GOODMAN, Jacob

★★★★

Obituaries

Jacob Goodman dies; newspaper owner

EAST GREENWICH — Jacob Goodman, 74, of 68 Eldredge Ave., longtime newspaper owner and editor, died Saturday in Kent County Memorial Hospital shortly after being admitted. He had been in ill health for several years.

Mr. Goodman was a graduate of Boston University School of Journalism and also attended Harvard University. As a young man he worked as a reporter for the New Bedford Standard-Times.

In later years, Mr. Goodman became the owner and editor of newspapers in Swanton, Vt., and Osceola, Mo. In 1958 he became the owner and editor of the Rhode Island Pendulum in East Greenwich. He sold the paper in 1964 because of ill health.

Mr. Goodman was an ardent supporter of Israel and belonged to a number of Zionist organizations. He was a member of Temple Beth Am of Warwick, Touro Synagogue of Newport, the Friends of Touro Synagogue, the Jewish Community Center of Providence, the Jewish Federation of Rhode Island, Providence Hebrew Day School, B'nai B'rith and the Friends of the Westerly Library, among other organizations.

Born in Lithuania Oct. 29, 1901, he was a son of the late Nathan and Anna Goodman.

He leaves his wife, Saralie (Specter) Goodman.

The funeral will be held at noon today in Sharon Memorial Park, Sharon, Mass.