Anna S. Kahn

PROVIDENCE — Anna S. Kahn, 65, a resident of the Jewish Home for the Aged, 99 Hillside Ave., a bookkeeper for a watch repair service in Providence for five years, retiring in 1951, died yesterday at the home. She was the wife of Malcolm Kahn.

Born in Providence, a daughter of the late Daniel and Rose (Brook) Bernstein, she had lived in Cranston for 43 years, moving to Providence in 1991.

She previously had worked with her late father in a dress-making supply and service business for 10 years.

She was a graduate of the former Edgewood Secretarial School and had been a member of Temple Sinai.

Besides her husband she leaves two daughters, Lila Kahn Mullins of Lincoln, and Karen Rubin of Newton Center, Mass.; one brother, Harold Bernstein in New Jersey; and two grandsons.

The funeral service will be held Sunday at 11 a.m. at Mount Sinai Memorial Chapel, 825 Hope Street. Burial will be in Lincoln Park Cemetery, Warwick.
