MRS. FANNIE SCHLOSS DIES AFTER TWO-YEAR ILLNESS

Had Taken Active Part in Social and Philanthropic Work.

Mrs. Fannie Schloss, for many years active in social and philanthropic work here and mother of Berrick Schloss, well known in musical circles, died last night. Mrs. Schloss, who was in her 72nd year, had been ill for about two years.

Born in New York, the daughter of Isaac and Rebecca (David) Nordenschild, she was married to the late William Schloss in that city in 1882. The couple moved to Pawtucket in 1891 and in 1905 took up residence in Providence. For a number of years Mrs. Schloss and her husband were engaged in the millinery business in this city.

Mrs. Schloss later retired from active work, but maintained an interest in all social and philanthropic work, particularly the various Jewish societies. She was actively identified with the Jewish Orphanage for years and had been president of the Montefiore Ladies' Hebrew Benevolent Association.

Besides Berrick Schloss, she is survived by another son, William Schloss, Jr., also of Providence.
