PROVIDENCE

LUBER, ROSSLYN J. (GLASS), 84, died on November 21, 2008, after a heart attack and subsequent illness at The Jewish Home at Rockleigh, New Jersey.

She fought a valiant fight to survive for her family who remember her high-spirited and loving nature, her beauty and humor.

Mrs. Luber lived for 30 years in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., where she was owner and director of the Collector's Treasures Doll and Miniatures Show held annually at Thanksgiving at the Ft. Lauderdale Auditorium. Her creativity as a jewelry and doll designer was known throughout the Southeast and New England. She was well- known in the Antiques Market in Florida as Collector's Treasures, Ltd.

Mrs. Luber was originally from Providence, R.I., where she attended Hope High School '40' and later lived in Pawtucket. She was the wife of the late George Bentley Luber and the daughter of the late Bertha and Irving Glass of Providence.

She is survived by her two daughters, Donna Morse of Florida and Patti Goldman of New Jersey and a son-in-law Steven Goldman, Esq. Mitchell Luber, Esq., her son, died in 1996. Her grandchildren are Max, Beth and Roberta Goldman and Gavin Bentley, Cris Jerome, and Brielle Morse. Her beloved nephews are Stephen G. Linder, Esq. of Providence and Dr. Alan Linder, of San Francisco.

Services will be held at Sugarman-Sinai Memorial Chapel, Providence on Monday, November 24, 2008 at 11 a.m. The family may be visited at the Brown Hillel at 1 p.m. Donations may be made to Temple Beth El, 70 Orchard Avenue, Providence, R.I. 02906.
