HARRY MORGENSTERN

EAST PROVIDENCE — Harry Morgenstern, 84, of Nicholas Marra Nursing Home, Tripps Lane, an employee of the former Davol Rubber Co. for about 15 years until retiring 22 years ago, died Monday, March 30 in Rhode Island Hospital. He was the husband of the late Fannie (Solup) Morgenstern.

Born in Austria, he was a son of the late Solomon and Eva Morgenstern, and came to the United States as a child. Until he moved to East Providence in recent years, Mr. Morgenstern had lived in Providence most of his life.

Mr. Morgenstern had been an employee of the former Narragansett Hotel, Providence, for more than 25 years.

He leaves a daughter, Annette Greenfield of Cranston; a brother, Paul Morgenstern of East Providence; two sisters, Annie Zelnicker of Van Nuys, Calif., and Beatrice Mayberg of Los Angeles; two grandchildren and a great-granddaughter.

A graveside funeral service was held in Lincoln Park Cemetery, Warwick. Arrangements were by Mount Sinai Memorial Chapel, 825 Hope St., Providence.
