Dorothy Miller

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass. — Dorothy Miller, of 1 Loring Ave., who had worked with her husband at pharmacies they owned in Providence and Warwick, died Wednesday in Beverly, Mass. She was the wife of the late Norman Miller.

Born in Providence, a daughter of the late Harry and Anna Metz, she had lived in Providence most of her live before moving to Warwick in 1983 and to Swampscott in 1988.

She had previously worked in the offices of the former Outlet Co. She leaves a daughter, Gail Meltzer of Marblehead; two sons, Donald Miller of Providence and Bratislava, Slovakia, and Howard Miller of Warwick; two sisters, Deena Diwinsky and Jennie Rosen, both of Warwick; and five grandchildren.

The funeral was held yesterday from the Stanetsky-Hymanson Memorial Chapels, Salem, Mass., with burial in Lincoln Park Cemetery, Warwick.
