ROSE KRETZSCHMAR, 86, of North Prospect Avenue, Bergenfield, N.J., a teacher for the blind in Hackensack, N.J., for 37 years before retiring in 1973, died Saturday at Holy Name Hospital in Teaneck, N.J. She was the widow of William Kretzschmar. She was also the widow of Eugene Averill.

Born in Providence, a daughter of the late Oscar and Eva (Levin) Berman, she lived in Northbridge, Mass., and Worcester, Mass., before moving to Bergenfield many years ago.

Mrs. Kretzschmar was a 1926 graduate of Northbridge High School, and a 1929 graduate of the former Worcester State Teachers College, now Worcester State College. In 1930, she was graduated from the Perkins Institute for the Blind. She was a member of the Hackensack, Bergen County, New Jersey and National Education Associations. She was a director of the Central Bergen and the Teachers Credit Unions. She was a violinist with the Ridgewood, N.J., Symphony Orcehstra.

She leaves a niece, Judith Rice Tedeschi of Woonsocket, and a nephew, Max E. Rice of Cumberland.

A graveside service will be held tomorrow at 11 a.m. at Lincoln Park Cemetery in Warwick.
