HAIFA — Haifa police claimed last week they had arrested the organizer of an Egyptian spy ring in Israel. They identified the suspect as Hanni Arrabeh, 19, a former resident of the Shfym health resort on the Sharon Plain. Police officials said he crossed into Egypt last November and took part in broadcasts aimed at inciting Israel's Arabs and that later he switched to intelligence work.

Aramco Admits Bias In The Hiring Of Jews

NEW YORK — A public hearing will be held by the New York State Commission Against Discrimination on charges that Aramco, the Arabian American Oil Company, discriminates against Jews by refusing to hire Jews, it was confirmed here last week by Elmer A. Carter, chairman of the State Commission. Carter said that he will soon appoint three members to conduct the hearing.

The issue has been pending since the American Jewish Congress filed a complaint against Aramco before the commission in 1956. Two years later, Carter ruled that an exception granted Aramco by the New York State body in 1950 should stand.

Efforts to conciliate the issue, made recently, have now collapsed. The oil company conceded that it bars Jews from most jobs, but has argued that such steps are required by its agreement with the Government of Saudi Arabia.

Vote To Discuss Palestine Topics

UNITED NATIONS — The General Committee of the United Nations General Assembly recommended the inclusion among other items on the agenda of the current Assembly session, the report of the director of the United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees in the Near East and the report on activities, cost and maintenance of the United Nations Emergency Force.

UNEF patrols the border between the United Arab Republic's Sinai Peninsula and Israel and holds Sharmel Sheikh, which dominates the entrance to the Gulf of Eilat.

Riots Emphasized In Arab Newspapers

JERUSALEM — The Jerusalem Arab daily newspaper, Falastin, said last week the killing of five young Arabs who tried to cross into the Gaza Strip is "fresh evidence we can submit to the United Nations on the way in which (Israel), which claims to protect its minorities, murders and discriminates against its citizens."

The Jerusalem Post reported that Falastin had devoted its entire front page to stories of Arab demonstrations which took place in various Israeli cities.

Private Detective Reveals Secrets Of American Nazis

CHICAGO — Inside a barracks-like headquarters the American Nazi Party of Chicago practice judo, marksmanship with firearms and praise Hitler and his American disciple, George Lincoln Rockwell.

A private detective, under the code name, "Nathan Hale", has revealed his life as a spy in the organization. He said the group is spreading a doctrine of hate in Chicago high schools and universities, according to the New York Post.

He said the headquarters was moved this week but he didn't know where.

The Nazis here are undercover, said the detective, Herman Hornsby.

Hornsby disclosed his double life at a press conference sponsored by the Jewish War Veterans of Illinois a frequent target of Nazi abuse.

Front Used

As "Nathan Hale," he informed the JWV of the Nazi activities. Hornsby said he is not Jewish.

He said the Nazis use a front organization, the Fighting American Nationalists.

Judge Rules American Law Must Prevail

DULUTH, Minn., — American law prevails over Jewish custom, District Judge Christ Holm has ruled in ordering exhumation of the body of a woman of the Jewish faith.

The court action was initiated by Gertrude Silver of Duluth, also of the Jewish faith, so that when she dies she could occupy a grave next to her late mother.

Trouble developed when Duluth's Tifarath Israel Synagogue cemetery committee sold a grave to I. E. Greenberg which previously had been purchased as part of a two-plot site by Miss Silver.

Error Discovered

When Mrs. Greenberg died, she was buried in the plot and it wasn't until July, 1960, that Miss Silver, on visiting her mother's grave, discovered the error.

Greenberg refused to have his wife's body exhumed, claiming it was against the tenets of the Orthodox Jewish faith.

Yesterday, Judge Holm paid tribute to Jewish heritage and customs in making his decision, but said Jewish belief apparently sanctions removal of a body from a "mistaken grave."

FAN espouses Anti-Communism and white supremacy.

Once indoctrinated, members of FAN are graduated into the Nazi Party, according to Hornsby. Then they are taught that Jews should be "gassed" and Negroes "sent back to Africa," Hornsby said.

"If the Negroes won't go back, the Nazis believe they should be gassed too."

"There are about 75 'hard core' Nazis in Chicago," he said. "There are at least a dozen girls, many just as fanatical as the men."

Swastika Worn

Hornsby wore a mask yesterday to protect his identity as a private detective. On his sleeve was the red, white and black swastika he said he wore at party meetings.

Hornsby said there are about 15 high school students in the Nazi and FAN organizations.

Hornsby said the Nazi leader in Chicago is Malcolm Lambert, 29-year-old former student at the University of Illinois branch here. Hornsby said Lambert often carries a pearl-handled revolver inside his coat.

"The Nazi goal here is to have about 300 or 400 members. Then they'll hang the swastika flag outside their headquarters and parade in uniforms."

"They think George Lincoln Rockwell will be Feuhrer of America by 1970," he said.

Lambert said FAN is against communism wherever it is. "The Reds are all around, using a lot of front groups and race mixing." He said his group does not oppose Jews just because they're Jews. Many are Communists, he said.

Strongest in South

Lambert said many persons who oppose the "trouble-making Freedom Riders" joined FAN, "especially in the South where we are strongest."

Headquarters for FAN is Washington with other branches in Philadelphia, Boston, New Orleans, Atlanta, Jacksonville, New York City and Detroit, he said.

Lambert said there are about 50 FAN members in Chicago. About 10 are high school students, he said.

There also are members in Loyola University and Wright Junior College, he said.

"Schools are fertile grounds for our government."

Leaders Of Arab Community Feel Demonstrations Caused Considerable Loss Of Goodwill

NAZARETH — Fear that bitter demonstrations by the Arab community of Israel last week had pushed the Jews and Arabs of this country back 13 years in their relationship was expressed Tuesday by the 35-year-old deputy mayor of Nazareth.

Abdul Aziz Zubi said most of the 26,000 Arab inhabitant of this world-famed city deeply regretted the vehement reaction to the killing of five Arab youths as they attempted to flee into the Gaza strip.

The Arab's community leaders are reconciled that there will be considerable loss of goodwill as a result of the public demonstrations.

Communist Party leaders led huge rallies in Nazareth, Acre, Haifa and throughout Galilee, with only prompt intervention by the police preventing a minor civil war.

Deputy Mayor Zubi said of the rioting: "It has undone all the good work that has been accomplished since the state was created. Those Jews who had wanted to raise us to the status of equal citizens, and I think they were in a majority, will be in a bad position to do anything for us now."

He admitted that Arab resentment against the Israel government still was evident at the time of the sudden violent outbreaks, but said relations had improved.

Zubi said military government over the Arabs is the principal cause of resentment. "The military government singles out the Arab as something special, something untrustworthy."

Alleged expropriation of Arab-owned lands by the Israel government also was cited by Zubi, who has long been identified as one of the principal architects of improved Arab-Jewish relationships.

He said Arab citizens have had some 250,000 acres taken from them in the 13 years of statehood.

Zubi also said Arab youths, although able to finish schools com-

Arabs Turn Funeral Into Mass Protest

TEL AVIV — Goaded by Communist provocations, an Arab funeral procession for three youths who were killed by border police when they attempted to cross into the Egyptian-held Gaza strip was transformed into a mass protest, with some of the demonstrators shouting "long live Nasser and Arab Palestine."

The three youths were shot down when they refused to obey a halt order by an Israeli patrol. Two more Arab youths were killed in a second crossing attempt.

Seizing on the incident as a means to mob incitement, Communist elements in Haifa took charge of the funeral as the demonstrators carried the three uncovered coffins. When the funeral procession reached the cemetery, the Communists took over the burial rites from the priests and the families of the three youths. Proceeding as if they were the master of the situation, the Communists carried the three bodies to a common grave over the sharp protests of the priests, who left the scene.

The demonstrations began on Yom Kippur eve. When the Arab funeral attendants returned to Nazareth, the Communists were making arrangements for Yom Kippur demonstrations, distributed leaflets calling for a work stoppage and forced schools to close down.

Two policemen were wounded and four demonstrators were detained in Nazareth at a post-Yom Kippur demonstration called by Communists to protest the fatal shooting of the Arab youths.

Taunton Readies For Greyhound Derby

TAUNTON — It is almost unbelievable that so many champions can gather under one roof. But as the first of the $25,000 added American Greyhound Derby eliminations near on Wednesday, that is just what's hapening at the Taunton Dog Track.

Five champions and a host of near champions are included among the record number of top-light greyhounds named for the 13th running of the Taunton classic. When the first round of eliminations come up, greyhound fans will see the greatest array of contestants to ever assemble.

That the American Greyhound Derby is growing in stature and importance is best evidence by the wide representation in this year's renewal. Greyhounds are on the scene from Revere, Palm Beach, Daytona Beach, Memphis, South Dakota, Tijuana, Portland, Oregon and other prominent greyhound racing centers.

In Hollywood...

By Barney Glazer

Hollywood, California -- At the "Irma la Douce" opening in Ben Goffstein's Riviera Hotel, I met Juliette Prowse's leading man, New Zealand born Clive Revill, at the after-show press party and immediately found myself involved in a minor skirmish.

I had merely indicated to young Mr. Revill that he had a touch of Barry Fitzgerald, Spencer Tracy, and quite a bit of James Whitmore. Setting down the drink that he held in his hand, young Revill said in his flowing English tones: "I'd like to ask you something. Why is it that everyone in this country always compares me with someone else?"

I explained that first of all it was quite a compliment to be compared with the three gentlemen of the theater whom I had named. Secondly, I explained that I did not indicate that he was carbon-copying anyone, which no doubt was the cause of his disturbed demeanor, but that the comparisons ended at the fringes of mere reminder.

Mr. Revill picked up his glass, smiled, and continued sipping.

AT THE Las Vegas fabulous Flamingo Hotel where Morris Lansburgh presides, there's quite a shtick making the rounds. It seems that Mr. Lansburgh has a habit of approaching his guests and, bowing from the waist repeatedly, he welcomes them with: "How do you do." Then, he adds a few more words of gracious courtesy and walks over to the next guest to repeat the performance.

The comedians have picked up this bit of business and are making the most of it. Milton Berle started the parade in his recent Flamingo act. He went around the stage bowing deeply from the waist and saying: "How do you do, chair. How do you do, floor. How do you do, wine bottle. How do you do, lights."

Other comics around the Las Vegas strip have now picked up the same routine. One night, Army Archerd of Variety was employing the gimmick when up walked Lansburgh and I gulped. My embarrassment was short lived when I learned that the Flamingo executive loves the satire and accepts it in good faith as a round of good natured kidding.

P.S. His hotel also nets a generous amount of free advertising.

Meet 16-year-old Steve Miller of radio station KENO who is the youngest disc jockey in the West and truthful enough to admit he is the second youngest in the United States. Steve still attends high school and enters college next year where he will study radio and television. Six feet tall, and as thin and straight as a Las Vegas Indian's arrow, young Miller employs many airtime gimmicks such as playing a platter backwards and interviewing the youngster who phones in the winning guess of the tune's name, wishing happy birthdays and extending greetings on religious holidays.

Yes, young Mr. Miller is well paid for his efforts, but he has to work hard. He purchases the airtime for a flat amount and then hustles around to the various Las Vegas merchants and sells them commercials.

Trades Division Plans Intensive Drive

The Trades and Industry division phase of the 1961 campaign of the General Jewish Committee will get underway next Tuesday evening with a workers meeting at the Wayland Manor at 8:00 P.M.

Harold Leavitt, Trades and Industry chairman, said a streamlined but intensive drive has been planned for the division's role in the campaign. Mr. Leavitt is being assisted by co-chairmen Benjamin Ruttenberg and Joseph Thaler.

The division's role in the 1961 campaign will be thoroughly discussed at the workers meeting and then specific cards will be assigned to each worker for solicitation.

The principal speaker will be Dr. Arieh L. Plotkin, noted lecturer, expert on Middle Eastern affairs and former officer in the Israel Defense Forces.

A resident of Haifa, Israel, he is in the United States at present for teaching and research.

371 Families Aided By Family Service

Nathan E. Sklar, executive director of the Jewish Family and Children's Service, announced last week that the group has served 371 families in the last year.

Mr. Sklar said he was encouraged by the number of persons, many of them new, seeking the aid of the family service, and he noted that the number seeking financial aid had decreased while those asking martial and family counseling had increased.

A spade was led and declarer had then to analyze the hand. If the club finesse succeeds there is, of course, no problem, but the declarer must see if there is some surer way, not dependent upon the club finesse. South found that way: it involves giving up a trump trick and discarding the three losing hearts.

He won the spade in dummy and played off the ace, king of diamonds, on which he discarded two hearts. He then trumped a diamond in his own hand with the nine of clubs. He thus discovered that the diamonds were going to break 3-4, and therefore that he only had to ruff one more diamond to secure the necessary discard for his last losing heart. He now played a small club towards the jack. West won with the queen and continued with a spade lead, which South took in his own hand. He then entered dummy with the ten of clubs, returned to his own hand by trumping another diamond, drew the last trump and re-entered dummy with the master spade, discarding his last losing heart on the master diamond.

Most players on seeing dummy would have congratulated themselves on their excellent prospects of making the slam contract, for it is immediately obvious that if either the club finesse or the heart finesse is successful twelve tricks are certain, and the odds that one or the other will succeed are 3-1 in favour of the declarer.

South, however was not content to accept even these favorable odds, but with a little thought greatly improved upon them to land a contract that would, in fact, have been lost if he had taken the finessses.

Korb Baking Co. Opens New Pawtucket Plant

A building previously owned by B. A. Dario at 540 Pawtucket Avenue has been completely remodeled and equipped with the most up-to-date fixtures to house the new Korb Baking Company, a long established Providence bakery.

"An advantage of its new location near the North Main street Providence-Pawtucket city line, is its easy accessibility to both its old and new customers, with entrances to an excellent parking area, from Pawtucket avenue, Lowden and Carver streets," Edmund Korb stressed.

Korb Baking Co. Rhode Island's largest baking plant, has been in continuous operation since 1906 and was a familiar landmark on North Main street, Providence. However, due to the Lippitt Hill redevelopment program, it was compelled to vacate its former premises.

Mr. Korb, president of the firm since 1941, said that considerable time had been spent in seeking a new location. Not only were the physical requirements of a new bakery considered, but also the community in which it would be located, he said.

YOUR MONEY'S WORTH

by Sylvia Porter

MECHANICAL BRAIN TO CHECK TAXPAYERS

The most spectacular revolution in the entire history of administration of our Federal income tax laws will get under way within the next 100 days.

For, before this year ends, the Internal Revenue Service will initiate its long-heralded switchover to automated handling of tax returns, and when automation takes over, the IRS will be able to determine by figuratively pressing one button:

If you failed to file a return;

If you made mathematical mistakes on your tax return;

Whether you at any particular time still owe back taxes or other taxes;

Whether you're showing on your return what others are reporting about you on their information returns;

Whether your tax return should be selected for examination by the Revenue Service agents.

The heart of this automated tax check-up system will be the computer center at Martinsburg, West Virginia. Here the IRS will keep on magnetic tape one master file of all business taxpayers and another master file of all individual taxpayers.

Your file, as a taxpayer, will clearly identify you and show your current status--including tax liability, tax delinquency, payment and refund information, results of prior audits, related data.

Each of you, as an individual taxpayer, also will have an account number--which will be your social security number and any person who hasn't a social security number will be issued one.

Business taxpayers already have employer identification numbers and these will be used to identify their accounts in the master file for all business taxpayers.

You'll send your tax returns to local district offices, as you now do. These offices will pass on your returns for processing to one of nine regional service centers. At the regional centers, the returns will be transcribed onto punch cards which will be converted into magnetic tapes. After that, the tapes will go to Martinsburg for checking against the master files. Then, they'll come back to the regional centers which will use their automatic processing equipment to print bills, notices, etc., for mailing to taxpayers and for use by the Internal Revenue Service.

Tied in with its historic use of mechanical brains to check on taxpayers is the Treasury's decision to start examining taxpayers who previously weren't considered in "productive" fields.

The Treasury's reason for examining these taxpayers is not to find a lot of additional tax money--which is the basis for its careful "productive" audits of taxpayers who receive a large percentage of their incomes in cash. Rather, its reason for extending its examinations is to keep various large groups of taxpayers reporting "accurately."

Atlanta was selected as the first of the nine regional service centers for automated operation, and it already has received and installed its computers. Starting Jan. 1, 1962, the Atlanta Center will begin to process corporation returns, quarterly federal excise tax returns, income and social security withholding taxes and others for business firms in North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee. It will process individual tax returns starting Jan. 1, 1963.

The next regional service center will be set up in Philadelphia and will cover Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and the District of Columbia.

On October 23 in Washington, IRS Commissioner Caplin will hold a one-day conference to discuss the many and varied aspects of the conversion to automation. Businessmen and their professional advisers are invited to attend the conference, for the switchover is certain to have a dramatic impact on their tax filing procedures.

As for the millions of us, let's fact it; the mechanical brain is going to give us the toughest tax "treatment" ever.

FROM FRIDAY TO FRIDAY

READING THE NEWSPAPERS

By Beryl Segal

Thousands upon thousands of words are printed daily in the newspapers and in magazines. We read them, skip on to other headlines, and we forget them in the rush of new words that come to us. But every once in a while, we come upon some stories that we cannot forget. Sometimes because they are so funny. Sometimes because they are so moving. Sometimes because they give us a new and different insight into human nature.

I read two such items in the daily newspapers, and I want to share them with you. They are unrelated to one another, both in content and in the character of the people of whom these stories are told. Of one story, after you read it, you say:

"God, how lowly are people." Of the other story, you just stand quiet in awe. You are speechless, because you are moved to tears, and you feel like exclaiming: "God, what heights people can reach."

FROM 5 to 17

This story was told by the District Attorney of a County in the State of California, before a Congressional Committee.

In the year 1947, a family of four applied for relief because the father could not find any work. They were given unemployment assistance. This lasted for four years, until they were separated. The mother was left with three dependent children, and she was entitled to assistance because the children were all minors and there was no one to provide for them. She was given $203 for the three children, monthly.

In the year 1953, the mother begot three more children, for which her assistance went up, and so it went on for years.

In the meantime, the children grew up, and the time had come for a daughter to marry. She was all of 15 years old. After giving birth to two children, her husband followed in the foot steps of her father-in-law, and he left her. Now the young mother, now 18 years old, applied and got assistance for her two children.

But life must go on and in due time, she gave birth to one child, then to another, and later to a third. The family of five children with three fathers, all of them unknown to the mother and to the children, was on the relief payroll, receiving $291 every month.

The District Attorney then goes on to relate the story of the family. There is the brother who married, begot two children and deserted them. The mother received assistance for them. He, in the meantime married again, begot two more children, and deserted them, too. That wife also received assistance.

All in all, according to the witness before the Congressional Committee, the state pays to the original family of four, for seventeen dependent children. The number will probably increase, because the children are getting older and the cycle will be repeated. These children do not know what it means to have a father, and are not even aware that it is wrong to live without a father and yet to give birth to children.

All in all, not a very pretty story. Nothing to be proud of.

FROM 5 to 75

The other story is told in the Israel newspapers, and took place in its development at about the same time as the story above.

In the city of Darmstadt, in Germany, there lived three little girls. They did not know anything of politics, and had no idea of the super-race idea which was developed by Hitler and which swept their country into a frenzy of madness.

The three girls, like everybody else in their country, were members in the Hitler Youth. They sang, they marched, they saluted by Hitler and which swept their country into a frenzy of madness.

The three girls, like everybody else in their country, were members in the Hitler Youth. They sang, they marched, they saluted in the usual manner, and they gloried in their uniform. They might even have taken part in deriding and molesting Jews. Everybody did it. But when Hitler fell, and the city of Darmstadt was bombed badly, these three girls saw in it the finger of God. They were older then. They understood what was done to the Jews, and they felt guilty. Now God is punishing the city of Darmstadt and the country for all the misdeeds against the Jews, they said.

The girls vowed to redeem their country for all the sins committed. They formed a Sisterhood which was devoted to help the poor, comfort the lonely and especially to make up somehow to the Jews.

The order of nuns which was formed in 1946 now counts 75 girls. They come every year to Israel, four at a time, and do all kinds of menial work. They take care of the elderly. They dress and wash and feed the disabled. They work in the hospitals of the country. Nothing is too low or unworthy. They come and ask for work, any work that is offered.

They want to make atonement for the sins committed against the Jews by the people of Germany. They do it with all their heart, with full repentance and regret. And they do their work quietly, without publicity, and earnestly.

Of the work of these nuns, we say:

"God, how good are your children when you touch their heart."

And of the others, we just smile to ourselves. What can we say of such wasted lives?

(Mr. Segal's opinions are his own. His views are not necessarily those of this newspaper.)

Finds Ancient Millstones Buried In Israeli Desert

JERUSALEM — Dr. Nelson Glueck, an archaeologist and president of the Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion in Cincinnati, recently discovered a huge store of millstones in an uninhabited ravine in the Negev Desert, it was reported by Lawrence Fellows of the New York Times.

the work of medieval Arabs or perhaps Crusaders. The granite millstones are much too hard, the archaeologist said, to have been used to grind only wheat or salt from some near-by production. Neither are there any indications of a former agriculture, or of a large, permanent settlement near the Wadi.

Millstones — Grey granite lower millstone and part of an upper one. They are among almost 100 such stones found in Wadi Rodedi in the Israeli desert. The gun belongs to a member of the Israeli Army escort that accompanies Dr. Glueck.

There are nearly a hundred of them, of hard, gray granite, measuring mostly about fifteen inches across the grinding surface.

They lie scattered over the barren surface of Wadi Rodedi, the dry bed of rainy-season torrents, about midway between Tinna, where King Solomon built a large copper smelter, and Elath, Israel's port on the Gulf of Aqaba.

From a single fragment of green-glazed pottery, found at the site, Dr. Glueck has tentatively identified the millstones as

There are the remains of a rude house with the millstones so arranged that they might have been used for grinding. But Dr. Glueck thought it more likely that the millstones had been used with other rocks in the foundation of the house.

Quarrying Conjectured

There are stones lying about that appear to have been broken in manufacture. One such broken stone was used in the lining of a near-by grave.

Gray granite is plentiful here and it would seem that the site was an ancient millstone quarry. As far as Dr. Glueck could recall, until now only basalt millstones were known to have been produced in the Palestine area.

In his search of the Negev this year, a project he has undertaken for the David W. Klau Foundation, Dr. Glueck, also found an unusually well-preserved village, the date of which he placed in the time of Abraham, or about 2000 B. C.

The village, with the remains of

Israel Parties Meet To End Deadlock

TEL AVIV — Indecisive maneuverings in Israel's deadlock for formation of a new government were resumed after a Yom Kippur recess.

Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion's Mapai Party met first with the Ultra Orthodox Poale Agudat Party and then with the "Club of Four" parties — the Liberals, Mapam, the National Religious Party and Agudat Avoda. Earlier, Mapai reported it had formed a parliamentary bloc with Poale Agudat and four pro Mapai Arab members of the Knesset controlling 48 Knesset seats as against the 46 seats held by the "Club of Four."

Finance Minister Levi Eshkol, who is negotiating under a mandate from President Ben Zvi to try to form a new Government, took time out from the negotiations to meet with Dr. Naham Goldmann who campaigned for the Liberal Party before the Aug. 15 elections. While Dr. Goldmann said merely that the discussion was cordial it was reported that Eshkol might have asked Dr. Goldmann to seek to induce the Liberal Party leaders to soften their attitude in regard to terms for joining a new coalition. The Finance Minister then returned to negotiations with representatives of the "Club of Four."

the foundations of about fifty circular or oval stone houses was spread over the slopes of the hills overlooking Bir Gashur. Dr. Glueck said he had found a wealth of pottery fragments.

British Search For Missing Israeli

LONDON — Identity checks are being held in British schools in an effort to trace Yossele Schumacher, the Israeli boy who has been missing for more than a year, a British detective inspector told the court here last week.

The class will meet weekly at the Beth School building, room 34. The course will be conducted entirely in Hebrew. Qualified personnel who wish to enroll in the program should call the Bureau office.

This program is made possible by a special grant from the General Jewish Committee to the Bureau.

Senators Eliminate Clause
 From Peace Corps Bill

WASHINGTON — Senate conferees, led by Chairman J. W. Fulbright of the Foreign Relations Committee, eliminated an anti-bias clause from the Peace Corps Bill now before Congress.

Peace Corps Director R. Sargeant Shriver had insisted before Sen. Fulbright's committee that Peace Corps personnel would not be sent to nations like Arab states which discriminate against U. S. personnel on a basis of religious or racial prejudice.

By unanimous vote, the House adopted an amendment barring Peace Corps operations in nations seeking to enforce bigotry. Rep. Silvo O. Conte, Massachusetts Republican, said this amendment was directed particularly to the Arab countries that have discriminated against American boys of Jewish faith. "I do not think they should have the benefit of the Peace Corps."

It was learned that the State Department interceded in the Senate-House Conference to delete the anti-bias measure approved by the House. Chairman Thomas E. Morgan, Pennsylvania Democrat of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, admitted that the amendment "caused the conference a great deal of concern." Rep. Morgan expressed sympathy for the amendment's purpose but apparently was forced to go along with the executive department emphasized that they would not have Peace Corps programs in a country that made American personnel "repeatedly subject to discrimination."

Goldman Stresses Jew is 'Unique'

TEL AVIV — Dr. Nahum Goldman asked the nations of the world to understand "the uniqueness" of the Jewish nation, a minority of which is in Israel while the majority is "dispersed all over the world." He voiced that request here at a dinner marking the 25th anniversary of the World Jewish Congress.

Pointing out that the Jewish link with Israel must not be interpreted as a manifestation of "dual loyalty," he said that a lack of world Jewish unity with Israel would "endanger and undermine the existence of the Jewish nation." He stressed that the "dangers" facing the Jewish nation are "the continuous cutting off of the 3,500,000 Jews behind the Iron Curtain," assimilation in the free world, and the increasing gap between Israeli and world Jewry. "Only national unity, closer ties and bonds will preserve the Jewish race," he said.

Only 1,000 Jews
 Leave Morocco

RABAT, Morocco — Casablanca authorities have announced that 6,338 passports have been delivered to Moroccan Jews since July 1, according to the New York Times.

Only about 1,000 Jews have left the country since that time a city official disclosed.

The Governor of Casablanca declared that the delivery of passports appeared to have reassured many Moroccan Jews who had presented their cases as urgent.

He theorized that once Jewish citizens knew that they were free to travel, they no longer felt compelled to depart.

An average of 170 passports has been delivered daily to Jews during September, according to official figures.

The change in Moroccan policy is shown by the fact that only 1,029 passports were delivered to Jews during the first three months of this year.

with Curtis playing the Olivier role. "I'll never sell it," Goldwyn said. "To me 'Wuthering Heights' is the perfect movie, and I won't have it tampered with."

DRAMA DEPT.: T.C. Jones, the bald-headed female impersonator, is starring in Noel Coward's "Blithe Spirit" in San Francisco. His role, he sighed, is difficult, because every time he creates the proper blond wig to wear -- his wife finds it becoming and wears it.

TV NOTE: Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, the wartime commander in the Pacific who died recently, once did a telecast with ex-Sgt. Jerry Edelberg. They arrived at the makeup room together. The harried makeup girl asked: "All right now, which one of you is the general and which the sergeant?" Gen. Eichelberger told her: "He's the sergeant, and I'm the one who's flattered."

THEATER NOTE: Richard Johnson will co-star with Michael Redgrave and Goggin Withers in "The Complaisant Lover." Johnson has an established reputation in England, but is making his debut here. He discovered that Actors' Equity lists another Richard Johnson, who has sole right to use the name. But the American Johnson waived the right, in favor of the Britisher.

BUSINESS DEPT.: Whenever Hermione Gingold is to appear on Jack Paar's show, she received offers to reward her for mentions on the TV program. Her top offer was for a mink coat, if she'd mention the Maritime Loan & Beneficial Society. Paar said she should have done it, and Miss Gingold asked how. "Easy," said Paar. "All you'd have to do is say to me 'Funny thing happened to me on my way to the Maritime Loan & Beneficial Society.'"

SPORTS NOTE: Harry Cooper, pro at Miami's Coral Country Club, is a Hall of Fame golfer, but ineligible for the Ryder Cup matches. "I was born in England, but I'm a U. S. citizen," he said. "Stamps," said the clerk, "are for sale only to members" . . . The late Eugene Meyer bought the stamp and gave it to the messenger — who handed him a quarter and said: "Keep the change. Buy yourself a cigar" . . . "A cigar?" Mr. Meyer replied. "Then give me 45¢ more."
