LOTTIE MOSKOVICH

Funeral services for Miss Lottie Moskovich of Newport, who was killed last week in Atlanta, Ga., were held Tuesday morning and were conducted by Rabbi Morris Gutstein. Burial was in the Touro Cemetery, Newport.

Miss Moskovich, who was the daughter of Philip Moskovich was fatally injured when she fell into a grease pit at a gasoline station in Atlanta, where she was buyer for a large department store.

A graduate of Rogers High School, Newport, Miss Moskovich graduated later from the Boston University School of Business Administration. She became a buyer a year ago for Davis Paxson Company, Atlanta.

Besides her father, she is survived by two sisters, Miss Edith Moskovich and Mrs. A. Krasnow of this city and two brothers, Harry, an attorney in New York and Mitchell of Newport. Mrs. Moskovich, mother of the deceased, died only five months ago. June 22. 1934.

MOSKOVICH, LOTTIE