JACOB COKIN, 90, of Las Vegas, Nev., a retired teacher, died yesterday at Odyssey Health Care, Las Vegas.

He was the husband of the late Sara (Diamond) Cokin. Born in Pawtucket, a son of the late Samuel and Annie (Korenbaum) Cokin, he had lived in Providence for 40 years before moving to Las Vegas in 1999.

Mr. Cokin was the owner of the former Ideal Floor Covering, Pawtucket, and had taught at Davies Vocational School, in Lincoln, for 12 years before retiring in 1975.

A master sergeant in the Army, he had worked as a physicist on the Manhattan Project during World War II.

He was a graduate of the University of Rhode Island.

Mr. Cokin was a former member of Temple Beth-El and B'nai Brith, and a past treasurer of the Rhode Island State Teachers Association.

He leaves a son, David Cokin of Las Vegas, and a sister, Molly Cokin-Marcus, and a brother, Milton Cokin, both of San Diego, Calif. He was the brother of the late Hyman Cokin.

The funeral service will be private.
