

Honor Israel Resnick Service To Israel

Resnick will be honored on the occasion of his 80th birthday. A lifetime of service to the people and for preserving and strengthening the State of Israel. The reception, in behalf of the State of Israel Bonds, will be held on Sunday, April 1, at 8 p.m. in the senior lounge of the Jewish Community Center.

Harry Finkelstein, David Horvitz and Jacob Licht are co-chairmen of the tribute committee. Robert A. Riesman, a past chairman of the Rhode Island Israel Bond campaign will be the guest speaker.

Long before the founding of the Jewish state, Mr. Resnick took an active interest in its rebirth by joining the Paole Zion movement in Russia during the periods of the Russian pogroms. He emigrated to the United States in 1913 at the age of 19 and a year later he formed the first Paole Zion Branch in Providence with his friends, Alter Boyman, Henry Burt, Harry Chaet, Jacob Cohen and others.

One of the originators of the now nationally-famous Third Seder, Mr. Resnick has been active in every Jewish community organization.

A former chairman of the Rhode Island Israel Bond campaign, he was among the first to organize Bond committees and to invest in Israel through the capital investment program. In 1949 he was among the first to visit the new State of Israel from Rhode

Fight Compulsory Service For Israeli Yeshiva Students

JERUSALEM — The newly elected central committee of the National Religious Party is expected to overturn a controversial resolution adopted by a substantial majority at the stormy closing session of the NRP's national convention in Tel Aviv. The resolution calls for compulsory military service for yeshiva students, hitherto exempt.

Chief Rabbi Shlomo Goren, former chief chaplain of Israel's armed forces, urged the NRP leadership not to advocate changing a practice that has been in effect since Israel's establishment. Sephardi Chief Rabbi Ovadia Yosef said he was "shocked" by the resolution and demanded to know why the NRP failed to consult the Chief Rabbinate before acting on it.

The resolution was adopted at the NRP convention by a vote of 298-170, precipitating near pandemonium as rabbis and yeshiva heads opposed to it stormed the rostrum in an attempt to seize the microphone.

WARN LEADERS

MIAMI BEACH — Jewish leaders were warned here that lack of economic support might jeopardize Israel's capacity to effectively absorb increased numbers of immigrants from the Soviet Union expected to arrive in Israel this year.

Soviet Union Implies End Of Emigration Exit Fees

MOSCOW — The Soviet authorities waived emigration taxes for at least five educated Jews on Monday in what appeared to be the start of an effort to appease American Congressional opposition to an easing of trade with the Soviet Union.

Jewish sources said the five, including two married couples, had been summoned to the Soviet visa office and had been told that they could leave for Israel without paying the high duty normally levied on emigrants with higher education. Other Jews were notified to appear the following day.

The Jews called in Monday, identified as Mr. and Mrs. Aleksandr Babchin, Mr. and Mrs. Anatoly Gokhshtein and Valery

Anti-Semitism On Riviera

PARIS — A wave of anti-Semitism broke out in the town of Nice on the French Riviera following the Libyan airline tragedy.

Slogans saying "Death to Jews," "Light up the Ovens," and "Seven Frenchmen Have Been Killed, Seven Jews Will Be Assassinated" appeared on the walls of synagogues, on the doors of the French Jewish welfare association (FSJU), the French United Jewish Appeal (AUJF), and on the fronts of Jewish-owned businesses.

Jewish community leaders met with police and with the Mayor. In a communique, they "deplored the haste with which certain groups have revealed their violent anti-Semitic feelings by calling for the murder of French citizens." Police have opened an investigation.

Korenblit, were told that the tax was being waived as an exception. The law on the education tax, adopted last August and published after official hesitation in December, has not been officially abrogated so far as is known.

Visit by Shultz

The waivers came five days after George Shultz, the United States Secretary of the Treasury, ended a three-day exploratory visit to Moscow in which, he briefed Leonid I. Brezhnev, the party leader, on Congressional moves aimed at barring trade concessions unless the Kremlin ended present restrictive emigration practices.

The big question was whether the granting of tax exemptions to a selected number of educated Soviet Jews would meet the Congressional objections, which appear to aim at no less than the lifting of emigration curbs on Soviet citizens in general.

Once before, during the United States Presidential election campaign last autumn, the Soviet Union waived payment of the exit tax for a number of Jewish emigrants in a avowed gesture of goodwill toward President Nixon. The tax exemptions ceased after the President's re-election.

Aim of U.S. Bills

Although a similar gesture had been predicted by Jewish activists when the issue of expanded Soviet-American trade was at stake, it was not clear whether anything short of virtually free emigration from the Soviet Union would appease advocates of Congressional moves supported by majorities in the House and Senate.

As now written, bills introduced in the Senate by Henry M. Jackson, Democrat of Washington, and in the House of Representatives by Wilbur D. Mills, Arkansas Democrat and chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, seem to call for what is essentially a fundamental change in the long-standing Soviet policy prohibiting unrestricted movement across the nation's borders.

The Nixon Administration, though sympathetic to the plight of would-be emigrants from the Soviet Union, has insisted that the problem be separated from the basic issue of Soviet-American trade.

President Nixon, in an accord signed with the Soviet Union last October, undertook to ask Congressional approval for granting the Russians most-favored-nation status — or terms equal to the best extended to any other nation. Such a step ending the present high American tariffs on Soviet goods, is viewed by the Russians as essential for any long-term expansion of balanced trade with the United States.

The Jews who benefited from tax waivers Monday have been among a hard core of several hundred Jewish scientists and engineers who have signed petitions protesting curbs on the emigration of highly trained persons with advanced academic degrees.

Mr. Babchin, one of the Jews summoned Monday, is a 34-year-old printing engineer. He was exempted from paying a total duty of 12,000 rubles, or $16,000, for himself and his wife. Mr. Gokhshtein, a hydraulic engineer about 40, and his wife would have been subject to a payment of about 10,000 rubles, or $13,300. The tax waiver granted to Mr. Korenblit was about 4,000 rubles, or $5,300, the sources said.

Nixon Administration Agrees To Sell Four Squadrons Of Jets To Israel

WASHINGTON — The Nixon Administration has agreed to sell Israel four squadrons of combat jets and to help the Israelis set up production of an advanced jet fighter of their own design.

These new commitments were made by President Nixon to Mrs. Golda Meir, the Premier of Israel, during her visit here early this month, according to Defense and State Department officials.

The officials said the specific number of American aircraft involved in the agreement and the rate of delivery had not yet been worked out. But they said tentative plans involved about 24 F-4 fighter-bombers and 24 A-4 light attack planes, with deliveries over two years, starting in January.

1971 Accord Recalled

These are in addition to the 42 F-4's and about 80 A-4's promised to Israel under commitments made by Mr. Nixon in December, 1971. Deliveries of the F-4's under the 1971 agreement are scheduled to be completed in December and the A-4 deliveries next June.

The new commitments insure a continuing supply but at a lower rate of delivery and with lower totals.

Officials said the latest agreement calls for production help to be provided for the Israeli Super Mirage, an advanced design based on the French Mirage fighter series and powered by the General Electric J-79 jet engine. This engine is also used in the F-4.

The President's agreement to help set up production facilities for the Super Mirage was said to be the first major project approved under a memorandum of understanding signed in November, 1971, under which the United States agreed to provide technical and manufacturing assistance for Israel's arms industry.

Even with the jet engines and technological advice from the United States, however, the Super Mirage is not expected to go into regular production for about two more years, and then only at a rate of one to two planes a month.

Officials said the additional supplies of American warplanes were aimed at keeping pace with recent and expected shipments of Soviet aircraft to Syria and Egypt and of French aircraft to Libya.

They are also to compensate for expected Israeli losses in training accidents and occasional combat, the officials went on, and to serve as a symbol of continuing American determination to maintain the military balance of power in the Middle East.

The officials said they hoped the President's new commitments would help persuade Israel to take a more flexible position in negotiations looking toward at least a partial solution of differences with Egypt and Jordan.

Link to Legislation

"As the Israelis become increasingly confident that their relative military strength will be preserved, they should be willing to take a few more risks in negotiating a peace settlement," one official observed.

By the end of this year Israel is due to have about 120 F-4's, and by the middle of next year, about 200 A-4's. These totals do not include the newest commitments for about 24 more of each type.

Israel Intends To Continue Her Policy Of 'Open Bridges'

NEW YORK — The problem of terrorism in Israel has become marginal and Israel has no intention whatsoever of changing her policy of "open bridges" with Jordan, Israeli Minister of Police Shlomo Hillel said at a press conference sponsored by the American Sephardi Federation. Hillel, who came here to convey "the blessing of the Israeli government to the newly established Federation," admitted that Israel had a "certain amount" of crime increase last year, which he said was "due in a way to the increase in population." According to Hillel, the tourist boom and the fact that more than one million Arabs from the administered territories have free entry into Israel has contributed to the increased crime rate.

Hillel asserted that Israel has less crime than any other Western country. He cited only 45 murder cases in 1972 compared to 36 in the previous year. He said the worst crime Israel fears today is "the murder on roads" (auto accidents) by "aggressive" Israeli drivers who caused the death of 630 Israelis last year. Referring to the use of drugs in Israel, Hillel said that as a result of the "harsh measures" taken by the government against sellers and users of drugs, Israel is no longer the "paradise of hashish" that it was after the Six-Day War.

Believe Israeli Shot By Arab

NICOSIA, Cyprus, — A 59-year-old Israeli was shot to death by a young man in a Nicosia hotel this week, the police reported. A warrant has been issued for the arrest of the man, believed to be a Jordanian Arab student.

The police said that Simha Gilzer of Tel Aviv had been shot while walking down stairs at the Nicosia Palace Hotel. Mr. Gilzer and the young man reportedly arrived at the hotel last week, and the Israeli was to return to Tel Aviv soon.

Mr. Gilzer was described by policemen as a merchant, but Israeli Embassy officials here said they could give no details of his business activities. In January, Hussein al-Bathir, who was said to be a Syrian official of Al Fatah guerrilla organization in Cyprus, was killed by a bomb blast in his room at Nicosia's Olympic Hotel. He had been working here as a teacher of Arabic. Fatah said that he was killed by "treacherous Zionist hands."

Your Bill of Hospital Rights

Do you, a hospital patient, think you should have a right to know when a physician or surgeon has bungled an operation or other form of medical care — giving you the ammunition to refuse payment of your bill and also to file a malpractice suit?

Do you think you should have a right to full information on the diagnosis and probable outcome of your illness — including full information about alternative treatments available to you, possible risks and complications?

And do you think it should be your right to insist that the hospital where you get care do its utmost to eliminate costly waste, duplicate facilities, unnecessary procedures?

Yes, these and many more should be your rights, says Herbert S. Denenberg, Pennsylvania's highly controversial insurance commissioner, who has become the "enfant terrible" of the entire health insurance and hospital cost field in recent years and who will shortly submit a "Citizen's Bill of Hospital Rights." This will be the first such package of rights to be issued by a government agency.

You are now paying a hospital bill of more than $83 billion a year, as a taxpayer, via your health insurance, via Medicare taxes, charitable contributions and your cold cash.

The average cost of being hospitalized for just one day has Rabbi Jerome S. Gurland of Temple Sinai is the spokesman of the Jewish community in the matter of Key-73. This is a campaign of 144 churches of Christ to evangelize North America during the year 1973 and to bring the light of the church to those who walk in darkness. It will use every means of propaganda including the mass media, TV and radio, door-to-door canvassing and distribution of millions of evangelical tracts.

Jewish National Organizations are objecting to Key-73 and are attempting to influence the leaders of the campaign Key-73 from aiming their efforts towards Jewish college and high school youth.

Rev. James M. Webb of the Rhode Island Council of Churches declares that Key-73 does not direct its evangelism towards Jews and he doubts whether door-to-door canvassing will take place here in Rhode Island. Rev. Webb has sent this assurance to Rabbi Gurland and through him to the Jewish community.

As to the danger of Key-73 to Jewish youth, opinions differ among many observers who are close to the campuses of the land. The campaign is now in its third month and the effects on Jews is hardly noticeable. They tell us that sensitive students who really want to know what Judaism is are registering in great numbers in the courses of Jewish Studies that are being offered in 185 colleges and universities. High School students take Hebrew language and Jewish History in their schools. "Jews for Jesus", they say is a passing fad, just as Hippy and Yippy cultures were. Jewish organizations will do well to concentrate on more urgent matters rather than be concerned about Key-73.

There are, however many who are not inclined to minimize the threat of "Jews for Jesus", and propose concrete measures to deal with it. Deal with the problem but not panic over it.

First of all they point out that Jewish life is not all together a wilderness. More than 600,000 pupils receive some kind of Jewish education. About 70,000 students are in daily attendance in the more than 300 Hebrew Day Schools. The approaching summer months will find thousands of children in summer camps, hundreds will go to Israel for study and work. Jewish life is very much alive and flourishing. What it needs is more of the same. Jewish Community Organizations, instead of complaining and protesting will do well to divert their energies, and funds, to enhance Jewish opportunities for learning and recreation.

But more than anything else, these same people say, is the importance of the Jewish home. "Jews for Jesus" is a result of the barrenness of the Jewish home in America. Moishe Rosen, the founder of "Jews for Jesus" says that he worships Jesus with all his passion, with the greatest enthusiasm, and with religious zeal

GOLDA * S DIGGERS

LONDON — At a dinner in her honour in New York the Israeli Prime Minister, Mrs. Golda Meir, told 3,000 guests "We Jews are at our best when we are giving to one another."

American Jews raised more than half a billion dollars for Israel last year and more than a quarter of a billion dollars so far this year. This outpouring of money is not considered extraordinary: it has come to be accepted as an obligation on the part of American Jews to the State of Israel. Mrs. Meir's visit is doubtless spurring some contributors to give a little more than usual and so is the forthcoming celebrations of Israel's 25th anniversary. But most Jews here give not because of any immediate event, but because they feel a strong sense of identity with Israel and in most cases a personal involvement in Israel's survival.

American Jewish money goes for economic development and humanitarian activities in Israel. It is used to expand Israeli industry and agriculture, to finance irrigation projects, to provide jobs and housing for new immigrants, and social medical services for all Israelis.

Fund raising officials in America make a point of stressing that no American funds are used for military or defence purposes. But the effect of the American contribution, of course, is to free Israeli Government funds for such purposes and Israeli officials make no bones about that.

The goals for the 1973 fund raising drives have just been announced and they are bigger than ever: 350 million dollars in bonds — which represents about 60 per cent of Israel's economic development budget — plus 505 million dollars in direct contributions. American Jews are being urged to empty their pockets this year in order to help Israel absorb 70,000 new immigrants (at a minimum cost of 10,000 dollars per immigrant), including 35,000 to 45,000 Soviet Jews.

Judging from last week's dinner for Mrs. Meir, the goals may be met. During the ceremonies Jewish leaders gave the Israeli Prime Minister a Book of Honour, a large blue leather volume inlaid in silver with a Hebrew inscription on the cover which translates: "All Jews are brothers." Inside there were messages from more than a hundred American cities "to the People of Israel." These are some typical messages:

"We, the Jewish people of Albany, New York, pledge ourselves to reach new dimensions in commitment.

"Dayton, Ohio, Jewry is determined to raise a record sum."

"In San Francisco we shall keep the promise."

The two main Jewish fund-raising organizations are the United Jewish Appeal and the Israel Bond Organization. Their operations are aggressive and determined and they are unabashed by the need, at times, for arm-twisting. Their directors and governors include members of the social and economic establishment: their volunteer workers represent practically every industry, every trade, every profession. No income group is ignored.

Both UJA and the Bond salesmen use the "head-to-head" approach, which means personal solicitation within "peer groups." William Levitt, the multi-millionaire, invites a hundred or so fellow multi-millionaires on his yacht for a talk about Israel's needs and collects pledges reported to total $10 million. A factory worker who is the UJA chairman in his shop invites a dozen fellow-workers to a beer party in his home and collects $100.

Then there are the fund-raising dinners. UJA, which has 20,000 volunteers in New York alone and 150,000 contributors, holds 600 dinners a year. Each dinner has a guest of honour and the guest's business associates often feel themselves obliged to come and make a contribution to honour him.

Both UJA and the bond organizations hold "pace-setter" dinners where a person known to be a big contributor is asked to stand up and announce his donation. When his colleagues' names are called, they are likely to match his contribution, even if they had not previously intended to go that high. This is called "group dynamics" by the fund raisers and "shaming them into it" by some of the targets. Last year nine New Yorkers gave one million dollars each.

The late Cardinal Spellman

once asked a wealthy Jewish philanthropist why Jews seem to give more to charities than other groups and the philanthropist replied, "2,000 years of persecution." Others say it's because Jews are more affluent and can afford to give more than other groups. This is not entirely true, however, because while the median income of American Jews is higher than the general median income, Jews also have more poverty per capita than white Protestants or Catholics.

The extent of the Jewish contribution to Israel has sometimes been criticised by non-Jews, some of whom feel that without Jewish funds and support Israel might be forced to adopt a more conciliatory attitude towards its Arab neighbours. Most Jewish leaders in America feel, however, that without their funds and support there might be no Israel at all.

This belief is rooted to a large extent in the events that preceded the Six Day War when Israel was threatened by Egypt's closing of the Straits of Tiran and none of the great powers seemed ready to come to the rescue of the Jewish State. It was at that point that American Jewish funds began pouring into Israel. "The response of American Jews to the crisis," writes Mr. Norman Podhoretz, "was not the response of a man who is doing something in a philanthropic spirit for others; it was the response of a man who is doing something in a spirit of desperation for himself. It was as if the Jews of America had come to the conviction that they themselves could not long survive the destruction of Israel." This feeling, it seems to many Jews, is what underlies the present enormous financial commitment to Israel.

Renew Demands For Reparations For Austrian Jews

TEL AVIV — The Association of Austrian Jews in Israel has renewed its demands for reparations from Austria along the lines of those received by German Jews for their material losses under the Nazis. The Association accused Dr. Nahum Goldmann, president of the World Jewish Congress, of neglecting Austrian-Jewish claims. Dr. Goldmann, in the early 1950s, was instrumental in initiating the negotiations with the government of the late Chancellor Konrad Adenauer that led to the Bonn-Israel reparations agreement of 1952.

J. Sheinbaum, representing the Austrian Jews in Israel, proposed a three-party meeting between the Austrian and West German governments and representative Jewish bodies of Austria to discuss the problem and find a remedy to a situation "that causes ill feelings and is unjust."

He said that Austria was part and parcel of the Third Reich and as such was equally obligated to compensate Jews who were victims of persecution. He said most Austrian Jews claiming compensation were over 60 and in poor health. But Austrian Jews got but a negligible fraction of what German Jews got and less even than what Czech Jews got in the way of reparations, he stated.

Center Board Adopts New Rates, Categories

The membership policy committee of the Jewish Community Center, under the chairmanship of Edward D. Feldstein, has proposed and has adopted by the Center board of directors several recommendations for both changes in present Center membership fees for certain membership categories and the establishment of new categories to meet what were felt to be community needs.

In the Center's youth membership category, eligible to boys and girls, 14 to 18, the youth club membership was reduced from $25 to $20 for the year. This limited membership category entitles its members to join Center youth clubs and attend only club meetings and those additional functions sponsored by the club or the Center Youth Council. A full membership for youth in this age group remains at $50 for the year.

A similar membership category was instituted for young adults, single young men and women, 18 to 35. The young adult associate club membership will entitle young adults to be members of the Center's In Set young adult organization and participate in its activities for a fee of $30 for the year. A full young adult membership remains at $65 for the year.

A new category of Center membership fees was established for college students. College student membership will be available to full time students who are not local residents for $40 for the school year. These rates will also be available to interns and residents at local hospitals. College students who are local Rhode Island residents are required to pay the regular young adult membership fee of $65 for the full year. A special summer membership is also available to college students who return to Rhode Island for summer vacation. The fee in this category for June 1 to September 15 is $25 per student and includes all membership privileges during that period.

For senior adults who wish to pay more than the Center's present deliberately minimal membership fees for golden age club members, a new contributing senior adult membership category has been established at $35 for additional senior adults or $65 for a couple.

All of these new rates and categories are already in effect at the Center. Also currently in effect is a special offer to new family members and those whose memberships are currently renewable. Any of these families which pay their membership fees in full before June 30, 1973, will have their membership expiration date extended to September 1, 1974, giving extra months of Center membership at no additional charge.

Further information may be obtained by calling Gladys Sollosy or Art Eisenstein at the Center at 861-8800.

The Lyons Den

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK: Mayor and Mrs. Lindsay headed the guests at the Museum of Natural History's "Rites of Spring" benefit. "There's no special project I want to complete before my term runs out," he said. "They're all as important to me now as before I decided not to run again" ... When I told the Mayor my son Jeffrey was getting married in May, he pulled the line about marrying in the morning so the day wouldn't be wasted if it didn't work out.

"But I married Mary in later afternoon," he confessed. "I knew I had picked a winner."

One of the TV reporters at City Hall had occasionally supplied Lindsay with Cuban cigars. "I can admit it now as I'm not running again," he said ... The Mayor was offered two dollar chips to buy a drink. He accepted, saying: "There's still a budget squeeze in the city, and I need all the help I can get" ... Peter Duchin, whose band performed at the museum, received hundreds of samples from the cigar company for which he did a commercial.

"They're stored at home," he said. "We'll soon be so cramped for space, my wife and sons will have to start smoking them."

Former astronaut Scott Carpenter will be one of the judges at the Miss USA Contest May 19 ... Dame Edith Evans, who was 85 on February 8, told producer Alexander H. Cohen: "I don't recognize birthdays and never celebrate them. Trees don't, so why should I?" ... Norman Kean, general manager of Don't Bother Me, I Can't Cope, is wallpapering his new baby's room with the press clippings he accumulated since the show opened a year ago.

David Greene, director of the new movie Godspell, who began his career on television, said he'll never direct again on TV: "The object of TV in America is to put the audience in the right frame of mind to watch commercials."

Eileen Fulton, star of CBS-TV's As The World Turns, knew show business was for her when she was

5. "My father was a Methodist minister. One day, a group of sad-looking people came to our house. It bothered me because even then I wanted everyone to be happy. I didn't know they were meeting to raise funds to save our church. To cheer them up, I started to sing and dance. While I was performing, my father signaled, and everyone smiled. He meant the money would be raised — but I thought I made them smile.

"That's when I decided acting was easy," explained the actress. "A signal — not talent — got me started."

Danny Kaye added to his culinary knowledge by going to L'Escargot's kitchen for their recipe for snails in garlic sauce. Kaye will conduct the Monaco Symphony Orchestra this summer, at Monte Carlo's Opera House, for one of Princess Grace's favorite charities ...

The Game of Nations, a new board game soon to be released, is based on the book of the same name by Miles A. Copeland, one of the men who helped organize the CIA. It's described as a "family game of international intrigue." ... Celeste Holm, star of Tom Sawyer — which opened at Radio City last week — was at the Rainbow Grill party following the preview of the film. She gave her autograph only to those who donated a quarter to UNICEF, then signed: Thank you from - Celeste Holm."

The Women's National Republican Club held its 52nd annual luncheon at the Waldorf. Club vice president Mrs. Robert W. McGrath, in introducing Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson, called him "square" — then explained she didn't use the word the way young people do now, but rather in the old sense, as in expressions like a "square deal" and the like. Gov. Rockefeller and George E. Bush also made similar complimentary references. Wilson was later asked how he defined "square."

"After all that was said," he smiled, "my choice is the old-fashioned version."

BRIDGE

By Robert E. Starr

Another Continent-wide Charity Game was held at my Bridge Club last week. As usual there was a tremendous turn-out for many reasons not just because so many are charitable and the expense can be deducted on their income tax. The hands, being pre-dealt by a computer, are the same played in every Club in the country. A hand analysis is handed out after the game so that everyone can see what he presumably should have done. Plus the very important fact that the Master Points awards for this event are extremely high, the winners receiving almost six points each. The next day, when I had the time, I compared the results shown on the traveling scores with what might have been done according to the analysis. Only one pair took advantage of the opportunity given them in the hand shown today, taken from this Charity Game. True, some, because we tend to insist on at least 16 points to open One No Trump around here, had no chance to get the 300 points when West did not open his hand that way. However, enough did have that opportunity and failed to take advantage of it. I am certain that in other regions there were more 300's around. You will see how that figure is reached when the bidding is analysed.

Mrs. Helen Bomes and Ross Grabel were North and South, no one vulnerable, West Dealer with this bidding:

W	N	E	S
INT	P	P	Db1

Because more and more of the so-called modern players are tending to open strong No Trumps with 15 points, other areas will find the above bidding sequence to be fairly normal. East has absolutely nothing at all to bid or even rescue with. When the No Trump opening bid is passed around to South he has a perfect Double. Any Double of a No Trump bid is basically for penalties and North with 8 points, had easily enough to leave the Double in for penalties. One does not balance over any No Trump bid like they might over a suit bid so 8 is plenty to pass for penalties now.

If West opened the bidding with one Diamond, as several apparently did, East will still not bid but now South's reopening Double is for take-out and North will bid. North and South will make whatever they bid, either Spades, Hearts or even No Trump themselves but they will make less than 200 instead of that excellent score of 300 setting one No Trump two tricks.

In defending against No Trump Doubled, North is on lead. Even if he makes the helpful (to the opponents) lead of a Spade instead of a Heart, normal defense will still hold the Declarer to five tricks. A Spade will find East's 9 forcing out South's Queen making the Jack in Dummy a second Spade trick if Declarer goes after it. He can do this immediately but now when North wins his King all he has to do is switch to either a Heart or a Club and Declarer never has time to develop his Diamond trick, he can't make a third Diamond before he loses one even though they split evenly against him. He now has to cash out his five tricks for the Defense now has one Spade already in, four Clubs all high, three Hearts as soon as the Ace is dislodged and the third Diamond if Declarer tries for that suit.

The only way Declarer can make a sixth trick is if North persists in Spades when he wins his King. This gives Declarer time to set up his fourth Diamond while he still has his Heart Ace but any pair who leaves One No Trump in for penalties should be good enough Defenders to get after their tricks on time. I still feel that 16 points should be the minimum for a One No Trump opening bid unless combinations of cards or 10 spots make a 15 point hand at least the equal of many 16 pointers.

Moral: The hardest bid to balance over is One No Trump whether it is an opening bid by your left hand opponent, a rebid after opening one of a suit or a response of One No Trump after the other opponent has opened one of a suit. Be very careful when you are faced with this problem.

Center Nominating Committee Proposes Slate Of Officers

Candidates for election to the board of directors of the Jewish Community Center and a proposed slate of officers for the coming term were presented at the Center's last board meeting by Sheldon S. Sollosy, chairman of the nominating committee.

Presented as candidates for office were Jeremiah J. Gorin, president; Edward D. Feldstein, Norman Robinson and Mrs. John Yashar, vice presidents; Paul Litwin, recording secretary, and Marvin Grabel, treasurer.

Proposed for election to the board for a three-year term were Max Alperin, Rabbi Nachman Cohen, Sheldon Green, Rabbi Leslie Gutterman, Raul Lovett, Alexander Rumpfer, Howard Schacter, Mr. Sollosy, and Mrs. Sheldon Summer.

Named for re-election to the board for a three-year term were Rabbi Eli A. Bohnen, David Meyers, Dr. Samuel Pritzker and Edwin S. Soforenko.

Leonard Blazar, Professor Benjamin Chinitz and Dr. Burton Fischman were nominated for election to the board for a two-year period and Martin Kenner, Donald Horowitz and Noah Temkin were nominated for candidates for the board for a one-year term.

In accordance with the Center's by-laws, additional nominations may be proposed by petition signed by no less than 20 members of the Center in good standing and submitted to the recording secretary no later than April 15, 1973.

Other members of the nominating committee are Mrs. Benjamin Eisenberg, David Leven, Mrs. Ralph Levitt, Paul Litwin, Leonard Michaelson, Mrs. Arthur Robbins, Mathew Shuster and James Winoker.

COUNTERCLAIMS

NEW YORK — Reform Jews have been given material countering Christian evangelical claims that the coming of Jesus was predicted by the Biblical prophet Isaiah.

ENGAGED: Mr. and Mrs. Harold Robinson of 2 Pilgrim Circle, Warwick, announce the engagement of their daughter, Lisa Jane, to Patrick John Dowd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dowd of Jamestown.

Miss Robinson, a graduate of Pilgrim High School in Warwick, is attending the Shepard-Gill School of Nursing in Boston, Massachusetts. She is the granddaughter of Rebecca Goldis of Warwick and the late Mark Goldis, and Celia Robinson of Providence and the late Ira Robinson.

Mr. Dowd is an alumnus of DeLaSalle Academy in Newport and Rhode Island Junior College.

YOUR MONEY'S WORTH

climbed past $90, triple 1960's level and it's fast heading for the $100 a day milestone.

Under the circumstances, it's hardly surprising that patient "rights" have grabbed the spotlight. Just a few months ago, the Chicago-based American Hospital Association distributed its "Patient's Bill of Rights" to 7,000 member hospitals throughout the U.S. At this very moment, thousands of hospitals are debating formal adoption of the AHA bill and how to enforce it. According to the AHA, hospital patients should have the right, among many other things, to:

- * Current information concerning your diagnosis, treatment and prognosis, in language you can understand;
- * Whatever information you need to give an informed consent prior to any procedure or treatment or to refuse treatment, with knowledge of the medical consequences of your decision;
- * Knowledge if the hospital wants to perform any experimental procedure or treatment on you;
- * An explanation of your hospital bill and of the hospital rules and regulations applying to you.

Denenberg's bill — of which I've seen a preliminary version — would go a few major steps beyond the AHA's and would give you the right to:

- * Good quality care and high professional standards that are continuously monitored and reviewed;
- * Information that you are being used as a guinea pig by having new, experimental drugs and/or surgical procedures used on you, and the right to refuse to participate;
- * A detailed explanation of your hospital bill — no matter whether you, Blue Cross, Medicare, etc. is paying — and access to your patient records;
- * Knowledge of who is coming in and out of your hospital room and the right to exclude from your room and/or the examination room anyone not directly involved in your care (such as students).
- * Treatment without discrimination as to race, color, religion, national origin or source of payment, as well as privacy and confidentiality of personal records;
- * Right to refuse treatment, including leaving the hospital, and to be informed of the medical consequences of your action;
- * Right to redress your complaints via a formal grievance procedure and use of, say, a "patients' advocate" who would work for patients' rights when complaints were found justified.

In his customarily blunt words and his conviction that he is being, if anything, too mild in his criticisms, Denenberg declares we won't get a workable healthy delivery system without "the cost and quality controls" that only consumers will demand. And he adds:

You have "a right to expect a hospital to behave as a consumer advocate rather than as a business headquarters for doctors and hospital officials."

There's some painful pioneering going on here in the area of health care that is potentially of revolutionary importance to you, the consumer.

NOT READY
JERUSALEM — Mayor Teddy Kollek has said that East Jerusalem Arabs are not ready to participate in the city's political affairs. "We would welcome them but they are not ready for it," he said at a meeting of the executive committee of the Union of Socialist Youth. Kollek explained that the Arabs themselves feared that if they became active in the City Council their relatives in Arab countries would suffer.

Hello Again!

News of the Sports World by Warren Walden

THE FRIARS! WHAT ELSE? That last isn't even a question, because in the World of Sports, there just isn't anything else. Never have I seen such contagion or infection — call it what you will — as the wave that has almost completely engulfed a whole section of a population with "Friaritis." In fact, sports fans and fans who were never fans before, are referring to Coach David Gavitt and his super-duper, whooper-hooper, shooting basketballers as "They" and "Them" without even mentioning P.C. and you're supposed to know immediately that the reference is to "The Friars." Such colossal enthusiasm! There are just no words for description. You just have to invent new ones.

FORGET THE REST: Professional hockey playoffs and professional basketball playoffs: The Celtics and the Red Sox and the Harlem Globe Trotters, too. Be sure and get your tickets early for the R.I. Reds Playoffs, but at the same time, get a choice seat in front of the television set for the Friars-Memphis game and keep it glued to the floor for the big one when the Providence College hoopsters show the highly-touted UCLA team that they have learned "how to do it" from their experience in the first game on the West Coast.

NOT LIKE THE SONG: The musical show Paint Your Wagon included a song, "Where Are We Going? We Don't Know." It doesn't apply to the Friars. They know where they're going and they're on their way. Concede nothing, claim everything! That's the motto. "Confidence!" That's the theme. A team that won't lose, can't lose. So, read that and believe it, Ernie DiGregorio and Marvin Barnes and Kevin Stacom and Fran Costello and Nehru King and Charlie Crawford and the others. You're making history, following a tremendous tradition and making it more impressive for those who follow! No one can ever say that Providence and "Little Rhody" aren't on the map. Not with the Basketball Friars spreading the fame far and wide and popular, too. Memphis? Humpf.

The greatest athlete from there was Bill Terry who managed and played first base for the New York Giants. The Giants are defunct and "Memphis Bill" isn't playing basketball. So, get this one out of the way, Friars. We're waiting for you to come home triumphant after the next one!

WHAT TO DO: NBC is preparing for televising the big games with all sorts of color cameras and devices and you'll have a front row seat on the 50 yard line through Channel 10 right here in Providence. At the same time, Chris Clark, your favorite, will be bringing a play-by-play description on WJAR Radio. So you will be able to turn to Channel 10 for the video and tune to WJAR for the audio for the inimitable description by the enthusiastic Clark while watching the picture.

CHRIS IS OPTIMISTIC: Chris Clark, who has followed the destinies and who has been close to the Friars for quite some time, is optimistic over the P.C. chances for going all the way. "They're not over-confident but you can sense that they feel that they can win." Coach Dave Gavitt is confident, too. Dave will have the counsel and wizardry of Coach Joe Mullaney on his side. Joe has scouted the Memphis team. Where could you find a more capable combination than that duo?

OBJECTIVE VIEWING: On another side, the analytic Jack Cumley is picking the Friars to win easily from Memphis but doesn't think they can go all the way against the powerful UCLA shooters. Who am I picking? How do I know? But, going along with Chris Clark, the Friars will most likely be the favorites with fans. The last time they played UCLA, they were in hostile territory. UCLA will be tense, striving to win two in a row over a great opponent. The Friars will not be awe-stricken. They've seen UCLA before. This time UCLA will be just another opponent although a tough one. It will be an "all to gain" for Providence College. I'm predicting that we'll be shouting "All Hail! The Friars! Go get 'em Friars! CARRY ON!"

Israel Approves Establishment Of Palestinian Arab University

TEL AVIV — Israel recently approved establishment of a Palestinian Arab university on the West Bank of the Jordan River.

The military government on the West Bank, acting on a decision by Minister of Education Yigal Allon, who is also Deputy Premier, formally approved organization of a group to establish a university. One of the 14 sponsors, Aziz Shihadeh of Ramallah, said in a telephone interview that the sponsors would meet later to discuss the location, scope, finances and other basic matters.

with the program of studies unless there was incitement against Israel or the Jewish people.

The Israeli Government will not contribute funds, and the financial support is expected from international sources and wealthy Palestinians. The teaching staff will be recruited from the West Bank and Arab countries.

The sponsors hope that classes will be started for the 1974-75 academic year with an enrollment of 1,000 from the West Bank and the Gaza Strip. Students from those areas now go to Arab countries for university education.

An Education Ministry source in Jerusalem said that the sponsors had been talking with the ministry about starting schools of pure sciences in Ramallah, arts and social sciences in Nablus, and agriculture and natural sciences in Tulkarm. The university would also incorporate the Institute for Islamic studies founded two years ago in Hebron.

No Israeli Financial Aid
 The source said that the Government would not interfere

The idea of a West Bank university has been under discussion for about two years. It was reportedly opposed by Arab extremists, who are against normalization of life on the West Bank as long as it is occupied by Israel, which secured it in the 1967 Arab-Israeli war.

Mr. Shihadeh said that the plan was not controversial and that the university would be "a 100 per cent Arab institution."

Student Leader Asks Policy Of Balanced Tension With USSR

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — One hundred Jewish student leaders from 45 U.S. campuses wound up a three-day National Conference on Campus Action for Soviet Jewry, recommending not to call for a complete cutoff in trade between the U.S. and Soviet Union. Jerry Goodman, executive director of the National Conference on Soviet Jewry, told the leaders meeting at the University of Maryland that they should not push now for a complete cutoff in trade between the Soviet Union and the United States as a way to aid Soviet Jews.

the United States and the Soviet Union offers a new area where action will have to be intensified, Goodman said.

But he emphasized that protest groups must act in a "non-adversary capacity" when they approach businessmen. "In the long run of history the trend is for an increase of trade with the Soviet Union," he said. He advised groups to concentrate on "elevating by a few notches the corporate consciousness in this area."

The students, who gathered here to study ways to force the Soviet Union to relax its emigration restrictions and end harassment of Jews who remain in the Soviet Union, were told by Goodman: "If we close contact we lose the pressure point. If we have no trade, we have no influence." Goodman called instead for a policy of "balanced tension" with the Russians.

One goal of the conference was to urge support of the Jackson-Vanik amendment. The students visited 125 Congressional offices to urge support of the Jackson-Vanik legislation and provide background information on Soviet Jewish problems. They presented Congressmen with the names of Soviet Jews seeking assistance and urged the Congressmen to communicate their support of Soviet Jewry to President Nixon.

"When they come we are obliged to create a climate of pressure" while not forcing the Soviet Union into isolation, he continued. "We must utilize the opportunities of trade, cultural and scientific visits" to convince the Soviet Government it loses more than it gains by oppressing Jews. The growth of commerce between

How to get decorating help without paying for it.

In most furniture stores, the salesmen know all there is to know — about selling. But when it comes to decorating, what they know usually can't fill an ashtray. Well, if you're tired of being over-sold and under-informed, visit our Ethan Allen Gallery.

Free of charge, there will be a talented decorating expert at your disposal. To provide as much help as you'd like or as little.

Our decorating experts are an unusual breed. Instead of talking you into buying something, they'll talk you out of buying it — if they don't think it's right for you. And just so they can properly advise you, they'll often draw up a floor plan of your home with you — room by room.

So, if you're looking for a little help and not a lot of pressure — in decorating your home — come visit us.

Myths About the Poor

Great numbers of Americans have been brainwashed enough to think that the terribly high taxes they have to pay and the inadequate return are all the fault of the shiftless, lazy black on welfare or the long-haired hippie. Contrary to the myth of shiftless welfare recipients, the vast majority of people who are able to work do work and they are still poor.

There are an estimated 25 million Americans living below the recognized poverty line — annual income of about $4,100 for a family of four.

These thoughts were uttered by Dr. Raymond Wheeler of Charlotte, North Carolina, nationally known hunger expert, who said that contrary to the myth that poverty is primarily a struggle for black people, the majority of the poor are white.

The myths about the poor are tragic and numerous. The greatest offenders are the ethnics — the Italians, the Jews, and the Poles — whose attitude is, "Why don't they go to work?"

These ethnic groups came from Europe a generation or so ago, worked hard and now they're in the middle class or approaching that status. They want to know why the Negroes need specific legislation.

In the recital of their own good fortune they fail to realize one thing concerning the Negro, and that is color. The black man cannot move from one place to another place and achieve any degree of anonymity; he cannot change his name to hide his origins, and he's discriminated against at the job office. Therefore he must have legislation and he must have help until America gets over this racism.

Another myth about the poor is that they have hidden resources. This is an old myth. I remember as a boy gossip mongers said of the beggar woman, "She's got houses," and all she had was three children at home and a sick husband and needed help.

Dr. Wheeler stated that eight million of the 25 million are children whose grinding poverty guarantees that they will have no future in this society.

Existing feeding programs are not doing their job, they still reach only slightly more than half the poor who are estimated to require the assistance. It is degrading to the poor to tell them what to eat and which lines to stand in for their food stamps, when to arrive at the food warehouse for their unvarying supplies.

Dr. Wheeler's conclusion: "All the present food assistance programs are duplicated and inadequate and should be junked as quickly as possible in favor of simple cash payments."

Abraham Lincoln

The attraction Abraham Lincoln holds is that it was he, more than any other President, who made us a country. He made us a country because he held onto the single overpowering political idea that the United States was one country, not a collection of sovereign states.

He believed in the union of states and he held onto this idea despite everything and held to it at a time when it was not a universally acknowledged goal even in the North.

Thus his attraction, and every biographer finds in this an idea so grand that he can separate from it the things he thinks made Lincoln great.

It is because he was a user of words that the poets have always understood Lincoln. Another historian, Henry Steele Commager, pointed out long ago that the supreme tributes to Lincoln came from Whitman, Emerson, Benet, and Sandburg.

Of them, Sandburg probably came the closest because although he loved the way Lincoln used words, Sandburg also saw him as the master politician he was.

One of the truths we Americans have always hidden from ourselves, or care not to pay heed to, is that our great Presidents have without exception always been great politicians. It is probably impossible to do good for the country unless a man will make ultimate use of the political hazards of his time.

Sandburg was the first historian to point out that the Gettysburg

GROWTH FUND LIST AVAILABLE

Q: I own 80 shares of Oceanographic Fund which I bought in 1968. It has done very little in the meantime. Should I hold for future growth or change to another fund? A.L.

A: This specialized no-load growth fund has been a below-average performer, dropping faster in the 1969-1970 bear market and recovering more slowly in 1971 and 1972 than an average of all funds. As a replacement you might consider Mathers Fund and David L. Babson Investment Fund in the no-load group or Fidelity Fund and Putnam Investors which are load funds. For a complete list of recommended growth funds with pertinent statistics send a stamped self-addressed envelope to Roger Spear c/o this newspaper requesting "growth fund list."

Q: I have $25,000 to invest for appreciation as well as security. I prefer one NYSE listed issue. A.S.

A: Helmerich & Payne, listed on the Big Board, should fit your requirements. With an energy crisis looming in the background, this specialist in deep drilling stands to benefit from the stepped-up search for fossil fuels. In recent years, HP has derived over 40% of revenues from contract drilling and at the present time has 27 rigs at work in the Western Hemisphere. Last year, revenues from domestic drilling activities increased 19% and indications are that for the current year an advance of at least 10% is probable. As wells are pushed deeper into the ground profit margins increase, thus in fiscal 1972, although only 47% revenues were derived from drilling activities, 85% of earnings originated from that source.

Helmerich's crude oil and natural gas production are expected to be accelerated this year as a result of recent discoveries in Oklahoma and Texas. The company also manufactures peripheral products used in the industry and owns several real estate developments. Of the 2.9 million common shares outstanding, 36% are family owned. Shares, trading at 23x projected 1973 net, are attractive from both a technical and fundamental standpoint.

EXCHANGES LISTING REQUIREMENTS

Q: I hold stock in Ecodyne

which has been listed recently on the American Stock Exchange. Will this stock eventually move to the Big Board? Would you discuss the differences, if any, in listing requirements between the two exchanges? G.J.

A: Although there are about the same number of issues listed on these two major exchanges, there is a considerable difference in the dollar and share volume of trading. In fact, ASE share volume currently averages only 25% of that on the NYSE. The prestige and nationwide exposure of Big Board listing prompted 94 companies to apply for and be accepted by the NYSE during 1972.

Listing requirements for the two markets include most of the same criteria with differences occurring primarily in the amounts specified. For an issue to be initially listed on the Big Board pre-tax earnings must have reached $2.5 million annually with $2 million in each of the preceding two years. Amex requires $500,000 in pre-tax and $300,000 after tax net income. While a company may join the ASE with only 300,000 publicly held shares, the NYSE has an 800,000 minimum. Of the mandatory 2,000 public shareholders, 1,800 must hold 100 shares each for Big Board listing, whereas Amex specifies 900 and 600, respectively. A $5 minimum share price is called for by the ASE with no minimum share price set on the New York.

BERYL SEGAL

because these things he did not find in his Jewish home. The ideal Jewish home, with its close family ties, its love of learning, its deep spirituality as expressed in Jewish books on the shelves, parents discussing with children things other than soap operas on TV, mothers taking children to museum exhibits, fathers going with sons to the Community Centers, children learning through observing their parents, is all but gone. That contributes more than anything else to "Jews for Jesus."

Here is what one observer of Jewish life says:

"Moreover, American Jews have created a new complex of secular rituals. Cards are played religiously on Friday night; golf contests are waged on Saturday; bagels and lox are a must on Sunday morning."

No wonder, then, that Jewish youth, the sensitive ones, are turned off by such homes and such parents.

That same observer goes on to write:

"Only 19 percent of American Jews attend religious services weekly, the lowest of any major religious group. Most Jews have been aptly dubbed 'Seventh Day Absentists'."

Rabbi Eugene Borowitz is quoted as writing:

"What other religious group in America can boast of men who are zealously committed to interfaith activities, but who have no faith of their own, who worship in no church with any degree of regularity, and who observe no commandments but those that their organizational participation requires or common American degrees?"

So instead of protesting against Key-73 we will do well to strengthen our own positions: Restore quality to the home; increase the effectiveness of our schools; tell our youth about our traditions of charity; point out to them our common efforts towards healing the sick, showing respect for the elderly, helping the less fortunate among us, and our readiness to come to the aid of Jews wherever they are and under whatever flag they dwell.

In this land of ours everybody has a right to speak on behalf of his beliefs. Key-73 has that right, and so do we. We, too, can distribute our Bible, preach our truth, tell of our virtues. Only when we neglect our own garden are we afraid of showing it to others. Our own garden surely has been neglected. We can revive it.

Dr. Trude Weiss-Rosmarin after editorially discussing the Key-73 problem, says:

"I have no quarrel with and no reservations about Key-73. My quarrel is with and my reservations are about the Jewish organizations that spend millions on gobbledygook about 'Jewish identity' and say they have no funds for giving Hebrew Bibles to Jewish students."

She goes on to say in effect:

There is nothing wrong with "Jesus People" slipping literature under the doors in the dormitories. The American tradition guarantees free speech and dialogue to everybody. But let us do the same. Give your literature to Jewish and to non-Jewish students and tell them about "Moses People."

We have the same freedoms as other groups in America.

ENGAGED: Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Leroy Weinstein of Richmond, Virginia, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Marsha Lee Weinstein, of Norfolk, Virginia, to Dr. Jeffrey Sheldon Hanzel of Virginia Beach, Virginia. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Harold Hanzel of Knowles Drive, Warwick.

Miss Weinstein was graduated with honors from the University of Missouri where she was a member of Kappa Tau Alpha and Sigma Epsilon Sigma. She attended graduate school at the University of Virginia and is editor of a U.S. Naval newspaper at the Norfolk Naval Station.

Dr. Hanzel was graduated from Classical High School, Brown University and Georgetown University Medical School. He completed his internship and residency at Hartford Hospital in Hartford, Connecticut. A lieutenant in the Navy, he is a pediatrician at the Norfolk Naval Station Branch Dispensary.

He is a grandson of Mrs. Louis Goldstein of Warwick and the late Mr. Goldstein.

A May 19 wedding in Richmond is planned. The couple will make their home in Hartford where Dr. Hanzel will be chief resident in pediatrics at Hartford Hospital.

To Take Office Next Year Dr. Nathan Chaset Named To Medical Society Post

Dr. Nathan Chaset, a Providence urologist, was chosen president-elect of the Rhode Island Medical Society at the organization's 162nd annual meeting held last week at the Colonial Hilton Inn in Cranston. Dr. Edmund T. Hackman, a Warwick general practitioner and former health superintendent in that city, was installed as president. Dr. Chaset will take over the office next year.

Dr. Chaset, a graduate of Brown University and the Boston University Graduate School, received his MD from the Boston University Medical School.

He is a Diplomate of the National Board of Medical Examiners and the American Board of Urology. He is a Fellow of the American Medical Association, the American College of Surgeons, the Rhode Island Medical Society and the Providence Medical Association of which he is a past president. A member of the executive committee of the New England Section, American Urological Association, he is also a member of the American Association of Clinical Urologists.

Formerly chief of the Department of Urology of The Miriam Hospital, Dr. Chaset is a consultant in Urology at the Providence Lying-In Hospital, the Rhode Island Hospital, the VA Hospital in Providence, where he is attending Urologist, the VA Regional Office, Woonsocket Hospital, Kent County Memorial Hospital, Our Lady of Fatima Hospital, Roger Williams General Hospital, Newport Hospital and The Miriam Hospital. He is also the director of the Vasectomy Clinic at the Providence Lying-In Hospital. Formerly an instructor in

Abba Eban Speaks Of Defects In Israel

JERUSALEM — An evil spirit is at large in Israeli society which can only be countered by a return to such traditional Jewish values as the love of freedom, tolerance, equality and human brotherhood. This was what Foreign Minister Abba Eban told Haifa University students recently.

In an address, which political associates concede was "courageous" in the current climate of Israel, Eban spoke of defects in Israeli public life which had been troubling him for some time and which he saw reflected again in the aftermath of the Libyan aircraft disaster. He mentioned specifically the way in which the press was "fed with unfounded material" suggesting that the pilot of the downed aircraft was unqualified to fly Boeings (he did not say from which official source the material came, but the implication was obvious to anyone who had followed events following the disaster).

When the truth emerged about the pilot's credentials, said Eban, no apology was forthcoming from "those responsible for this strange initiative."

Eban accused certain editorial writers of falsely suggesting that the world press had failed to condemn the Munich massacre while at the same time he criticized Israeli television for failing to reflect the sincere feeling of shock that swept the nation over the loss of so many innocent lives.

The Foreign Minister, who had clearly reflected at length over his choice of words and had committed them to paper, recalled among others an air action against a Lebanese village acting as host to terrorists in which a number of Druse were killed. "When an authorized Government spokesman admits the error and expresses his regret, an outcry is raised in the press as if the dispossession of Arabs from their lands is an unavoidable condition for the realization of the Zionist dream. This is simply libellous." These and other examples of force being justified in place of reason, argument and education sprang from a mood of defensiveness, the Foreign Minister observed.

While it was true that Israel was the target of threats and attacks, in the final analysis Israel was also a firm and solid fact. With this speech, Eban becomes the first Cabinet Minister to join his voice with those of a group of academicians.

NOT DETERRED

WASHINGTON — Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D. Wash.) said sponsors of the Jackson Amendment to the East-West Trade Act would not be deterred

NO COOPERATION

TEL AVIV — A UN attempt to obtain cooperation between Israel and Jordan on air traffic apparently has failed. Israeli delegates returning from an international aviation conference in Rome reported here that the Jordanians did not turn up for a meeting in the Italian capital to discuss "mutually convenient takeoff and landing patterns." The talks had been arranged by a West German representative of the ICAO based in the Italian capital. Both Israel and Jordan want to expand their respective airports which are a few miles apart on opposite sides of the Gulf of Aqaba. Jordan apparently wanted UN observers in each country's control tower to coordinate flight patterns. The Israelis may build a new airport a few miles north of Eilat at a sufficient elevation to allow their control tower to monitor air traffic.

Altmann Confesses He Is Klaus Barbie

NEW YORK — Klaus Altmann has confessed to Bolivian authorities that he is Klaus Barbie, the Gestapo "Butcher of Lyons" who is wanted in France on war crimes charges, it was reported here.

The report from La Paz, by Agence France Presse, said that Barbie, alias Altmann, was taken into custody because Bolivian authorities feared he might try to leave the country. He faces extradition to France where he has already been tried and sentenced to death in absentia for the murder of a French resistance leader and the deportation of hundreds of Frenchmen, including Jews, to nazi death camps.

The 59-year-old Barbie was traced to Bolivia a year ago but authorities there refused to extradite him because there is no extradition treaty between Bolivia and France. The Bolivians, however, agreed to reopen the case after a direct appeal by French President Georges Pompidou to President Hugo Banzer of Bolivia.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

A: Over the past several months the ranks of mutual funds stressing income have been swelled by a host of newly formed offerings. John Hancock Income Securities is one of these neophytes. The public, having become disillusioned with growth funds, has turned to the seemingly safer but less volatile income securities. To feed this appetite, the fund industry has come up with several varieties of income funds.

Since the particular fund you are considering is new and has no track record, I am unable to comment on its advisability. However, the fund manager John Hancock is one of the giants of the mutual life insurance field. The stated investment policy appears reasonable — 75% of assets in medium/high quality bonds the remainder in high yield common and preferred shares. Leverage may be employed by the fund's management, but is restricted to 20% of assets. You should keep in mind that this fund is a closed-end type having a set capitalization, unlike open end mutual funds which offer shares continuously. Closed-end funds generally sell at a premium or a discount from the asset value of the underlying portfolio. The trend recently has been for such funds to sell at discount.

Net tangible assets and aggregate market value of publicly held shares are both $14 million for New York listing and $3 million and $2 million, respectively, for the American. It is entirely probable that Ecodyne, if it continues to grow, will at some future date apply for NYSE listing, since today this is the natural progression. However, tradition may be shattered if the proposed Central Market System becomes a reality. The first step along the way, a composite stock ticker system, is yet to be realized. Congress will begin hearings this year on the subject of a central market structure.

REPORT TERRORISTS

MUNICH — Arab terrorists have been reported by the Bavarian Interior Ministry to be in the Munich area. A spokesman declined to indicate their nationalities but said they had entered West Germany in the past day or so. Security forces have been put on maximum alert.

Q: I am a working widow interested in setting aside small sums monthly toward retirement. My employer offers Payroll Savings Plans for buying U.S. E bonds. Do you favor this type of investment? F.A.

A: By all means take advantage of the convenience of this systematic savings plan. Monthly purchases of a $25 bond (18.75 initial cost) would at the end of 5 years and 10 months have an accumulated value of $1,493. Deductions of $75 per month, which would cover the cost of a $100 bond would accumulate to $5,973 in 5 years and 10 months. In 1972 $6.2 billion in E and H bonds were sold, 14% more than during the previous year.

Search For Terrorists Continues In Gaza

TEL AVIV — Security forces in Gaza are searching for terrorists believed responsible for the murder of a Catholic priest and other recent political assassinations, including the recent attempt on the life of Gaza's former Mayor, Rashid Shawa. The priest, Father Hanna el-Nimri, was found shot through the heart on the floor of his tiny flat adjacent to the Catholic church in downtown Gaza.

Father el-Nimri was a member of the Gaza Town Council and was recently elected to the neighborhood committee that is to participate in the election of a new mayor to succeed Shawa. The terrorists regard all persons who participate in the elections as collaborators with the Israeli regime. The police are said to know the identity of the murderers.

Father el-Nimri was born on the West Bank and came to Gaza in 1949. He headed the 900-member Catholic community in a town of 120,000 Moslems. He was said to be respected and well-liked by all Gazans.

Doctor Reunited With His Family

CHICAGO — Capped in Moscow fur and bundled in heavy Russian overcoats, the wife and two sons of Dr. Gregory Lipov stepped of a Lufthansa jet and into his embrace.

Tears and smiles in the large customs room at O'Hare International Airport were punctuated by quiet words in Russian as the family of Soviet Jews ended their year-long struggle to be reunited.

Lipov, a Moscow surgeon, left his home a year ago without his wife, Mary and two sons, Sergei, 17 and Eugeny, 14 — who could not get permission to go — because "I was afraid I would be jailed."

Two weeks ago, after a year of red tape, his wife sold all their possessions and paid $9,000 — nine times a Soviet surgeon's annual salary — to leave the country. They arrived in Chicago with everything they own packed into five leather suitcases.

"We were sitting on boxes in our home when we were told we could go," Mary, a small pixie-faced woman, said.

"You've grown taller," Lipov said as he hugged Sergei. "You've grown thinner, father," Sergei responded.

For Lipov, it was imperative his family leave Russia before Sergei turned 18 and was drafted which, combined with Eugeny's reaching 18, would postpone the family's reunion for 15 years.

Arrest Jordanians With Explosives

LYONS, France — The French police arrested two men with Jordanian passports last week in a car with 35 pounds of plastic explosive. The two were quoted as saying they were on their way for a bomb attack on the Jordanian Embassy.

The police said the men were arrested at La Grave, a town in the Alps near the city of Briancon, after they had crossed the Italian border.

Authorities identified them as Omar Mohamed Tatib Tabab, a 29 year old chauffeur, and Raed al Talb, 25, a businessman. Both gave their addresses in Amman.

TO REMAIN

JERUSALEM — A ministerial committee is nearing a decision on which of two plans to adopt for the future development of the Sharm el-Sheikh area, it was reported. Both plans under consideration indicate that Israel has no intention ever of relinquishing the strategic area of eastern Sinai.

DENIES STATEMENT
JERUSALEM — The Foreign Ministry has denied a statement by a Japanese Embassy official who said that Japan and Israel were conducting talks on mutual airline landing rights. A Ministry spokesman said that no such talks have been held so far. It was understood that Israel proposed talks with Japan about a year ago on mutual landing rights for El Al and Japan Airlines at Tokyo and Lod and is still waiting for Japan's reply. The Counsellor at the Japanese Embassy in Tel Aviv, Jun Matsufuji, said that talks were in progress.

Issue Warrant For Iraqi Suspected Of Bomb Plant

NEW YORK — A Federal warrant was issued last week for a 27-year-old Iraq suspected of being a member of the Black September terrorist organization and charged with planting a bomb in an automobile parked next to the El Al Israeli Airlines terminal warehouse at Kennedy International Airport.

The suspect, Khalid Dahham Al-Jawari, left the country after the bomb was planted and is the subject of an intensive international manhunt, according to Federal agents.

The automobile was one of three explosive-laden vehicles parked next to Israeli institutions and intended to be detonated upon the arrival of Premier Golda Meir of Israel in New York City at 12 noon on March 4, the Federal agents said. One of the cars was parked next to the First Israel Bank and Trust Company of New York, Fifth Avenue at 47th Street, and the third was parked next to the Israel Discount Bank, Ltd., Fifth Avenue at 43rd Street.

Bombs' Circuitry Faulty
The bombs failed to explode because of "an error in the circuitry system," John F. Malone, assistant director in charge of the New York office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, said at a news conference.

When one of the bombs was detonated by the police, the explosion produced a ball of fire 25 feet in diameter that rose 50 to 75 feet. "Anyone within 100 yards would have been killed," Mr. Malone said. "Hundreds would have been killed."

He said the suspect, described as a well-dressed, well-educated man, was believed to be linked to the Black September organization because the automobile had "numerous items of literature

CALLED UP
NEW YORK — Yuli Tartakovsky, a Kiev activist, has been called up for military service as an officer, it was reported by the National Conference on Soviet Jewry.

referring to the Black September organization."

All Cars Were Rented
Mr. Malone, asked whether the suspect had acted alone, said: "It would have been a pretty tough job for one man." He said the suspect had entered the United States from Canada on an Iraqi passport.

All three cards had been rented. A tip from the Federal Bureau of Investigation led the police to the car at the El Al terminal. The rental agency that owned the other cars found the explosives at Pier 56 on the Hudson River, where the police had towed and impounded the vehicles.

All three bombs were recovered on March 7, three days after they were set to explode. The explosives in the trunk of the car parked next to the El Al warehouse consisted of three five-gallon plastic containers of gasoline, three 20-pound bottles of propane gas and two plastic bags of explosives.

The explosives had been manufactured in a foreign country, Mr. Malone said.

Search Site Not Named
When asked where Federal agents were looking for the suspect, Mr. Malone said: "I'm not at liberty to name the country at the moment." Asked if the FBI had been in touch with the Iraqi Government, he similarly replied: "I'm not at liberty to answer that." But he noted that the investigation "involved the cooperation and assistance of many foreign governments."

The Black September terrorist group is believed to be made up of fewer than 300 fervent young Palestinians. Arab and Israeli officials say the group is a branch of the Al Fatah commando group.

Black September has said it was responsible for the killing of 11 members of the Israeli Olympic team in Munich, for the mailing of letter-bombs to Israeli embassies around the world and for the killing of three diplomats in the seizure of the Saudi Arabian embassy in the Sudan earlier this month.
