MARKOWITZ
Joseph P.

JOSEPH P. MARKOWITZ, 93, of 70 Garden Drive, a podiatrist for 50 years on Broad Street, Pawtucket, retiring in 1990, died June 24 at Rhode Island Hospital. He was the husband of Elsie (Lewinstein) Markowitz. Mr. and Mrs. Markowitz were married for 46 years.

Born in Providence, a son of the late Pinches and Lena (Weiner) Markowitz, he had lived in Providence for many years, moving to East Providence in 1953.

Dr. Markowitz attended Temple University. He served as a sergeant and podiatrist in Army during World War II.

He was a past president and member of the Rhode Island Podiatry Society, a past grand chancellor of the Rhode Island Knights of Pithius, a Mason with the Overseas Lodge and a member of Congregation Shaare Zedek.

He was an avid golfer and bowler.

Besides his wife, he leaves a brother, Edward C. Brown in California, and several nieces and nephews. He was the brother of the late Morris Markowitz and Sarah Spongen.

The funeral was private.

PS 8 8-1-1999