Later that year he missed another beating by waiving a revolver and threatening to shoot his would-be attackers. He explained the incident:

"Every year I buy thousands of dollars worth of property at tax sales, and I make 20 per cent profit when the people want to buy them back. One fellow, whose house I bought, made some threats. So I thought I better go out and do something."

Mr. Chernick, while a deputy sheriff in the late 1930s, was indicted with several other persons for conspiracy to practice law. The indictments, brought in connection with Mr. Chernick's bill collection efforts in violation of a law restricting such work to lawyers, later were dropped.

Earlier, in the 1920s, Mr. Chernick was sentenced to three months imprisonment for assaulting a man from whom he was trying to collect money. The bail bondsman also was in trouble in that era for an insurance fraud involving an automobile that had been reported stolen though it had not been taken.

Mr. Chernick was the husband of the late Tillie (Berger) Chernick. He is survived by three sons, Melvin Chernick of Providence, Dr. Warren Chernick of Cherry Hill, N.J., and David Chernick of Cranston, who is also a bail bondsman; three daughters, Mrs. Frances Fishlock of Pawtucket, Mrs. Rosalie Glikstein and Miss Ethyl Chernick, both of Providence; a sister, Mrs. Anna Rakusin of Miami Beach; 13 grandchildren, and nine great grandchildren.

Mr. Chernick was born in Russia, a son of the late Abraham and Annie Chernick. He lived in East Providence for more than 50 years before he moved to Providence six years ago.

Active in community affairs, Mr. Chernick was a member of Temple Emanu-El and the Jewish Home for the Aged. He also was a member of the Rhode Island chapter of the International Police Chiefs Association.

The funeral service will be held tomorrow at 11 a.m. at the Sugarman Memorial Chapel, 458 Hope St. Burial will be in Lincoln Park Cemetery, Warwick.

Robert "Skip" Chernov, promoter, dreamer, iconoclast, dies at 63

By Gerry Goldstein

SOUTH KINGSTOWN — Robert A. “Skip” Chernov, the rock concert promoter and restaurant owner who parlayed his flamboyant personality and business sense into big money that he reveled in and then lost, died Dec. 23 at his home in Matunuck. He was 63.

At the height of his career — he boasted that he made a million dollars in 1971 alone — he also owned several bars and restaurants in Providence, including the popular Tortilla Flats and The Warehouse.

In those years, the outrageously uninhibited Mr. Chernov drove a Bentley and posed for the centerfold of an underground magazine wearing nothing but a top hat and a wristwatch. The photographer draped him across a couch, popped a cigar into his mouth, and folded a back issue of the magazine discreetly over his midrift.

Despite his self-description that “I am nasty and I look at the world through hard eyes,” Mr. Chernov softened later in life, adopting a more contemplative demeanor and courageously battling years of debilitating illness. Despite three heart attacks, two open heart operations and a stroke, he continued working out at a South Kingstown athletic club.

He once told an interviewer, “I am very defiant of this stroke; I am not going to let it completely limit me.”

Some wondered just how “nasty” he really was, especially in view of his strong support of the Jimmy Fund, the favorite charity of the Boston Red Sox that helps children with cancer. It was through the fund that Mr. Chernov struck up an enduring friendship with Red Sox great Ted Williams.

One of Mr. Chernov’s most notorious concert promotions involved Sly and the Family Stone. The show, at the old Rhode Island Auditorium, provoked a riot and impelled then-Mayor Joseph A. Doorley to ban rock concerts.

Mr. Chernov’s enjoyment of promotion, self-promotion, and controversy appeared early. As a student at Catholic-run Providence College — he graduated in 1963 — he ruffled sensibilities on- and off-campus by running for student body president under the slogan, “A Jew for You.” He lost.

The financial rise and fall of Mr. Chernov, a graduate of Hope High School whose parents were Jewish immigrants Samuel and Irene Chernov, prompted one headline writer years ago to describe him as a boy wonder who went “from rags to rags.”

Mr. Chernov’s fall came after he turned state’s evidence in 1973 against the head of the newly opened Providence Civic Center, Harold Copeland, accusing Copeland of demanding a $1,000 bribe in return for concert dates. Copeland denied the charges, but was found guilty and fined $1,000.

Afterward, Mr. Chernov said he had been blackballed from concert promotion, and claimed as well that city officials hectored his night spots out of business. Some said his troubles were indeed exacerbated by a vindictive city administration; others wondered whether it was Mr. Chernov’s admittedly abrasive personality that undid him.

Subsequently, his health failed, beginning with a coronary when he was 38. His Bentley went; his house went; his marriage went. In 1984 he was remarried, to the former Mary Ward, who describes their life in South County as a quiet one by the sea.

Mr. Chernov, though, was still dreaming dreams. Just a few years ago he tried to capitalize on a uniquely Rhode Island product — coffee syrup — by concocting and marketing a coffee-based ale. It was a good try, says his wife, but few customers hankered for Silverback Gorilla No. 9 Original Black Coffee Ale.

Still, says Mary Ward Chernov of her late husband: “He was a special person who had the courage to act on his ideas.”

Mr. Chernov was an Army veteran who served in the reserves from 1956-64.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by two sons, Matthew Chernov of Los Angeles and Joseph Chernov of Boston; a daughter, Misha Chernov of Centreville, Va; two stepchildren, Susan Santucci of Cambridge, Mass., and Lynne Traceski of West Warwick; two sisters, Linda Taylor of Newport and Brinda Cohen of Danvers, Mass.; a brother, Michael Samiena Chernov of Pasadena, Calif.; and five step-grandchildren.
SANDICK "DICK" CHERNOV, 67, of 101 Cindy Lane, a retired drapery store owner, died yesterday at home.

Samuel Chester, 99; philanthropist, violinist

Founder of Standard Wire played for R.I. Philharmonic, gave to many causes

By DONITA NAYLOR
JOURNAL STAFF WRITER

Samuel J. Chester was “one of the most religious men that I have ever met in my life,” said Temple Am David’s Rabbi Richard Perlman on Monday as he wrote the eulogy for Chester, who died Friday at age 99.

“He didn’t really want to get into too much detail in regard to going to services and praying,” Perlman said. “But, man, did he enjoy the opportunity to serve God by helping others.”

Chester, who lived in Cranston and founded the Standard Wire Co., then sold it to enter medical research, became a violinist for the Rhode Island Philharmonic at age 58 and played there for 28 seasons.

As a philanthropist, he helped preserve the Music Mansion on Providence’s East Side, aided a kosher food pantry, and created arts centers at Warwick’s Temple Am David and Toll Gate High School. He served as president of the East Greenwich Art Club because his wife, Esther, was a member.

“He died of a broken heart.”

If everyone was put on Earth to make a small difference, Perlman said, “Sam, with all the research he did, and the things that he found that can save people from suffering, did so much that his legacy will live on for many years to come.”

Perlman said Chester had

He was satisfied. He wanted to be back with his Esther.”

Rhode Island Philharmonic conductor Larry Rachleff had trouble with his voice for a moment after learning that Chester had died.

“One should only stand up and cheer when human will and good fortune allows someone to live such an expansive life,” Rachleff said. “There were so many things, obviously, that he was gifted at, and playing the violin was certainly one of them.”

Susan Adler and her husband, Steven, got to know the Chesters through home visits as part of the Jewish Seniors Agency of Rhode Island.

“Sam generously donated money to our kosher food pantry in honor of his parents,” Adler said. The pantry was renamed the Louis and Goldie Chester Full Plate Kosher Food Pantry in 2009.

The Adlers grew as close as family. Sam stepped into the role of grandfather to the Adler children, Joshua and Shoshana, and, after Esther died, joined the family at Passover seders.

“I’m just beyond grateful that we can call him a friend,” Susan Adler said Monday. “We were spoiled; he let us into his life.”

One of the life lessons from Sam Chester, she said, was, “It doesn’t matter what age you are — you love your family, you give back to the community, and you don’t stop.”

Chester’s funeral will be held at 10 a.m. Tuesday at Temple Am David, 40 Gardiner St., Warwick.

I. COHEN, BETTY R.
91, died Thursday, July 19, 2018
at St Elizabeth’s Nursing Home after leading a life filled with grace, dignity, and love. She was completely devoted to her family, especially in her partnership as the beloved wife of the late Donald H. Cohen.

Betty was a daughter of the late Benjamin and Ethel Rosenthal, spending her adolescent years in Upstate New York. In her twenties, Betty moved with Donald to Rhode Island and became a longtime resident of Cranston. It was there where Betty raised her four children who were the center of her life. She was a devoted mother to Dean Cohen (Stephanie) of Chuluota FL, Cindy Collum
(Thomas) of Cranston, Joyce
Paquin of Warwick, and the late Susan Richter. Betty was close to her brothers and sisters, despite their physical distance. She will be lovingly remembered by her sisters Elaine Krouner (Robert) of NY, Selma Schultz of GA and Sheryl Giselson (Seymour) of GA, as well as her brothers Alvin, and the late Donald Rosenthal.

Betty was a proud grandmother to Laura and Brian Matteson, Brent, and Leah Paquin, Jason Richter,
Devin, Zachariah and Kylie
Cohen. Her love and support extended its way to a large circle of nieces, nephews, cousins and friends. Anyone that was an important part of the lives of Betty’s kids and grandkids became her family, without reservation.
While family was undoubtedly Betty’s highest priority, she also made a significant impact in her community. She was the owner of the former Paris Fabric Shops in Warwick for 38 years. Betty was a member of Hadassah and former member of Temple Torat Yisrael in Cranston. She donated generously to many charitable causes and understood the importance of helping those less fortunate than she was. For that and so many other reasons, her family celebrates the way she lived her life and the blessing it was to have been loved by a great woman.

Funeral services will be held
Sunday at 9:30 AM in SHALOM
MEMORIAL CHAPEL, 1100
New London Ave., Cranston.
Graveside services will follow at 2:00 p.m. in Congregation
Beth Emeth Cemetery, 58 Turner
Lane, Loudonville, NY. In lieu of flowers, contributions in her memory may be made to Alzheimer’s Association, 245
Waterman St., #306, Providence,
RI 02906. Shiva will be private.

Dr. Earle F. Cohen dies at age 75; pediatrician and R.I. entrepreneur NEWPORT — Dr. Earle F. Cohen, 75, of 111 Harrison Ave., owner of the Hotel Viking for the past 19 years, and one of Rhode Island's most uproarious entrepreneurs in the 1960s and 1970s, died yesterday at Newport Hospital. He was the husband of Renee (Ehrick) Cohen.

Born in Providence, a son of the late Dr. Leo Cohen and Etta Cohen, he lived in Newport since 1986. A pediatrician by training, Dr. Cohen led four other lives as well — as an opera impresario, real estate developer, taxpayer advocate and hotelier/restaurant owner.

He was also quick to take his grievances to the public, and often to court. He once sued the Rhode Island Turnpike & Bridge Authority when it tried to stop him from offering half-price shrimp dinners in exchange for Newport Bridge tokens.

Dr. Cohen was also once arrested by the Cranston police for tying up their switchboard for 20 minutes in a fury over their not responding fast enough to his complaint about a burglary. He was later acquitted.

He once sued the Rhode Island Builders Association for allegedly denying him membership, and he took the Rhode Island Council on the Arts to court for the lack of funding for Artists Internationale, the non-profit organization he headed to produce opera and ballet.

A graduate of Brown University in 1941, and Tufts Medical School in 1944, he served in the Army during World War II as a medical doctor. He practiced medicine in Providence and Cranston until 1980.

He served on the staffs of Rhode Island Hospital, Miriam Hospital, Roger Williams Hospital and the Boston Children's Hospital for many years. He was a member of the Alpha Omega Alpha Medical Honor Society and the Rhode Island Medical Society. He was the pediatric medical director at the Warwick Neighborhood Health Center for many years.

Dr. Cohen was president of the Rhode Island Taxpayers Action Committee. He was a member of Temple Beth-El and its Brotherhood. He was a member of the Legedmont County Club in Seekonk, and a founding member of the Alpine Country Club in Providence.

He had been practicing medicine for about 10 years in the 1950s when he began moving into the real estate field as a builder of homes and apartment houses. He was the founder and president of Custom Builders. He owned the former Millstone Village Inn in North Attleboro, Mass. In 1976, he purchased the Viking Hotel in Newport, which is currently operated by his sons, Jon E. and Douglas D. Cohen, both of Newport.

Besides his wife and sons he leaves a third son, Dr. Eric R. Cohen of Canton, Mass., a gastroenterologist in Quincy, Mass.; a daughter, Wendy Handler of Chestnut Hill, Mass.; a sister, Eunice Levine of Little Compton, and four grandchildren.

The funeral will be held tomorrow at 2 p.m. at Temple Beth El, Orchard Avenue, Providence. Burial will be in Congregation Sons of Israel and David Cemetery in Cranston.

Born in Providence, a daughter of the late Barnet and Bessie (Braunstein) Rosen, she had lived here all her life. She had been a resident at the home for 11 months.

She was a member of Temple Beth-El, the Miriam Hospital Women’s Association, the Brandeis University Women’s Auxiliary. She was a life master bridge player.

Besides her husband she leaves two daughters, Edith Pearlman and Betty Grossman of Brookline, Mass.; a sister, Marian Tenenbaum of Providence; a brother, Leo H. Rosen of Providence; and two grandchildren.

The funeral service will be held tomorrow at noon at Mount Sinai Memorial Chapel, 825 Hope St. Burial will be in Lincoln Park Cemetery, Warwick.
Elaine Cohen, 87

EAST PROVIDENCE — Elaine Cohen, 87, died June 11. She was the wife of the late Bernard I. Cohen. Born in Providence, a daughter of the late Louis and Anna (Berger) Guny, she was a lifelong resident of Providence.

She was a bookkeeper in her husband’s business, Cohen Mfg., Providence, for 20 years, retiring in 1994.

She was a graduate of the Rhode Island College of Education, earning a degree in teaching.

Mrs. Cohen was a member of Temple Beth-El and its Sisterhood.

She leaves two daughters, Norma Goldberg of Homer, N.Y., and Margery Cohen-Jacoby of Sharon, Mass; a sister, Ida Millman of Connecticut; and three grandchildren, Tara, Greta and Rebecca.

Burial was in Sons of Israel & David Cemetery, 401 Reservoir Ave., Providence.

Contributions may be made to a favorite charity.
COHEN, ELAINE (LEVINE), of Providence died January 21, 2007. She was the beloved wife of Harold L. Cohen for 50 years.

Born in Boston, she was the daughter of the late Samuel and Marcia (Dexter) Levine. Besides her husband, she leaves her devoted daughter, Hilary C. Zwicker and dedicated son-in-law Neal R. Zwicker of Winchester, MA.

Burial and shiva will be private. In lieu of flowers, contributions may be made to The Miriam Hospital, 184 Summit Ave., Providence, RI 02906.
Elie Cohen
March 1, 2018

Dr. Elie J. Cohen of Newport passed away unexpectedly in the Caribbean on March 1 with his wife of 56 years, Marcia, at his side.

He was born in Cairo, Egypt in 1931, the first son of the late Joseph and Rachel Cohen. Elie graduated from the Ein Sham University in Cairo in 1955. He was inquisitive, intellectual and scored the top three spot for the entire country's academic uniform exams. He left Egypt in 1959 and pursued a medical career in the United States. He completed internships at The Miriam Hospital in Providence, surgical residencies at Rhode Island Hospital and Washington Hospital Center in Washington, D.C., and orthopedic residencies at both the University of Maryland Hospital and Kernan Hospital for Children in Baltimore, Maryland.

Dr. Cohen was the first orthopedic surgeon to establish a practice in Newport. He joined the Aquidneck Medical Center in 1972 and set up his private practice. He was licensed to practice in Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Maryland and Virginia. He performed the first arthroscopic surgery, introduced total joint replacement and was known to stay at the hospital round the clock when a patient was in serious condition.

He was certified by the American Academy of Orthopedic Surgeons, a fellow of the American College of Surgeons, a fellow of the American Academy of Cerebral Palsy and Developmental Medicine, Diplomat of the American Board of Forensic Examiners, Diplomat of the American Board of Forensic Medicine and a member of the American Academy of Pain Management. He was also licensed to serve as a physician in Israel in the event of combat.

In addition, he was past president of the Newport County Medical Society, a past president of the Medical Staff at Newport Hospital, a past president of the Medical Legal Committee of RI. He was a member of the RI Medical Society, the American Medical Association, the RI Orthopedic Society, the Boston Orthopedic Club, the University of Maryland Surgical Society and the Eastern Orthopedic Society. Dr. Cohen served as Governor of the Newport HealthCare Corporation, a consultant on the staff of the University of RI Health Services. In 1986 he received the physician recognition award from the American Medical Association. He was appointed to the Workmen's Compensation Committee by Governor Garrahy in 1978 and to the Medical Examiner's Committee by Governor DiPrete in 1987. Dr. Cohen also received a merit award from the AMA in honor of 50 years of dedicated service to the medical profession.

In 2013, Dr. Cohen retired from private practice. He remained an active senior staff member at the Newport Hospital.

Dr. Cohen had many charitable, civic and sporting interests. He was fluent in English, French and Arabic. He loved spending time with his wife, children and grandchildren. He enjoyed worldwide travel and recently returned from an expedition to the Galapagos. He was a member of the Newport Lions Club for more than 40 years and received the Melvin Jones Award. He was a member, trustee and Past Squadron Commander of the Newport Sail and Power Squadron, and held a senior navigator certificate for educational achievement and a Past Commander and member of the Navy League.

Dr. Cohen was a lifetime member of the Newport Yacht Club. He was a past president of B'nai Brith of Newport, a member of Congregation Jeshuat Israel of Touro Synagogue and a founding member of the Touro National Heritage Trust. He enjoyed participating in Alliance Francais events and the Retired Dr. Dinners.

Dr. Cohen will be deeply missed and fondly remembered by his wife, Marcia Cohen and three children: Renee Cohen of N. Kingstown, Audrey Pavia (Joseph), of East Meadow, New York, and Lawrence Cohen (Charlene) of Warwick. He is survived by two grandchildren, Gillian and Jolie Pavia. He is also survived by his brother, Jacob Cohen (Odette) of Baltimore, Maryland. He is also the brother of the late Albert Cohen (Lilliane) of Istres, France and Benjamin Cohen of Baltimore, and beloved nephews and a niece.
COHEN, ELLIOT SHELDON

82, of North Kingstown, passed away peacefully in his sleep early Friday morning in hospice. He is survived by his loving wife of 36 years, Linda McGovern Cohen of North Kingstown, his two daughters Candice L. Maynard of Lincoln and Andrea E. Hamson of Topsfield, MA, their husbands Christopher Maynard and Dale Hamson, his son Jeremy G. Cohen of Needham, MA and his wife Elina Litvak Cohen, his brother Robert Cohen of Arizona and his wife Dorothy Cohen, and his five grandchildren Jared and Justin Maynard, Shea and Ashley Hamson, and Francesca Marilyn Cohen.

After graduating from Classical High School’s class of 1953, he went on to earn his B.A. from Brandeis University and his J.D. from Boston University’s School of Law. He was fond of reminding people that “all three were lousy when I was there.”

Over four decades, he built a successful legal practice based primarily in the Real Estate Sector. He’ll be remembered fondly by courthouse personnel across the state for his profound knowledge of the law, the speed with which he thought on his feet, and his proclivity for tipping bailiffs, clerks and parking attendants at the holidays. He’ll be remembered fondly by his clients and business partners for his honesty and his integrity, neither of which wavered in an era of temptation and grey areas.

Elliot was a founding member of Temple Habonim in Barrington, he was a member of The Lions Club, and he was instrumental in the development of Lischio Field in Slocum, RI.

An avid sports fan, he coached multiple Little and Senior League baseball teams in the 90’s, and was known to leave work early in order to shuttle his players to and from games whenever they found themselves without transportation. A bit excitable, he lamented in his later years that he was the only father who was ejected from a youth sporting event as both a coach and a fan. Nobody, however, could doubt his passion.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday, August 15th at 11AM at Sugarman’s Sinai Memorial Chapel, 458 Hope Street, Providence. The family will be holding a private shiva. In lieu of flowers, donations in his memory can be made to Jewish Family Services of Rhode Island, 959 N. Main St., Providence, RI 02904.

ERNEST E. COHEN, 92, of Wilcox Avenue, a retired clothing-store proprietor, died Thursday at Epoch on Blackstone Boulevard, Providence.

He was the husband of the late Rose (Shlevin) Cohen. Born in Cole Station, Warwick, a son of the late Ichal and Ida (Bottleman) Cohen, he was a lifelong resident of Rhode Island, living in Pawtucket since 1941.

Mr. Cohen was the proprietor of the Children's Shop in Attleboro, which he owned for over 35 years. He previously was an iron molder for the Brown & Sharpe Mfg. Co. in Providence for 15 years.

He was a former member of Congregation Ohawe Sholam. He attended Warwick High School.

He leaves two sons, Irwin H. Cohen of Lafayette, Calif., and Warren S. Cohen of Walnut Creek, Calif., and a grandchild. He was the brother of the late Harry Cohen, Sarah Cohen, Ethel Dewinsky, Esther Cohen, Faye Lewin and Clara Hoffman.

The funeral will be held tomorrow at 10 a.m. in Sugarman-Sinai Memorial Chapel, 458 Hope St., Providence. Burial will be in Lincoln Park Cemetery, Warwick.

Cohen, Ernest E.
COHEN, ESTELLE, 87, of Goodlette Rd., Naples, FL, died Thursday, February 9, 2012, in Windsor Place, Naples. She was the beloved wife of the late Bernard Cohen. Born in Providence, a daughter of the late Nathan and Ida (Goldstein) Kaplan, she had lived in Naples for 5 years, previously residing in Warwick.

Estelle was an order processor for Ross-Simons Jewelers, for 14 years, retiring 12 years ago. She was a past member of Temple Torat Yisrael and Crestwood Country Club. Estelle loved to play bridge and mah-jongg and it was an avid golfer, bowler and knitter.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 11:00 a.m. in SHALOM MEMORIAL CHAPEL, 1100 New London Ave., Cranston. In lieu of flowers, contributions in her memory may be made to your favorite charity. The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want. He maketh me to lie down in green pastures; He leadeth me beside still waters. He restoreth my soul; He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake. Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil; for thou art with me. Thy rod and thy staff they comfort me. Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies; Thou annointest my head with oil; My cup runneth over. Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life; And I will dwell in the house of The Lord forever

Obituaries

Joseph Cohen, 85; aided India Point Park project

PROVIDENCE — Joseph Cohen, 85, of 33 Brookway Road, president for more than 40 years of the Promet Corporation, the former General Scrap Iron & Metals Processing Co., died yesterday at the Jane Brown unit of Rhode Island Hospital after a three-month illness. He was the husband of Edith Lottie (Cohen) Cohen.

Mr. Cohen was a principal figure in the development of India Point Park. Before April, 1968, his company owned a 2.7-acre tract there on which it operated a scrap metal yard, one of several owned by the firm in New England. When a park was proposed in the 1960s as a replacement for the scrapyard, Mr. Cohen agreed to a swap for a parcel at Fields Point.

A 1967 editorial in the Journal-Bulletin said: "Nothing impelled Mr. Cohen to accept the arrangement except his sense of obligation to his state and city, and his readiness to move a major business in cooperation with both governments."

Later, when public funds were being solicited to match government dollars for construction of the park, Mr. Cohen added his personal contribution of $1,000.

Under his direction, the company grew from "a small junkyard" to one of the largest exporters of scrap metal on the East Coast. He said he really began in the business when he worked as boy with his father, who collected scrap with a pushcart in Fall River.

In 1968, he estimated that more than one-third of the cargo shipped out of Providence was scrap from his yard, and that he employed more than a third of all the longshoremen here.

He once said that scrap metal yards, unsightly though they may be, are essential to the existence of any metropolitan area. He speculated that if only his New England operations were closed for a single day, the result would be a chaotic buildup of scrap in many New England communities.

He served in the Navy during World War I. He was a 1919 graduate of Brown University and his fraternity was Phi Epsilon Pi. He had also attended the U.S. Naval Academy.

A charter member of Temple Beth El, he also was a member of Congregation Agudath Achim in Taunton. Mr. Cohen was a past national president of the American Institute of Scrap Iron & Steel, a member of Providence Rotary and the Jewish Federation of Rhode Island.

He was a retired member of the advisory board of the Industrial National Bank.

Born in Fall River, he was a son of the late Louis L. and Fannie Cohen. He had lived in Providence since 1934.

Besides his wife, he leaves a son, Avram N. Cohen of Providence; a brother, Robert J. Cohen of Fall River; a sister, Mrs. Sarah Norman of Brookline, Mass., and a grandchild.

A funeral service was to be held today at 2 p.m. at the Max Sugarman Memorial Chapel, 458 Hope St. Burial was to be in Mt. Nebo Cemetery, Taunton.
Joseph Cohen, who had conducted a shoe business on Eddy street for a number of years, died Wednesday at Miriam Hospital after a long illness. His home was at 238 Baker street. A 1936 graduate of Hope High School, he was a 1940 graduate of the former Rhode Island College of Education, now Rhode Island College.

Mr. Cohen had been a teacher at Chariho High School for 26 years before retiring, as head of the English department, 17 years ago. He also had been a sports writer, and editor of the former Rhode Island Jewish Herald, for 13 years.

An Army veteran of World War II, he retired from the Army Reserve as a lieutenant colonel. He was a member of the Reserve Officers Association and the Jewish War Veterans.

Active in alumni affairs, at RIC, he was a trustee of the Rhode Island College Foundation; a member and past secretary and president of the Alumni Association’s executive board; a past honorary chairperson of the Alumni Fund; and the chairman, since 1989, of the Class of 1940. In 1993, he was named the Alumnus of the Year, and last year, he was named the Alumni Association Partner in Philanthropy, on National Philanthropy Day.

Mr. Cohen was a member of the SABR (Society for American Baseball Research), and had participated in the reenactment of the Blue and Gray Baseball Game on the 100th anniversary of Major League Baseball.

He was a lifelong New York Yankees fan, a member of the Olympic Club, at the Jewish Community Center, and a past commissioner of the Jewish Softball League.

Mr. Cohen had been a member of Temple Torat Yisrael, and its Men’s Club and religious committee, and had run the temple Minyan services. He also was a member of the Touro Fraternal Association, and in 1989, was inducted into the Rhode Island Jewish Hall of Fame.

Besides his wife, he leaves two daughters, Marsha Cohen of Cambridge, Mass., and Jody Alves of Warwick; a brother, David Cohen of Attleboro; a sister, Irma Silverman of Cranston; and two grandchildren.

The funeral service will be held tomorrow at 11 a.m. in Shalom Memorial Chapel, 1100 New London Ave. Burial will be in Lincoln Park Cemetery, Warwick.
COHEN, Dr. William

Dr. William B. Cohen, 71, of 6 Elmway, a dermatologist for more than 40 years, died today in The Miriam Hospital after a two-week illness. He was the husband of E. Lottie (Cohen) Cohen.

Dr. Cohen was born in Providence, a son of the late Joseph and Annie (Lisker) Cohen. He was a 1917 graduate of Classical High School, Tufts University Medical School in 1922, and did postgraduate work at Columbia University.

In 1959, Dr. Cohen's alertness was credited with saving the life of a seven-month-old Pawtucket boy who was suffering from a rare skin disease, exzema vaccinatum. Thumbing through a medical journal, he came upon reports of a new serum designed to treat the disease. He immediately called Colorado and a quantity of the serum was flown here the next day.

He was past president of the medical staff of The Miriam Hospital and was chief dermatologist at the hospital from 1926 to 1950. He also served for 29 years as chief of dermatology at The Memorial Hospital, Pawtucket.

Dr. Cohen was also a consultant dermatologist at Rhode Island Hospital, Our Lady of Fatima Hospital, St. Joseph's Hospital, Veterans Administration Hospital at Davis Park and Fuller Memorial Sanitarium in Attleboro. He was also the author of many articles on dermatology published in the Rhode Island Medical Journal.

He was a member of the American Medical Association, the American Dermatological Society, the Atlantic Dermatological Society, and the New England Dermatological Society. He was a member of Temple Emanuel, the Jewish Home for the Aged, B'nai B'rith and Roosevelt Lodge, F. & A.M.

Besides his wife, he is survived by a son, Daniel Cohen of Larchmont, N.Y.; a daughter, Mrs. Beverly Peterman of Stamford, Conn.; a brother, Dr. David Cohen of Encino, Calif.; a sister, Mrs. Retha Neidorf of Providence, and four grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday in the Sugarman Memorial Chapel, 438 Hope St. Burial will be in Lincoln Park Cemetery, Warwick.
Valerie D. Cohen, 105
EAST PROVIDENCE, R.I. — Valerie Delores Cohen, 105 and eight months, died in East Providence on April 24 with her granddaughters, Sandra Medeiros and Paula Chace, by her side. Valerie was a longtime resident at Waterview Villa Rehabilitation and the oldest resident of the city of East Providence.

Born Aug. 17, 1911, in Orange, New Jersey, to Alma AuClaire and John A. Deary, Valerie was married to the late Sumner A. Cohen. Her brothers were the late Richard Deary and the late Raymond Deary. Valerie was the mother of five children, including the late Patricia Bellanger, Suzanne Frost and Stuart David Cohen, and the surviving Gloria Ledoux (Canada) and Margaret Decoteaux (Maine). She is also survived by 16 grandchildren, including Sandra Medeiros (Rhode Island), Paula Chace (Rhode Island), Valerie McKenney (New Hampshire), and Susan Belanger (Rhode Island), 31 great-grandchildren, five great-great grandchildren, and several nieces and nephews, including Kenneth Blumberg, Alan Weinberg, Donald Weinberg, and Hilary C. Zwicker.

Valerie was a cosmetologist in Rhode Island and in Florida in the 1970s and early 1980s. She loved art and made time to enjoy oil painting and illustration. Her personal art gallery was her collection of paintings over many years. Many of her paintings are now cherished by her family members. Valerie's life was one based on a positive attitude. Always displaying a kind smile and offering great conversation, Valerie would end a visit with memorable warm embraces. She loved being with her family. Music, dancing, great movies, and Broadway musical productions were her favorites.

Donations may be made to the Valerie D. Cohen Memorial Fund, c/o Waterview Villa Residence Council, Waterview Villa Rehabilitation, 1275 South Broadway, East Providence, RI 02914.

PROVIDENCE

CURRAN, BETTY (BRIER), 73, of Providence, passed away Sunday morning, August 28th, at Miriam Hospital after a brief illness. She was a lifelong resident of the East Side of Providence and the loving and devoted wife of the late Dr. Robert L. Curran, also of Providence.

She was born Betty Brier, to the late Charles Brier and the late Blanche (Steiner) Brier Blacher. She attended Henry Barnard and Wheeler schools and graduated from Boston University in 1962 with a degree in Sociology. She married Dr. Curran in 1965 at Temple Emanu-El and had her daughter Susan in 1971. Soon after, she finished her master’s degree in teaching at Rhode Island College. Betty and Bob were married for over 23 years until his passing in 1988.

Mrs. Curran was always interested in history and travel, and visited Europe and Israel with her husband and daughter. She especially enjoyed Italy and took it upon herself to learn some Italian. But for all her love of travel, Betty’s home was the East Side of Providence.

People who knew Mrs. Curran would say that her biggest joys were her daughter Susan and the memory of her husband whom she kept close to her heart and always in her thoughts. She also loved good food and good company. Her favorite pastime was telling and sharing stories of family and friends, both those living and those who had passed away, usually around the kitchen table. She spent her later years with family, a few close friends and the wonderful people who helped her.

She is survived by her daughter Susan and son-in-law Matthew Wilson of Providence and sister Joyce and brother-in-law Warren Galkin of Warwick.

Her funeral service will be held Wednesday, August 31st at 10 AM in the SUGARMAN-SINAI MEMORIAL CHAPEL, 458 Hope St., Providence with burial in Lincoln Park Cemetery, Warwick. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made in her memory to the Robert and Betty Curran Memorial Fund, c/o The Miriam Hospital Foundation, 164 Summit Ave., Providence, RI 02906. Shiva will be observed at her late residence Wednesday and Thursday 2-4 & 7-9 PM.

PROVIDENCE

CURRAN, SUSAN, 41, passed away on the morning of Sunday, January 6th at home after a battle with cancer. A native of Providence, Susan was the daughter of the late Dr. Robert Louis and the late Betty Brier Curran, and the loving and devoted wife of Matthew Wilson, also of Providence.

Growing up on the East Side, Susan attended the Wheeler School before finishing at Northfield Mount Hermon in Massachusetts; she graduated from Boston University with a degree in English. After college, Susan honed her skills at a series of technology startups in the Boston area. Her career wove together her love of words with an interest in technology. She worked as a website editor for Oxford University (Oxford, UK) and Rhode Island School of Design. Susan brought her curiosity, wit, and wide-ranging interests to her work as editor for the MIT Home Page, a job she loved.

Susan and Matt met in 2000, and decided to live together in 2003 since they were already inseparable. They were the best of friends and shared every adventure, from kissing on the porch in Somerville to touring the capitals of Europe. A special highlight was visiting Lithuania, where her father's father was born.

In 2011, Susan and Matt returned to Providence to support her mom Betty through illness. They were married in a bedside hospital ceremony on August 27th of that year, with Betty (on her final day) in attendance.
