

APRIL 13, 1986

Jack Fleisig

EAST PROVIDENCE — Jack Fleisig, 78, of 35 Arthur Ave., a manufacturer's representative in the jewelry industry for many years before retiring, died yesterday at the Veterans Administration Medical Center. He was the husband of Margaret (Bakos) Fleisig.

Born in Providence, a son of the late Norbert and Rose (Rosenblatt) Fleisig, he lived in East Providence for eight years. He formerly lived in Cranston.

Mr. Fleisig was a member of the Redwood Masonic Lodge, Cranston. He was a past president of the Manufacturers and Jewelry Salesmen's Association of Rhode Island, and a member of Temple Beth-El. He was a World War II Army veteran.

Besides his wife he leaves a son, Norbert Fleisig of San Antonio, Tex.; a daughter, Andrea Kaufman of Marshfield, Mass.; two brothers, Arthur Fleisig of Cranston and Earl Fleisig of Hallandale, Fla.; a sister, Ruth Salk of Providence, and three grandchildren.

A funeral service will be held today at 1 p.m. at the Max Sugarman Memoria Chapel, 458 Hope St., Providence. Burial will be in Sons of Israel and David Cemetery, Providence.

FLEISIG, JACK