A PLAN TO INSTITUTE COMPULSORY savings as one of the means to meet the needs of integration programs for new immigrants is to be submitted for Knesset approval by the Government Treasury. Founded by a small group of pioneers in 1921, Nahalal now numbers 1,200 members.

Religious Zealots Still Hold Some Israeli Children

JERUSALEM (Israeli Sector). — A few immigrant children were still missing last week following a raid yesterday by religious zealots on the children's reception center at Ramat Hadassah Szold.

More than 100 of a group of zealots calling themselves the "Torah Camp" of the ultra-Orthodox Agudat Israel party broke into a center near Haifa last week with a bus and two trucks.

With loudspeakers they summoned the children to leave with them lest they be "converted" from Orthodox Judaism. According to personnel at the center, the zealots distributed candy, cigarettes and money to the children and in the ensuing panic and confusion left with between two and three dozen children. The children were between 9 and 16 years of age.

According to an instructor at the center, the police, who had been summoned from Haifa, overtook the bus ten minutes after it left the center and when it stopped the children ran out and dispersed in the countryside.

Only Yiddish Literary Review Makes Debut In Soviet Union

MOSCOW — The first Yiddish-language periodical published in the Soviet Union since 1948 made its debut here.

The first issue of the publication, a bimonthly literary review called Sovietish Heimland (Soviet Homeland), was exhibited with evident satisfaction by its editor during an interview in his new offices near the center of Moscow.

The editor, Aaron Vergelis, who is a Yiddish poet, said a printing of 25,000 copies would go to subscribers and appear on newsstands over the week-end.

The 130-page issue covers July and August.

The Soviet Union has had no national Yiddish-language periodical since 1948, when publishing houses, theatres and other Yiddish cultural institutions were closed by the Stalin regime. A small Yiddish newspaper in Birobidzhan, a Jewish autonomous region in the Soviet Far East, has been of local importance. Birobidzhan contains less than 5 per cent of the Soviet Union's 2,000,000 Jews.

Publication of a Yiddish literary review was predicted as early as 1956, shortly after the exposure of Stalin's "cult of personality" and the posthumous rehabilitation of leading Yiddish writers executed in 1952. Among them were David Bergelson, Leib Kvitko, Perets Markish and Issik Fefer.

Writers' Union Decision

When asked about the five-day delay, Mr. Vergelis replied:

"The decision was up to us in the Soviet Writers Union. We did not know at first whether there was interest in Yiddish-language publications. We began by publishing Yiddish works in Russian translation. Two years ago, on the occasion of the hundredth anniversary of Sholom Aleichem's birth; we printed a selection of his works in Yiddish.

"Then followed publication in Yiddish of works of two other classic writers, Mendele Moiker-Sforimand I. L. Perets. The demand for these books demonstrated a wide interest and we felt justified in starting a Yiddish-language literary review."

Mr. Vergelis said the decision to publish the new journal was encouraged by leaders of the Writers Union, including Ilya Ehrenburg and Konstantin Fedin. The Yiddish editor noted that circulation of his review compared favorably with Russian-language published by the Writers Union.

Staff is Introduced

Mr. Vergelis introduced members of the editorial board. They included Moshe Teif, Avram Gontar and Nokhem Oislander. Mr. Teif and Mr. Gontar have contributed material to the first issue. Mr. Oislander is the author of a recent Yiddish-language book on Osher Shvartsman, an early Soviet Yiddish poet.

Asked whether there had been any difficulty in obtaining a sufficient number of Hebrew type faces that are used in Yiddish printing, the editor replied:

To Conduct Enrollment In Providence Jewish Schools

Enrollment in the Jewish Schools in Greater Providence will be conducted during the coming week according to an announcement of the Bureau of Jewish Education. The School Council has set Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 6 and 7 as opening days for mid-week Hebrew Schools and the completion of the enrollment program. Sunday, Sept. 10, will be the first Sunday School session and also to arrange for additional registrations. For variations in local school enrollment practices, parents may communicate with their schools.

Parents whose children have reached or are reaching their eighth birthday may enroll them in mid-week Hebrew school, since most of the schools in the state do not offer one-day-a-week Jewish education for children who have passed their eighth birthday.

In accordance with the resolution passed by the Rabbinical Association of Rhode Island, and the eleven congregations in the area, candidates for Bar Mitzvah on a Sabbath morning must be enrolled in a recognized mid-week Hebrew school in accordance with the existing requirements for Jewish education in the congregation where the Bar Mitzvah will take place. Since this resolution goes into effect in September, 1966, parents whose children are now eight years of age should check with their schools about this educational requirement.

Affiliated schools of the Bureau which are now accepting enrollment include Beth Am, 40 Gardiner Stret, Warwick; Beth David, 145 Oakland Avenue; Beth El, 70 Orchard Avenue; Beth Israel, 155 Niagara Street; Beth Sholom, 275 Camp Street; Community Hebrew High School of the Bureau; Cranston Jewish Center, 330 Park Avenue; Emanuel, 99 Taft Avenue; Ohawe Sholom, 12 Jackson Street, Pawtucket; Providence Hebrew Day School, 295 Morris Avenue, (offers an English and Hebrew studies program); Shaare Zedek, 688 Broad Street; Sons of Abraham, 364 Prairie Avenue; Sinai in Garden City School, and Workmen's Circle, 170 Sessions Street.

For additional information about enrollment in Jewish Schools, the office of the Bureau, DE 1-0956, may be called.

To Install New Knesset This Month

JERUSALEM — Israel's new Knesset, the fifth since the establishment of the State in 1948, is expected to be convened here on Monday, Sept. 4. That will be the date for the official convocation of the new Parliament, resulting from last week's elections, if the final vote tabulation — including the ballots cast by servicemen and women in Israel's Army — are completed. Should a hitch develop in the final counting, the Knesset may not meet until after the forthcoming Jewish High Holy Days.

In any event, the opening meeting of the Knesset will be largely ceremonial. Members of the Parliament will take their oaths. After that, President Izhak Ben-Zvi will call on the party receiving the largest number of votes to form a Government. That means that Premier David Ben-Gurion, as head of Mapai, will once more be given an opportunity to form Israel's next Government.

The Knesset's only other business, at the opening session will be the election of the Speaker. It is believed that the Speaker of the last Knesset, Kaddish Luz, of Mapai, will be elected unanimously to head the House again.

Keren Hayesod Marks 40th Anniversary

NEW YORK — Forty years ago, a newly ordained young rabbi played a minor role in the first fund raising campaign of Keren Hayesod on behalf of the Yishuv (Jewish community) in Palestine, according to the New York Times.

Last week, this spiritual leader, Dr. Israel Goldstein, rabbi emeritus of Congregation B'nai Jeshurun, noted that Karen Hayesod, known as the United Israel Appeal, had reached its fortieth anniversary.

Rabbi Goldstein is the world general chairman of Keren Hayesod.

Karen Hayesod was established forty-one years ago in London at a meeting of the World Zionist Organization. Its main purpose was to aid those entering Palestine.

But it was not until 1921 that Karen Hayesod launched its first campaign in this country, headed by the late Dr. Chaim Weizmann, scientist and Israel's first president, and the late Albert Einstein.

In the last forty years, Karen Hayesod has raised more than $900,000,000 to meet the needs of Israel's newcomers. It conducts its own campaigns in the free world. Its chief beneficiary in this country is the United Jewish Appeal, which provides between seventy-five and eighty per cent of its budget.

Newspaper work drew her back East in 1948. She edited a weekly newspaper in Leonia N. J., before coming to the Journal-Bulletin in 1950. At one time she was a special assistant in the U. S. Department of Labor.

Mrs. Taylor when she was operated on in Boston in 1955 was one of the first persons to submit to new methods now generally known as open heart surgery.

Her handicap never seriously interfered with her newspaper work or her intense interest in the situation of working mothers, underprivileged children, housing needs, and minority groups.

Mrs. Taylor was second vice president of the New England Women's Press Association in 1959. She also served as secretary of the Providence Newspaper Guild.

Religious Zealots Hold Israeli Children

Most Are Returned

Moshe Kol, director of Youth Aliya, the department of the Zoinist organization that handles teen-age immigrant children, said recently that all but three of the children who were carried away found their own way back to the center or were returned after dark.

Fifty of the zealots were detained by the police at Ramat Hadassah when at least two Orthodox Knesset (Parliament) members intervened and Mr. Kol was assured that the children would be returned.

However, Rabbi Menhem Porush, an Agudat Israel member of the knesset, said the group still had twenty-four of the children. He said twelve of them had been seen at lunch in a Jerusalem restaurant.

Asked if his party had organized the raid he said: "Of course." He also said there would be more raids unless steps were taken by Youth Aliya to provide children with more stringent Orthodox Jewish environment.

He charged that because of the press of recent immigration children had been farmed out to communal settlements where pigs were raised and where there existed violations of injunctions of Jewish faith. The bible forbids Jews to eat pork.

At the center, which can accommodate 300 children, Mr. Porush added that girls were given shorts to wear, which he said was "against the laws of modesty."

He said that a "mass prayer and protest meeting" would be held by Agudat Israel in Jerusalem to stir up public opinion against what he considers the failing of Youth Aliya.

Rabbis of Agudat Israel's Council of Sages met last week to draw up a rabbinical appeal from Israel to rabbis abroad asking that they use their influence to stop contributions to Yoth Aliyah.

Most of the funds come from Hadassah, the women's Zionist organization, which is holding its convention in Denver.

B-G Says Election Was Disastrous For Israel

TEL AVIV — Mr. Ben-Gurion was philosophic about the outcome of the elections. He termed the results a victory for Mapai, even though it lost seats, in view of what he termed an "unprecedented smear campaign" against it.

The results, however, he asserted, were "disastrous" for the country because they failed to bring about a change in the electoral system.

Mr. Ben-Gurion has long advocated a two-party system for Israel and the elimination of the present system of proportional representation which makes it virtually impossible for a single party ever to command a majority of the Parliament and exercise a clear mandate.

U. S. ASKED TO TAKE ARAB REFUGEES

WASHINGTON — The U. S. and other Western nations should offer to accept some Arab refugees as immigrants in pressing any plan to solve the 13-year-old refugee problem, said Congressman John Lindsay. He said a solution appeared to lie in "some combination of integration, resettlement, and a measure of repatriation in Israel."

A new summary of the civilian voting shows that the voting percentages achieved by the various parties is as follows: Mapai, 34.51 percent; Herut, 13.7; Liberal, 13.38; National Religious, 9.98; Mapam, 7.58; Ahdut Avodah, 6.52; Communists, 4.3; Agudat Israel, 3.75; Poalei Agudat-Israel, 1.99. The remainder of the votes went to Arab parties.

Meanwhile, jockeying for position for formation of the next Government is now under way here. The Mapai campaign workers held a large rally at Tel-Aviv addressed by Mr. Ben-Gurion, and the Mapai secretariat held its first post-election meeting to evaluate balloting.

Menachem Beigin, leader of Herut, has proposed that the Liberal Party join Herut in a United parliamentary bloc as an alternative to the dominant Mapai Party. Herut has empowered Mr. Beigin to take all necessary steps to bring about formation of such a bloc. Mr. Beigin is expected to approach the two leaders of the Liberals — Pinhas Rosen, of the former Progressive Party, and Peretz Bernstein, of the old General Zionist Party — asking them to bring the Herut-Liberal bloc proposal before their respective groups.

Literary Review Makes Debut In Soviet Union

"Any country that launches sputniks can also supply Yiddish typefaces."

The editor said it would be the journal's policy to introduce every Yiddish writer with a photograph and brief biographical sketch, he added:

"It is often said abroad that Yiddish literature in the Soviet Union has ceased to exist. Here on the last page of the journal appears a list of 100 persons who are now writing in Yiddish in this country — novelists, short story writers, poets and playwrights."

Mr. Vergelis said the publication of his review would promote the appearance of more Yiddish-language works in book form. Contributions from "progressive foreign writers," he said, were welcome. He defined progressive as anything that was "not anti-Soviet reactionary."

Enrollment in morning sessions, from 9 A.M. till noon, is open to children aged 3 to 4 years. Afternoon sessions, from 1 to 4 P.M., are open to children aged 4 to 5½ years.

Transportation is available where required. Only a limited number of openings is available at both Center schools. Requirements, and registration procedures for both schools may be obtained now by calling the East Side Center, Union 1-2674. Information will be available at the South Side Center after Labor Day.

HEBREW SCHOOL

Community Hebrew High School classes of the Bureau of Jewish Education will open on Sept. 6 and 7 for the Cranston and Providence Students respectively, according to an announcement by Irving Brodsky, president of the Bureau. For the first time in the history of the Community Hebrew High School, there will be two classes in the Cranston-Warwick area, and two classes in Providence to meet the needs of the elementary Hebrew School graduates in the Greater Providence area.

The High School classes are under the supervision of Meir Zippor and meet twice weekly at the Cranston Jewish Center and at the Bureau. Boys and girls who have completed at least five years of Hebrew school or its equivalent are eligible for admission to the high school. For information about enrollment in the high school classes the Bureau office, DE 1-0956 may be called.

HUG IVRI

A committee of the Hug Ivri, Hebrew Speaking Circle, met with the newly elected chairman, Mrs. Solomon Bodner to discuss programs and plans for the coming year. Present at the meeting were Mrs. Solomon Eliaash, Dr. and Mrs. Harry Elkin, Dr. and Mrs. Aaron Klein and Mordecai Shapiro.

The committee announced September 30th as the opening meeting Night for the Hug Ivri. Men and women in the community interested in joining the Circle may leave their name at the Bureau office.

SCHOOL REGISTRATION

Mr. Daniel Jacobs, chairman of the School Board of Temple Emanuel announces that registration in the weekday department of the Temple Emanuel Religious School will be held on Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 6 and 7, from 3:00 to 5:00 P.M. and on Sunday, Sept. 10, from 10:00 A.M. to 12:00 noon. Pupils who have already attended the school and also new pupils must register for the new school year.

Parents who have any questions concerning the eligibility of their children to attend the school, or any questions connected with the school and its program, can contact the director of the school, Dr. Aaron Klein at the school office (DE 1-1617).

JEWS TO PRESS CLAIMS

GENEVA — The World Jewish Congress plans to call on the West German Government to speed up settlement of about 1,500,000 claims for compensation and restitution for Jewish victims of Nazi persecution.

The decision was taken last week by the congress' executive committee at its session here after it had heard a report from Dr. Nehemiah Robinson of New York, director of the organization's Institute of Jewish Affairs.

Early action was held essential because the deadline for the adjudication of the claims expires at the end of new year, it was stated.

SLICHOS SERVICES
 Rabbi Saul Leeman and Cantor Jack Smith will officiate at the Slichos services to be conducted Saturday at midnight in the Cranston Jewish Center.

Youth Is His Major Interest

largest independent label in the country.

After five months in Providence, Mort Downey feels pretty well settled here. If he didn't like Providence, he says, he would have left a lot sooner.

The son of the well-known Irish tenor, Mr. Downey at almost 24, has been a disc jockey for the past four years in Texas and California and other parts of the country. He is now disc jockey and music director at WICE and its allied station, WHIH of Norfolk, Va.

He is interested in young people, particularly those between 12 and 17 years of age. He has been working with the teenagers at the Jewish Community Center since he has been in Providence. He has also worked with the Youth for Christ Movement (a non-sectarian organization) and received an award from them for his work with juveniles.

At the present, he is the only Downey who is working with music. His father is president of the Coca Cola Company, and his three brothers and sisters are interested in other areas.

He feels that youth needs good times and good facilities, and it is for that reason that he is giving the money to the Jewish Community Center. "The stupid things that teenagers do can be controlled and forgiven," he feels. He has been working at the Center with teenagers Syd Gershman and Jeff Davis, president of the Summer CanTEEN; Mark Forman, South Side Director and Art Kleinberg, East Side Program Director.

Does he feel that he should say what will be done with the money? "No," says Mr. Downey, "the leaders of the Center know the purposes of the Center and will use it in whatever areas of need that are most necessary."

Israel's Population Over Two Million

JERUSALEM — Israel has a record population of 2,170,082 persons, according to provisional results of the May 22 census reported this week. The total is nearly two and a half times as much as that indicated by a previous census taken Nov. 11, 1948, six months after Israel statehood was declared.

The findings were presented to President Ben-Zvi by Prof. R. Bachi, the government statistician, and senior members of the census staff at a reception. Three cities were listed as having populations of more than 100,000.

They were Tel Aviv, with 386,612 residents; Haifa, with 182,007; and Jerusalem, with 166,301 persons. Jerusalem has almost doubled in population since the 1948 census.

The next two largest urban areas are Ramat Gan, near Tel Aviv, with more than 90,000 residents, and Petah Tikvah, with 53,000. Forty-nine other towns with populations of from 5,000 to 50,000 include three all-Arab towns, as well as a dozen points in the Negev which were unpopulated in 1948. The new Negev settled points rang in population from 6,000 in Eilat to 24,000 in Ashkelon.

Goldmann Reports Austrian Jews Willing To OK Restitution Plan

JERUSALEM — The Jewish Agency executive convened here last week under the chairmanship of Dr. Nahum Goldmann to hear a report on the results of his negotiations with the Vienna Government on restitution to Austrian victims of Nazi persecution. Dr. Goldmann noted that the overwhelming majority of organizations of Jews of Austrian origin had accepted the agreement with the Austrian Government feeling that it was the best that could have been achieved.

Dr. Goldmann also announced that there were good chances that the Swiss Parliament would pass a law enabling receipt by Jewish organizations of bank accounts deposited in Switzerland by European Jews before the Second World War and in the early years of the war, and which became heirless property when the owners fell victim to Nazi persecution.

He said such a law would probably release those accounts which have been inactive since 1940. The Jewish leader also reported on an agreement reached with the West German Finance Ministry over the payment of compensation to those Jewish victims of Nazism who left Eastern Europe after 1953.

The executive also discussed the situation of the Zionist organization of France. It was decided to make an effort to establish a broad confederation of all Zionist parties and non-Zionist organizations in France. A foundation conference for such a confederation will be held in Paris in the near future.

"The margin was very narrow between those who thought Eichmann should be put to death for his crimes and those who thought he should be given life imprisonment. There was a shade more opinion favoring the latter. As to what the court probably will decide: Most persons questioned believed Eichmann would be found guilty but that his life would be spared. Many seem to think he would get life imprisonment."

U. S. Poll Shows Eichmann Is Guilty

NEW YORK — Americans in 21 cities, questioned in a sample poll through man-in-the-street interviews, believe "almost without a single exception" that Adolf Eichmann is guilty of crimes against the Jewish people and crimes against humanity. The New York Herald Tribune reported here.

The poll was conducted by the Herald Tribune and other newspapers in various cities, including Chicago, Detroit, San Francisco, Washington, Houston, Salt Lake City, Cincinnati, Dayton, St. Louis, Rochester (N.Y.), Los Angeles and Oklahoma City.

Respondents were asked if they thought Eichmann received a fair trial before the panel of three judges in Jerusalem, which had heard the case for four months: what they thought his sentence should be if convicted; and what type of punishment he should receive if found guilty. Summarizing the results of the poll, The Herald Tribune reported:

"Almost without a single exception, the men and women interviewed believed Eichmann was guilty and that his trial had proven him to be. The very few people who disagreed made a point of Eichmann's claim that he was an underling taking orders from higher-ups."

Rabbis Ordained In South Africa

JOHANNESBURG — South African Jewish history was made here last week when, at a gala event at the Carlton Hotel here, this country's first two locally trained rabbis received their ordination. They compose the first graduating class of the Ministers Training College, established here five years ago jointly by the Jewish Board of Deputies, the Federation of Synagogues and the Board of Jewish Education.

Chief Rabbi L.I. Rabinowitz and Rabbi Hillel Medalie, of Leeds, England, currently visiting here, were the principal speakers at the reception tendered to the two newly ordained clergymen, Rev. Abner Weiss and Rev. Gerald Mazibow. Rev. Weiss has just been appointed as spiritual leader of a congregation in Durban.

Calendar of JWB Published for GIs

NEW YORK — The National Welfare Board (JWB) last week announced publication of the 1961-62 edition of the official Jewish Calendar for Members of the Armed Forces, more than 3,000,000 copies of which have been issued since 1917.

A member agency of USO, JWB is authorized by the U.S. Government to serve the religious and morale needs of Jewish servicemen and their dependents and hospitalized veterans.

Having worked with young people for a great many years and having enjoyed it, there is no great surprise in the fact that Mort Downey, Jr. in the five months he has been here, has become interested in the youth at the Jewish Community Center. Not only has he acted as disc jockey for the dances at the Center, but he is now a member of the Center.

Just the other night he showed his true desire to help by offering to give 10% of the royalties on his newest recording to the Center.

Since Mr. Downey received a Golden Record for his recording of "Boulevard of Broken Dreams" for Imperial in 1957 (this record sold one million copies within three months) his offer is not just an empty gesture. His newest record "Ballad of Billy Brown" and "Flattery" was made for the Cadence Record Company, the second

Non-Interference Stressed As Hadassah Avoids Politics

DENVER — Hadassah considers it a "cardinal" principle "not to be affiliated or identified with any political party in Israel," the 1,500 delegates attending the 47th national convention of Hadassah were told this week by Mrs. Siegfried Kramarsky, national president.

Pointing out that the general elections which took place in Israel last week were of interest to Hadassah, as are all aspects of Israeli life, Mrs. Kramarsky told the convention, "In this connection, I believe it is important to restate Hadassah's traditional position regarding Israeli politics. It is a cardinal principle with us, and with the World Confederation of General Zionists to which we belong, not to be affiliated or identified with any political party in Israel. In our opinion, Israel's politics internally or externally are the sole prerogative of its own citizens."

Agh Deportation Order Reversed By Board

WASHINGTON — The United States Immigration Appeals Board last week cleared Lazlo Imre Agh of Scotch Plains of charges that he tortured Jewish laborers in Hungary during World War 2. The ruling reversed a deportation order handed down last October in Newark by the U. S. Immigration Service.

The appeals board in a 32-page report said the Government had failed to prove that Agh mistreated Jews at the Komrom. Hungary, labor camp, and found to the contrary that there was some evidence Agh had reacted violently against a display of pro-nazi sympathy at the camp.

Witnesses had testified last October that Agh had workers beaten, humiliated and tortured while he served as a lieutenant at a forced labor barracks in Komrom in 1942. It was alleged he forced workers to do push ups over upturned bayonets, had guards trample on conscripts' stomachs and partially buried workers.

Agh Cleared of Beatings

The report stated that the beatings of Jews were done by labor service men regularly stationed at the camp, not by Agh or any of the artillerymen under his command.

The board stated, "We do not believe we can completely ignore the fact that the respondent has now lived in the United States for over 13 years, and that since his arrival, he has not committed any act which could be considered prejudicial to the interests of the United States."

Agh had called the charges against him the outcome "of a communist plot" to discredit him that started in Hungary even before he and his wife applied for U. S. citizenship papers in 1952. Mrs. Agh gained citizenship, but her husband's request was denied.

Agh, originally a lawyer in Budapest, was an accountant for the National State Bank of Newark until a year ago, but now works as a guard at a Newark factory. His appeal of the deportation order was aided by contributions from "Friends of Lazlo Imre Agh," of which Dr. George Deyo of Elizabeth is president.

Teeners Find Parents Lack Jewish Spirit

STARLIGHT, Pa. — Delegates to a national Jewish youth convention here last week criticized their parents for failing to give them a more adequate Jewish background.

"It is a sad commentary on the current status of the Jewish home that the only way young people can fulfill their needs for Jewish identification, or find out what Judaism has to offer them is to join organizations," said a committee report presented at the 38th annual convention of Aleph Zadik Aleph, the boy's division of the B'nai B'rith Youth Organization.

This alleged parental disinterest, the report said, "leads among other things to confusion on the part of youth as to which branch of Judaism they wish to follow, if indeed, they wish to follow any. It is certainly true that many parents cannot be looked to for guidance. Their allegiance to a particular branch of Judaism, as often as not, stems from a variety of factors — least of which are conviction and understanding."

Another committee report sounded a warning against intermarriage. "Aside from very real problems of assimilation which could result from intermarriage," the report stated, "facts are clear that marriages in which partners are of different faiths are headed for potential trouble, particularly once children arrive and the question of their religious training arises."

PLOT TO KILL NASSER

NICOSIA — Zeev Levin, Israel Ambassador here, vehemently denied a report spread by Combat, a mass circulation newspaper, alleging the existence of an Israeli "plot" to have Gamal Abdel Nasser assassinated when the United Arab Republic President visits Cyprus next month.

Guest Rabbi — Rabbi Saul Framowitz, will serve as Rabbi and Cantor during the High Holydays at Congregation Shaare Zedek.

Rabbi Framowitz, of New York received his Smicha from the Mesivta Torah Vodaath and his secular education at the John Hopkins, Columbia and Temple University leading to a B. A. in Sociology.

YOUR MONEY'S WORTH

by Sylvia Porter

GADGET-CRAZY AUTO BUYERS

Would you like a "bottom cooler" for your auto--a rig which blows air into a special seat cushion to circulate breezes under you and thereby to give you the ultimate in driving luxury? It's available: $12.95 at Hammacher Schlemmer, New York.

Would you like to have a "Coffee, Soup and Toddy Warmer" which you can plug into a socket on your car's dashboard so you can have a hot drink at will? It's available: $11.95 at Lewis & Conger, Manhasset, Long Island.

How about some extension lights to plug into a socket so you can spend your evenings in the backseat reading a good book or can find that lipstick when it rolls into a corner? Prices: $2.95 up at Sears Roebuck and other leading stores.

Or how about a hand vacuum cleaner ($10.95) to suck up cigarette matches? Or a Car-B-Cue ($5.95) to roast your franks while driving? Or and old-fashioned auto electric razor (up to $34.50) to remove that "shadow" at the last minute before the great date begins?

All these and many more gadgets are on the market for your motoring pleasure, and when I say "many more" I'm not kidding. In a fit of whimsy a few days ago, one of Dodge's press agents issued a "sneak preview" of what he described as an amazing optional-equipment gadget to be installed on the 1962 Darts--"an all-purpose, instrument panel utility socket." Along with the tongue-in-cheek report came a list of appliances now being manufactured for the gadget-crazy auto driver to plug into the socket (in addition to "a short, round hot-filament electrical unit which can be used to ignite cigarettes"). The bottom cooler and bottle warmer are just starters.

For gadget-crazy you are and getting more so all the time.

You've supposedly told Detroit in unmistakable terms that you want economy in autos by your buying of U.S. compacts. In July your purchases of compacts accounted for an all-time high of 37.8 per cent of total car sales against next to nothing only five years ago.

But at the same time that you're demanding so-called economy cars, you're buying a staggering total of optional equipment which adds hefty amounts to the basic cost of the more austere, less chromed, less powered, more thinly upholstered compact.

As one illustration, on GM's compact Corvair, 62 per cent of the buyers are ordering factory-installed automatic transmissions, 95 per cent want heaters, 50 per cent want radios. On Dodge's compact Lancer, 60 per cent specify pushbutton transmission, 40 per cent want a radio, 95 per cent a heater. On Ford's compact Falcon, almost 50 per cent select the automatic transmission, 47 per cent take radios, also 95 per cent want heaters.

As another illustration, while over-all 41.6 per cent of the buyers of the 1961 compacts took the manual gear shift, the significant point is that many paid as much for a manual as they would have for an automatic shift. As Ward's Automotive Reports points out, in the sporty four-speed variety, the stick shift "costs nearly as much, if not more, than the automatic."

As a third illustration, consider the rush for the bucket seat model, which has to be classified as a luxury item, for it reduces seating capacity from an admittedly crowded six to an absolute maximum of five--two front, three back. There is simply no doubting that the bucket seat, the convertible model, the sporty sedan are lifting the compact car steadily and swiftly out of the so-called economy class, and your craze for extras and gadgets is behind the trend.

Perhaps a new high in gadgetry--though this one for a most worthy reason, safety--will be reached this fall by Imperial. It will have a special light on the dashboard which will blink when the engine is started and keep blinking until the driver has fastened his seat belt.

FROM FRIDAY TO FRIDAY CHANGE OF NAME

By Beryl Segal

I am changing the name of my column from "One Man's Opinion" to the name above.

The reasons are many. To begin with, I am tired of the name. I suspect that so are you. After fifteen years of voicing "opinions," I think that it is time for a change. Not that the content of the column will change. It will be the same as before. I cannot do otherwise. But it will be done under a different name. It's like changing your hat, your tie, your brand of cigarettes.

Then I have noticed that a Philadelphia newspaper carries a column under the name "One Man's Opinion." At first glance I thought that it was my column. "He, he," I thought. "You are getting up in this world. A Philadelphia newspaper reprints you." But then my vanity began to sag. I realized that the author is another man with the same idea for a title. So there are two men's opinions. At the beginning, I became enraged. How dare that man take my title. I might even, I thought in my anger, make a case of it. I had visions of a law suit that encompassed two states, Rhode Island and Pennsylvania. But then I did not know who was first, he, the Philadelphian, or I, of Rhode Island, with the title "One Man's Opinion." And so, to my shame, I decided to clear the field. Let Philadelphia be the only city to have a man with an opinion.

There is another reason for the change. People have come to know me by the name of the column, and have forgotten my name altogether. A gentleman in Providence always greets me by the name of the column. Here comes Mr. Opinion.

And so I decided to change the name.

And the reason for the new name is also full of meaning to me, at least.

In my father's house, in the little town on the Ukraine, the postman delivered a weekly newspaper, Hamodia, the Messenger. In that newspaper there was a weekly column called "Me Erev Shabos Le-Erev Shabos," from Sabbath Eve to Sabbath Eve. That newspaper and that column have long disappeared. I was a youngster of nine or ten then, and I remember my father asking me to read the column. I do not remember the content, but I do remember the mood of the column. It was a column as sharp as a razor, and as bright as a day in June. It was the only newspaper in our little town, and everybody came to listen or to read it. My younger brother, who was the "Genius" in the family, would stand on the table and read the column aloud. All would shake their heads and clap their tongues. Ha, what a pen! Ha, what a language! How true! He lets them have it!

Now that I think of those days, I cannot recall a single topic of the columns, but I remember the brightness of style and the wit of this columnist.

In honor of this columnist, perhaps even as a monument to his memory, I call my column "From Friday to Friday," and let us hope that some youngster reading it today, will some day be inspired to write in this or a similar style in the years to come.

And now that I have explained the name, let me tell you something I have read, which is very appropriate to the vacation season that has just ended.

A teacher in Israel was telling her class about a bird that comes to Israel every year while winter rages in his native land. She was a very good teacher, and she described in minutest detail the beautiful plumage of the bird, the strong nests he builds for his children, the big spread of his wings, and his long journey until he comes to Israel.

"And," the teacher said, "we welcome the birds. Let them come and drink in our sunshine and our hospitality. Let them remember us when they return to their native lands, and let them come back again and again."

The teacher almost forgot himself and delivered a fiery speech about the Land of Israel, how beautiful it is, and how pleasant it is to live in Israel.

"And now," the teacher asked, "tell me children, what is the name of that visitor to our shores?"

A child raised his hand and said:

"They are American tourists."

(Mr. Segal's opinions are his own. His views are not necessarily those of this newspaper.)

The Lyons Den

by Leonard Lyons

STATUS: Dore Scharly once lectured at NYU on "What's Wrong With the Theater?" He mentioned that people have made a status-symbol of their ticket-buying: "I believe that the best seats are in the balcony, but most people think that it is best, for their own prestige, to sit in the orchestra and pay the highest prices."

Scharly revealed that during the final weeks of his play "Sunrise at Campobello," the only empty seats were in the last three rows. Even standing room sold out, at $2 a ticket, but nobody would buy the $1.75 seats. The theater's manager finally proposed a novel solution--to raise the price from $1.75 to $2.20. As soon as this went into effect, all the seats in the last three rows were filled.

BOOKKEEPING: Movie stars, directors and producers who work on percentage deals always complain about the studios' bookkeeping methods. By tacking on overhead expenses, etc., profits can be reduced considerably. Cary Grant and producer Stanley Donen were offered 100 per cent of the profits to do a film for one studio. An expert advised them to make a counter-offer: "We'll take 50 per cent of the profits, but we'll keep the books."

BOX OFFICE: Beatrice Lillie, soon to tour in her new musical "Bea-Ography," will adopt a feature she used successfully with "Auntie Mame." All matinee ticket-holders were invited to come onstage after the show, and Miss Lillie poured tea for them. As a result of this bonus to the audience, every matinee was a sellout.

RECOGNITION: Ernie Kovacs walked down Broadway, where passersby greeted him, "Hello, Kovacs" and "Hi, Ernie." He turned west on 45th, acknowledging greetings from all who recognized his face, and kept snapping their fingers as they struggled to recall his name.

MEMOS: The estranged Alan Jay Lerner and Fritz Loewe will appear February 11 on a TV show, "The Lerner and Loewe Notebook," produced by Norman Rosemont. Loewe, once a concert pianist, will play a suite from "Brigadoon"... David Susskind signed Jackie Gleason to play the fight manager in the film "Requiem for a Heavyweight"... Donald Harron will appear in John Patrick's play "Everybody Loves Opal"... After a 10-year absence from Broadway, Katina Paxinou will return in Waldemar Hansen's play "Garden of Sweets."

CELEBRATION: Claude Dauphin just completed a summer road tour in "Marriage-Go-Round," and flew to the South Seas this week to co-star in a movie in Tahiti. During his brief stay in New York, Dauphin had time for two celebrations: (1) his 58th birthday, and (2) to meet his new sister-in-law, Nancy Eberhardt, who is one month old.

INFORMATION: The Earl of Harwood, cousin to the Queen of England, was interviewed by the London Times about his expert operation of music festivals. As usual, he indulged in British understatement. When he was captured by the German army during the war, he gave the interrogators his name, rank and serial number. The King's nephew did answer one additional question about relatives: "I have relatives living in London, near Victoria Station."

BEAUTY: The press agent for a tragic Hollywood star said: "There's something appealing about an unhappy woman, particularly if she's beautiful. Come to think of it, I find nothing interesting about an unhappy woman who happens also to be ugly."

Let's Make Up

By Jack Stein
MAKE-UP ARTIST

Cosmetics and hairstyles of the modern day may seem revolutionary, but the pages of history deny this. The laws governing them have been brought up to date, but the styles have changed very little. As a make-up artist, I have to continuously do research to keep up with the changes in modern grooming as well as knowing what was required throughout history. Through the years, I have accumulated some interesting items which I have placed in a note book entitled, "Did You Know." I have selected a few which I am sure you will find as interesting as I have. Did you know that:

In ancient Egypt the Hebraic law forbade the use of the human form in any picture or design.

Make-up artists appeared on the scene during the Renaissance Period (1519-1589). They were called beauty doctors and used information about cosmetics gathered by the Crusaders from the Orient. Many of the same pigments used were those that were employed in the art of painting on any surface.

Having the hair dressed for the weekend dates back to the Eighteenth Century. Men and women sent their wigs to be dressed on Saturday so that they would be neat for the weekend functions.

Hairdressers and hairdressing schools as we now know them originated in Paris in 1769. There were men and women who were called artist hairdressers and charged a high fee for instructing new students.

In 1870, no lady used make-up or allowed any one to believe that she did. Many would hide and apply a dash of powder and a little rouge discreetly in the privacy of their boudoir.

There was a law introduced in the New Hampshire legislature in 1925 to forbid the sale of cosmetics. In ancient Egypt, 1800 years before, a similar law was debated by the council of elders.

The Aztecs were also against the use of make-up. A mother wrote her daughter: "Don't paint your face and lips. It's ugly, unhealthy and dishonest."

In 1770, a bill was introduced in the British Parliament to stop women from deceiving men: "All women of whatever age, rank, degree or profession, whether virgins, maidens or widows, who shall from and after such an act impose upon, seduce or betray in matrimony any of His Majesty's subjects, by the scents paints, cosmetics, washes, artificial teeth, false hair, spanish wool, high heeled shoes, holstered hips, shall incur the penalty of the law in force against Witchcraft."

Women today feel that they spend a great deal of money on make-up, history would dispute this fact. Many a cosmetic firm would have liked to have Napoleon's Josephine for a customer. Her yearly cosmetic bill was $200,000.

The wearing of a small beard by many men was first introduced by the Venetian gentlemen in the year 1600.

You can plainly see that cosmetics has a very interesting history and there is very little that really originated in this century.

Excerpts from an Address by Campaign Chairman MERRILL L. HASSENFELD at the National United Jewish Appeal Conference in New York City in a Report given on his return from a Special UJA Study Mission to Israel. Rhode Island is proud to have one of its own leaders chosen to represent us at this great National Conference.

"I fear the reactions of the tourist invasion of Israel."

... "I refer to the invasion by sincere well-meaning Jews, who in ever-increasing numbers come back from Israel after seeing a thriving land covered with beautiful and productive agricultural communities, magnificent universities and medical centers, museums, hotels and concert halls. Seemingly everything is accomplished, all needs are met. But these people have seen the surface and the surface picture only. They cannot discern the profound problems under this surface. They do not realize that we are only a fraction of the way toward bolstering and making the lovely facade a permanent reality . . ."

MERRILL L. HASSENFELD, our 1961 GJC Campaign Chairman, meets PREMIER DAVID BEN GURION on his UJA Fact-Finding Mission to Israel

" . . . Documentary evidence disproves the over-relaxed and complacent returnees. Increasing immigration, agricultural needs, chronically ill and handicapped immigrants, educational and vocational training needs . . . prove that Israel needs even more help in 1961 !!"

MRS. DAVID MARSHALL GREENSTEIN

Miss Deborah Ruth Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Newel L. Smith of 172 Chace Avenue, was married Sunday in Temple Emanuel to David Marshall Greenstein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Greenstein of 93 Caporal Street, Cranston.

Rabbi Eli A. Bohnen officiated at the 6 P.M. ceremony. A reception followed in the temple.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a princess line gown of white silk organza fashioned with a portrait neckline and short shirred sleeves. The bodice and front panel of the gown was of hand clipped chantilly lace. A sash of folded organza fell from each side of the waistline down to a large bow over the bouffant skirt ending in a chapel length train. Her silk illusion five tiered veil of finger tip length fell from a queen's crown of pearls and aurora crystals. She carried a cascade arrangement of stephanotis and white orchids.

Mrs. Howard A. Weiser was matron of honor and Miss Diane Bloom and Miss Patricia Pastille were bridesmaids.

Howard B. Greenstein, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Neil Greenstein, brother of the bridegroom, Charles J. Garfinkel, Lewis S. Pollack, and Howard A. Weiner were ushers.

Cantonese food in the Chinese cuisine has the same reputation that French cookery has by Western standards. It is considered the ne plus ultra in Oriental foods and this rating is well earned as Cantonese dishes are exquisite in texture, flavor and unusual selection.

Cantonese cooking is in a class by itself. Probably no other type of food preparation is so dependent on rapid changes in cooking temperatures. Fast, extreme heat is required to sear foods to keep juices in . . . then the heat is varied to undercook them. There is only one modern fuel that can allow the various applications of heat so rapidly . . .

Our way of preparing choice Cantonese foods is to carefully select and blend them in a harmonious manner to bring out the exquisite flavor of exotic Far East dishes, many of which are unknown on this continent — such as Black Mushrooms, Water Chestnuts, Bamboo Shoots, etc. Each dish is cooked to order to insure freshness . . . a quality that sets our cooking apart from the others and provides the taste and contrast that make dining a delightful experience at LEE'S CATHAY TERRACE. We invite you to enjoy our exciting Polynesian drinks, also.

Walter Bedell Smith Praised By Abba Eban

JERUSALEM — Highest praise of the late American Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, who died in Washington recently, was voiced here last week by Minister of Education Abba Eban. The latter knew Gen. Smith intimately during the years Mr. Eban served as Israeli Ambassador to the United States. Gen. Smith, who has been called by ex-President Dwight D. Eisenhower "the general manager of World War II," was among the outstanding Allied military experts during the war.

Mr. Eban disclosed for the first time that Gen. Smith had told him at a dinner in Washington once, "in a burst of emotion," that there was Jewish blood in his veins. "He never saw the living Israel," Mr. Eban declared, in a eulogy of the general in the Jerusalem Post, "but the Israel idea conquered his heart and illuminated his vision." Gen. Smith was a Catholic.

"It is difficult to convey" Mr. Eban wrote, "how intimately, though anonymously, Gen. Bedell Smith was entangled in our affairs. His counsel could be harsh as well as amiable, but there was no major issue in which we did not ask ourselves — and sometimes ask him — what Bedell Smith thinks."

Mr. Eban disclosed that Gen. Smith congratulated Israel's Gen. Moshe Dayan on the latter's conduct of the Sinai campaign.

Ben-Gurion Shows Readiness In Forming Another Cabinet

JERUSALEM — Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion has expressed his readiness to try to form another cabinet, if he is entrusted with the task, announced Josef Almogi, Secretary-General of the Mapai party. He made that announcement at a news conference after returning from Sdeh Boker, Mr. Ben-Gurion's home in the South, where the Premier and his party's principal executive officer discussed the results of the Knesset elections.

However, the main task confronting the Mapai leaders, now, is where to look for partners for the next coalition government. Feelers to other party leaders are expected to be put out in the next few days.

Mr. Almogi made it clear that there are only two alternatives facing Mapai's efforts to form a new government. Since it is assumed that, in any event, the National Religious Party would be a member of the new coalition; the question is only whether the other partners are to be Mapam and Achdut Avodah or the Liberal Party. But a coalition with all these parties does not seem feasible, because it is assumed Mr. Ben-Gurion may find it impossible to reconcile the varying demands for cabinet posts.

Hard Bargaining

Mapai will, in the first instance, sound all parties except the right-wing Herut and the Communists. Negotiations are bound to be protracted, with hard bargaining by both leftist parties and by the Liberals.

The Liberals have indicated they will join a coalition — but only if they enter the government as full partners and are given key portfolios. Mapam quarters insist that Mapai, which is in a minority in the Knesset, cannot demand for itself a majority of the cabinet posts. Both Mapam and Achdut Avodah also demand rectification of all the ills that have resulted from the split over the Lavon affair which led to the fall of the last government and the subsequent need for new elections. They want Mapai to put tighter reins on the "young" elements in its leadership.

MISS JUDITH TARSKY WEDS HOWARD WEISER

Temple Emanuel was the scene Aug. 20 of the marriage of Miss Judith Anne Tarsky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Tarsky of Columbia Avenue, Warwick, and Howard Arnold Weiser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Weiser of Gordon Avenue.

Rabbi Eli A. Bohnen officiated at the 5:30 P.M. ceremony and a reception followed in the temple hall.

Mrs. Louis Friedman was matron of honor for her sister. Bridesmaids were Miss Mary Walsh, Miss Diane Bazar, Miss Raula Newman and Miss Deborah Smith. Miss Gayle Ann Friedman, niece of the bride, was the flower girl.

Lawrence Newman was best man and Lews Pollack, Cary Runde, Marshall Greenstein, Louis Friedman, Michael Margolis and Herbert Weiser ushered.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a silk organza over taffeta gown that was designed with a square neckline, short sleeves, fitted bodice of re-embroidered Alecon lace appliques and full skirt with matching lace and a court train. A crown of orange blossoms held her bouffant veil of English illusion and she carried a Bible with stephanotis and an orchid.

The couple will live on Columbia Avenue, Warwick after a wedding trip to Canada.

Rockwell's Nazis Use U. S. Mails For Hate Propaganda

WASHINGTON — The attention of President Kennedy to the inciting anti-Jewish propaganda carried through the U. S. mails by the American Nazi Party was drawn this week by a delegation of the Jewish War Veterans which was received in the White House.

The delegation, headed by JWV national commander I. L. Feuer, showed Kennedy postcards dispatched by George Rockwell's group through the U. S. mail carrying heavy stamped inscriptions "Jews Get Out" and "Bring Back Auschwitz." The cards bore swastikas and the return address of the Nazi group.

(Yiddish newspapers in New York on Aug. 9 received identical postcards from Rockwell's American Nazi Party, bearing the stamped message in German: "Judens Raus," (Jews Get Out!) The postcards, which were plainly marked with the return address of Rockwell's hate group in Arlington, Va., were postmarked in Washington, D. C., and bore a swastika mark in addition of the two-word message.)

Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy last week indicated he is opposed to placing Rockwell's "American Nazi Party" on the Justice Department's list of subversive organizations because the listing would give the Nazis free publicity.

Asserting that the Justice Department and "all sensible Americans" despise the Rockwell doctrines, he said that the Nazis are being closely watched but that listing them as subversive would give Rockwell a national public forum to spread his "obnoxious doctrines."

Kennedy contended that the practical way to deal with Rockwell and his followers was for local authorities to prosecute them when they violated local laws. The Attorney General made his views known in a letter to Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R., N. Y.), who had urged Kennedy to take that action.

'Can't Be Ignored'

Keating, a member of the Senate Internal Security Committee, expressed "keen disappointment" over the refusal by the Attorney General to place the American Nazi Party on the subversive list. "We can no longer pretend that this is an unknown, unpublicized organization which can be ignored out of existence. Its operations have become notorious and it shows no signs of being blanketed out of public attention," he said.

Keating explained that his proposal to list the Nazis along with the communists and Ku Klux Klan was for the guidance of Federal personnel officers. Keating said it was "outrageous if any of these brown-shirted bullies" were on the Federal payroll. "At least one active supporter of this organization is employed by the Government at this very moment," he stressed. Keating said that Federal action, rather than words is needed. He voiced hope that the Attorney General would reconsider his position.

Epstein's Work Given To Israel

LONDON — The original plasters of almost all the great works of sculpture by the late Sir Jacob Epstein were given by his widow last week to the new Jerusalem Museum of Art.

Included were more than 200 pieces, the plaster models from which the bronze casts were made.

The announcement was made in Edinburgh by Billy Rose, the American impresario, who is chairman of the Museum's Fine Arts Committee. Lady Epstein was with him. A retrospective exhibition is being presented in conjunction with the annual Edinburghs Festival.

Second Coup in a Week

It was the second major coup by Mr. Rose in behalf of the Jerusalem museum in a week. Last week he announced that another sculptor, Jacques Lipchitz, had given 300 of his original plasters to the museum.

Mr. Rose said that he could put no valuation on the Epstein plasters. He added:

"You might as well ask me how much Michelangelo's 'David' is worth."

Among the plasters were those of such well-known Epstein's as "Mother and Child" and "The Visitation." There were also the models for his busts of Sir Winston Churchill, Joseph Conrad, Albert Einstein, Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India, Bertrand Russell, Chaim Weizmann and George Bernard Shaw.

It Started at Lunch

Detailing the history of the gift, Mr. Rose said it had resulted from a luncheon he had with Lady Epstein in London a month ago.

He said he mentioned the planned Lipschitz gift and then asked her: "If Sir Jacob were here and knew a museum were going up on a hill in Jerusalem, what would he want you to do with his original plasters?"

"She quietly answered 'Give them to you,'" Mr. Rose said.

Plaster Cast of bust of Albert Einstein by Sir Jacob Epstein was given to Jerusalem Museum of Art.

Museum Also got cast for bust of George Bernard Shaw from artist's window.

In Edinburgh Lady Epstein said: "My heart tells me that this is what Sir Jacob would have wanted."

Wed In London

Epstein was born in New York but spent most of his working life in London. After years of public scorn as an alleged Bohemian and avantgarde figure, he was accepted. He became eminent and respectable — indeed too conservative for contemporary sculpting circles.

Alfred Frankfurter, the art critic and editor of Art News, said in a statement that Lady Epstein's gift was "a milestone in the cultural history of the United States and Britain as well as Israel."

"Rarely before have great artists left their entire studios to one museum or even to one country," Mr. Frankfurter said.

The Museum of Fine Arts is under construction on a forty-acre hilltop site in Jerusalem. Its cost will be more than $5,000,000, of which more than half has been raised.

HEBREW BOOKS FOUND

PARIS — A cache of centuries-old Hebrew books has been discovered in a Greek Orthodox church in Byelorussia, it was reported here in the Communist Yiddish daily Naye Presse. The Hebrew volumes, some of them dating back to the 16th Century, are all printed. They include a Hebrew Bible published in Leipzig in 1567.

Attack Made On Jewish Youth Camp

BUENOS AIRES — Several Jewish boys and girls attending a training camp for pioneer work in Israel were injured when their camp, located at Mercedes, about 100 miles from this capital, was attacked by a group of extreme nationalists lined up with the right-wing "Tacuara" movement.

The right-wingers stormed the camp at 5 a.m. and beat many of the boys and girls with sticks. The camp for the training of pioneer youth planning to join kibbutzim in Israel is conducted by Hachsharah Ichud Habonim.

In Hollywood . . .

By Barney Glazer

Hollywood, California -- Mort Sahl, the comedian who should have been in Washington in the first place, will play the head of the White House press corps in "Advise and Consent" for Otto Preminger. . . . Shelley Berman will make his Broadway bow in a musical, "A Family Affair," early next year following his "Guys and Dolls" appearance here in Hollywood with Dan Dailey and Janis Paige at our Philharmonic Auditorium.

GARY GACH, 13, wrote a junior high school play script, asked a legit producer: "Wanna buy a script?" but the producer cast him pronto as the spoiled 10-year-old in the Laguna Beach Summer Playhouse production, "Dark at the Top of the Stairs." Kid is son of genial Gene Gach, famous PR exec, and his temper tantrums in his role were most realistic. Exit one script writer. Enter a newborn star.

IT'S a second granddaughter for the Jules Steins thanks to daughter Jean. The Steins paced the corridor at UCLA Medical Center in the absence of the father, William Van den Heuvel. . . . Dick Shawn is making his momma and poppa happy in Buffalo by opening his one-man show on Broadway October 2.

INA BALIN returns to Broadway in December as the star of Tennessee Williams' "20 Wagonloads of Cotton." She's done some excellent work here in Hollywood. . . . Marty Rackin, Paramount's production manager, caught little Jan Rhodes, who plays Mitzi Green's daughter, Baby June, in the Las Vegas Riviera Hotel production of "Gypsy." He noted how closely Jan resembles Mitzi when the latter was a Paramount child actress so he'll remake "I've Got a Secret" with Jan in the same role that catapulted 9-year-old Mitzi to stardom many years ago.

BERNARD BARUCH turned 91 August 18, same day Molly Bee became 17. . . . Eddie Fisher won't tell who is backing the financing of his upcoming movie "The Carpetbaggers". . . . Charlie Levere, who once accompanied George Burns, will once again sit in at the piano for George's night club act.

MAXIE Rosenbloom is appearing here on a nightly radio show. He's a natural comic. . . . Mitzi Gaynor is being named for every femme blog. We want her for Fanny Brice's celluloid life and now someone else is suggesting her for "The Elsie Janis Story."

MORRIS LANSBURGH, head of the Las Vegas Flamingo Hotel, wasn't kidding when he told me last month that he was keeping his fingers crossed over Bobby Darin's scheduled performance. Sure enough, Darin canceled out one day before his opener. . . . Peter Falk made a "Twilight Zone" and was paid $3,000. Not bad for this 34-year-old Jewish lad who not long ago felt he was very lucky to play the role of a bartender in an off-Broadway theater.

ROBERT WISE recently passed the two-year-mark in the production of "West Side Story." He says this is the price to be paid for important films which just can't be rushed.

Entertainment has been arranged for the week between Rosh Hashonah and Yom Kippur.
