Blast Victim Is Identified

WEST GERMANY: The body of the dead man whose suitcase bomb exploded killing two people in a Tel Aviv airport over a week ago has been identified by West Germany's Federal Criminal Office as a 25-year-old West German, Ternd Hausmann.

According to a statement issued by that office, Mr. Hausmann has been known to German police since 1969, when he was charged with disturbing the peace. His name had been earlier reported as "Hugo Miller," based on papers found on his body.

Mr. Hausmann was accused of attempted robbery in 1972 and his fingerprints were on file.

Records show that Mr. Hausmann was born in the Ruhr industrial area town of Wuppertal on July 1, 1950.

NEW RECREATION AREA

JERUSALEM: The Jewish National Fund's latest "active recreation area," which opened last month at En Zetim near Safed, was a focal point for outdoor holidaying during the Independence Day break recently. The area is the third of its type in Israel — all planned and executed by JNF. The other two are at Bet Shemen, between Jerusalem and Tel Aviv, and in the hills of Menashe, north of Haifa.

The site was the special project of Australia's JNF. The active recreation includes various installations for climbing, jumping, acrobatics, vaulting, balancing and tests of strength. The sites also have picnic areas, sports fields, parking lots and sanitary facilities. They are all sections of larger JNF forests, landscaped into the wooded scenery.

Strike At Jewish Home For Aged Ends; Meeting Planned For Today

Irving Kronenberg, executive director of the Jewish Home for the Aged, feels that he must thank the many people who helped the Home during its recent crisis.

"My profound thanks to my non-union staff, to the families and relatives of our residents who have been so cooperative and to the many men and women in the community and gave so generously of their time and energy at all hours of the day and night in jobs ranging from direct patient care to the cleaning of floors and bathrooms, to the preparation and serving of meals and assisted in the operation of the laundry service. There are too many to thank individually."

Mr. Kronenberg's thanks came after Local 1199 of the National Union of Hospital and Health Care Employees had gone on strike at the Home.

The union, on Monday, May 31, had voted 90 to 11 to strike the Home. Mr. Kronenberg at the time called the strike "absolutely ridiculous and unnecessary." The Home's three-year contract with the union had expired at midnight on Monday. Mr. Kronenberg explained that he has asked the union to wait for a week until the Home had been able to assess its resources.

The Home, a nonprofit organization, had an operating budget this fiscal year of $1,685,000. State reimbursements totaled $1,250,000. The Home faced a deficit of $435,000. All but $50,000 was made up through donations to the Home and by donations from individuals and organizations.

Last week the state increased its reimbursement share to private health care facilities like the Jewish Home. Mr. Kronenberg said the increase amounts to $100,000 and all of that amount will probably be eaten up in employee pay.

The strike was called off at 7 a.m. on Wednesday and the union and Home officials are supposed to meet this morning, Friday, June 4.

A third of the 158 patients at the Home had been moved out of the facility and there were arrangements made to move the rest out if necessary. According to Mr. Kronenberg, on Wednesday about 10 or 12 of the people who had been sent home had returned and he was expecting more back.

The agreement between the union and the Home will have to take into consideration benefits, pensions and wages. About 135 employees were involved in the walkout including nurses' aides, orderlies and LPNs.

Mr. Kronenberg says that he doesn't anticipate any problems and hopes that any issues which may turn up will be solved. He hopes there may be increases within the new revenue which is available to the Home from the state. "We can't give away more than we have," said Mr. Kronenberg.

Sugarman President Of Touro Fraternal Assoc.

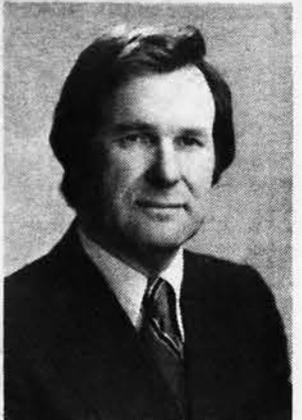

Mitchell Sugarman of Providence has been elected president of the 1,000-member Touro Fraternal Association, the largest independent Jewish fraternal order in the east.

Mr. Sugarman was elected at the association's 58th annual elections held at its headquarters in Cranston recently. The installation and inaugural ball will be held Saturday, June 5, at the Chateau DeVillie in Warwick.

Other officers elected were Robert N. Waldman of Pawtucket, vice president; Charles Coken of Providence, secretary; Gerald D. Hodosh of Cranston, treasurer, and Thomas R. Bornstein, chaplain, Gerald N. Pepper, faithful guide, and Gerald Rubin, inside guard, all of Warwick.

Five incumbent members of the association's board of directors whose terms expired this year succeeded in their bids for reelection to three-year terms. They were Simon Chorney of Barrington, Nathan Lury of Cranston, Ben Rabinowitz of Providence, Wallace H. Serge of Warwick and Samuel H. Wilk of Pawtucket.

Presiding at the installation ceremonies June 5 will be Arthur Poulten, installing officer, and Morton L. Coken, master of ceremonies. Both men are Cranston residents and both are past presidents and current members of the association's board of directors.

The new Touro president-elect is the son of the late Max Sugarman, a charter member of the association and a member of its board of directors for 35 years. He is also one of four brothers who are currently members of Touro. For the past year Mr. Sugarman has served as vice president of the association.

This election marks a milestone for Charles Coken, the association's secretary. On June 5, he will be installed for his 30th consecutive term as secretary.

Israel Plans To Settle More Arab Land In Future Years

JERUSALEM: Government officials have reported recently that Israel is drawing up plans for the establishment of a large number of new settlements in occupied Arab territory over the next several years.

The settlements, which are to be located in the Golan Heights, the Jordan Valley, the West Bank of the Jordan and the Rafah area of the Gaza Strip, are to range from small agricultural villages to industrial towns. There are already 68 Israeli settlements in occupied territory.

One official said "more than a dozen" new settlements are being contemplated, while others said it would eventually include several dozen. Officials declined to disclose the exact number or precise locations of these settlements.

Settling to Intensify Each new settlement will have to be approved by the Government before it is established. But this is largely a formality.

Black Judaic Converts Form Own Congregation

NEW YORK—An interracial Jewish congregation, made up mostly of Black converts to Judaism, was formed in the Crown Heights Section of Brooklyn last September under Orthodox auspices, according to its founder and president, Robert Coleman, a one-time Baptist leader who was converted about 10 years ago.

Coleman said that the new congregation is considered interracial because several Blacks and white couples are members, as are 16 single white males. He said 20 families, totalling 60 men, women and children, and including the 16 single men, make up Congregation Zichron Rabbi Eliezer Meskin, named in memory of an Orthodox rabbi who converted the Colemans and other Blacks to Judaism.

Coleman reiterated an assertion he made publicly in 1970 that most Black Americans claiming to be Jews, who have formed congregations, lacked Halachic validity for their claims. Estimates were then made that there were more than 15,000 Black Jews in the United States.

In announcing the Crown Heights congregation, Coleman, a former staff member of the Synagogue Council of America, asserted that while there were other Black Jewish "synagogues" in the United States, only the Crown Heights congregation met Halachic requirements. He said every adult member who was a convert had been converted by an Orthodox rabbi.

Mohammed, and 'The People of the Book'

By DR. JAY N. FISHBEIN

Mohammed gathered an army and marched on Mecca in 630 C.E. On news of his advance the inhabitants deserted the city and Mohammed marched through the empty streets directly to the sacred Temple. The idols were torn down and smashed, but the soldiers were prevented from plundering. When the populace saw that the entry was peaceful, they returned and willingly accepted Mohammed as their Prophet. Since the spring Zem Zem and the black stone were considered sacred by the people, they were incorporated into the new religion.

Following the method of Jesus, Mohammed selected twelve followers as his disciples, appointing them his Apostles, and sent them out to convert the neighboring tribes. The Bedouins proved indifferent and converts few. He soon found that conversion by the sword was faster than by the Koran. The desert tribes were favorably impressed, as considerable booty was obtained by raiding caravans, and they soon became willing converts. Fighting and raiding was a way of life, and the promise of loot was a strong incentive.

By the time Mohammed died two years later, his mission was accomplished. All of Arabia was united under his banner. As the illiterate Peter was followed by the energetic and capable administrator Paul in the Christian faith, so the illiterate Mohammed was followed by his able and loyal lieutenant, Abu Bakr, who succeeded as First Caliph. Under his leadership the spread of Islam by the sword was incredibly swift.

Damascus fell in 635 C.E. Jerusalem was taken the following year. A year later the Euphrates region, which is now Iraq. Egypt capitulated in 640 and the Moslem armies swept to the very borders of India. They then turned their direction west and all of northern Africa and even Spain fell to their arms. Their power grew and remained undisputed for centuries. When Europe entered the Dark Ages, it was in Islam that science and learning were kept alive. Islam evolved a brilliant culture of its own. The 9th, 10th and 11th centuries were the Golden Age of Islam. It loomed as a religious monolith astride three continents—from Spain and Morocco to the Malacca Strait.

As the Moslems were emerging as a world power, four classes arose: the aristocracy, the masses, various categories of foreigners who had the power of their governments behind them and whom the Moslems hesitated to antagonize; trailing last was the Jew, who was helpless and tolerated only upon payment of a special tax. The Jew could obtain relief from this oppressive burden by conversion, and some, particularly those living in isolated areas, occasionally did.

In two decades the first three Caliphs, Abu Bakr, Omar and Othman extended their conquests from India to Europe. They advanced so rapidly that they had little time to convert or even govern, and were content on extracting tribute. Thousands of these conquered subjects willingly embraced this new dynamic faith. An added incentive was that Moslems were exempt from tax payments. The rulers were benign as they preferred docile subjects that would pay taxes and not remain a danger in the rear of the advancing armies. They threatened Europe and were finally halted at Tours by the Franks in 732, a century after Mohammed's death, in one of the decisive battles of history, and Europe was saved for Christianity.

At the present time Islam is divided into 72 denominations and there is great divisiveness in the Moslem world. The only bond uniting them is a common hatred of Israel and the desire for its destruction. During the period of the British Mandate when an Arab witness tried to denigrate the Jews, declaring that they were not Jews at all, but Khazars or Tartars, it was Weizmann who answered with great simplicity. "I feel like a Jew and suffered like a Jew. We have been told we are only dealers in old clothes and junk. That may be true, but we are also descendants of Prophets. It's hard to be a Jew. It's still harder to be a Zionist. It is particularly hard to be a Zionist and live in Israel." Chaim Weizmann was a remarkable man. He was a perceptive individual, and apparently was gifted with the vision that enabled him to see into the future. However, even he could not have foreseen that one day the Arabs would equate Zionism with Racism.

While England was leaving no stone unturned in its efforts to reverse the decision of the United Nations on partition, and the chief U.S. delegate, Warren R. Austin proposed that partition be suspended, it was Chaim Weizmann who wrote President Truman: "The choice of our people is between statehood and extermination. Providence has placed this issue in your hands." Because of his high regard for Weizmann, Truman came through, and the State of Israel was saved. The dangers facing Israel today are as great as they were then, but unfortunately Ford is no Truman.

There is no evidence to indicate that Mohammed had ever been in Palestine, but when the Moslem hordes emerged from the desert, intent on world conquest, the huge mysterious stone on the site of Solomon's Temple intrigued them, and the legend grew that Mohammed ascended to heaven from this giant rock on his white steed, El Burak. Moslem guides in the beautiful structure that was erected to house it, called the Dome of the Rock or the Mosque of Omar, point out where the hoof of the horse left a permanent imprint.

A different guide on another visit pointed out the stone as the site where Hebrew priests per-

FROM FRIDAY TO FRIDAY

By BERYL SEGAL

Unlike the other Executive Directors in our community institutions—The Miriam Hospital, the Home for the Aged, the Community Center, the Family & Children's Service, the Bureau of Jewish Education and the Federation of Rhode Island—Joseph Galkin is the only Providence native son who made good in Social Service.

Joseph Galkin is also the only Social Worker who served the community from 1942 to the present time, a period of 34 years. This is a record for anyone who is engaged in community affairs. What is the secret of this endurance record? First of all, his credentials. After graduating from Brown University he tried his wings in New York City, a magnet for every young man. He received his degree in the Graduate School of Social Science and was engaged by the New York Board of Guardians as a psychiatric worker among problem children.

The National Refugee Service, at that time the largest social service agency in the country, called upon Mr. Galkin to be their Field Director, and he assisted in the resettlement of thousands of refugees from European countries. In this capacity Galkin traveled widely to various communities in the country and had the opportunity to observe their social structure. A good training in Social Science in itself. Then came the call from Providence to head the Family & Children's Service in 1942.

This was a chance to apply all that he had learned and observed in other cities. It was also his chance to reunite with his large family and his friends in Providence. As director of the agency in Providence he exhibited his capacity to work with the Board members instead of working under them. He was fortunate in having men and women who were deeply interested in the newly formed organization, an organization formed by the three women's societies active in Family and Children Welfare in the city. Galkin attracted to the Family Welfare people who were not content with the charitable nature of the organization but raised the agency to a community-wide Institution, with membership in the Community Chest.

They were years of testing for Joseph Galkin. His ability to walk the tightrope between the women's societies who were used to the old ways, the board who insisted on a modern social agency, and the Community Chest who had guidelines and norms for member agencies, were proof of his talent, and it was not lost on the community leaders, who apparently watched his performance and evaluated his capacities for greater responsibility.

And greater responsibilities were offered to Galkin with the formation of the General Jewish Committee in 1945. The 1940's were bitter years for the Jewish Community in America. One need only mention the term "Hitler era" to send shudders all over the body. The greatest tragedy that ever befell a people, long tried in suffering, paralyzed the Jewish community. But not for long. The tragedy opened the hearts of American Jews to a degree unprecedented in Jewish history.

The American Jews were aroused for action, and Providence Jews among them. They gritted their teeth and embarked upon a relief effort that staggered the imagination.

The dream of many people, in previous years, to unite the community for relief work now became a necessity. All bickering and divisiveness disappeared in the face of the great tragedy, the Holocaust.

And Joseph Galkin was in the midst of the great effort, directing campaigns for funds, administering a community-wide organization, and distributing millions of dollars entrusted to this agency called the General Jewish Committee.

Then came the establishment of a Jewish State, and the community was aroused even further to come to the aid of the land which was the hope and aspiration and the comfort for all the suffering of the last decade of Hitlerism.

And Joseph Galkin was in the midst of it. He saw the coming and the going of seven presidents, each with his particular philosophy, and Galkin became the rock upon which each president relied year in and year out, for almost three decades.

The General Jewish Committee changed its name to the Rhode Island Jewish Federation. The scope of activities changed with the change in name. It became the state wide planner of fund collection and distribution of all the local and national, as well as overseas needs, of the Jewish community.

And Galkin was in the midst of it. His name became a household word in the state. Galkin and Federation were synonymous.

During the years of service to the Jewish community of Rhode Island he was the recipient of many honors. These have been spelled out in the account of his life and activities.

But the last act of his is worth mentioning. When he retired from active duties at the Federation, Galkin was called on to assist in the campaign for funds for the Jewish Home for the Aged. From all accounts he is showing his talents as a solicitor for funds, as indeed, he has demonstrated during his service at the Federation.

Who knows what other projects are in store for Galkin in the future? Joseph Galkin never retires?

formed their animal sacrifices and the blood would run through a hole into a cavernous opening below, from which it flowed down into the valley of Hinnom. All the guides concurred that this was the site where Abraham was prepared to sacrifice Isaac.

The Chief Rabbinate posted a sign at the entrance to the Temple Mount requesting Jews refrain from entering upon this holy ground. However, recently Jews began to conduct services on the Temple Mount which was bitterly resented by the Moslems. In a recent decision the Chief Rabbinate Council decided that Jews cannot visit and pray on the site. The Council considers that the Temple Mount is on Mount Moriah on which the ancient and sacred Beit Hamikdash was built, and that Israel has the right to possession of the Temple Mount.

The final word on the matter has not yet been heard. The Moslems only claim is the unsubstantiated fable of the ascension of Mohammed to heaven from this holy site, which is third, after Mecca and Medina. For the Jews it is the established location of the Holy Temple and the heart and soul of their religion for 4,000 years. It cannot and will not be abandoned.

Bicentennial Brochure Documents Relations

NEW YORK: The role of the United States since the Colonial period in the fulfillment of the centuries-old aspirations of the Jewish people for the return to their ancient homeland in Palestine has just been documented in a brochure published by the America-Israel Friendship League.

Published on the occasion of the nation's Bicentennial, the brochure is said to be one of the most unique and updated illustrated historical brochures of its kind.

Entitled "The Birth of Two Nations—An Historical Account of a Nation Born and a People Reborn," the 28-page multi-colored brochure documents America's consistent support for the rebuilding of Zion. The work underscores this unbroken thread in the fabric of American history, rooted in the influence of the Old Testament upon the Founding Fathers and the spiritual legacy they handed down to the generations that followed.

The booklet was edited and researched by veteran Jewish publicist Ernest E. Barbarash, with art work by artist, Paul Sharon.

The America-Israel Friendship League, a non-profit and non-sectarian organization, announces that in keeping with its program to promote mutual understanding and friendship between the United States and Israel, the brochure will be distributed to members of the U.S. Congress, state legislatures, libraries and universities.

For information contact the league, which is located at the America-Israel Friendship House, 134 E. 39th St., New York, N.Y.

Dial First to call Long Distance

Beginning Saturday, June 5th, you must dial the prefix numeral "1" before making any station-to-station Long Distance or toll calls you dial yourself — to places inside or outside Rhode Island.

Dialing just 7 numerals to toll points within Rhode Island — or dialing just an Area Code and the 7-digit number to points outside the state — will no longer be sufficient to complete a call.

Dialing the "1" will automatically put your call into the Long Distance network.

This new calling procedure applies throughout Rhode Island — and in the Massachusetts communities of So. Attleboro, Seekonk and No. Swansea served by Rhode Island telephone service.

This change is an important step toward a uniform nationwide pattern of dialing.

FOR STATION-TO-STATION CALLING To call within the 401 area: Dial "1" + the 7-digit number. To call outside the 401 area: Dial "1" + (Area Code) + the 7-digit number.
FOR OPERATOR-ASSISTED CALLS Continue to dial "0" (Operator)
FOR LOCAL CALLS (TOLL-FREE) Continue to dial just the 7-digit number.

COST OF LIVING
JERUSALEM: Wages are rising in Israel but not quite fast enough to keep pace with rising prices, according to figures released recently by the Central Bureau of Statistics. Average wages rose 36 percent last year while prices increased by 39 percent in the same period, according to the Bureau. In certain areas of employment, wages outran price hikes. The average increase in agricultural wages was 49 percent last year, and in industry 44 percent. But in the services sector the average wage rise was only 28 percent, the Bureau reported.

 By Robert E. Starr

Very few pairs reached game in today's hand which should have been the key to how the hand should have been played after game was reached. Many players have a "thing" that they feel they cannot make a game after their opponent has opened the bidding. Actually they should bid whatever they think they can make and then play the hand the best way. Two of the three Declarers who did reach game went down because they took a chance when they really had almost a sure way to make the hand. Double Dummy the Defenders can defend the hand exactly the same way those Declarers played the hand but they almost undoubtedly wouldn't.

Diamonds break and needs one more to make the game. The two that went down immediately went after their best suit, Clubs, feeling first that that was their best shot, that West had opened the bidding and would be likely to have that Club Queen and also that assuming that it did work it would provide the most tricks, eleven. Not too bad an idea but it backfired when they lost their finesse and the Heart Queen came back.

Now they were fortunate that their Heart spots were able to hold the opposition to two tricks in that suit so along with two Spade tricks to go with the Club Queen they only went down one. Too bad, you might say. But was there a better way? Yes, for they should be extremely wary of possibly letting East in to lead a Heart through. That Heart Ace has to be with West. They can get a second Spade easily enough if they simply lead one right back at trick two. West will certainly cash his high Spades, and not knowing the Diamond situation, will lead another to set up his fifth one hoping to get in with the Heart King to set the hand. But this gives Declarer his ninth trick and when he does play Clubs later he still just might drop that Queen doubleton.

His thought should be that he is in a fine contract and he should do anything he can to insure it. Taking the Club finesse is flirting with danger. But watch what can happen if West, after winning the Spade return plays a minor suit instead of continuing Spades. How can Declarer get back to his hand to both establish the Spades and then to cash the last one. He can do the first by playing all the Diamonds and then the Spade but then what?

But I am sure that would be academic when the Defense wouldn't go that way. If it did the hand couldn't have been made anyhow but I really feel that it is Declarer's best shot. 99% of the Wests would stay with Spades and the hand would be made.

Moral: Bid your own cards not your opponents' or partner's. So when an opponent opens the bidding, listen but still make your calls based on your own holding.

East was dealer, no one vulnerable with this bidding:

That is the way the bidding probably should have gone but most Souths passed their partner's overcall with the idea that we hear so often, "You only made an overcall, partner." Overcalls can be strong hands and always promise a strong, long suit. It cannot cost any South holding the cards he has a thing to make a try for game in No Trump. North can always pass or go back to Clubs if he is afraid of No Trump. In this case North would be delighted to go on to game in No Trump.

Every West led the Spade King, won by South. Declarer can count eight tricks assuming the

ANTI-SEMITIC BOOK
LONDON: Vladimir Yakovlevich Begun, who wrote a blatantly anti-Semitic book published in the Soviet Union two years ago, will shortly publish another book of the same type, according to a Soviet source quoted here by the Institute of Jewish Affairs. Begun, a journalist from Minsk, has called his new book, "Invasion Without Arms," the same name as one of the chapters in the earlier book, "Creeping Counter-Revolution." A Soviet preview of the new book says it will "unmask modern methods of Zionist propaganda, the ideological adventurism of international Zionism, and its provocationist activity."

LEBANESE ARAB ARMY

BEIRUT — Large numbers of Muslims in Lebanon's Army, seeking an end to the dominant and favored positions of Christians in the Army, have revolted and joined a force called the Lebanese Arab Army, plunging Lebanon into another state of emergency.

Children fled heavy fighting near the northern Lebanese city of Tripoli as rebel troops confronted loyalist government soldiers.

Israel Criticized In U. N.'s Council

NEW YORK: The establishment of Israeli settlements in occupied Arab territories was lamented recently by Security Council members in a statement presented as the majority view at the end of a three-week Middle East debate.

The United States was dissociated from the statement by William W. Scranton, who felt that it lacked balance. He also expressed the view that the United States could agree with a great deal, but the establishment of Jewish settlements in the Arab territories occupied since the 1967 war "are increasingly a matter of concern and distress to its friends throughout the world and are not helpful to the process of peace."

Greater Concern

Mr. Scranton expressed much the same position in March when the Council discussed the issue of anti-Israel unrest in the West Bank. But this time his reference to the distress caused to friendly governments seemed to convey an additional measure of concern about the settlement policy.

The March debate ended with an American veto of an Arab-supported resolution which the United States objected to as unbalanced.

It was to avoid another American veto, which was considered a virtual certainty in a United States election year, that Council members sought instead during the debate to devise a consensus that could be accepted without vote by the Arab countries and the United States.

However, that behind-the-scenes negotiation collapsed last night when the United States refused to agree. The statement was read out by Louis de Guiringaud of France, the Council President for May, as representing the view of an unspecified majority.

IF YOU NEED A HEARING AID

Can you imagine being hard of hearing and then being so gullible that you pass all medical opinion and rely for advice on a hearing aid salesperson whose main interest is in meeting a monthly sales quota and thus selling you a product, whether or not suited to your particular hearing problem?

Can you imagine yourself with clear signs of hearing impairment not even consulting your own family physician, much less an otolaryngologist (ear specialist) plus a trained audiologist (a person who measures your level of hearing)?

Can you imagine yourself, elderly and confined to your home, welcoming a door-to-door hearing aid salesperson whose competence to judge your needs is, at a minimum, questionable?

Perhaps this form of ignorance defies your comprehension. But the awful facts are:

An overwhelming 70 per cent of hearing aid owners have never even seen a medical specialist. They are trying to solve their hearing problems with hearing aids bought impulsively after insufficient, improper self-diagnosis.

An expert estimate is that 60 per cent of all hearing aids are sold in the home.

So widespread is the lack of training that of an estimated 15,000 hearing aid dealers and sales personnel, less than 3,000 are "certified," meaning the majority have not even completed a study course offered by the National Hearing Aid Society.

Government regulations are limited in assuring the qualifications of dealers. Many states still do not license dealers and in those that do, inadequate enforcement of licensing laws and exceptions to the rules result in inadequate policing. As Sen. Charles H. Percy, (R-Ill.) chairman of a subcommittee investigating hearing aids, declared after recent hearing, the studies have "raised significant questions about the ethics, training and professionalism of . . . hearing aid dealers."

And as the National Institutes of Health emphasized, "it is important to have an examination by the family doctor or pediatrician and by an ear specialist, with such testing as the specialist recommends, before starting to select a hearing aid."

(1) If an ear specialist who has diagnosed the cause of your hearing problem recommends a hearing aid, the Veterans Administration has established valuable purchase guidelines for you, based on exhaustive tests. The aids chosen by the VA for the contract year 1975 include "in ear," "over hear," "body" and "eyeglass." The VA has made no distinction between regular and "special" aids.

The choices are: Acousticon A-465SSR; Audiotone A-20 P-2, A-20 P-5 and A-25; Audivox 101-CDGD and 111 SRD; Dahlberg HD-1250; Lehr Omniton IIIIF, Optica 6, Star 6F and Star 6 ST; Maico CQ; North American Philips HP 8123 HP 8273, HP 8274 and KL 6730; Otation RX-880 Bone CROS; Oticon 375 PPX, 380 SI, 565 SZ LDC, and 850 Super CROS; Qualiton SNEC, SWH, and TSP.

Also, Siemens 34D-SL-PC; Sonotone 35 AX, 35 AZ, 77S, and 670 XV; Telex 70, 331 H, and 334; Vicon OE 139; and Zenith Award, Carlo CM, CROS, Pacemaker EP 11, Vocalizer 111, and Vocalizer 400.

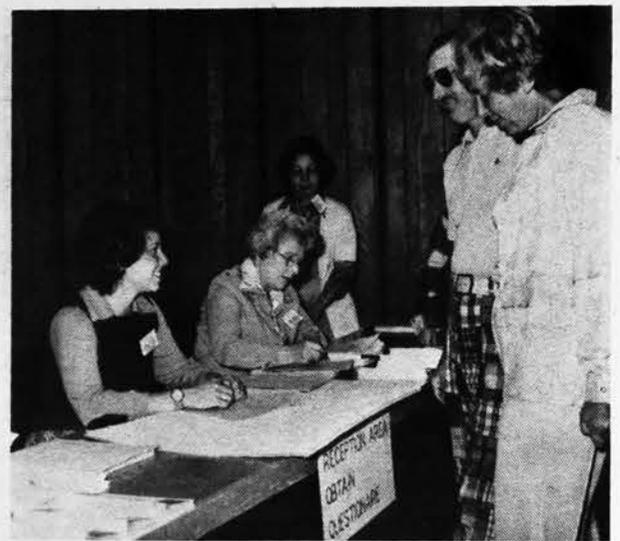

(2) The most expensive hearing aid may not necessarily be the best for you — and there are no advance guarantees. So buy from a dealer who is willing to sell on a trial basis for a sufficient time to permit reasonable evaluation. Perhaps you can rent an aid for a fee and if the aid is right for you, apply the fee to the final cost.

(3) Don't ignore battery costs which depend in part on the type of aid and in part on the way the aid is used. A single hearing aid battery doesn't cost much, but if you use your aid constantly during working hours, replacement cost can become a big item.

(4) Find out if your local hospital is associated with a non-commercial hearing aid center. Get a list of such centers from the National Bureau of Standards, Monograph 117 on Hearing Aids, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402 for 35 cents.

(5) Don't expect your hearing aid to do more than amplify sound and enhance whatever residual hearing remains to you.

(6) For further information, write: The National Hearing Aid Society, 20361 Middlebelt, Livonia, Mich. 48152; and the Better Hearing Institute, 14230 K. St., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20005. Copyright 1976 Field Enterprises, Inc.

MARKET APPRAISAL TELLS THE STORY

Q. Would you discuss Beatrice Foods (NYSE) in comparison with Borden Company (NYSE)? E.M.

A. Of the two companies, Beatrice has established a more clearly defined and consistent overall growth pattern. In the past 5 years, earnings have grown an average annual rate of 12% versus 10% for Borden. Over the past 10 years, the differential was wider — 11% for Beatrice and 5% for Borden. Sales growth comparisons also favor Beatrice. There is no disputing that Borden yields a more generous 4.6%, compared with 3.1%. Moreover, the dividend has increased only 18% in the last decade, while Beatrice shareholders have enjoyed increases in 9 of the last 10 years, more than doubling the payment to 76¢ a share currently. Furthermore, a lower payout ratio at Beatrice allows greater plowback of earnings.

Other factors which put Beatrice in a more favorable position are: a higher return on equity, wider interest coverage and a better current ratio. It is not surprising, then, that the market has historically awarded Beatrice a higher multiple. Currently, Beatrice is selling at about 12X estimated earnings versus 8X for Borden. This market appraisal is one acid test of comparative growth that investors foresee for these companies.

Although Beatrice derives 21% of income from dairy products and Borden 16%, this one area contributes about 30% to the sales of both firms. Packaged food and specialty meat products account for a greater portion of Beatrice operations. Chemicals, which are growing more important for both companies, are expected to provide the greatest thrust for this year's results. An increase from $3.01 per share to $3.05 is looked for at Borden, despite a probable decline in its fertilizer business. Solid grains from meat and grocery products as well strong improvement in non-food businesses should push fiscal 1976-77 results to $2.00-$2.10 a share at Beatrice. A boost in the dividend also seems likely. All in all, Beatrice appears more attractive for gradually improving return and long-term growth.

AMERICAN AIRLINES HAS SPECULATIVE APPEAL
Q. I bought American Airlines

(NYSE) at 24.5. No dividends have been paid since 1971. Do you think it is best to sell at a loss or hold? H.C.

A. Even though a deficit was reported again in the first quarter, earnings for the full year could reach 50¢ or better, compared with a loss of 72¢ a share in 1975. Fare increases granted earlier this year on some of its routes were not in effect in the first quarter but should be apparent in bottom line figures for the last half. The recession cut a lot of fat out of the company, new routes have been opened and travel volume should be strong this year. I would not look for an early resumption of dividends, however. American does have appeal as a speculation on "better times are here again". But remember what speculation means — high risk for a big gain — maybe.

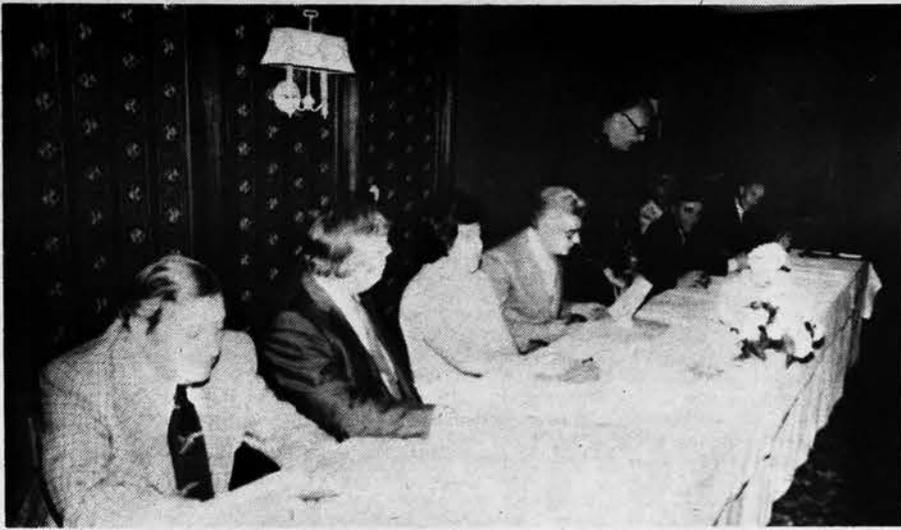

Q. I'd appreciate your comments on my quandary. I am 24 and about to purchase a home so would like to become more liquid, keeping only about $2,500 to $3,500 in common stocks. My holdings are: 100 John-Power & Light at 18%, 200 Simplicity Pattern at 16.5, 35 Upjohn at 33 and 100 Woolworth at 15.25. L.T.

A. You have a fine portfolio with each issue well worth holding. Picking and Choosing among these five stocks for sales is not easy. Incidentally, you have done very well; you have a good profit in four of these stocks and minimal loss in the fifth. As a starter, I would eliminate NYSE-listed Pacific Power, attractive primarily for its generous yields. At your age, growth is a more important objective.

By selling Simplicity Pattern (NYSE) which has lagged behind the market in recent weeks and Upjohn (NYSE), your investments would be close to the level you seek. Johnson Products (ASE) has achieved an above-average growth record — 30% annually averaged for five years. Hold. Woolworth (NYSE) reported a good turnaround in net for 1975 after a depressed 1974. Market action has been strong and the shares are a hold for growth.

UNESCO Approves Appeal To Insure Arab Rights

PARIS: UNESCO's Executive Board recently approved a moderately worded "urgent appeal" to insure educational and cultural rights to Israel in Israeli-occupied Arab territories.

The United States cast the only negative vote on the appeal. Israel has made it clear that it will reject the new statement, which refers directly to a 1974 resolution condemning Israeli educational policies in the occupied territories.

Officials from both the United States and Israel agree that the tone of the appeal is soft. Despite this moderate language, the action by UNESCO recalled the 1974 anti-Israeli actions. At this time Israel was condemned by the UNESCO general conference for allegedly having desecrated sacred Moslem monuments in Jerusalem. The action further excluded Israel from the organization's European operating group to which Israel feels it should belong in light of its position as a Mediterranean nation.

Today's resolution, which was approved by a vote of 26 to 1, with 10 abstentions, says that the Executive Board expresses "deep concern at the fact that the populations of these territories, according to the information received, are prevented from freely exercising their inalienable right to the education and culture necessary to the preservation of their national identity." It goes on to say the board "reiterates to the Israeli occupation authorities the urgent appeal" made by UNESCO in 1974. The 1974 appeal invited the Director General of the body to "exercise full supervision of the operation of educational and cultural institutions in the occupied Arab territories."

Although Israel is not a member of the Executive Board, an Israeli Foreign Ministry official, Nathan Bar-Yaacov, was permitted to speak before the vote.

Using moderate language, he rejected the renewed appeal.

Mr. Bar-Yaacov told the Executive Board, whose resolutions are not binding even if approved at the General Conference to be held in Kenya next October, that "education in the West Bank and Gaza goes on and is expanding with practically 100 percent enrollment of eligible children, based on the curricula of Jordan and Egypt."

Official Israeli sources added, however, that as long as UNESCO insisted on having "full supervision" of education in the occupied territories, Israel was unlikely to agree. Discussing the education and culture of people in the occupied territories, an Israeli official said, "Israel has rights and responsibilities under international law and has carried them out and intends to continue to carry them out."

The United States opposition was explained by William T. Jones, the American representative at UNESCO headquarters. He said the resolution "raises the same problems" as did the 1974 statement on the occupied territories. Mr. Jones called the resolution "politically unrealistic and perhaps impossible" for UNESCO to carry out.

Sources close to the Executive Board said that the moderate language of the resolution was a result of lobbying by black African nations and the United States. Today's resolution marked the second time in seven months that UNESCO has attempted to soften anti-Israeli actions taken here in 1974. But, between the attempts at moderation, a UNESCO-sponsored conference last December approved a reference to the definition of Zionism as racism that had been voted in the United Nations General Assembly in New York.

Jewish Agency Has Reduced Expenses

By Gil Sedan

JERUSALEM: (JTA) Moshe Rivlin, director general of the Jewish Agency, reported that a substantial reduction of expenses has been effected since a savings and efficiency committee was appointed by the Agency Executive two years ago. He said that cutbacks are continuing in an effort to avoid waste and duplication. Rivlin told the Jewish Telegraphic Agency May 18 that the Jewish Agency has 411 fewer employees than it had two years ago. He said that 700 jobs had been eliminated and 400 employees were retrenched in the last year alone. But the net reduction in personnel amounted to only 100 last year because 300 new employees were hired. Rivlin explained that the new employees were engaged only after a thorough examination by the efficiency committee.

Bleak Future For Rhodesian Jewry

JERUSALEM: The 4,000 Jews in Rhodesia may soon find themselves caught in a tightening vice — between anti-Semitic whites, who blame them for the Communist danger, and the blacks, who will let loose and plunder the property of the rich.

That awesome prediction was made by the Chief Rabbi of Rhodesia, Rabbi Isaac Zwebner, who immigrated to Israel recently with his wife, Aurelia.

The last words of advice that he gave to his congregation in Bulawago were not a pleasant farewell.

"I held up a letter I had received that was addressed to the entire Rhodesian Jewish Community of 4,000," the rabbi told reporters in Jerusalem. "Stamped with an official letterhead from the white people's party, and with swastikas, the letter had quotations from 'Mein Kampf' and threats that 'Hitler hasn't yet finished his job.'"

"Swastikas have also appeared of late on Jewish shopwindows and cars. I'm afraid that the Jews aren't aware of the danger or don't want to think about it."

The pressure of Rhodesia is mounting in the wake of the Marxist victory in Angola and Mozambique, said the rabbi.

The Jews appear to be fooled by the current quiet before the storm.

"The blacks," said Rabbi Zwebner, are "still docile, because they are primitive people who haven't been given the chance to develop. But, like children who are irresponsible when power is put into their hands, they could lash out. It wouldn't be an attack specifically against the Jews but against the 'haves.' And who is there to stop them?"

Rabbi Zwebner, who was born in Jerusalem's Mea Shearim quarter (his father was a member of the first Knesset) and went to London in 1937 "to see the world," maintained that he and his wife "didn't come on aliyah as a way of running away from Rhodesia.

"Our four children had settled in Israel, and I've lived with packing cases since we got married," said Mrs. Zwebner. "We always had plans to live in Israel."

Those plans were deferred in 1953, when the rabbi was called to South Africa because of a shortage of spiritual leaders there, and again in 1967, when he went to Rhodesia, because the last two rabbis there had retired or died.

The rabbi's frequent pleas to his flock in Rhodesia to immigrate to Israel, "with your life and possessions, while there is time," fell on almost totally deaf ears.

In Moscow Jewish Youth Draw Closer To Religion

By YITZHAK RABI

NEW YORK: The Chief Rabbi of Moscow said here that young Jews in the Soviet Union are "drawing closer to religious life" without being pressed to do so.

Rabbi Jacob Fishman, who officiates at Moscow's Central Synagogue, arrived in the U. S. this week as part of a delegation of nine Soviet clergymen, headed by Metropolitan Jubenaly, one of the highest ranking prelates in the Russian Orthodox Church. The delegation, which is in the U. S. for a 10-day visit under the auspices of the Appeal of Conscience Foundation, includes another Jew, Adolf Shayovich, a student at the Rabbinical Seminary in Budapest, Hungary.

Answering questions in Yiddish at a news conference for the delegation, Fishman was somewhat vague when asked about freedom of religion for Soviet Jews. He only said: "We have three synagogues in Moscow and people pray there from six in the morning to two in the afternoon. Then we hold services in the evenings." He said that there are "prayer rooms" in different parts of Moscow where Jews can attend services.

Shayovich, a former engineer who became a rabbinical student, said that there is an "intensified" interest in Judaism among the young Jewish generation. He said that about 10 Jews are studying in the Moscow Jewish Seminary and seven in Budapest. Fishman said that during his visit here he hopes to observe Jewish religious life and "to strengthen ties with our Jewish brothers." Tonight he will be a guest at a reception in New York to be attended by Jewish leaders.

Rabbi Arthur Schneier, president of the Appeal of Conscience Foundation and Rabbi of the Park East Synagogue, and the Foundation's two vice-presidents, Dr. David H. C. Read, minister of the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church, and Rev. Thurston N. Davis, S. J. of the Department of Communication, United States Catholic Conference, declared in a joint statement that the religious delegation will be introduced to the leaders, practices and institutions of their faiths in America "to introduce them to a cross section of the religious life of our people."

In a statement on the visit, Stanley Lowell, chairman of the National Conference on Soviet Jewry, said that Fishman and the other clergymen were "functionaries" of the Soviet government which denies religious and cultural freedom to Jews. He noted that Fishman attacked the desire of Soviet Jews to emigrate and has been silent about Soviet anti-Semitism and the harassment of Jews, the quota system for Jews in the universities and the denial of their cultural and religious rights.

In addition, Lowell stated, Fishman is the rabbi "for the only functioning synagogue in Moscow and regretably is the only rabbi among 60 synagogues remaining in the Soviet Union to serve a Jewish population in excess of three million. This is stark evidence of the minimal nature of Jewish religious life in the Soviet Union. Sadly, Rabbi Fishman cannot and will not do anything to improve this deplorable situation."

It was also reported that twenty of the most active would-be emigrants to Israel in Moscow have been warned by the KGB that they will be liable to prosecution on charges of parasitism unless they find jobs within a month. Among them are Ilya Essas, Victor Barilovsky, Vladimir Prestin, Zahar Tesker and Pavel Abramovich.

The warnings have been interpreted as a sign that the KGB is cracking down on the leading activists in the Soviet capital. These are all people who lost their jobs after unsuccessfully applying to emigrate to Israel. This is the first time they have been threatened with prosecution over their work situation. "Parasitism" can carry a prison sentence of up to three years.

Israel-US Jewish Week In Washington This June

By Joseph Polakoff

WASHINGTON, May 17 (JTA) — Israel and Italy will share the celebration of the opening week of the 12-week Festival of American Folklife starting this week in Washington's mall as part of the nation's Bicentennial observance. Cultural artists from 25 countries will participate in the presentations. Israel and Egypt are the only Middle East participants.

"Jewish Folkways in America and Israel" will be the festival's inaugural theme. Israeli and American Jewish aspects will be presented June 16-20. No offering will be given on the Sabbath, June 19.

Cultural groups in New York, Baltimore and Washington will take part in the program that will include music, dancing and workshops on children's folklore, Yemenite bridal dresses, shofar making, weaving of tsitsim, liturgy and East European papercuts. The Washington "Kosher Kitchen" will provide food.

Wide Variety

Israeli participation will include Yemenite, Moroccan and modern Israeli music and dance. Kurdish, Ladino and Ashkenazi groups will exemplify Jewish traditions. A Torah scribe, a Succoth builder and a folk painter and traditional wedding musicians will take part.

In the programs on the folkways of immigrants to America, the Jewish element will include both the East European and the national culture of modern Israel. It was explained that this distinction results from the fact that unlike Polish-Americans or Italian-Americans, there is no corresponding "Israeli-American" national or ethnic entity in the American immigrant tradition.

Barbara Kirschenblatt Gimblett, professor of folklore at the University of Pennsylvania, who is also associated with YIVO, has been selected as the expert for the Jewish folkways program. She is aided by the Folklore Research Center of the Hebrew University in Jerusalem, the Israel Museum, Haaretz Museum of Ethnography and Folklore in Tel Aviv and many individuals.

Danes Honored For Rescue Of Jews

SEATTLE: (JTA) The Danish people were honored for their rescue in 1943 of 7000 Danish Jews at recent ceremonies here and in New York. The ceremony here was in conjunction with the visit of Queen Margrethe II of Denmark. The Jewish Federation of Greater Seattle presented the Queen with an illuminated scroll during a luncheon in her honor by the Danish Bicentennial Committee of Seattle at the Olympic Hotel.

Martin D. Rind, Federation president, presented the scroll which said: "The Jewish community of Seattle greets Her Majesty, Queen Margrethe II on the occasion of her historic visit to our city. Jewish people throughout the world will forever remember with gratitude the humanity and courage displayed by the people of Denmark in a dark period of human history." In 1943, it stated, "when Denmark was under Nazi occupation and its small Jewish community was about to be sent to the death camps for extermination, the people of Denmark, under the noble leadership of King Christian X, saved the Jewish population by transporting them under cover of night across the waters to safety." In New York, an organization called Tribute to the Danes, which includes many Holocaust survivors, presented a plaque to Danish Consul Krog Meyer at the Danish consulate. The plaque, which will be installed in the Museum of Freedom Fighters in Copenhagen, says: "To the people of Denmark, in eternal gratitude for their selfless dedication to the highest human principles, exemplified by the October, 1943, rescue of their brethren of the Jewish faith." The presentation was made by the organization's president, Dr. Leon A. Falik, a Holocaust survivor.

NEW ENGLAND VISITS ISRAEL

O JERUSALEM

THE MOST UNUSUAL TOUR OF THE CITY

O Jerusalem is Mount Zion, and the Tower of David, Rachel's Tomb, the Dome of the Rock, and Bethlehem. It's a trip out to Massada. And it's Sabbath at the Western Wall. It's all the history of Jerusalem. □ Something new on a tour. People. □ It's a supper party at a home in the Old City; lunch at a Yeshiva; and coffee, tea, or a camel ride with a Bedouin sheik. □ Get a reception you'll never forget. □ It's dinner with Jewish families from Yemen or Iraq, or with new immigrants from Russia. It's even a visit with Israelis from places like Cleveland. And a private reception sponsored by the mayor. Altogether, it's a chance to meet a cross-section of Jerusalem. From the people who run the buses, to the people who run the city. □ As long as you're here, learn a little Hebrew. □ O Jerusalem is also the chance to talk with a professor of history, archeology, or religion. And to explore excavations normally closed to the public. It's visits to special craftsmen, a picnic at the Dead Sea, and a Hebrew lesson, too. □ Be guided by the man who wrote the book. □ It's a private tour of the Israel Museum. After hours. And an evening with Zev Vilnay, who wrote the bible of Israeli guidebooks. □ O Tel Aviv.

 □ O Jerusalem is even a stop in Tel Aviv. Yet for all of this, it doesn't cost any more than an ordinary tour. Prices start at $1039 for a 9 day stay that includes round-trip air fare from New York, Israeli breakfasts, 7 special meals, and a room in the new Jerusalem Hilton, or the Plaza. You can even stay longer for not very much more than that. So whether you've already been to Jerusalem, or you're coming for the first time, call us at El Al. Or have your travel agent call us. The truth is, O Jerusalem isn't like any other tour of Jerusalem. In fact, all things considered, O Jerusalem isn't like any other tour of anywhere.

Operation "This Year Jerusalem"

By MOSHE EILAT
District Manger/New England
El Al Israel Airlines

In response to the contemptuous actions regarding Zionism at the United Nations, a decision was made at the recent "Jerusalem Solidarity Conference" to declare 1976 a year of Jewish Solidarity — through tourism to Jerusalem.

This pilgrimage year will be an affirmation that Jewry stands together, and will direct attention to the noble ideas and ideals that have come to it from the Holy City. Israel's Prime Minister, Yitzhak Rabin, recently so well captured this meaning of the city in these words: "Everything we are, everything Judaism has ever stood for, all flows, ultimately into a single name — Jerusalem. Jerusalem is Zion, and it has always been the symbol of all that is precious and noble to Judaism. It symbolizes our spiritual heritage as well as our people. It is the ideological heart of our existence as Jews."

A change in the ancient Jewish call "Next Year in Jerusalem" will thus be marked this year. The new theme will be "This Year in Jerusalem". This proclamation is being introduced by Jewish organizations throughout the diaspora. In synagogues, too, the prayer will be "This Year in Jerusalem."

Israel expects, during this pilgrimage year, to reach the goal of one million tourists! The State is planning a series of special events and programs for the visitors. These include tours to broaden historical knowledge of Israel, Zionism and Jewry, special entertainment and diversions, exciting trips, visits to Army camps and meeting with Israelis in various communities.

El Al has kicked off a tour program to Jerusalem, called "O Jerusalem! — The Most Unusual Tour of the City in 40 Centuries". The series will highlight sites usually closed to the general public. It will also include people - to - people exchanges, including meals at Israeli homes for the visitors.

The airline has scheduled 45 departures between May and next March.

Basically, El Al's programs consist of a 10-day and two-week plan, each offering identical seven - day itineraries in Jerusalem. The first two nights of the shorter tour and part of the two - week plan are spent in Tel Aviv.

Each tour includes room with private bath at the Jerusalem Hilton, Jerusalem Plaza, Tel Aviv Hilton or Tel Aviv Plaza; breakfast each morning, plus seven meals, transfers, sightseeing, escorted guides, lectures and entertainment.

Members will dine at the home of Israelis living in the Jewish quarter of Jerusalem as well as with a family in a Yeminite, Kurdish or Arab village. Other meals or refreshments will be taken with students at the Hebrew Union College and Yeshiva, the Israel Museum Club with Mayor Kollek and in a sheik's tent in a Bedouin encampment.

Among other major sites which will be visited are King David's Tomb on Mt. Zion; Mt. Moria, where King Solomon's temple stood 3,000 years ago; the Dome of the Rock (Mosque of Omar), where Abraham is said to have offered his son Isaac for sacrifice; and the ruins of Qumran, an ancient settlement of mystics and scholars.

In addition, there will be extensive tours of the new and old cities of Jerusalem and visits to Hebron, Bethlehem, Masada, Ein Gedi and Jericho. Special events will include a Hebrew lesson with a teacher from an Ulpan (a special school set up to teach immigrants to Israel the language) and a visit to a community center in the suburbs of Romena, Kiryat Hayovel or Kiryat Menahem, for an evening of native folklore with Jews from Morocco, Georgia or Kurdistan.

The guides for this tour have been trained by Zev Vilnay, author of a guidebook on Israel. Lectures by scholars and archaeological experts are also planned for tour members.

Not the least of the travel experience to Israel is the trip aboard El Al Israel Airlines — either on its 707 intercontinental jets or 747 superjets. El Al offers its passengers full in - flight services, plus extra attention. The latter includes an atmosphere of companionship and informality that puts one at ease, as if he or she were in the living room of old friends. Hostesses provide warm hospitality along with the delicious food specialties from El Al's tradition - honored kitchen. On the super jets, there is in-flight Star Theatre, as well as six channels of stereo entertainment for every taste, at a nominal charge. There is even one whole section set aside for those who like to chat, read or just be left alone.

El Al also offers a large selection of group airfares. These are designed to suit every conceivable time need. Long and short stay departures are scheduled each week. In addition, an El Al representative at Kennedy Airport in New York oversees all details.

The widest variety of group flights and tours assure the best possible service at lowest prices. Immediate confirmation of space is communicated with the exact hotel sequence for every land package. Programs are designed to provide the greatest value in terms of price and tour content.

The routing of tours assures visits to all major sites with a minimum of packing and unpacking. All packages feature at least five nights in glorious Jerusalem.

El Al is now the only airline flying non - stop between the United States and Israel, on both eastbound and westbound legs. The flights are particularly popular because they avoid time - consuming refueling stops and connecting delays, usually associated with stops enroute.

So this year — visit Israel, via El Al, of course!

Increased Travel To Israel Opens Solidarity Year

By YORAM GOLAN
Director, Eastern Region
Israel Government
Tourist Office

The increasing rate of tourism to Israel in the last four months has been very encouraging. Since the beginning of 1976, tourist traffic has risen 42 percent as compared with the same period in 1975.

Travel agencies and hotel chains are reporting very good bookings for the spring and summer months, and many organizations are already making plans for tours this fall and winter.

The general feeling is that we are witnessing a dramatic reversal in the trend of tourism to Israel, and we anticipate a successful 1976.

New and exciting tour programs which feature novel attractions and facilities created for the tourist during the past year await the new arrivals.

The slow but constant devaluation of the Israeli Lira (which is now exchanged at the rate of $1.00-7.52IL) has created a situation in which an overseas visitor is getting good value for his money in Israel shops and restaurants.

This improvement in the travel atmosphere is happily coupled with encouraging trends in the U.S. economy.

The Israel Ministry of Tourism has made a dramatic effort for a small country, by launching a nationwide press and television campaign. We have brought a warm and inviting message from the Land of Israel to the vast population across the United States.

As to the organized Jewish Community which naturally provides the strongest response to Israel's appeal, we have proclaimed 1976 as a year of Jewish Solidarity and Aliya-LaRegel. This declaration was made at a Solidarity Conference recently convened in Jerusalem.

Aliya - LaRegel, an ancient Jewish tradition of pilgrimage to Jerusalem, has been revived as this expression of Jewish Solidarity.

The Aliya - LaRegel appeal has already been received enthusiastically by many individuals and groups on both sides of the ocean. There are even Christian movements interested in connecting their travel programs with this Solidarity Year declaration.

In Israel special programs have been prepared for the Solidarity groups. Special lapel pins with the Solidarity Year emblem and certificates will be distributed. There will be unique concerts, shows, exhibitions and festivals.

YORAM GOLAN

Israel believes that the momentum of the present increased rate in tourist traffic will continue throughout the year of 1976.
