SIDNEY REUTER

PROVIDENCE — Sidney Reuter, 93, of the Summit Medical Center, 1085 North Main St., a self-employed baker before he retired, died May 2 at Summit Medical Center.

He was the husband of Shirley (Make) Reuter. Born in Russia, a son of the late Rubin and Chana (Bornstein) Reuter, he lived in Cranston for 41 years before moving to the medical center a year ago.

He was a baker for 40 years before he retired 32 years ago. He was a member of the South Providence Hebrew Free Loan Association, and Shaare Zedek/Sons of Abraham Synagogue.

Besides his wife, he leaves two sons, Kenneth J. Reuter of Beverly Hills, Fla., and Ronald L. Reuter of Cranston; a daughter, Pamela A. Meyers of Providence; and four grandchildren. He was the brother of the late William, Theodore, and Herbert Reuter, and Sylvia Jacobs and Pearl Zawatsky.

The funeral service was held May 4 in Shalom Memorial Chapel, 1100 New London Ave., Cranston. Burial was in Lincoln Park Cemetery, Warwick. In lieu of flowers, contributions in his memory may be made to the South Providence Hebrew Free Loan Association or the Alzheimer's Association. Arrangements were made by Shalom Memorial Chapel.
