EAST PROVIDENCE

GREENBERG, MARVIN died on February 17 after a long battle with cancer. He leaves his wife of 65 years, Doris (Sussman) Greenberg, his son Richard, his daughter Barbara Vieira and his son-in-law Joseph Vieira. His grandchildren Anthony, Michael, and Samantha Vieira, who have been a major and loving part of his life, also survive.

Born in Brooklyn to the late Rose and Irving Greenberg, he moved to Fall River when very young and graduated from BMC Durfee High School in 1945. After graduating from Bryant University, he began his career in the textile industry, becoming President of the Bristol Knitting Mills, which merged with Garland Corp.

He served in the army during the Korean War.

He lived in Barrington for many years before moving to Riverside.

After his retirement, he enjoyed boating and golfing, and became a private pilot. But his greatest satisfaction came from his many volunteer activities. He read for Insight, served on the Board of the Miriam Hospital and the Jewish Home for the Aged, and Governor's Health Services Council. His most cherished volunteer time was working with students at the Met School in Providence.

His family is honoring his wishes not to have a funeral service.

Donations in his memory can be made to Home and Hospice Care of R.I., 1085 North Main Street, Providence, RI 02904 or to Big Picture Learning, the Met School E Center, 325 Public Street, Providence, RI 02905.
