LEVY, Judge Max

11-21-1941

Judge Max Levy Of Newport, Dies

Judge Max Levy, 71, former justice of First District Court, and onetime State Senator and Representative, died on Wednesday at his home, 32 Ayrault street, Newport, following an illness of about six months.

Born in New York City in 1870, the son of Isaac and Anna Levy, he was educated in the public schools of Newport.

Before taking up the study of law in the office of former U. S. Senator William P. Sheffield and former Congressman William P. Sheffield, Jr., Judge Levy had served as stenographer clerk to the R. I. Supreme Court and the Superior Court. Subsequently, he was appointed a standing master in chancery.

Surviving him are his wife, Mrs. Irene Engel Levy; a son, Samuel H. Levy of Washington, D. C., and two daughters, Mrs. Milton C. Kay and Mrs. Barney L. Kay of Newport.

He was a member of St. Paul's Lodge, F. & A. M.; R. I. Lodge, I. O. O. F.; was past sachem of Weenat Shassit Tribe, I. O. R. M.; belonged to the Spanish War Veterans and to the Congregation Jeshaut Israel, of which he was president for many years.