Warwick

SAMUEL E. GROSSMAN, 91, of Fairfax Drive, an entrepeneur who retired in 1967, died yesterday at Rhode Island Hospital. He was the husband of Marilyn (Awerman) Grossman.

Born in Providence, a son of the late Benjamin and Anna (Sackett) Grossman, he had lived in Providence and Cranston before he moved to Warwick in 1958. Mr. Grossman had been co-owner with his brother, Morton Grossman of North Kingstown, of the former General Furniture Co. for many years.

He was the founder and proprietor of the former Clerfast Corp., Providence.

Mr. Grossman was an Army veteran of World War II who served as a corporal in the Army Signal Corps in Europe.

Besides his wife and brother, he leaves a son, William D. Grossman in Hong Kong; a daughter, Jade C. Hirsch of North Kingstown; a sister, Edythe Siegel of Cranston; and four grandchildren.

The funeral service will be held today at 2 p.m. in Mount Sinai Memorial Chapel, 825 Hope St., Providence. Burial will be in Lincoln Park Cemetery.
