MAASS CORI

PROVIDENCE

MAASS, CORI (GOLDENBERG), social worker, died at 64, at the Westchester Medical Center on Monday, December 21, 2009. Ms. Maass was a clinical social worker and psychotherapist with a private practice called Heart-to-Heart.

Daughter of Charlotte I. Penn of Providence, RI, and the late Harold Goldenberg, she was born in Fort Benning, GA, on March 8, 1945.

She spent her early years in Pawtucket, RI, before moving to Providence where she attended Hope High School and graduated from the University of Rhode Island in 1967. She later received her MSW from Fordham University while living in Katonah, NY, and before relocating to White Plains in 1999. A past member of Temple Beth El in Providence, she became affiliated with Temple Kol Ami in White Plains.

Besides her mother, she leaves two brothers Larry (and his wife Muay) of Bang Saen, Thailand and Jonas Goldenberg (and his wife Karen Weiner) of Northborough, MA. She is survived by two sons Aaron Maass of Philadelphia and Ethan Maass (and his wife Laura) of Pembroke, MA.

After receiving a life-saving liver transplant in 1999, she began working with hospitals and refocused her practice on a holistic approach to counseling.

The funeral service will be held at Congregation Kol Ami in White Plains, NY, on Wednesday, December 23, at 10:00 AM. Burial will take place at Lincoln Park Cemetery in Warwick, RI, on Thursday, December 24 at 2:00 PM. Arrangements were made by Sugarman Sinai Memorial Chapel in Providence, RI. Calling hours will be held at the home of her mother, Charlotte Penn in Providence on Thursday December 24 from 4:00 to 8:00 PM and on Friday, December 25, from 2:00 to 4:00 PM.

In lieu of flowers, donations can be made to Westchester Jewish Community Services in White Plains (http://www.wjcs.com/donate) or to the American Liver Foundation (http://go.liverfoundation.org/goto/cori.maass).
