

DREXLER,
ALEXANDRA
(LEVIN)

PSB
— 3-4-05

PROVIDENCE

DREXLER, ALEXANDRA (LEVIN), 83, of Benefit St., Providence, a former physician in Russia, died March 3, 2005 at Philip Hulitar Hospice Center. She was the wife of the late Vladimir Drexler.

Born in Odessa, Ukraine, a daughter of the late Isaiah and Ida (Moshes) Levin, she lived in St. Petersburg, Russia until coming to the United States in 1979, living in Pawtucket and Providence.

Mrs. Drexler was a graduate of the First Medical Institute in St. Petersburg. She was a former member of Ohave Sholam in Pawtucket. Mrs. Drexler studied music in Odessa and played the piano her entire life.

She leaves two daughters, Sophia Herman of Pawtucket and Ludmilla Lifson of Swampscott, MA, a brother; Philip Levin of Brighton, MA, 2 grandchildren, Dimitri and Alex, and 6 great-grandchildren.

The funeral will be held Sunday at 1:30 p.m. at SUGARMAN-SINAI MEMORIAL CHAPEL, 458 Hope Street, Providence with burial in Temple Beth El Cemetery, Providence. In lieu of flowers, contributions may be made to Temple Beth El Cemetery Fund, 70 Orchard Avenue, Providence, RI 02906. Shiva is private.