LEVINE, Donald

Johnston

DONALD S. LEVINE, 57, of 359 Greenville Ave. died Friday at Rhode Island Hospital.

Born in Providence, a son of Hyman and Irene (Walker) Levine of Providence, he moved to Johnston three years ago.

Mr. Levine was a professional photographer. He was active in the Very Special Arts, and had been selected to represent the State of Rhode Island in the first Very Special Arts National Endowment of the Arts Exhibition, "Me and My Imagination" in 1983.

He also represented the State of Rhode Island at the opening of the Very Special Arts Gallery in Washington, D.C., in 1990. He had been president of the Pari board of directors for three years, and had received its Jack Kempf Senior Award. He was an adviser to Fidelity Chapter, Order of the De Molay, and received the De Molay Legion of Honor in 1984.

Besides his parents he leaves a brother, Norman Levine of Warwick. He leaves a friend, Susan (Parker) Wicklund of Johnston.

The funeral will be held today at 1 p.m. at the Mount Sinai Memorial Chapel, 825 Hope St., Providence. Burial will be in Lincoln Park Cemetery in Warwick.
