7-20-73

Dr. Roses was born on April 20, 1938, in New York, a son of Rosalind (Fleishman) Roses of Providence, and the late Martin Roses. He had lived in Providence since 1939.

He was graduated from Brown University in 1960 and from the New York University College of Dentistry in 1964. He joined the Army and attained the rank of captain while serving in Vietnam. After leaving the Army, he opened his office on Elmgrove Avenue in 1967.

Michael B. Messore, director of the Joseph Samuels Dental Center of Children at Rhode Island Hospital, paid tribute to Dr. Roses for what he termed the young dentist's unselfish dedication to the hospital's comprehensive dental health program for mentally retarded children. Dr. Messore said Dr. Roses had served on the medical-dental team as a dentist, as an instructor and for a period as assistant director.

Dr. Roses was a member of Temple Beth El, the American Dental Association, the Rhode Island Dental Association, and the Providence District Dental Society.

Besides his mother, he is survived by a brother, Frederick Roses of Providence.
