Obituaries

David M. Horovitz; president of firm found dead on boat

CRANSTON — A funeral service for David M. Horovitz, 57, president of the Harwood Mfg. Co., Providence, who was found dead yesterday on his yacht at the Brewer Yacht Club in the Cowesset section of Warwick, will be held tomorrow at 10 a.m. in Temple Sinai, 38 Hagan Ave. Mr. Horovitz resided at 455 Meshanticut Valley Pkwy. He was the husband of Maida (Shaw) Horovitz.

Mr. Horovitz was president of Harwood for 35 years. He was a member of Temple Sinai, Congregation Beth David, Narragansett, the Roosevelt Masonic Lodge and the Scottish Rite. He was a member of Ledgemont Country Club, Seekonk. He was a flight officer USAF in World War II.

Mr. Horovitz was born in Providence, a son of Morris Horovitz of that city and the late Dena (Delerson) Horovitz. He lived most of his life in Providence before moving to Cranston three years ago.

Besides his wife and father, he is survived by a son, Dr. Len Horovitz of New York City; two daughters, Ellen Horovitz of Rochester, N.Y., and Nancy Horovitz of Paris, France, and two brothers, Adrian Horovitz and Stanley Horovitz, both of Cranston.

Burial will be in Lincoln Park Cemetery, Warwick.

Cranston man dies on boat

WARWICK — A Cranston man was found dead and his wife unconscious yesterday afternoon aboard their power boat at Brewer Yacht Yard, Cowesett.

Maida M. Horovitz, 55, of 455 Meshanticut Valley Parkway, Cranston, was reported in serious condition today at Kent County Memorial Hospital, where she was taken after neighbors in the marina found the couple.

David M. Horovitz, 58, was dead when rescue workers arrived, police said.

Mr. Horovitz's obituary appears on page B-3.

The two apparently were overcome during the night by carbon monoxide that had leaked into the cabin of the "Jingle Mama," police said.

The engine was used to provide heat and power.

The couple was found by Stanley Pelletz of 67 Fort Sumter Drive, Holden, Mass., who became concerned when the Horovitzes did not appear during the day.
