The State Fair

Of interest to all is the annual State Fair which opens at the Kingston fairgrounds next Wednesday. This annual event which runs for six days ranks sixth among all fairs sponsored in New England.

"It is the purpose of the State Fair," Mr. Peckham, manager, said this week, "to encourage the dissemination of knowledge, as it pertains to economic production in agriculture, livestock raising and domestic arts, and to work in co-operation with State and Federal agencies."

The wide variety of exhibits makes the Fair attractive to city folks as well as to their country cousins. Wholesome entertainment, including daily harness racing, is available daily.

Here is a grand opportunity to discover what they are doing down on the Farm. This stimulant will find you better acquainted with the problems of your neighbors and furnish ideas for yourself and family for a better life.

The Model Driver

Arguments have been many on what constitutes a good automobile driver. The following has been submitted as a concise definition of a model driver. Here's a chance to determine once for all how good you are. The model driver is one who keeps his mind on his driving, keeps in the line of traffic, anticipates what other drivers are going to do, watches out for pedestrians, slows down at schools, crossings and dangerous intersections; signals for turns, keeps his car under control, obeys traffic signals and signs, and has his car regularly inspected and maintained.

One might add — Doesn't mix alcohol and gasoline, doesn't attempt to pass cars on a curve or a hill, and never insists on his legal rights at the expense of public safety.

What No Census Can Record

The Midwestern professor was right, most persons will agree, who said recently that it is the people themselves, and not the mere number of them, that make a community. So it is with a nation. While the 1940 census, like all its predecessors, had its undoubted good uses, it is their mental and moral qualities that determine the real strength of the people and not the rising or falling rate of community populations.

This is a year in which the American people are re-evaluating the character of national leadership. Every national election is, in a degree, a key to the quality of popular thinking. Democracies, like individuals make mistakes, but eventually higher motives and aims gain the ascendancy. This is proved by social, moral and governmental progress.

"The people themselves" — that is, the people's thinking — makes the Nation as well as its component communities. They govern and control its policies, through its laws and in spite of them. They can be depended on to decide fundamental issues honestly for the most part and to make the right choice in a crisis because of the progress they have made, not merely materially, but in the development of their thought processes under democratic governments.

A nation is richer when its moral fiber is strengthened — and this growth may accrue

House Gets Bill Penalizing Bigots

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Persons or organizations engaged in activities which tend to incite racial and religious prejudice would be liable to a maximum penalty and a $5,000 fine according to a bill introduced in the House by Chairman Sabath (D., Ill.) of the Rules Committee.

The introduction of the Sabath measure was coincident with President Roosevelt's appeal to the States to unite with the Federal Government in suppressing espionage and sabotage.

Police Quell Boy's Revolt Over Bath

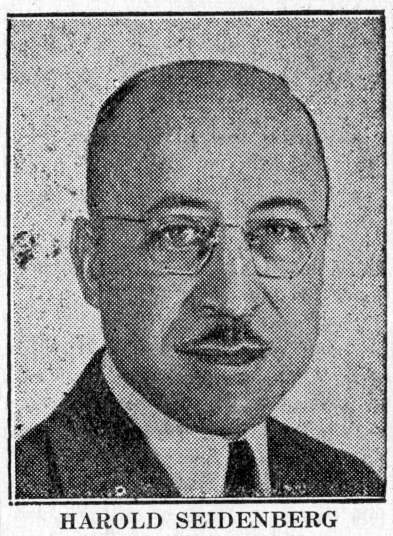

NEW YORK. — It took a police emergency call to quell 12-year-old David Hershkowitz' tantrum over his mother's request that he take a bath.

David really put on a show. Folks from all around his East Side neighborhood came to watch the spetacle of a husky lad standing perilously close to the edge of a third-floor fire escape and shouting to his mother:

"If you won't leave me alone, I'll take a jump."

Somebody called the police. Two patrol cars answered, and out of one stepped Patrolman Edward Stack. David yielded at the sight of the uniform — and

His affection for copper and brass comes from his childhood in Poland where his father was a coppersmith.

Good Time Had By All At Bund and Klan Joint Frolic

NEW YORK. — All was sweetness and light between Ku Klux Klan and German-American bund members, at their all-day rally held this week at the bund's Camp Nordland at Andover, N. J.

Robed members of the K. K. K. mingled harmoniously with storm troopers, and speakers denounced Democrats and Republicans, the war, the Roosevelt administration, Jews, Negroes, fifth columnists and the press.

Arrest Kuhn Supporters

All was well, that is, until a bus load of twenty-three supporters of Kuhn, former bund leader now in prison for theft, arrived and began soliciting money for a Kuhn defense fund. Six were arrested, found guilty of disorderly conduct, and fined $10 plus $7.50 costs each, which they paid.

ed the afternoon session, about 800 bundsmen and some 200 klansmen, it was estimated. During the evening, the crowd grew to about 1,500.

Burn Huge Cross

Nazi marching sons were blared out over loudspeakers, the klan staged a wedding in full regalia, and wound up the evening with its standard ceremony, the burning of a huge cross. When the flames spread high over the framework forty feet high, a great shout went up from a crowd of hecklers which had gathered outside the gates: "Hang Hitler on the cross."

Bundsmen kept newspaper reporters and photographs under close surveillance during the rally and permitted photographs to take pictures of the platform

Partnership Continues

CHICO, Cal. — A miner from Magalia filed complaint against his partner, alleging he had "rolled" him for $60. The police found the partner. They appeared before the Justice of the Peace. There, the partner said that his friend had handed him the money for safe-keeping while drunk. That touched the spark of memory of the miner . He recalled that he had given his partner the money for safe-keeping. The partner returned the $60. They both shook hands and decided to keep on being partners.

Bears Have Toothaches

BERKELEY, Cal. — Bears are probably the only American wild animals that enjoy the otherwise exclusively human attribute of having a toothache, the University of California has announced. The conclusion was reached after the examination of the teeth of 5,257 American wild animals. Only the teeth of bears showed dental caries.

Dig, Dig, Dog

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. — Jefferson City police nominate a friendly rat terrier as the "Digginest dog alive." He dug so far into a hole after a rabbit that it took the police rescue squad three hours to uncover him.

Past Favors Considered

NEW YORK. — Morris Feinberg, 35, who makes his living as an itinerant Popeye, giving imitations of the comic character in bars, was found asleep in a subway station for the ninth time. The arresting detective told the court Feinberg had donated his talents to every police benefit for the last 15 years. Sentence was suspended.

Filthy Lucre

Catholics Return To Conference Board

ST. LOUIS. — The rift provoked among Jews and Catholics by Rabbi Ferdinand M. Isserman's remarks regarding Myron Taylor's appointment as presidential envoy at the Vatican has been settled.

The executive board of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, whose Catholic members resigned last January in protest over the rabbi's statements, has been reorganized and five men of Catholic faith appointed to the board to replace men who resigned. Four of the Catholics are widely-known St. Louis attorneys and the fifth is the head of an oil company.

ZURICH. — Robert Zwicker, 37-year-old Jew has been sentenced to death by a special court at Hamburg for allegedly "Aryanizing" himself by securing the identification papers of an "Aryan" German bearing his name. Zwicker assertedly carried out this ruse to marry an "Aryan" woman.

Jeweler Wants to Pay More Taxes

ELIZABETH, N. J. — Philip Woolf, jeweler, has asked the city assessor to come around and help him pay more taxes.

In a letter to the assessor, Mr. Woolf wrote "I have bettered my business since your last assessment, and now feel that my personal estate has a higher valuation. Please call at my shop at your convenience and revise your original assessment. I will gladly pay the additional taxes, and get more pleasure out of giving, than receiving."

Although the assessment could not be raised, the assessor said he would be glad to oblige in October when the checkup for 1941 is made.

Nazi Commercial Agency in N. Y. Gestapo Headquarters

NEW YORK. — A German travel and foreign exchange agency, Deutscher Handels und Wirthschaftsdionist, which was mysteriously bombed last June, is actually a front for the New York headquarters of the Nazi Gestapo, according to information furnished the United States Attorney's office by Dr. Paul Schwarz, former German consul.

Dr. Schwarz, who was ousted from his post in 1933 when Hitler came into power and who has since become a naturalized citizen, said that the so-called commercial agency is operated by Jochem Frieherr von Winmmersperg and Ernest O. Hopf.

Agency Bombed in June

The agency is located in the same building as the Nazi Consulate, in New York. When it was bombed last June, the common belief was that the bomb had been intended for the Consulate, one floor above.

At the time of the bombing, Dr. Hans Borchers, Nazi Consul in New York, said that the "travel agency" was a private firm and insisted that "we don't even know the people."

Dr. Schwarz maintained, however, that the agency originally had quarters on the same floor as the German Consulate, but was moved to the floor below when Dr. Borchers became enraged when he learned that the agency was spying on him and his staff.

State Fair Prepares For Opening Day

All Features Are Lined Up

Arrangements were being completed this week for the opening day of Southern New England's Old Home Week at the Kingston Fair Grounds, next Wednesday.

While the exposition is designed to depict agricultural progress and achievements, the relation between the farms and factories of the State will be graphically dramatized by the variety of educational displays in the buildings.

Name Features

Features of the fair this year will include a horse show, regular horse racing, aerialists, trapeze artists, jugglers, football-playing dogs, and an armless wonder who plays swing music, shoots a rifle, and swings a hammer in true carpenter style.

On opening day, August 28, children will be admitted free. A special program will be conducted by the Boy Scouts, and there will be New England Indian exhibits.

Governor Vanderbilt will speak at 2:30 o'clock Thursday, and will be followed by Governor Baldwin of Connecticut and Governor Saltonstall of Massachusetts.

Grange Day

A light oxen pulling contest will be held on Thursday morning, 11 o'clock. Grange Day will be observed on Friday, at which time L. J. Taber, national Grange master, will be guest speaker.

Founders' Day, on Saturday, will have all the daily features of the Fair, together with a 10-mile marathon. Funds Being Raised For Trade School

Pioneers to Hold Bridge on Wed.

As part of its program to raise funds for the erection of a trade school for women in Tel Aviv, the local Pioneer Women's Club will hold a bridge next Wednesday afternoon on the lawn at the home of Mrs. Fred Adler, 18 Steele avenue, Conimicut.

The committee in charge comprises Mesdames Alter Boyman, Sam Brodsky, Henry Efros, Charles Bograd, Rose Smira, Clement Powsner, I. Siegal and Samuel Sugarman.

The need for a women's vocational school has existed in Palestine for some years, particularly with the influx of refugees from Central and Eastern Europe. Therefore, the Pioneer Women's Organization, which hitherto put the chief emphasis of its work on agricultural training for women, decided to build the trade school at this time, in line with its policy of meeting new situations and problems as they arise.

Poale Zion Plans Outing at Farm

An outing at Korman's farm in North Attleboro on September 8 has been arranged by the Poale Zion and the Jewish National Worker's Alliance it was announced this week. The principle speaker of the day will be Dr. A. Partokover, a former deputy in the Ukrainian Parliament.

Council Suggests Military Training to School Dept.

A resolution, suggesting military training for high school boys, will be forwarded to the School Department here by the City Council, it was learned this week. It is the hope of the City Council that the plan might be put into operation next month.

Many City lawmakers want this program, because of their own experiences in the high schools here from 1919 to 1923. In those days after the World War, the boys had an hour's training one day each week after school. They went through the manual of arms, learned to drill, and at the advanced stage of their drilling, went to rifle ranges to learn to shoot.

The present program would provide for longer drilling periods, probably during the regu'ar school hours.

It was learned that retired Army officers and those who have served in the National Guard would be instructors.

The plan, according to those who favor it, would tie-in with the "Home Defense" which would be in charge of the veterans of the World War. The high school students—and there are several thousand who would receive the training—would be given important assignments by the veterans, according to the present set-up.

The City Council provides the finances for the School Department although the administrative program is in the hands of a non-partisan School Board, which offers no comment.

Negroes in Georgia To Strive for Vote

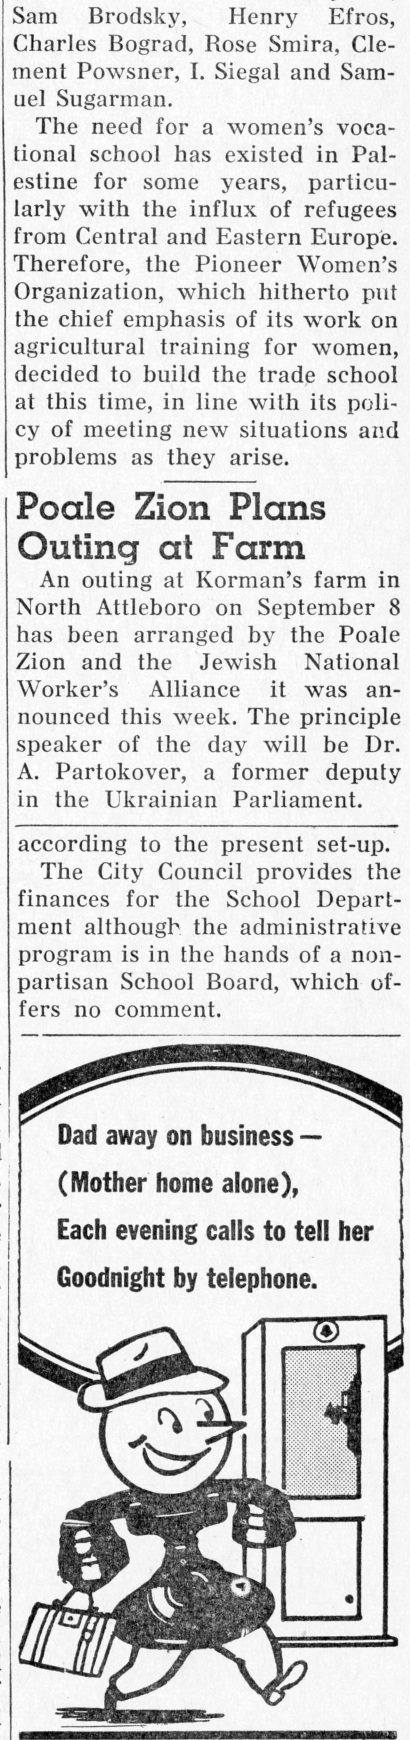

LOG CABIN CENTER, Ga. — Negroes searching for methods to raise the economic level of their race in the United States denounced at a meeting here "exclusion of the black man from the ballot" by such political barriers as "white primaries and the poll tax."

Assemblies in this rural community where the parents of some of them had been slaves, representatives of church, business, educational and fraternal organizations drafted a resolution for the State Central Planning Commission urging "that all Negroes exercise every legitimate means to obtain the right to vote as all honorable citizens should."

Prove Swastika of Semitic Origin

JERUSALEM, Palcor Agency) —Even the swastika filched by Hitler from historic records has been proved to be of pure Semitic origin. The excavations completed at Tell el Jeriebeh (Napoleon's Hill), has brought to light a wealth of material which Professor Eleazar Sukenik of the Hebrew University will now study at his Department of Archaeology. His field expedition had conducted the "dig" on this ancient site.

A broken earthenware jug of the Bronze Age 1,400 B. C. E. had a swastika engraved on the handle.

Dual Purpose

Jean Parker is pictured here in a fetching riding habit. The chocolate brown coat is especially delightful because it's extra long, with draped shoulders and exceptionally large pockets for carrying gloves. This is the type of jacket that is finding it's way into street life, and will soon be "going steady" with skirts.

Predict Shakeup Of Nazi Officials of Nazi diplomatic and consulor officials in the Western Hemisphere was predicted by neutral observers here as a result of the strong stand taken at the Havana Pan American conference against fifth column activities.

It is believed in some quarters here that Nazi officials are perturbed over the firm attitude of the American republics in dealing with fifth column activities. Nazi higher-ups are upset also by the manner in which supposed secret agents have been discovered and publicized.

Ban Intermarriages, Kosher Slaughtering

BUDAPEST. — The Nazified Roumanian Government has issued a decree forbidding marriages between Jews and Christians, it was learned here. Under a new law "for purification of the Roumanian race," applicants for marriages licenses must present evidence of their racial origin.

A second decree bans kosher slaughtering in Roumania. These are only a few of the anti-Semitic measures adopted recently by the Government. All Jews employed by the State have been dismissed as well as Jews in important posts in the country's industry.

65,000 Ordered To Leave Cracow

ZURICH. — Sixty-five thousand Jews have been ordered to leave Cracow, capital of the Government-General area of Nazi-occupied Poland, according to German wireless dispatches. The reports, which emanated from Cracow and quoted the Warschaurer Zeitung, Nazi organ said:

"In order that Cracow should externally have that standing which is due to it as the capital of the Governor-General's territory, the decision was taken to transfer the Jews of Cracow to other parts of occupied territory."

They think uniforms belong on waiters
They — being the girls in school
Dress as you please, please as you dress
Follow this — if you must have a rule . . .

Because she dares to be unorthodox, the college girl is an important pace-maker in American fashions . . . She's very positive about the kind of clothes she wants, and if they seem a bit fantastic to the "outside" world it's because they're just futuristic, and are a college girl's license . . . Actually, the basic elements of her wardrobe change very little from year to year . . . But it's her alertness and adaptability to new things that makes her stand out in any crowd . . . She doesn't mind being copied . . . Rather, she's flattered to think that what she wears is worthy of imitation . . .

The beat of most every college girl's pulse is keeping tempo with the following hints, at this point, and since last week's column was devoted to the Southern scholars, the notes to follow are exclusively for you girls going to school here in the North . . .

Beanies are much more fashionable than hatless heads, or those adorned with hair bows . . . Very amusing too, is the baseball cap, which might have been stolen off the head of Joe DiMaggio, it's so true to form — vizor and all . . .

Jumpers, which are a hangover from your summer pinafores, are smooth . . . They come in stunning tweeds and plaids, and are very easy to get into . . . Comfortable . . . Good over sweaters —and even better over well-tailored silk shirts with long sleeves and convertible neckline . . .

Short skirts, pleated all the way round, or with inverted box pleats in front and back, are making us wonder where skirts will go from there . . . They're really stunning, tho', and were necessitated by the girls' fancy for kneecap socks . . . After all, they couldn't wear knee-length socks with the regular length skirt . . . The contrast wouldn't have been great enough . . . And they wouldn't wear ankle socks with the shorter length skirt, cause the expanse of uncovered anatomy would be too great . . . So the happy combination of the shorter skirt and the longer sock leaves absolutely nothing to be desired, and is comfortable no end . . .

Moccasins, as we said last week, are running neck and neck with saddle shoes for popularity, and we wouldn't be surprised if they came in "to win." . . . Also bidding for notice is the clodhopper . . Exact copy of a man's wing tip brogue with the Campus-loved bootmaker finish . . . Sturdy and comfortable . . . The last word with tweeds . . .

Jackets? . . . Oh, they've come a long way—below the waist . . . Matter of fact, they cover the hip-line, and are not unlike the accepted riding jacket, like the one Jean Parker's wearing on this page . . . Fitted ones have a slit down the back . . . Boxy type usually don't . . . Still others are such a steal from the men's type, they button from left to right, insead of vice-versa . . .

Good for dates, week-ends, city trips or just as a change from being casual is a velveteen dress, in blue, beige, red or brown . . . Usually on the Princess style with bracelet sleeves . . . Some have ruffles about the shoulder like your pinafore, while others have frog trim across the chest . . .

Camel's hair fly-front coats and covert or gabardine heavy weight rain coats are a college girl's delights . . . She's most willing to leave glamorous furs to career girls, young matrons and mothers . . . She will deviate a bit from this, tho' in choosing a coat of white Teddy Bear cloth, usually lined with red or kelly . . . Very pretty and warm, to boot . . .

Jewelry isn't too important to her . . . She's happy if she has a single-strand of pearls, one favorite bracelet that goes with every outfit, that doesn't mind if it's dunked in the bath, and that doesn't jingle as loudly as some of its predecessors . . . Indispensable, of course, is her good wrist watch, which lulls her to sleep, and continues ticking on her wrist all night

Rabbi Taragin was also elected as a member of the Kashruth Committee, Sabbath Committee the Inter-Faith Relations Committee, and the Taharath Ha-Mishpacha Committee.

The conclave adopted a unanimous resolution to offer voluntary service to the United States Defense Program, through becoming chaplains in the army, navy and air force. The convention also passed a resolution to merge with the senior rabbinic body known as the Union of Orthodox Rabbis of the U. S. and Canada.

Rabbi Taragin vacationed for three weeks at the Catskill mountains, and prior to attending the conclave, visited with his parents, Rabbi and Mrs. Mendel Taragin of Baltimore, Maryland.

Accuse Lindbergh Of Being Pro-Nazi

NEW YORK. — Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was accused by L. M. Birkhead, national director of the Friends of Democracy with following the official Nazi line and of giving "aid and comfort to Hitlerism and the enemies of American democracy." The accusation was made in a telegram from Mr. Birkhead to Secretary of War, Col. Henry L. Stimson in which Col. Stimson was asked to clarify, in a public statement, Col. Lindbergh's present connections with any of the armed or reserve forces of the United States Army.

Mention was made in the telegram of the fact that Col. Lindbergh still possesses a Nazi Decoration which he received from General Goering during his visit to Berlin in 1938.

Radio Incites Arabs To Attack Jews

ZURICH. — Renewed Nazi efforts to provoke unrest in Palestine were seen in German wireless reports that Arabs were increasing their attacks on the Jews in the Holy Land, particularly in the orange-growing districts.

The German reports, assertedly based on information received by the Spanish Orange Syndicate from Jaffa, said that the general situation in Palestine had become very grave. Arab terrorists put to the torch and destroyed many large Jewish orange plantations in the Jaffa region. Many plantations have been ruined by lack of water due to sabotaging of irrigation systems, the reports claimed.

Identifies Man As Long-Lost Husband

Huckster Says It Isn't True

NEW YORK. — Mrs. Mary Klein, 53, saw Benjamin Pugila, 45, a Huckster of Paterson, N. J., on a New York subway recently, identified him as her long-missing husband and father of her three children, and followed him to Paterson. Pugila says he never saw Mrs. Klein before, but she insists that he's the husband who deserted her in 1922 and took all their savings with him.

A scar on his face, his walk and general demeanor are those of her husband, she told the judge before whom he was taken. Pugila says he did not come to this country from Poland until 1925, and he has asked the Department of Labor to help him prove it by immigration records. At the judge's suggestion he agreed to submit to the blood tests which may help determine whether he could be the father of Mrs. Klein's children.

Rabbi Morris Silk will officiate.

"Bas Mitzvah" Ritual For Girls Planned

CHICAGO. — The Rabbinical Assembly of the Hebrew Theological College here is discussing the possibility of framing a dignified "Bas Mitzvah" ritual for girls, analagous to the present Bar Mitzvah ceremony by which boys of 13 are ushered into adult responsibilities.

The place for a knocker is outside the door.

Red Faces In the Moonlight

On counting heads one evening last week at Barrington Beach, it was discovered that two more were necessary for a minyan . . . One of the boys volunteered to conscript the needed twosome . . . He spied two boys talking near the house next door, and on learning that they weren't doing anything, chartered their next half hour . . . It wasn't until the minyan was in progress that one of the worshippers, suspicious, questioned the boys only to learn they were not Jewish . . .

JABOTINSKY STREET

TEL AVIV. — Municipal authorities have decided to name a suitable street for the late Vladimir Jabotinsky.

Twenty-Year Romance of Carol and Lupescu Ends

NEW YORK. — Her twenty-year-old influence over King Carol II of Rumania has ended for Magda Lupescu, and according to reliable private information reaching here, the auburn-haired mistress of the King is now a prisoner in her own home in Bucharest.

Without Friends

It was the international situation which proved Mme. Lupescu's undoing, and which left her without a friend in the world. She saw the end coming as early as late May and tried to clear out. But her efforts to get out were met with a polite refusal when the King gave it a second thought. It seems that his mistress, steeped in court intrigues, knew much too much to be trusted outside the country.

Iron Guard Commands

At that time France was ready to collapse, and Carol knew he must be in good graces again with the all-powerful Nazis. For a year the Nazi-supported Iron Guard leaders had been in jail. In an effort to please Hitler, Carol not only had them released, but brought them into his government. Number one on the Iron Guard's blacklist had long been the "red Jewish poison," as Mme. Lupescu was called. The Iron Guardists demanded that the royal mistress not be allowed to leave, but that she be incarcerated.

So Carol had to give in, and he sent orders that his mistress be isolated completely from the outside world. Since that time, Magda has not been permitted to talk to or see anyone. It was a temporary end of a stormy career in Rumanian politics.

No Social Charm

Few Rumanians will concede that Lupescu had any particular social charm, or that she was a clever conversationalist. Old Rumanian families avoided her. Whatever beauty she once had has disappeared. Not only has she put on weight, but wrinkles have also begun to appear. "It was love," Rumanians reply when asked how she held on to the King for so many years.

Carol is a Hohenzollern, with the stubborn faithfulness common to that royal house. Perhaps he may still find some way to keep both Magda and his throne.

TO ENLARGE RESERVATION

LISBON. — Nazi officials are discussing the possibility of enlarging the Lublin Jewish "reservation" in Nazi-occupied Poland to provide room for all the Jews in Germany and Nazi-dominated lands, it was reliably reported here.

13 Refugees Escape Submarine Attack

British Cruiser Frightens "Sub"

NEW YORK. — Prayers of "Gomel" (thanksgiving) were fervently offered in the Synagogue of the national headquarters of the Hebrew Sheltering and Immigrant Aid Society (HIAS) by a group of thirteen refugees bought from the SS. "Anslem", following a perilous journey from Great Britain.

The steamer, as well as its fifteen passengers, narrowly escaped burial in Davey Jones' locker. In mid Atlantic, the "Anslem" was sighted by a German submarine which attempted to let loose its torpedoes. A British cruiser fortunately happened to be nearby and prevented a disaster. The submarine disappeared. It was either put out of commission or was sunk. Among the thirteen lucky refugees were Mr. and Mrs. Chaim Schreiber, both in their seventies, who left for California to join their nephew.
