

ALAN M. GOLDFINE, 50, of Lexington, former president of Howe Sports Data, Boston, died Saturday at home. He was the husband of Evie (Federman) Goldfine.

Born in Providence, he was a son of Miriam Goldfine of Providence, and the late Joseph Goldfine.

Mr. Goldfine was a 1965 graduate of Bryant College. After graduation, he joined Meahl, McNamara, Boston, as a staff accountant until the early 1970s, when he left to join the Polaroid Corporation Accounting Department.

At Polaroid, he attended Northeastern University and received an MBA degree. In 1977, he joined a division of Fidelity Investments as its financial controller, until joining Technical Data Corp., Boston, in 1981 as its executive vice president and chief financial officer until 1989.

In 1989, the company had been sold to the Thomson Corporation of New York and Toronto, and renamed Thomson Financial Services, and at the time of the sale he had become president and chief operating officer.

After eight years with Technical Data and Thomson, he became president of Howe Sports Data. He remained with Howe until earlier this year.

Besides his wife and mother he leaves a son, Josh Goldfine; a daughter, Sarah Goldfine, both of Lexington, and a sister, Roberta Kaminsky of Germantown, Tenn.

The funeral will be held tomorrow at 1 p.m. at Temple Isaiah, Lincoln Street, Lexington.
