Local JNF Starts Campaign To Plant Woodland For Truman

The Rhode Island Council of the Jewish National Fund is launching a campaign this week to raise funds for planting a woodland in honor of the late President Harry S. Truman in the Kennedy Memorial Forest in Israel.

Louis Baruch Rubinstein, chairman of the Council, said that Mr. Truman's recognition of the State of Israel within 12 minutes of its declaration of independence set in motion world-wide acceptance of the new state and its early admission into the United Nations. "For that reason alone," said Mr. Rubinstein, "he is worthy of being memorialized in a manner which would link his name permanently with the soil of Israel. And Mr. Truman did much more in aiding Israel during his term of office."

Ernest Nathan, a former chairman of the Jewish National Fund, has been appointed chairman of the campaign, and honorary co-chairmen are Senator John O. Pastore, Senator Claiborne Pell, and former Governor Frank Licht.

The Jewish National Fund, Keren Kayemet L'Israel, which was founded in 1901, has been the basic institution in reclaiming the arid land which was formerly Palestine, having established an intensive, ongoing effort in reforestation, draining of swamps, and literally making the desert bloom and become productive. It has purchased land from the inhabitants of Palestine over the past 72 years which it holds in trust for the Jewish people, and is presently engaged in building roads and developing settlements in the Negev, as well as other areas of Israel. Over the years more than 120 million trees have been planted.

Mr. Nathan has announced that all contributions may be sent to him, care of Elmwood Sensors, 1665 Elmwood Avenue, Cranston, Rhode Island.

Other members of the Harry S. Truman Memorial Committee, now in formation are M. Louis Abedon, Bernard Bell, Mrs. Arthur Einstein, Harry Finkelstein, Roz Goldberg, Stephen Gordon, Sigmund Hellmann, Maurice W. Hendel, Rep. Samuel C. Kagan, Rabbi Saul Leeman, Israel Resnick, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Share, Mrs. Sheldon Sollosy, Charles Swartz and Joseph Tevrow.

TRIES SUICIDE

TEL AVIV — A tourist who claimed he saw Dori Kashkosh in Baghdad said she has made several suicide attempts and is still in a state of shock following the murder of her parents, two brothers and sister by Iraqi police April 12. The tourist, who arrived from Baghdad last week, said the girl is living with an elderly Jewish woman and no longer attends classes at the university where she was the morning her family was murdered. He said Iraqi authorities have confiscated her passport. According to the tourist, the girl's life is in danger. He suggested that student organizations all over the world be alerted to her situation.

Protect Excavators By Closing Road

JERUSALEM — The Jerusalem Municipality closed down part of one lane on the Jerusalem-Jericho highway recently after the discovery of an ancient Jewish cemetery near the cemetery on the Mt. of Olives. The lane was closed to protect workers employed by the Religious Affairs Ministry who are digging on the site to uncover additional graves.

Mayor Teddy Kollek said the excavators didn't have a proper license and complained that their digging was interfering with traffic along the road. But he agreed to shut down the lane after he was requested by Mordechai Surkiss, chairman of the Knesset Interior Committee, to permit further work on the site.

Nathan's Peace Ship Now Sailing At Sea

TEL AVIV — The song of Beatle John Lennon, "Give Peace a Chance," resounded over the airwaves from the Mediterranean this week in the first of a series of special broadcasts to all the people of the Middle East.

It came from the transmitters of Abie Nathan's peace ship sailing somewhere between Cyprus and Israel.

Nathan, 48, a one-time Tel Aviv restauranteur who twice flew planes on peace missions to Egypt, took over the mike: "Shalom, salaam and peace to all our listeners! The peace ship is a project of the people. We hope thru this station we will help relieve the pain and heal the wounds of many years of suffering of the people of the ... Middle East ..."

A disk jockey then took over and played pop music.

TO MAKE ALIYAH: A farewell evening for Cantor and Mrs. Irving Poll of Temple Beth Am will be held on Sunday, June 10, at 8 p.m. The Polls will soon make aliyah to Israel where they will join their three children who have been attending school there for the past nine months. The Cantor and his wife were involved in the temple's education program which included the preparation of Bar and Bas Mitzvah candidates. The evening will include dancing, songs and refreshments. Reservations may be made by contacting Alan Halsband or Alan Perry.

Israel Opens Campaign To Persuade US To Drop Plans For Saudi Arms

WASHINGTON — The United States sought to allay Israeli concern last week over the major sale of American military equipment to the Arab states on the Persian Gulf, including an impending purchase of advanced F-4 Phantom fighter bombers by Saudi Arabia.

Responding to public and private expressions of concern by Israeli officials and diplomats, the State Department issued a policy statement saying that any military sales to Iran, Saudi Arabia or Kuwait take "fully into account our long-standing policy of support of Israeli security."

"Obviously, we will not make any military sales that would put Israeli security in jeopardy," said Paul J. Hare, a State Department spokesman.

Israelis have expressed concern that — despite the American ban on the transfer of United States military equipment to third countries without Washington's permission — in the event of renewed hostilities in the Middle East the Saudi Arabians and the Kuwaitis would allow their military force to be used against Israel, in alliance with Cairo or under Cairo's control.

Despite repeated questions by newsmen, Mr. Hare refused to provide details of the military sales to the oil-producing countries, whose Governments on the whole remained friendly to the United States while supporting the Arab side in the conflict with Israel.

Sales Taken Up In House

But on the House floor, Representative Lee H. Hamilton, Democrat of Indiana, provided the following dimensions of what he called the "enormous arms sales." Mr. Hamilton is chairman of the House Foreign Affairs subcommittee on the Near East.

Iran, he said, was contracting to buy more than $2.5 billion worth of United States arms over the next several years.

Saudi Arabia, he said, has an "on-going" program with the United States Navy involving the expenditure of more than $600 million for American equipment and training. He mentioned $1 billion pending in additional United States sales to Saudi Arabia, and a $500 million Saudi cash outlay for the Saudi Army.

Kuwait, he said, was about to sign contracts involving the expenditure of close to $600 million for American arms and services.

"The net impression left, in the absence of appropriate policy explanations, is that we are willing to sell just about everything these Persian Gulf states want and will buy," Mr. Hamilton said.

F-4's A Key Issue

A crucial element in the sales appears to be Saudi Arabia's request for the F-4 Phantom jet, the most advanced fighter bomber in the American Air Force, which is also being sold to Israel and Iran.

The United States has told the Saudis, an Administration official said, that "the United States will give favorable consideration to the request." Mr. Hare said that a "limited number" of aircraft were involved.

In his statement, Mr. Hare said that the military sales policy had evolved from the British decision in 1968 to withdraw militarily from the Persian Gulf.

"It has been our policy," Mr. Hare said, "to encourage Iran, Saudi Arabia and Kuwait, and smaller states in the area to cooperate with one another to insure the security of the area."

He added: "Our sales of arms and services are not a sudden reaction to a new security concern or to the energy problem but rather a continuing response going back a number of years to their legitimate security requirements."

Israeli diplomats have spoken with State Department officials on several occasions about the large scale sales. The Israelis have argued that Washington has no way of enforcing its ban on unapproved transfers of United States arms.

In Tel Aviv, Foreign Minister Abba Eban said that the pending arms sales to Saudi Arabia and Kuwait "will definitely influence the balance of power in the middle east."

Defense Minister Moshe Dayan followed this by saying that sales of American arms to the Arab states would mean that "in the next 10 years we will be surrounded by a new and different military situation."

Israelis have asserted that in case of a worsened situation in the Middle East, Egypt would probably be able to count on support from Saudi Arabia and Kuwait. There have been reports in recent months that Libya's French-built Mirage fighter bombers have flown in and out of Egypt, even though Libya's sales agreement with France bars their use by a third country.

A senior Washington Administration official said that he expected the Israelis to make a major effort in coming weeks to draw public attention to the arms sales, particularly of the F-4's to Saudi Arabia.

But the official said that the deal would take a year to consummate and another year or two before delivery was accomplished. He refused to say how many planes were involved.

He said that the sale of the aircraft would not have any appreciable impact on the balance of power in the area. The Israelis, he said, will continue to have overwhelming superiority.

"HANDS-OFF" POLICY
TEL AVIV — Yitzhak Rabin, Israel's former Ambassador to the U.S., said here that America will maintain a "hands-off" policy in the event Egypt starts a new war against Israel. Rabin also expressed the belief that Washington would not tolerate intervention by any other world power thereby insuring that the conflict — if it comes — would remain a regional dispute with the adversaries being compelled to work out their own solution.

Memorial Fund Named For Eckstein

An award in memory of the late Louis A. Eckstein, formerly of 64 Miller Avenue, who died May 14, was presented to James Babcock at graduation exercises held on June 3 at the Nashoba Valley Technical High School in Westford, Massachusetts. The award was given Mr. Babcock in recognition of his outstanding work in the school's auto body department.

Mr. Eckstein, who spent 32 years in the auto body field, was the husband of the former Blanche Marcus of Milford, Massachusetts. His two daughters are Arlene Pepper of Chelmsford, Massachusetts, who is the school's librarian and multi-media specialist, and Paula Stein of Providence.

Books were also donated to the school's library in Mr. Eckstein's memory by the faculty and students of Nashoba Valley Technical High School.

A perpetual memorial fund has been founded by the family of Mr. Eckstein to help in the advancement of students pursuing a career in the auto body field. Contributions may be sent to the Louis A. Eckstein Memorial Fund, Nashoba Valley Technical High School, 100 Littleton Road, Westford, Massachusetts, or c/o Arlene Pepper, 7 Chatham Road, Chelmsford, Massachusetts 01824.

Israeli Chief Of Staff Denies Prisoner Torture

TEL AVIV — Israel's Chief of Staff, Lieut. Gen. David Elazar, denied that Syrian prisoners of war had been tortured while in Israeli hands.

The Syrian Defense Ministry charged that the men, part of an exchange for three Israeli pilots, had been tortured mentally and physically during their captivity. The accusation followed similar ones leveled against Syria by the Israeli airmen.

General Elazar said he presumed that the Damascus charges were intended to cover up earlier publicity given to the charges by the Israeli fliers. He said he had talked to five senior Syrian officers among the prisoners just before they were taken across the cease-fire line by international Red Cross representatives and they had told him they were well-treated.

Obituaries

ISRAEL CHERNICK

Funeral services for Israel Chernick, 84, a professional bail bondsman, of 14 Sargent Avenue, who died Monday after an illness of two months, were held the following day at the Sugarman Memorial Chapel. Burial was in Lincoln Park Cemetery.

The husband of the late Tillie (Berger) Chernick, he was born in Russia, a son of the late Abraham and Annie Chernick. He had lived in East Providence for more than 50 years before he moved to Providence six years ago.

Mr. Chernick over the years had posted bonds that enabled hundreds of defendants in criminal cases to remain free pending trial. The bondsman, who in early years was a bill collector and later served briefly as a sheriff, owned considerable property in the city's poorer neighborhoods.

On occasion over the years Mr. Chernick was barred temporarily from bonding persons by various judges. The usual reason was an excess of bail commitments over the value of his property. But Mr. Chernick managed after each such encounter to work his way back into the court's favor.

The bondsman, whose occupation was listed as the "insurance business" by his family, became known to thousands of criminal defendants over the years. They, in turn, paid him thousands of dollars for posting the bonds that enabled them to retain their freedom while awaiting trial on various charges.

Mr. Chernick in more recent years was a quiet figure so familiar in the state's court room that he blended in with the decor. But the early days of his career were more checkered.

Active in community affairs, Mr. Chernick was a member of Temple Emanu-El and the Jewish Home for the Aged. He also was a member of the Rhode Island Chapter of the International Police Chiefs Association.

He is survived by three sons, Melvin Chernick of Providence, Dr. Warren Chernick of Cherry Hill, New Jersey, and David Chernick of Cranston; three daughters, Frances Fishlock of Pawtucket, Rosalie Gilstein and Miss Ethyl Chernick, both of Providence; a sister, Anna Rakusin of Miami Beach, Florida; 15 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

NATHAN B. SHERMAN

Funeral services for Nathan B. Sherman, 78, of 429 Carrington Avenue, Woonsocket, who died Tuesday after a long illness, were held the same day at the B'nai Israel Synagogue. Burial will be in the B'nai Israel Cemetery in Woonsocket.

The husband of Sevia (Bernbaum) Sherman, he was born in Russia, a son of the late Eli and Reva (Friedman) Sherman. He came to this country in 1910 and settled in Woonsocket.

Mr. Sherman was a self-employed clothing salesman for 60 years. He was a member of Congregation B'nai Israel and B'nai B'rith of Woonsocket.

Besides his wife, he is survived by two sons, Harold S. Sherman of Woonsocket and Eugene M. Sherman of Hyattsville, Maryland; a brother, Jack Sherman of Chelsea, Massachusetts, and a sister, Bella Shaver of Providence.

M. LOUIS STEINGOLD

Funeral services for M. Louis Steingold of North Miami, Florida, formerly of Providence, who died May 31, were held Sunday at the Riverside Chapel in North Miami Beach. Burial was in Mt. Nebo Cemetery in Miami.

Mr. Steingold, who celebrated his 75th birthday six weeks ago, was the husband of the late Anna (Schaffer) Steingold. Born in Russia, the son of the late Harry and Leah Steingold, he came to this country approximately 65 years ago.

He had resided in Framingham, Massachusetts, before coming to Providence. In this city he was the owner of the Arena Motors Company on North Main Street for about 10 years before moving to Miami 19 years ago.

He had been a member of Congregation Ohave Sholam and of the B'nai B'rith in Pawtucket.

Survivors include two sons, Charles J. Steingold of Pawtucket, and Stuart Steingold of Sarasota, Florida; two daughters, Esther Kaplan of North Miami and Hermia Pobers of California; a brother, Charles Steingold of Providence; a sister, Mamie Garfinkel of Springfield, Massachusetts, and 10 grandchildren.

MRS. HELENE HEIMANN

Funeral services for Helene Heimann, 84, of 220 Olney Street, who died Monday after an illness of two months, were held the following day at Temple Sinai. Burial was in Sinai Memorial Park.

Born on November 21, 1888, she was a daughter of the late Franz and Rosa (Frierch) Weiss. She had come to Providence from her native Vienna, Austria, in 1951. Mrs. Heimann was a member of Rhode Island Selfhelp.

A widow, she leaves a son, Hans Heimann of Providence; a grandchild and a great-grandchild.

YourMoney's Worth

By Sylvia Porter

OSHA Makes The Front Page

American industry plans to spend an enormous $3.1 billion on equipment for employee safety and health this year, a 26 per cent jump above 1972 — with manufacturing industries alone spending $1.2 billion or 34 per cent more than last year to upgrade safety and health conditions.

Already, industry plans to spend a bigger amount in '76 than in '73 for improved employee safety and health, almost certainly telegraphing an explosion in this spending by the time '76 arrives. Of 26 major industries, 18 are scheduling higher spending for this area in 1976 than this year.

The 1970 Occupational Safety and Health Act (OSHA) may not only be one of the most important laws in history for the American worker's protection but it also "may be the most spectacular issue since the pollution problem hit the front page," says McGraw-Hill in releasing these pioneering statistics.

This is McGraw-Hill's first annual survey of American investment in employee safety and health. There has been a lot of fighting about health and safety in U.S. business facilities — but these are the first hard statistics ever compiled on which an intelligent controversy can be based.

And controversy it is — increasingly. Documentation on this is multiplying on every side.

* The Oil, Chemical & Atomic Workers union has presented a long list of health and safety demands to the major oil companies — and this union has struck one of the giant oil companies over health hazards, the first time in history a union has struck on this issue.

* Both consumer and citizen groups from coast to coast are becoming involved in confrontations on the issue, are conducting their own plant inspections and reporting health-safety hazards.

* The Scientists Committee on Occupational Health recently put together a 13-week course for paraprofessionals in occupational health at Rutgers University in New Jersey. The activist Chicago-based Medical Committee for Human Rights is switching from civil rights and antiwar activities to worker safety.

But while these developments underline the growing awareness among groups directly and deliberately involved, what about you? What do millions of you know about this law and your rights under it? The astonishing answer is "probably very little" — so here goes:

Q. How many workers are covered?

A. Some 57 million, about three out of four civilian workers in 4.1 million workplaces throughout the country.

Q. Who isn't covered?

A. Everybody is covered but workers (such as public employees and coal miners) covered by other Federal job safety programs.

Q. Are job trainees covered?

A. Yes. The precise same safety law provisions apply to workers in training as apply to workers on the job.

Q. Who sets the rules and enforces this law?

A. The Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA), based in Washington, is the key enforcement agency. OSHA has several hundred inspectors in the field, and if you report a complaint, it is up to these inspectors to visit your plant or office, explore the details and set the machinery in motion to right the situation. Inspectors are supposed to arrive unannounced.

Q. Where are the regional offices of OSHA?

A. In Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Atlanta, Chicago, Dallas, Kansas City (Mo.), Denver, San Francisco, Seattle.

Q. What happens to employers found violating the law?

A. They frequently are fined and required to eliminate the hazards. The law provides for fines up to $10,000 for violations and/or six months imprisonment. The law permits OSHA to go to the courts to have a dangerous workplace or a given dangerous operation within a company closed down until violations are cleared up.

Q. How can you pinpoint hazards in your workplace?

A. Some are hard for an ordinary individual to spot. But here are obvious potential hazards for which the U.S. Public Health Service suggests you be on the lookout in your workplace:

Dust, fumes, gases, vapors and mists which you breathe; radioactive materials, microwaves, lasers; drugs and hormones; molds, parasites or bacteria from animals or animal products; materials which irritate your skin; excessive noise.

Denies Immigrants Wish To Return

WASHINGTON — Rumors spread by Soviet officials and others that large numbers of Soviet Jewish immigrants in Israel wish to leave for other parts was firmly put down by Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

Testifying before the House Ways and Means Committee, Rogers said the number of immigrants dissatisfied with Israel and wishing to leave was "minuscule."

As with any nation where there is a large influx of immigrants, he said there are those who cannot make the adjustment. He complimented Israel on its absorption of the immigrants.

FROM FRIDAY TO FRIDAY*Achievements and Shortcomings

By BERYL SEGAL

Of the numerous articles we have read, published here and abroad, on the first twenty-five years of the State of Israel, the most impartial and most lucid was that written by Mordecai Tzannin, editor of the Yiddish newspaper in Israel, Die Letzte Neis (The Latest News).

Mr. Tzannin applies the method of an honest bookkeeper. He presents the assets on one side of the ledger and the debits on the other side and lets us, the readers, draw our own conclusions. The article appeared in the Forverts and is called "What Israel has attained and what it has not attained during the 25 years."

The objectives of the state, in the minds of the original builders of the land, were as follows:

1. Ingathering of Jews from all the corners of the globe and provide for them a home in Israel. Every Jew who arrives to Israel becomes a citizen of the land, enjoying all the privileges the state has to offer to its returning sons and daughters.

2. Blending all the Jews into one nation. From East and West, North and South, each will bring their cultures and standards of living to be remolded into a civilization unlike any other on earth — an Israeli civilization.

3. This new nation will be independent economically, self sufficient, self sustaining.

4. The Prophecy of Isaiah will not be empty words. The dream of peaceful coexistence with all its neighbors "in the end of days" will be pursued with all the might and heart and soul in our days.

Now let us see how many of these objectives have been attained by Israel and how many are still dreams; the assets and debits of the new state.

Israel today has a population of nearly three million. In 1948, at the creation of the state, the population was only 650 thousand. The new arrivals have come from the most primitive lands of Africa as well as from the highest intellectual and academic circles in the world. There were those who did not know the use of a bed, or table, or chair, and had to be shown how to apply a knife, a spoon and a fork, and also world renowned scientists and master musicians, all came in the same boat.

To expect a blending of such diverse civilizations in a twenty-five year period would be short of the miraculous. But the goal is forever kept in mind. The ideal has not been given up. Israel at peace will attain it sooner. Israel as it is now, no peace, no war, will take longer to reach that goal.

In education Israel has made tremendous strides. The land is now teeming with colleges and universities, teacher's institutes and agricultural schools, special seminars and community classes. It is safe to state that one-third of the population is now engaged in studying in the new state.

But so great is the gap between the various sections of the population that the backward cannot catch up with the more advanced, and there is in Israel the unfortunate cleavage between rich and poor, between privileged and underprivileged; between, what seems to some, favorite and unfavorite sons and daughters of the same land. An excellent hot-bed for "Black Panther" type of discontent.

Economic independence is an elusive goal. How can a country become self sufficient when it has fought three wars, and today maintains an enormous defense machine? How can the state become self sustaining when 50% of its income is spent in being ready to defend itself by land, sea and air? Who can talk of economic independence when every new immigrant, and no one, remember, is turned back once he reaches the land of Israel, costs nearly fifty thousand dollars?

Israel will depend for many, many more years on its greatest friend and ally in the world — the Jewish people all over the world. From them will come the thousands of newcomers, to make up its population, and from them will come the financial aid to integrate and to establish these newcomers. We must not forget that most of the newcomers bring to Israel nothing but what they can carry in their hand bags.

But the goal of peace with the neighbors is still a far away vision. Israel is still surrounded by enemies on all sides. The neighbors are suspicious of every move Israel makes. These suspicions are fed by fear and envy and misunderstanding, and are sustained by interests outside of the Arab countries.

There are indications as I write this that the United States is seeking peace in the Middle East, and that the USSR looks favorably at bringing the two sides together. Peace will come to that part of the world. Then will Israel develop her industry and her commerce; then will Israel employ all her resources to liquidate the economic and cultural difference in her population; then will Israel apply herself to the goal of one nation, one people, one civilization in one Republic of Israel.

May the time come soon.

Mrs. Jay S. Bilow

Temple Beth Torah was the scene of the wedding of Miss Sandra Ilene Levin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hyman Levin of 131 Massasoit Avenue, Cranston, to Jay Stephen Bilow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bilow of 12 Mount Avenue. Rabbi Saul Leeman and Cantor Jack Smith officiated at the 6 p.m. wedding held on Sunday, June 3.

Wearing a silk organza gown styled with Alencon lace and pearls and crystals, she was given in marriage by her father. A waist-length veil fell from a matching headpiece. She carried a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

Miss Patricia A. Machon, maid of honor, wore a pink polyester gown with an empire waist with pearl trimming. She carried a bouquet of spring flowers.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Paul Levin, sister-in-law of the bridegroom; Miss Sherrie L. Rosenfield, and Miss Sherry Bilow, sister of the bridegroom. They wore gowns similar to that of the matron of honor.

Sheldon Bilow served as best man for his brother. Ushers were Paul S. Levin, brother of the bride; Howard Bilow and Stanley Tragar. The couple will live in Cranston.

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Weinstein of Oceanside, Long Island, New York, announce the engagement of their daughter, Ellen Beth Weinstein, to Neil Mark Rubin of Morristown, New Jersey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Rubin of 113 Fairweather Avenue, Cranston.

Miss Weinstein is a graduate of Queens College in New York, and earned her Master's degree in Library Science at St. John's University.

Mr. Rubin was graduated from the University of Rhode Island and earned his Master's degree in Pharmacology at Northeastern University.

BROWN GRADUATES

Among the 1100 Brown University seniors who were graduated on June 4 were Barbara R. Feibelman, Judith B. Fox, and Dean Norman Temkin.

Miss Feibelman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Jack Feibelman of 11 Baldwin Orchard Drive, Cranston, received a Bachelor of Arts degree in art. At Brown she participated in the modern dance group and in various prison reform groups.

APARTMENTS EMPTY

TEL AVIV — Over half the apartments set aside by the Absorption Ministry for new immigrants in Jerusalem were empty in December, 1972, the State Comptroller stated in his annual report, adding that some of them had been empty for 13 months. Other rumors are circulating here, of apartments rented from private citizens by the Ministry of Absorption, which often remain empty for months at a time and the landlord keeps drawing rent for these periods.

WHITE NAACP

NEWARK — Sources have revealed the formation of a "White NAACP" to provide equal opportunity, counseling and legal aid to white ethnic groups. It's called the Center of Urban Ethnic Affairs in New Jersey. Its aim is to combat discrimination against "white ethnics" in middle and upper management jobs. "White ethnics" were defined as Italians, Poles, Greeks and Slavs. (Of course, the NAACP continues its efforts for Blacks. So that takes care of everybody except you know who.)

BRIDGE

By Robert E. Starr

Here is the second hand that I call a special situation type hand. This involves the bidding where one partner makes a certain bid that can only mean one thing but it must receive cooperation from the other player. It really ought not to provide any problem yet both times the bid was made the other day by the imaginative half of the partnership, the partner either misconstrued it or failed to uphold his end even if he did understand what was supposedly going on. My associate, Ruth Finkle, was one who made the bid and certainly deserved a far better fate than she received when her partner completely misread the bid and carried on to a sacrifice in that suit, a terrible disaster. Now, when she thinks about it, and this partner is fine player, she realizes how thoughtless she was and that the bid she thought it meant was impossible.

Mrs. Finkle was East, North-South vulnerable, East Dealer with this bidding:

2	4	P	P
4	Dbl	P	P

In this hand there is much to discuss about the bidding. Some Souths opened two Clubs with their powerhouse, not too bad a bid but a slight bit short, not enough to quibble about. Regardless, North responded positively over either that or the one Heart bid with her Spades. Some Easts preempted an opening bid of three Clubs as Dealer, in my opinion a poor bid as there is too much defense and not quite enough playing tricks. This hand is a much better overall.

As the bidding progressed as above, after East did overcall, South, with a solid suit and certainly enough for game opposite at least six points, the minimum North promised for her positive response, should jump right to game in Hearts, not a shut-out bid as some players seem to think for North had made an unlimited bid when she bid one Spade and could have had a good hand. In that case North could go on to Slam but with the minimum hand she did have North would have no reason to go on. Here is where the key bid came in. East could simply sit back as most did and pass. A couple, with favorable vulnerability, bid five Clubs as a sacrifice but all that did was force the opponents up one trick higher. When West dutifully led a Club, Declarer was easily able to make six by taking the Diamond finesse, usually East's return at trick two, drawing Trumps and then successfully finessing against West's Spade Queen. East showed out when South's Ace was played on the first lead of that suit. The losing Diamond went on the fourth Spade so all that was lost was their first Club.

I agree that East should try to take the sacrifice. One thing to always beware when doing this is that maybe you will force the opponents to a Slam that they might make. In this hand, the repeated Club bid will do just that as you can see. Yet East should be sure that she could safely take that sacrifice for that imaginative East knows just how to be able to take two tricks. The answer is to have her partner lead a Spade on the opening lead so that East can ruff it. This along with that Club Ace adds to two tricks.

To set the stage for this, instead of woodenly bidding five Clubs, Mrs. Finkle bid four Spades. If she was doubled there she would, of course, rescue herself in Clubs and now would either play there or let the opponents now outbid her in Hearts. Now the ideal situation, had her partner not had a blind spot, would have been to get the lead she called for, ruff it and get an absolute top for every other pair made six, too.

What did happen is that the opponents now went to that impossible now Slam but what did West do, she herself sacrificed at six Spades misconstruing her partner's Spade bid as a suit bid. Now they had to play the hand in seven Clubs doubled down a million. Could this Spade bid by East have been a suit? Hardly, for North had already bid Spades before this. It had to be just what it was, a lead directing bid made for a definite reason. The other East who bid those Spades received a Club lead from his partner anyhow so he also deserved a better deal. To be sure, both Wests were chastised by East, quite deservedly so. Both Easts had made a fine bid when they do not have that many opportunities to do so and had it go to waste.

Moral: Some bids, as the above, just can't mean what they sound like. Thank of all the ramifications before woodenly accepting it at its face value.

Mr. Talan, 24, is a chemical engineer with Texas Instruments in Attleboro, Massachusetts, where he works on ecological recycling of solid waste. He is a graduate of Classical High School and the University of Rhode Island, and attended courses at UCLA while he was in the army.

While at URI, he was active in Hillel and conducted the Friday evening services for students. He was also a member of the Young Republicans and served on the Anti Strike Coordinating Committee and the Presidential Commission to Study the Placement Office.

Mr. Talan is a member of Temple Beth Israel, as well as of the Ninth Ward Republican Committee and the R.I. Chapter of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers. He is assistant scoutmaster for Boy Scout Troop 17, sponsored by the Elks Lodge on Elmwood Avenue.

He lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Talan.

News of the Sports World by Warren Walden

Hello Again!

TIME! Someone said, "Time is more than money; it is life, itself." And there just isn't enough of it for keeping up with the busy sports schedule. Here it is June and we're just preparing to enjoy the cool, refreshing, effervescent waters for ocean bathing; the baseball season is just beginning to be interesting; and lo and behold, out come the New England Patriots with their schedule for football.

TIME WAS: Once upon a time, the story went, "The chill of Fall in the air, the colorful leaves of autumn and the sound of the cleated shoe against the pigskin." It was Fall and it was the football season. Not so now. The Patriots will open their season on August 5, playing Oakland in an exhibition before the regular schedule. In fact, they'll play again on August 12 and September 2 before their regular season starts on September 16. August 5! Warm, sultry, humid and called "Dog Days." And the tickets? Order them, first come, first served, etc., by sending your money order to: The New England Patriots, Schaefer Stadium, Ticket Office, Foxboro, Massachusetts 02035. And add 50 cents for postage and handling. Oh, the price of tickets? Only $8 for sideline reserved and $5 for end zones. No wonder they can pay those fabulous salaries, eh.

BOWLING: The 19th Annual National Duckpin All Star Championships will get under way on June 16 at Holiday Lanes in Manchester, Connecticut. A big event and big interest for all duckpin keglers; bowling moving into the big promotion category; festivities starting with a "Welcome Breakfast" with bowling officials, State and Town representatives being present. They'll be busily spilling the pins from the start at 3 p.m. until the late, late hours on Saturday, Sunday and also Monday. Director Henry C. Duquette of Providence will group the bowlers for the third round on Sunday and "Duke" will be wearing out his pencils right through the "finals" that are scheduled to start at 8 o'clock Monday night. And so, if you are a duckpin enthusiast, it's an opportunity for watching some sharp shooters in action. You'll also have an opportunity for competing in the "Star-AM Tournament" on June 14 and 15 which has been scheduled for public participation.

CONGRATULATIONS: Club Champion five times and the first member of Legemont to win a R.I. State Golf Championship. That's Mrs. Estelle Wolfson who was awarded the "Wally Sundlun Jr. Trophy" by the R.I. Jewish Bowling Congress. Also congrats to Zip Danese, winner of the "Bert Summer Award" for service to sports, by the Congress.

INTERESTING NOTE: It happened at the Wallum Lake Rod and Gun Club Championship Open Trap Shooting Competition. Susan Ayles defended her title to the Ladies Crown in outshooting her mother, Ella. It was a close battle but daughter had 90x100 and mother scored 88x100. Ah yes, we've had father and son teams such as Jed and Arnold Jones and Allan and Kenny Steinhardt, in tennis — but — daughter versus mother — seems to be News.

COACHES: A new one for the R.I. Reds. It's a long list. Get young hockey tongues wagging while recalling "Battleship" Leduc, Bun Cook, John Mitchell, Yank Boyd, Terry Reardon, Johnny Crawford, Pat Egan and who were the others?

SAYS ARNOLD PALMER: Don't worry about and work on technique on the course, soliciting or accepting advice from a partner. The practice tee is the place for that, preferably with the course pro.

PERPETUAL MOTION: People have been searching for it for years. They've also been figuring and figuring ways to "beat the horses." From "Horseman's Journal" comes a story of the "Kel-Co Class Calculator," invented by Mike Cox and Dr. Alton Kelsey, the latter a Brown U. alumnus. You can buy one for $25. It will enable you to win at the horse tracks, so they say. Exciting, isn't it? Suppose everyone had one? I wonder how it figures that in pari-mutual wagering, somebody has to lose — somebody does. Utopia! Being successful without effort; making money without working! Oh well — CARRY ON!

NEW IMMIGRANTS

JERUSALEM — Several new immigrants from Russia were among the group of persons who attacked a shop reportedly selling missionary tracts here last February, according to a young American girl who turned state's witness. Jeanne Coulton said she and a group of Jewish Defense League members — including the former Russians — came to Jerusalem on the request of the JDL secretary.

TO CONTINUE STUDY OF MUSIC: Rhonda Ellen Luftman of Providence, flautist and treasurer of the Young People's Symphony of Rhode Island, is shown receiving the Mount Pleasant Lions Club Award from Dr. Joseph Conte, music director of the YPSRI, at the May 20 concert of the group. Miss Luftman, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Luftman of 75 Taft Avenue, will graduate, cum laude, from Classical High School this month. She plans to continue her study of music at McGill University in Montreal, Canada.

Only In America

By Harry Golden

Ethel's Finest Hour

Ethel Barrymore belonged to the royal family of the American theater. She never had a written contract with Mr. Frohman, her manager (can you imagine anyone not keeping an agreement with Ethel Barrymore?). Miss Barrymore had no "grievances." She was on top, ready to go into rehearsals for DeClasse, her greatest triumph. The world of art was at her feet.

It was 1919 and the actors had gone out on strike. Then this great lady made her statement:

"While my entire theatrical career has been associated with but one management from whom I have received only fairness and consideration, I feel that ... traditions of my family ... and I therefore associate myself with the members of my profession in the Actors' Equity Association ... and shall join the picket line."

Hundreds of hungry actors literally wept for joy as they heard Miss Barrymore's statement. People cried and hugged each other, and on the day Ethel Barrymore walked into the Equity headquarters, the striking men and women tried to kiss the hem of her skirt.

Out of that strike grew Actors' Equity Association, one of the best and most admired trade unions in America.

The president of Equity does not draw a six-figure salary, nor does he live in union-supported ranch house and talk every day with a union-paid broker. The president of Equity is an actor and the incumbent is that fine gentleman, Ralph Bellamy.

The executive secretary who runs the business of this union is, of course, a professional man, but almost all other officers of this union are working actors.

The strike which led to the formation of Equity was a bitter one. For months the proprietor of the Algonquin Hotel, Frank Case, fed the hungry actors, and thereby earned their undying gratitude, and made the Algonquin a New York landmark.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Misinformation Abounds

Q: We have recently been told it is possible to buy Federal Notes redeemable about every three months which are tax exempt. Could you tell us about these notes? H.D.

A: Your informant has his facts somewhat confused. The U.S. Treasury finances its fiscal operations through the sale of short-term three month, six month, nine month and one year bills. Treasury Notes, with maturities of one to seven years, are usually offered in the government's quarterly refunding operations. Longer term Treasury Bonds are frequently included in these offerings. As far as tax exemption is concerned, interest is taxable by the federal government but not by state or local taxing authorities.

Treasury bills, in three and six month maturities, are sold at auction each Monday. Interest, which is discounted, is currently about 6.8% on three month T bills. Sold only in "bearer form," i.e., payable to the bearer, the minimum denomination is $10,000. These debt instruments may be purchased directly from a Federal Reserve Bank or branch office.

Q: We have 1,500 shares of CLC of America (NYSE) which has gone down substantially. Should we sell and take the heavy loss or keep and wait for recovery. W.K.

A: Because of flood conditions, highly profitable barge operations were curtailed during April and restricted during part of May. This was reflected in the third quarter when revenues were off 1% and earnings rose only 16% year to year. However, for the nine months net rose 29% and the management estimate of $1.15 a share for the year appears possible despite the flood-reduced barge operations.

CLC (formerly Consolidated Leasing) transports mobile homes primarily from factory to dealer, an area which contributed 42% of revenues and 41% of pre-tax net. From marine transportation, CLC derives 17% of revenues but 49% of pre-tax income. Other activities include rental and lease of cars, mobile units and trucks and distribution of construction machinery. At less than 6X projected earnings shares are rated hold.

Speculative Natural Gas Issue Rated Hold

Q: May I have your opinion on Dorchester Gas (OTC) of which I hold 800 shares at a cost of $3.80

The selling shareholders may be officers or directors of the company, an estate executor, an institution or an individual holding a large block. On occasion, a combination distribution will include both secondary and newly issued shares.

Although large blocks may change hands without the service of an investment banker — particularly among institutional holders — an underwriter is generally employed in order to provide a broader market distribution for the shares. The impact of this additional supply of stock on the trading level depends on the offering price, the size of the distribution compared with the floating supply of stock previously available and the climate of the overall market.

Q: Last fall I purchased 100 shares of Caldor, Inc. (ASE) at 17½. I watched it decline and bought another 100 at 12½. Do you think if this stock is held it will eventually recover? E.H.

A: Caldor opened two new 85,000 to 90,000 sq.ft. units in March raising the number of outlets to 23. Five additional stores are scheduled for opening by the year end. Share price action has been disappointing, reflecting general market conditions as well as flat earnings reported for fiscal 1972. While sales improved 14%, income rose only 1% in the year ended January 31, 1973. Management disclosed that for the first three months of the current fiscal year sales advanced 21% while earnings rose 24% to 8 cents a share.

Caldor's sales mix in fiscal 1972 was 69% hard goods, 31% soft goods. The latter category, which carries higher profit margins, was upgraded from 23% four years earlier. Continued penetration of this area is one of management's goals. A higher than industry average for sales per square foot has been achieved by this well-run discount store chain. Shares should be held for gradual recovery.

Only 15% Need Change Of Job

JERUSALEM — Some 85 percent of Soviet olim with university training find employment in their own fields and only 15 percent need to change their work, according to a report submitted to a session of the Jewish Agency Board of Governors meeting here. Sixty-six percent of Soviet olim over 18 years old are working within one year of aliya, compared with 52 percent of other olim.

The report also stated that 77 percent of Soviet olim are satisfied with jobs compared with 62 percent of other olim and 53 percent of the Soviet olim settled on the coastal plain, 38 percent in development towns and 8 percent in Jerusalem.

COMPLETES YEAR: Samuel A. Rothberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Rothberg of Richland Avenue, Cranston, is completing his year in Israel program at the Jerusalem School of the Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion, America's oldest Reform rabbinic seminary. Mr. Rothberg was graduated from the University of Rhode Island in 1972, cum laude, with a BA in sociology. At the end of this academic year, he plans to continue to tour Israel for a number of weeks and possibly work with youth in a summer camp. He will continue his rabbinic studies at Hebrew Union College's Cincinnati, Ohio, campus.

Kissinger Reportedly Received Assurances On Jewry In USSR

WASHINGTON — Leonid I. Brezhnev, the Soviet Communist party leader, was reported last week to have told Henry A. Kissinger last month in Moscow that the Soviet Union would permit Jews to emigrate at the current rate of 36,000 to 40,000 a year and that the education tax on emigration would remain suspended.

In addition, according to Jewish-organization officials and diplomatic sources in touch with the White House, Mr. Brezhnev accepted from Mr. Kissinger a list of about 1,000 "hardship" cases, including 42 Jews imprisoned on charges relating to their efforts to go to Israel, and said he would look into their cases.

The list, including background information on the various individuals, was compiled by American Jewish groups and was given to Mr. Kissinger, President Nixon's adviser on national security, in an unpublicized meeting before Mr. Kissinger went to Moscow in early May.

Mr. Kissinger's trip, May 4 to 8, was devoted to a discussion of Mr. Brezhnev's trip to the United States, and to preparing the agenda for his talks with Mr. Nixon.

Mr. Brezhnev is to meet with Mr. Nixon June 18 to 26, with most of the talks in Washington or nearby Camp David. The exact itinerary for Mr. Brezhnev has not yet been worked out.

In a news conference on May 12, after his return from Moscow, Mr. Kissinger avoided discussing the details of his talks with Mr.

Trinity Announces

Plans For Season

Plans for its 10th Jubilee Season, beginning in September, have been announced by Trinity Square Repertory Company. Eight plays make up the first series of offerings at the newly renovated Lederman Theatre Project, formerly the Majestic Theatre.

According to Trinity's general manager, Daniel B. Miller, the old vaudeville house now contains two performing spaces. The New Trinity Playhouse downstairs will seat approximately 250 and the Lederman Theatre upstairs will accommodate up to 800 audience members.

For the beginning of their first season, there will be three productions upstairs and five downstairs.

Works under consideration include Albee's A Delicate Balance, Shaw's Misalliance, Brecht's Mother Courage, Chekhov's The Sea Gull, Shakespeare's As You Like It and new comic and dramatic pieces by writers such as Jean Claude Van Itallie, Gabriel Gladstone, James Schevill, Israel Horowitz and Arthur Laurents.

Further information may be obtained by calling the Trinity Square box office at 351-4242.

Brezhnev on the controversial question of Soviet Jews, but he said, "You can assume that whenever we meet an occasion is found to bring this to the attention of the Soviet leaders."

The efforts of many Soviet Jews to gain permission to emigrate freely to Israel has aroused considerable concern among American Jewish groups and in Congress.

Trade Concession Opposed

A majority in each house of Congress has threatened to block the passage of trade legislation giving the Soviet Union tariff concessions — called the most-favored-nation treatment — unless Moscow allows free emigration and drops a tax on educational attainment levied on emigrants to Israel.

As the result of this pressure, the Soviet leaders informed Mr. Nixon in April that the education tax had been suspended and that emigration levels would remain at current levels. During the meeting with Mr. Kissinger, Mr. Brezhnev reaffirmed those assurances, and cited the 36,000 to 40,000 figure for current and future emigration.

Leaders of Jewish organizations, who were informed of the talks, attached importance to the fact that Mr. Brezhnev accepted the list of 1,000 "hardship" cases.

One prominent leader of a major organization, who asked not to be named, said he expected some "radical developments" benefiting Soviet Jews before Mr. Brezhnev's arrival in the United States.

He said he thought that many of the "hardship" cases might be allowed to leave, or that some or all of the 42 prisoners would be pardoned and allowed to go to Israel.

'Let's Wait and See'

Other Jewish leaders were more skeptical. One said in a telephone conversation, "Let's wait and see."

Before 1971, Jewish emigration had averaged about 2,000 a year. In 1971, Soviet authorities allowed about 13,500 to emigrate and last year the figure rose to 30,000. In general, Soviet citizens are not permitted to travel freely and exit visas are usually difficult to secure.

At present, the National Conference on Soviet Jewry, which represents 34 major American Jewish organizations and 270 other Jewish groups, plans to sponsor a "Freedom Assembly for Soviet Jews" in Washington on June 17, the day before Mr. Brezhnev's official visit begins.

In addition, there will be vigils outside the Soviet Embassy and local meetings in other cities.

But leaders have said they had no plans to picket or to protest Mr. Brezhnev's visit unless the situation in the Soviet Union changes for the worse.

Community Hebrew High School To Hold Graduation Saturday

Cigars

I have been smoking cigars for about 30 years. I have gone without many things in my time, but I cannot recall a single day in all those years that I have been without a cigar.

Naturally during the years I have been pestered by the "why-don't-you-buy-them-wholesale"

I have successfully resisted their arguments. I have never bought a box of cigars in my life. The only time I've had a box of cigars intact is when someone gave me a present. I buy three cigars at a time, and make my purchases two or three times a day at a drugstore, a restaurant, a newsstand, or in a hotel lobby. There is no "ritual" business. I buy them when I need them and wherever I happen to be at the moment.

Thus, during the course of any week, I will have made cigar purchases in at least eight different establishments — the establishments of neighbors in my community, in my city. This is good. Multiply that by 52 weeks and you'll realize how really good it is!

Over the years I've made a dozen new friends, and have seen many hundreds of new people and have heard many fine stories and anecdotes.

What in the world is better than to go into a business establishment, put some money on the counter, and buy the man's merchandise? Nothing is better than that. It is good for me. It is good for him. It does something for the morale.

I operate the same way with the newsdealers. I buy about $10 worth of newspapers and magazines each week. Except for those few publications which they do not carry here, I have never bought a subscription in my life.

Here again, I buy from three or four newsstands and dealers, without any set plan, just where I happen to be when I want to pick up something. Phooey on these pretty girls who come around to your office and sell you nine subscriptions for a dollar down. If I were a dealer I wouldn't handle the merchandise of a firm which competed with their own distributors under such unfair conditions.

TO INVESTIGATE CRASH
TEL AVIV — The Air Force appointed a special committee to investigate the plane crash which destroyed a Sephardic synagogue in Kiryat Tivon, a town east of Haifa. It was disclosed that the plane was a jet interceptor but the type was not identified. The pilot who bailed out was uninjured. He landed in a bush area and was able to walk to a car. He said he was the only occupant of the plane. The investigation was described as a routine measure taken whenever a mishap occurs within the armed forces. The synagogue building was empty at the time of the crash and no persons were injured.

Lebanese President Meets With Guerrilla Chief

BEIRUT, Lebanon — President Suleiman Franjeh of Lebanon met last Friday with Yasir Arafat, the chief Palestinian guerrilla leader, in a gesture of reconciliation following the fighting here last month between the army and the guerrillas.

The meeting, arranged through Sheik Sabah Al-Ahmad al-Jaber, the Foreign Minister of Kuwait, who was here on a mediation mission, was the first between Mr. Franjeh and Mr. Arafat since fighting broke out on May 2.

Premier Amin Hafez of Lebanon called the session a "great development that is fruit of efforts to normalize the situation." He said that he had been personally representing the Lebanese Government in a "supreme joint committee" with Palestinian guerrilla leaders that had been formed to control relations between the 300,000 Palestinians here and the Lebanese authorities.

A cease-fire between the two sides went into effect on May 9 and has been maintained by a joint committee of the Lebanese Army and the guerrilla organizations that took part in the fighting.

There have been a few violations of the truce agreement, in which guerrillas were not to appear outside refugee camps bearing arms. Some vehicles that have been intercepted by Lebanese security forces were found to be carrying sizable amounts of arms and ammunition.

There was also a moment of tension recently when three Lebanese soldiers were kidnapped near Saida by members of the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine, a Marxist guerrilla group, in protest against the arrest of one of its members. But the soldiers were released after the joint committee intervened and the incident was closed.

There have been no public indications, however, that the guerrillas have removed their heavy arms from the major camps where the fighting took place. This was originally demanded by the Lebanese authorities.

Syrian Border Closed

Sheik Sabah, who visited Damascus, the Syrian capital, before arriving here, has been trying to obtain an agreement by which Syria would reopen the border with Lebanon. Damascus closed the boundary in support of the Palestinians during the fighting.

The closing of the border to traffic from Lebanon to other Arab countries, particularly Syria and Saudi Arabia, has damaged Lebanon's trade.

Nuclear Pacemaker Implanted In Israeli

TEL AVIV — The first nuclear pacemaker implant operation in Israel has been performed at the Beilinson Hospital by a team of surgeons led by Prof. Maurice Levy, the surgeon who performed the first heart transplant operation in Israel.

The pacemaker was implanted in the body of a 45-year-old man whose name was withheld. A spokesman for the U.S.-based Meditronic Co. which produces the device said that the lifetime of such a pacemaker is more than 10 years compared to 2-3 years for a conventional pacemaker. Previous pacemaker implants in Israel have been mainly in older patients. Today's implant was the first in a relatively young patient.

Jerusalem Arabs Stage Strike On Anniversary Of 1967 War

JERUSALEM — Arab shopkeepers in East Jerusalem staged a brief general strike this week to mark the sixth anniversary of the six-day war, but Israeli soldiers moved in quickly and forced all but a handful to reopen their stores.

Ten militant shopkeepers who refused to reopen were arrested, but a police spokesman said that no charges would be lodged against them.

The strike was the first organized general protest in East Jerusalem in more than four years. It appeared to reflect the noticeable increased militancy among West Bank Arabs since the Israeli commando raid on Beirut in April in which three Palestinian leaders were assassinated. One, Kemal Naser, was a native of the West Bank.

Shops Are Marked

Israeli soldiers with buckets of black paint marked the front of about 20 stores with an X in a circle — a symbol that in past years meant the shops would be closed and their goods confiscated. The purpose this time seemed to be to intimidate the shopkeepers.

A few scattered roadblocks were set up by Arabs in the former Jordanian sector of the city and a Palestinian flag was raised above the Old City Walls.

The police said that about 30 cars had been painted with the slogan: "Palestine is Arab."

Unlike the informal and haphazard protest staged by some shopkeepers on May 7, when Israel's Independence Day parade marched through the former Jordanian sector of Jerusalem, this demonstration had been well prepared.

Perhaps because of firm Israeli warnings in advance, only a few scattered incidents were reported in the occupied West Bank area. Nails were strewn across the main street of Nablus, a few shops were shattered in Ramallah and Palestinian flags were raised here and there. But no serious incidents or violence were reported.

'72 Military Exports $36 Million Over 1971

TEL AVIV — Israel's military industry experts last year reached $108 million — $36 million more than the previous year. This was reported this week by military industry chiefs who said that 50 countries purchase the products of the Israeli military industry.

The details were given at a preview of the military industry pavilion at Israel's economic and industrial exhibition which opened here. Israel's industrial and economic progress through the 25 years of statehood will be exhibited at the pavilion. Israel's "Gabriel" missile is on public display for the first time at the stand of the Israeli aircraft industry side-by-side with the civilian and military versions of the Arava planes and the Commodore jet executive plane. Marine radar and airfield radar installations are also displayed.
