LOCKE, RODNEY

Rodney Locke, 73

WARWICK, R.I. – Rodney Locke, of Diamond Hill Road, died May 6 at home.

Born in Providence, a beloved son of the late Jacob and Tilly (Goldenberg) Locke, he had lived in Warwick for 21 years, previously residing in East Greenwich and Cranston.

He was a stockbroker with Janney Montgomery Scott Inc. for over 40 years. He was a Vietnam Era Army veteran, serving stateside from 1965 to 1967. Rod was a graduate of the University of Rhode Island, where he received his BA degree in 1962 and his BS degree in 1971. He was a board member of Touro Fraternal Association, past president and board member of the Chased Schel Amess Association, former board member of Temple Torat Yisrael and past president of its Men's Club.

He leaves a brother, Dr. Murray S. Locke and his wife Phyllis of Boynton Beach, Fla.; his former wife, Patricia Locke Little; three stepchildren, James Almagno and his wife, Bethany, Ann-Maria Almagno and Tricia Almagno; six grandchildren, William, Lauren, James, Benjamin, Caroline and Emma; two nieces, Rebecca and Deborah and a nephew, Dr. Jacob "Jay." In lieu of flowers, contributions in his memory may be made to your favorite charity.