School Site

With the announcement that the Beacon street school will require double sessions in order to school children who previously attended the Point street building, destroyed by fire last January, it becomes increasingly important that something be done to ameliorate conditions in South Providence so that dangerous overcrowding can be avoided.

Recently the school department tentatively selected a three-acre site bounded by Ash, Pilgrim, Hilton and Staniford streets, for a new elementary school. The proposed building, an 18-room school accomodating 600, would contain an auditorium, gymnasium, and facilities for crippled children. Considerable land would be available for playground purposes.

The new school would be about a half-mile distant from the Point street structure and in the heart of South Providence which lacks a modern school and recreational equipment for children. In addition, the new project would be within short walking distance from the South Providence low-cost housing development soon to be started.

Since the committee is conversant with the schooling needs of the area there should be no hesitation in tieing up loose ends of the project so that construction may begin.

Religious Education

The Catholic campaign for welding church and state in the conduct of the tax supported schools of free America continues unabated.

In a Catholic Universe Bulletin on August 16, as revealed by the Cleveland Independent, there appears an article by Rev. Dr. J. Gabel titled, "First U. S. Schools were Religious. Catholic Schools of Today are True Heirs of Early American Traditions."

"The Average American citizen regards 'non-sectarian' public education with its purely secular emphasis as uniquely expressive of the American spirit of democracy," says Dr. Gabel.

"For him the public school is the typical American school," Dr. Gabel continues, "conforming strictly with and developing from the principles of the Constitution. He has even been taught to believe that American liberties are necessarily dependent upon non-religious education. It might indeed be a source of surprise to him to learn that the founders of this nation would hardly recognize in the modern secular public school a type of institution fitted to perpetuate the ideals of liberty and rights as they conceived them. Certain it is that the majority not only of the early settlers but of the signers of the Declaration of Independence and of the Constitution would feel more at home today in the religious atmosphere of a parochial school or a Catholic College."

In his article Dr. Gabel notes that Franklin was opposed to the teaching of religion in public institutions of learning but makes no reference to the influence of Thomas Jefferson and of John Adams and other leaders of that age and of John Milton and Roger Williams in an earlier day.

In referring to the period of 1776, Dr. Gabel states that at the time of the Revolution, "the destructive spirit of secularism had begun to blow upon the land."

It was not the "destructive spirit of secularism," the Cleve-

Nazi Leaders Meet in U. S.

—Anti-Nazi Bulletin

The Board of Trade for German American Commerce, controlled directly from Nazi Germany, gives a dinner in honor of the notorious Captain Fritz Wiedemann, Consul at San Francisco and ex-adjutant of Adolf Hitler. (L. to R.) H. H. Hollesen, official of the board, Nazi Consul Draeger (recently exposed by the League as head of the Ausland organization of the National Socialist Party in New York), Wiedemann, Ernst Schmitz, manager of the German Railroads "Information Office," and Nazi Consul General Borchers.

Compulsory Labor First Duty as Citizen

All Must Wear White Armbands

LONDON. — Newspapers here report a new Nazi plan for creation of a huge ghetto in the Lublin and Chelm districts into which would be dumped all the Jews of German-occupied territories. The ghettos would be self-governed and Jews would be identified by white arm-bands, bearing the star of David. Every Jew, male of female, over 10 years old, would wear one.

In every Jewish community an "elective" Jewish council will be selected to receive orders from the German government and see that they are carried out.

Compulsory labor will be one of the first duties of the Jewish "citizen." Work with the spade must be done by all male Jews for two years. Each compulsory labor squad is supervised by a Jew who is responsible for execution of the work assigned by Germans.

The plan reportedly has been submitted by Hans Frank, German Governor for Poland. Accordingly, Jews will be required to build their own homes, grow their own food and serve as a reservoir of slave labor for the Reich.

Home Owners Insure Against War Risks

TEL AVIV, (Palcor Agency).—The Tel Aviv Houseowners and Landlords' Association of Tel Aviv is establishing a mutual insurance company as protection against war risks to houses in Tel Aviv and vicinity.

Compensation for rebuilding of houses after the war, should any demolition or damage take place, will be paid out of the joint fund to be created by the payment of a one-time premium of 3 to 4 per cent of the value of the property insured (excluding value of land). Mortgages are also accepted as well as actual owners of houses.

RUTENBERG RESIGNS

JERUSALEM, (Palcor Agency) — Pinchas Rutenberg, industrialist President of the Vaad Leumi, a post which he assumed on September 18, 1939, presented his resignation to the Jewish National Council owing to an illness of several weeks' duration, from which he has not yet recovered.

Survey Reveals Youngsters' Reaction to European War

NEW YORK. — To what extent are school children familiar with war? America's youngsters have their own ideas as to what it is all about.

The younger generation listens to and reads about the war daily, and at the susceptible age, their thinking becomes inbued with some of the problems and fears of the adult.

As a basis for the survey, the sixth grade of a public school was chosen; the reason being that these 12-year-old children have not as yet adopted their elders' viewpoints although they have outgrown the complete opinion-void of early childhood.

Fifteen questions were placed before one section of the class while another section was asked to draw pictures giving the pupil's conception of peace and war.

Greatest uniformity of answers came in response to question number three, "What are they fighting for?" The answers chiefly centered around land, with a sprinkling of answers like this one: "England, France, Denmark, Norway, and Finland to protect themselves from going under Hitler or Stalin rule."

Mexico Refuses To Admit 100 Jews

MEXICO CITY. — President Cardenas has denied entrance to about 100 Jews who arrived at Vera Cruz aboard the ship Quanza. They are refugees from Germany, France and Spain and said the Mexican consul at Lisbon had given them transit visas because they intended to go to Guatemala.

The Guatemalan government said it would refuse them admission. They are being kept on board the Quanza, which will leave Vera Cruz soon for an unknown destination.

The group will continue to function as long as needed, and will reorganize at the close of the vacation season, for the accommodation of all participants either at the Temple headquarters or in members' homes.

Nazis Admit Deaths In Occupied Poland

Epidemics Rage In Prison Camps

GENEVA. — The deaths of thousands of persons in epidemics in Nazi-occupied Poland is admitted for the first time in an official German statement. In a report to Berlin, Dr. Wallborn, Nazi Health director in the Nazi-held Government-General area of Poland, declares that while most of the epidemics in the territory have been brought under control, the situation regarding some diseases "is still very unsatisfactory."

Reviewing the measures taken to check epidemics, the official declares that some villages were entirely walled off to prevent contact with the outside world.

The strict regulation proved successful though thousands of people died," he says. "Present figures on infectious diseases are lower than for the corresponding period in 1938 but the position is still very unsatisfactory.

"This is mainly the fault of Jews, who are so accustomed to living in unimaginable filth and so crowded together that the only hope of finally coping with these diseases is to isolate the Jews from the rest of the population."

FIRST MEETING

The first meeting of the season of the South Providence Ladies Aid Association was held on Wednesday afternoon at the South Providence Hebrew Congregation. A committee was chosen to work on the coming HIAS campaign. Mrs. Louis Chester presided.

land Independent observers, but the spirit of true democracy and of true religious feeling defining religion not as a product of edict and compulsion, but as a spiritual influence distinct from the state, that blew upon the land.

It was in that spirit that Benjamin Franklin gave voice to a belief that is never quoted by elements that are now seeking to force religious teaching into tax supported schools:

"When a religion is good, it is able to take care of itself. When it is not able to take care of itself so that it must seek the Government for support then it is evidence to my mind its cause is a bad one."

Dr. Gabel states that the average American citizen regards non-sectarian public education as uniquely expressive of the American spirit of democracy. This belief is based upon the record of American history and is upheld by the American teaching of religious freedom and liberty of conscience for all.

R.I. Members Meet With Noted Zionist

No Appeal For Funds to be Made

Under the auspices of the United Palestine Appeal, the Rhode Island Palestine Conference will be hld at the Narragansett Hotel on September 29. The conference is not the preliminary to a campaign, it will not form teams, and there will be no solicitations. Rather, it will be a time when problems pertaining to the situation of world Jewry today, will be discussed. The dismemberment of Jewish life in Europe as a result of the war confronts American Jewry with the necessity of gaining a clear understanding of the situation, and the persons to address the conference have that understanding.

Dr. Nahum Goldman, chairman of the Administrative Committee of the World Jewish Congress, will be prinicpal speaker. Otner speakers will include Louis Lipsky, noted American Zionist leader and chairman of the Executive Committee of the United Palestine Appeal; Mrs. Archibald Silverman, prominent leader in Palestine rebuilding, and Henry Montor, executive director of the United Palestine Appeal, and executive vice-chairman of the United Jewish Appeal.

Grynzpan Found In French Prison

BERLIN. — Herschel Grynzpan, Polish Jew who shot Ernst vom Rath, a member of the German Embassy staff in Paris was disclosed to be serving a 20-year penitentiary term to which he was sentenced by a French court "under German supervision."

Nazi sources suggested that this meant that Grynzpan probably had been transfered to a jail in Nazi-occupied Paris or Germany.

He was found, they said, in Sante Prison in Paris after German occupation of the French capital.

Grynzpan fatally shot Herr vom Rath in the Paris Embassy Nov. 7, 1938. As a sequel anti-Jewish violence flared in Berlin and other German cities on Nov. 10.

At the time of France's collapse Grynzpan was still awaiting trial on a charge of homicide. Funds for his defense had been raised in the United States.

Fashion's pulsebeat has struck a merry pace
Be alert and meet it face to face
In times like these, tragic and depressing
Who'll challenge our going gay in dressing?
It helps keep a nation's mood up high
All in favor of stunning clothes, say "Aye." . . .

As dictated by the American couture, the following hints are the important ones at the moment . . . Undefined waistlines and bandaged hiplines on long sleeved dinner gowns . . . Evening sweaters and polo shirts with sequins-plaided skirts . . . Sequins everywhere, even on furs . . . Jackets with fur peplums . . . Coats with fur panels . . . Coats with fur encircling the neckline and shoulderine, like Rosalind Russell's to the left . . . Flashing colours: Tomato juice red, purple ink, sapphire blue, grass, emerald and forest greens . . . Also winter navy, gray, beige, cat-tail, brown, Medoc wine . . . Muffs in all sizes with everything . . . Elbow-length fur capes for day and evening . . . Fitted fur coats . . . Collars into hats . . . Hats into collars . . . Little tiny hats behind pompadours . . .

Velvet, satin, fur or doeskin gloves sometimes 20 inches long, blending with day and evening dresses . . . 150-inch pearl necklaces . . . Three new lipstick shades: Hypnotic, Magnetic and Intrique . . . Black silk damask suits for cafe and theatre . . . Peepshow overskirts . . . Turkish harem skirts . . . "Notice me" slit skirts . . . Red monkey fur, extreme but smart . . . American eagles on bosoms and lapels . . . Real jewels, if you have them . . Giganitc jewels . . . Very few pencil silhouettes, only hangover from Paris' final collection . . . Mole grey, sophisticated foil for jewelry . . . Provocative illusion of nudity . . . Victorian use of jet on satin and velvet . . . Matchless American sports tweeds . . . Waist-deep necklines . . . Black tulle hats shot with sequins . . . Wool jersey dinner suits . . . Off-white dinner and evening dresses, richly beaded in gold . . . Embroidery—and especially nice embroidered replicas of fob watches at the shoulderline of a dark suit, with the time standing still at — oh, your favorite hour of the day . . . Lots of razzle-dazzle, and everything rich! rich! rich! . . .

Just a couple of local lines of interest . . . Jean Rice in a sophisticated black wool frock, with crisp white trim at the neckline . . . On her shoulders a full length black wool cape, and her hat was large and with a ruffled brim . . Mrs. Sidney Weinstein, darling in a chic fall suit of grey, with cosmetic red as the contrasting colour for blouse and accessories . . . Mrs. William Strong, in a most becoming frock of fashionable brown . . Mrs. Arthur Hoch of Boston visited in town last week . . . Looked ravishing in a simple black crepe dress, worn with a heavy sterling silver necklace . . . Two sterling lockets with her initials on them were made into earrings, and dangled smartly as she walked . . . A soft-brimmed large black felt hat and a mannish grey reefer, completed the outfit . . .

"Front and center!" standard summons for the hotel bellhop, has now entered the fashion vocabulary . . . Hair stylists say the coiffure is chic if it's a pompadour . . . That is strictly hair-dressers' lingo . . . It means if you wear your hair brushed up and off-the forehead, you're in fashion . . . Bangs, curls, circular masses of ringlets and pompadour rolls are all in order, as long as they are front and center . . . Side-pieces have long since been out of date, and the long and lanky page-boy bob suffers from overdoing . . . Is the pompadour here to stay? . . . Yes, until some better hair-style comes along . . And as yet, none has . . .

The main dining room of the Sheraton Hotel at Wayland Square Thursday nite of last week was abounding with friends of Dorothy Waldman, at a party given by Dotty's sister, Mrs. Abel Gurwitz in honor of Dotty's approaching marriage . . . Centerpieces of Talisman roses were placed at each table, and soft-shaded lamps at the side tables lent an atmosphere not unlike Greenwich Village.

Dotty, herself, was flushed and excited and precious looking in a frock of black, with red velvet

Scene Around Town

BY HENRY DAVIS

Debutante: Rare Variety

Like her girl friends you meet
She is dainty and sweet,
But she differs herein from the others
She detests cigarettes
And she pays all her debts
And her last name's the same as her mothers! —GA

The death of Henry Burt was mourned by thousands in our community . . . Mr. Burt, a hard and enthusiastic worker for many causes, was never an apologist for Judaism . . . His zealous interest evoked similar action in both Jew and Gentile . . . For sixteen consecutive years, ever since the National Labor Committee for Palestine was founded, he was its secretary . . . There was hardly a campaign for funds in which Mr. Burt did not participate . . . His capacity for work was tremendous, and may have been no little factor in his sudden death . . .

Cool Indian Summer

From the cool shadows of the white mountains comes word that the Jacob Lichts have arrived in Bethlehem where they met their friends the Benjamin Chasets . . . Julius Abrams of East Greenwich was recently at the Howard House, while Samuel and Michael Soforenko said hello to their many friends at the Maplehurst Hotel . . . The James Goldmans are telling stories of their trip to Nova Scotia . . . Irving Abrams was spied at Grossinger's that popular up-state New York resort . . . Beatrice Feldstein and Joseph Thaler have announced their engagement . . . Marriage intentions have been filed by Jean Pomerantz of Pawtucket and Max Levine . . .

Of Snags and Stags

Attempts to settle the Beth David dispute have struck a snag . . . It appears likely that truce will be called until after the holidays . . . That is, if the disputants can find a common basis for compromise . . . More than a hundred friends of Louis Kirshenbaum attended his stag last Wednesday nite at the Narragansett Hotel . . . Lou will be married on Sunday to Frances Gorfine . . . Among those seated around the table were Mickey Cohen, Dr. Banice Feinberg, Sydney Hoffman, the Gorfine brothers, Sam, Sidney and Lewis, Elisha Scoliard, Mickey Violet, Abe Goldstein and many others . . .

General Interest

Many in Orthodox circles will recall Rabbi Benjamin Shawdron, formerly of Ahavath Sholom . . The rabbi has resigned his post as head of a Hebrew School in Worcester . . . The Max Marx's, she the former Gertrude Katz, have named their son, Leonard Joseph .

From Woonsocket comes word of a B'nai B'rith meeting during which it was voted to have membership contest with a grand prize of a two weeks all-expense trip to Florida for two persons . . . Incidentally, the name of the new rabbi in Woonsocket is Aaron J. Tofield . . . He is spiritual leader of the Congregation B'nai Israel . . .

Down South County

From South County comes word that a gala affair will be the bridge and mah jong of the Kent Auxiliary, B'nai B'rith, to be held on September 22 at the West Warwick Country Club . . During a discussion on the huge amounts sometimes paid out for alimony, Phil Ostrow piped up with: "Something oughta be done to reduce the high cost of leaving." . . . That's all for now . . .

Yorkville Merchants Protest McWilliams Talks

Claim Business Has Been Affected

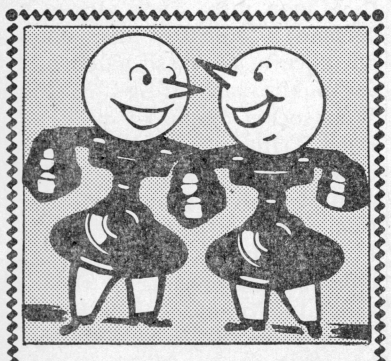

Fear Speeches May Incite Riots

NEW YORK. — A delegation of 30 Jewish business men from the Yorkville section of New York this week petitioned Mayor LaGuardia to curb the nightly street corner meetings and demonstrations of the anti-Semitic candidate for Congress, Joseph McWilliams.

Byrnes MacDonald, secretary to the Mayor, told the delegation that their testimony would be given to Mayor LaGuardia when he returned from a meeting in Ottawa of the joint Candadian-United States defense board.

The business men charged that McWilliams, through his street meetings, had curtailed business, created racial animosity and preached doctrines harmful to the neighborhood.

Rabbi Carol Kline said that "as an American citizen I have the right to ask that such a man be eliminated, and that he be stopped from preaching what he preaches."

Axis Partners Stir Arabs Against Britain

NEW YORK. — Nazi Germany and its Axis partner, Fascist Italy, are using anti-Semitism to stir up the Arabs in the Middle East against Great Britain, Ralph W. Barnes wrote in a cabled dispatch to the New York Herald Tribune from Cairo.

"As the war clouds thickened in the spring of 1939," Br. Barnes wrote, "propaganda from Berlin was intensified. British atrocities' in Palestine were painted in lurid colors in regular radio broadcasts in Arabic from the German capital. Here in the Arab world was a field in which the Germans could play the anti-Jewish theme with effect."

SLICOTH SERVICES

Temple Beth Israel will hold its annual Slicoth services on September 28, midnight, with the Cantor Joseph Schlossberg and the choir participating in a specially prepared musical program. Dr. Walter J. Nelson is conductor, and Steven Cohn will be at the organ.

N. Y. Schools Ignore Religious Instruction

Law Permitting Passed in Spring

NEW YORK. — With schools here in full operation, no arrangements have been made to include religious study periods in the curriculum, although the legislature last spring granted permission to do so.

James Marshall, president of the Board of Education, said some members did not consider mandatory the legislation to permit children to leave school durinug school hours for religious instruction.

The Central Committee for Weekday Religious Education, composed of Catholic, Protestant and Jewish representatives, has held conferences with school officials on the matter, but has made little progress.

Meanwhile, delegates to the annual convention of the Jesuit Philosophical Assn. of the Eastern States, meeting at Fordham University, deplored the lack of religious training in public schools.

Centenarian In Good Shape After Accident

NEW YORK. — "People have to die some time, but I guess my time hasn't come yet," said 101-year-old Abraham Pinchasid, in Fordham Hospital, where he is recovering from being knocked down by an auto.

The other day as he was on his way to the Congregation Ostrer, his eyes failed him and he was knocked down by an 180th St. crosstown car at the intersection.

At Fordham Hospital, where he was taken by ambulance, he was found to be suffering a possible concussion of the brain.

But they underestimated the durability of the patriarch. He laughed at them out of his bandages and insisted that he go home. Physicians examined him more closely, said he appeared "in good shape," and could leave.

lieved more or less positively that the United States "is likely to get into the war." These answers ranged from an emphatic affirmative to "I am afraid so" or "I hope not." Others replied, "if we do not mind our own business . . ."

Sixteen pupils answered that they would be ready to help as best they could if war came to the United States. Twelve did not know. Five would think immediately of helping their families and try to help. One "would be awful scared" and another would "hide in an old underground pipe I know of."
