OBITUARIES

Rose Roitman; was store buyer, labs volunteer

PROVIDENCE — Rose B. Roitman, 81, of 310 Grotto Ave. died today at Rhode Island Hospital. She was the wife of Aaron H. Roitman.

Born in Pawtucket, she was the daughter of the late Israel and Celia (Seligson) Miller. She lived in Providence more than 50 years.

She was a magna cum laude graduate of Pembroke College, now Brown University, in 1931 with a bachelor of arts degree, and she was a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma XI. She was received a master's degree in bacteriology from Brown in 1932.

Mrs. Roitman did research work for the State of New York. During World War II she was a volunteer Civil Defense instructor in emergency laboratory procedures at Brown University.

Mrs. Roitman was the first laboratory volunteer at Rhode Island Hospital and also was a volunteer worker at several other local hospitals. She was a volunteer for Planned Parenthood, and a member of Temple Beth-El.

Mrs. Roitman was associated with Roitman & Son Inc. furniture store during Word War II as a buyer of accessories and art objects.

Besides her husband, she leaves two daughters, Barbara L. Holt of Scarsdale, N.Y., and Deborah A. Venator of Foster; a son, Dr. James N. Roitman of Berkeley, Calif.; a brother, Charles H. Miller of Pawtucket, and three grandchildren. She was a sister of the late Alan J. Miller.

The funeral will be Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. from Temple Beth-El, 70 Orchard Ave. Burial will be in Sons of Israel and David Cemetery, Providence.
