KAPLAN, Sarah

Lincoln

SARAH KAPLAN, 99, of 196 Old River Rd., former president and recent treasurer of the Save-Rite catalog showroom store in Woonsocket before her retirement four years ago, died yesterday at home. She was the widow of Lou Kaplan. She was also the widow of Isaac Daniels.

Born in Lithuania, a daughter of the late Zalmand and Rhoda Brenner, she had lived in Woonsocket for most of her life before she moved to Lincoln 18 years ago.

In 1921, Mrs. Kaplan had taken over her late husband's tobacco and candy wholesaling firm, Daniels Tobacco Co., which was founded in 1907.

In 1965, Save-Rite was born in the warehouse section of the tobacco company. It was expanded over the years, with stores in East Providence and Warwick.

She was a member of Congregation B'nai Israel, its Sisterhood and Hadassah.

She leaves a son, David C. Daniels of Lincoln, five grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. She was the mother of the late Rhoda Joseph.

The funeral service will be held today at 1 p.m. at Congregation B'nai Israel, Prospect Street, Woonsocket. Burial will be in B'nai Israel Cemetery, Woonsocket.
