DAVID YANOVER

Funeral services for David Yanover, 61, owner of the Yanover Insurance Company of East Greenwich and former Republican city councilman in Providence, who died Wednesday after a three-month illness, were held the following day at Temple Beth Israel. Burial was in Sharon Memorial Park, Sharon, Massachusetts.

A resident of 90 Ashley Street, Cranston, Mr. Yanover was a past president of the Plantations Chapter of the Lions Club.

He also had served on the executive committee of the South Side Jewish Community Center, the board of directors of the East Side Jewish Community Center and on the executive board of B'nai B'rith. He also was active in the United Fund and Boy Scouts.

From 1956 to 1958 he represented the Ninth Ward in the Elmwood area as a Republican. His election briefly boosted GOP membership on the 26-member city council from two to three.

At the time, he lived at 202 Melrose Street, his home for about 20 years.

In 1958 he worked in the unsuccessful mayoral campaign of Charles A. Kilvert, who is now chairman of the Providence School Committee.

Born in New York, he was the son of Lena (Zindler) Yanover of New York and the late Jacob Yanover. He came to Providence 30 years ago.

He was the husband of Gladys (Handler) Yanover.

Besides his wife and mother, he is survived by a son, Robert Yanover of Northville, Michigan; a brother, Jack Yanover of New York; two sisters, Mrs. Julie Jacobs of New Haven, Connecticut, and Mrs. Al Coleman of Baltimore, Maryland, and two gradchildren.
