JENNY KLEIN, 95, of 31 Braman St., a Hebrew teacher and civic leader, died yesterday in the Philip Hulitar Inpatient Center.

She was the wife of the late Dr. Aaron Klein. Born in New York City, a daughter of the late Davis and Alta (Berger) Machlowitz, she had lived in Providence for 59 years.

Mrs. Klein was a Hebrew teacher in the Providence area for more than 50 years.

She was listed in Who's Who in World Jewry, and received honors as Outstanding Volunteer, and Jewish Citizen of the Year, from the Jewish Community Center in Providence in 1984, the "Never Again Award" from the Jewish Federation of Rhode Island in 1992, and the Hadassah National Leadership Award in 1997.

She was a former board member of Temple Emanu-El, and a board member of the The Jewish Federation of Rhode Island, Jewish Family Service, the Rhode Island Holocaust Memorial Museum, and the Women's Alliance of Rhode Island.

She was a vice president, and board member, of the Rhode Island Jewish Community Center, Pawtucket Hadassah and Rhode Island Hadassah, and the first woman director of Camp Ramah in Massachusetts.

She was a literary contributor to Best Jewish Stories of America, Conservative Judaism, Reconstructionist, and Hadoar.

She received a bachelor's degree from the Teachers College of Columbia University in New York City, a master's degree from McGill University in Montreal, Canada, and a doctorate from the Jewish Theological Seminary of America.

She leaves a sister, Clara Norbury in California; and 8 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren. She was the mother of the late Ruvain and Joel Klein, and the sister of the late Joseph, Jack, Sidney, Hans and Esther Machlowitz, and Ann Elkanah.

The funeral service will be held today at 10 a.m. in Temple Emanu-El, corner of Sessions Street and Morris Avenue. Burial will be in Lincoln Park Cemetery, Post Road, Warwick.
