~~Pg 6 - 7 - 1999~~

Providence

SZYMON SEGAL, 85, of Taft Avenue, a butcher in the Bronx, New York City, before he retired in 1981, died Saturday at home. He was the huband of the late Sara (Bucher) Segal.

Born in Poland, a son of the late Yitzchak and Chaya (Hauptman) Segal, he had lived in New York before he moved to Providence in 1981.

Mr. Segal was a member of Hebrew Day School and Congregation Mishkon Tfiloh.

He leaves a daughter, Varda Stieglitz of Providence, and four grandchildren. He was the father of the late Dr. Isidore Segal.

A graveside service was held yesterday in Lincoln Park Cemetery, Warwick.
