A Tribute to Celia Farber Rumpler

by Natalie F. Percelay

Her whole being was honesty incarnate,
devoid of all pretension,
a woman of privilege with no affectation or ostentation —
just a blessed, kindly being.
She was my lifelong friend, bonded, not by blood, but
by G-d
than which there is no higher degree.
This, my inadequate thanks to H-m and my prayers that He rest her gracious soul in peace.
