WEISS, Rose

Pawtucket
P.T. 8-17-1999

ROSE WEISS, 96, of San Francisco, owner of Vogue Antiques in Pawtucket, and vice president and office manager for the former Vogue Textiles, and Safety Flag Co., died Aug. 10 at the Jewish Home for the Aged in San Francisco. She was the wife of the late Abraham Weiss.

Born in Koval, Ukraine, a daughter of the late Joseph and Chassa Feinglass, she lived in Providence and Pawtucket most of her life.

She was a member of Temple Beth El. She was a former member of Temple Emanu-El, a past board member of the Temple Emanu-El Sisterhood, and a founder of the Teenah Garden Club of Temple Emanu-El. She was a life member of the Ladies Association of the Jewish Home for the Aged, and a member of the R.I. Jewish Historical Association, the R.I. Audubon Society, and the Jewish Community Center of R.I.

She served as vice president, corresponding treasurer and secretary for the Providence section of the National Council of Jewish Women. She represented the organization at the 1959 national convention in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Weiss was a volunteer at the Oaklawn School library project and served as a Girl Scout leader in Providence for many years.

She leaves a daughter, Ruth Soforenko of Palo Alto, Calif.; eight grandchildren, and eight great-grandchildren. She was the mother of the late Judith W. Cohen and Arthur I. Weiss.

Graveside services were held Sunday at Lincoln Park Cemetery, Warwick.
