Dear Anne:

As you probably already know, my husband, Herb, died on the night of August 14, surrounded by his loving family and dearest friends. We have all lost an ethical, caring man, who ran his business the way he lived his life—with grace and humanity.

Herb took great pleasure in serving his clients, which service will continue without interruption by Jeff Brier, as was Herb's intent, with The Egis Group. Jeff and Herb had a long-standing relationship, bonded through the principled way that they conducted their business. I am also grateful that Savannah Burns will make the move to The Egis Group, where Jeff will also have his offices, and where she will continue to provide the personal service that was a hallmark of Emers Insurance.

Like Herb's company, The Egis Group is an agency deeply rooted in the community, with a reputation for excellent service and creative insurance solutions. I'm so pleased that Jeff and The Egis Group will be able to serve your insurance needs in a way Herb would have approved.

All the best,

Jill Brody
