MICHAEL ROBERT ENOS, 30, of Highland Avenue, Somerville, Mass., a corporate fundraiser for the Boston Ballet and an adjunct professor of English at Babson College, Bentley College, Emerson College, and Brandeis University, died of lymphoma Saturday at Stanley R. Tippet House, Needham, Mass.

He was a son of Adrienne (Waldman) Enos of Providence. A summa cum laude graduate of Classical High School, Providence, Mr. Enos was an honors graduate of George Washington University, from which he received the McPherson Scholarship.

He earned a master's degree and a doctorate in English from Brandeis.

His academic works and poems have been published in numerous literary journals, including Aphrodite Gone Berserk, Multiculturalism and Representation, and Wooden Teeth.

He was a novelist and playwright, and readings of his works were performed at various colleges and workshops in the Boston area.

He had recently been invited to participate in the Ragdale Writers Colony, in Lake Forest, Ill.

He was a volunteer at the AIDS Action Committee, Boston.

Besides his mother, he leaves a brother, David Enos of Long Island, N.Y.; a grandmother, Helen (Stanzler) Waldman of Providence; and an aunt, Phyllis Waldman, and a cousin, Emma Thorne, both of Newton.

The funeral will be held tomorrow at 11 a.m. in Temple Beth-El, 70 Orchard Ave., Providence. Burial will be in Swan Point Cemetery, Providence.
