

The Jewish Herald

Vol. IV. No. 26

Entered as Second-Class Matter, Nov. 7, 1929, at the Post Office at Providence, R. I., Under the Act of March 3, 1879.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., FRIDAY, MARCH 24, 1933

5 Cents the Copy

U. S. Jewry Protests Hitler Menace

HEBREW SCHOOL PUPILS TO GIVE RELIGIOUS PLAY

Ahavath Shalom Students to Present "Alilath Dom" Sunday

40 Children in Cast

The play "Alilath Dom," translated as "Accusation of Blood," will be presented by the pupils of the Ahavath Shalom Hebrew School, Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Synagogue, corner of Howell and Scott streets.

It is a known fact that in the history of the Jews in the last nine centuries, they have been, time and again, accused of killing a Christian child for their ritual purposes. Though it was emphatically denied and proven to the contrary, such charges are still being made in various countries. Only five years ago this incident was almost repeated in Messina, New York.

"Alilath Dom" was presented last year and was so successful that by popular demand, the School Board decide to again stage the play.

Of the three acts the first receives most praise from the Orthodox Jewry. It opens with a Seder, so complete in every detail that it might well be taking place in the home of a Rabbi.

[Continued on Page 8]

Beth-Israel Men To Present Play

Yiddish Mock Marriage Will be Given in Temple Vestry Monday Evening

The Men's Club of Temple Beth-Israel will celebrate the "Knish-Schlenger" nuptials at the Temple Vestry, Monday evening. This hilarious Yiddish mock marriage has been rehearsed for the past two months under the direction of Harry Silverman. The play is considered one of the most popular vehicles of entertainment in the Yiddish repertoire of short sketches.

The cast comprises Harry Silverman, Isador Roberts, Nathan L. Ostrov, Morris Shoham, Boris N. Nelson, Walter Cohen, William Weinstein, Jack Levitt, Louis Madowsky, Hyman Lisker, Max Leach, Harry Licht, Fred Weitman, Charles J. Sentler, Irving Loeber and Albert Lisker.

Ladies Charity Unit Holds Induction and Luncheon

Mrs. Gussie Nelson Inducted to Serve Third Term as President

Mrs. Gussie Nelson was installed President of the Ladies' Union, League for Consumptives for the third consecutive term at the annual luncheon and installation of officers Thursday at Zinn's Banquet Hall. Mrs. Edward Finberg, President of the League of Jewish Women's Clubs, gave a short talk commending the work of the League, after which she installed the following with Mrs. Nelson:

Mrs. Jack Davis, Vice President; Mrs. Isador Grossman, Second Vice President; Mrs. Morris Kelman, Treasurer; Mrs. Norman Marcus, Financial Secretary; Mrs. Isador Leitner, Recording Secretary; Mrs. A. Kilberg and Mrs. Joseph Feinstein, Trustees; Miss Dorothy Jacobs, Mrs. Jennie Tobin and Mrs. Harry Goodman, board of directors.

The principal speaker of the afternoon was Joseph Caldwell of the League for Industrial Democracy, who addressed the members on the subject, "Carl Marx—Fiftieth Anniversary."

[Continued on Page 8]

POLISH POLICE QUELL RAID ON JEWISH SHOPS

Four Shot, One Slain as Officers Fire on Rabble

Anti-Semites Arrested

Warsaw, Mar. 24 — (JTA) — Four rioters were wounded, and one died from his injuries when the police fired at a rabble which attacked Jewish shops at Zywiec, in the region of Krakau, according to an official report published here today. The police have also arrested a number of Endeks—members of the National Socialist anti-Semitic party—engaged in inciting the local peasant population to riot. The moving spirit of the local Endeka, Zajonek, was among those arrested.

The police have also made arrests of Endeks at Bielsk, while at Krakau a number of Endek students caught distributing anti-Semitic leaflets in factories were apprehended. Arms were found on the Endeks arrested at Bielsk.

Later reports described the attack at Zywiec, as an onrush of peasants, armed with sticks and agricultural implements, bent on looting. The mob which had been incited by Endeks, offered resistance to the police, who then fired at the rioters. With the obvious object of intensifying the agitation the "Gazeta Warszawska," an anti-Semitic paper, publishes a partly censored report under the headings, "Anti Jewish Disturbances at Warsaw—Reports Partly Exaggerated—Minor Jewish Incidents Partly Invented."

Rabbi Braude to Address Meeting

Beth-El Leader to Speak Before Poale Zion Literary Group Tomorrow at Zinn's

Rabbi William G. Braude will be the principal speaker at the Literary Circle meeting of the Poale Zion tomorrow (Saturday) evening in Zinn's Banquet Hall.

A musical program is being arranged by a committee consisting of Max Berman, chairman; Henry Burt, Israel Resnick, Arthur Korman and Morris Beeber.

Ladies Charity Unit Holds Induction and Luncheon

Mrs. Gussie Nelson Inducted to Serve Third Term as President

Mrs. Gussie Nelson was installed President of the Ladies' Union, League for Consumptives for the third consecutive term at the annual luncheon and installation of officers Thursday at Zinn's Banquet Hall. Mrs. Edward Finberg, President of the League of Jewish Women's Clubs, gave a short talk commending the work of the League, after which she installed the following with Mrs. Nelson:

Mrs. Jack Davis, Vice President; Mrs. Isador Grossman, Second Vice President; Mrs. Morris Kelman, Treasurer; Mrs. Norman Marcus, Financial Secretary; Mrs. Isador Leitner, Recording Secretary; Mrs. A. Kilberg and Mrs. Joseph Feinstein, Trustees; Miss Dorothy Jacobs, Mrs. Jennie Tobin and Mrs. Harry Goodman, board of directors.

The principal speaker of the afternoon was Joseph Caldwell of the League for Industrial Democracy, who addressed the members on the subject, "Carl Marx—Fiftieth Anniversary."

[Continued on Page 8]

Robin To Present Resolve In Rhode Island Assembly; Leaders Here Plan Action

Delegates From Every Organization Arranging Monster Mass Meeting Here

Leaders Gather Sunday

An aroused Rhode Island Jewry today was preparing to add its voice to the nation-wide protest against persecution of Jews in Germany and to urge formal action by the United States Government to alleviate reported uncontrolled terrorism under the Hitler regime.

Meanwhile, the Rhode Island Legislature will be urged to act on the situation next Tuesday when Senator Paul J. Robin introduces a resolution aimed at Nazi abuses suffered by relatives of Rhode Island Jews abroad and by others of the Jewish faith.

Ask Assembly Action

A monster mass meeting will be held Sunday, April 2, in line with similar meetings planned in other states throughout the nation. Arrangements for it will be completed next Sunday night at 8 o'clock, when Jewish leaders confer in Zinn's Banquet Hall, Mathewson street. The conference is sponsored by the Rhode Island Council, American Jewish Congress, local unit of the national organization which inaugurated the movement.

Through The Jewish Herald, Attorney Joshua Bell, chairman of the Rhode Island Council, is asking every Jewish organization in the state to send three delegates each to next Sunday's conference. Speakers will include Rabbi Israel M. Goldman of Temple Emanu-El and Rabbi William G. Braude of Temple Beth-El.

Pointing out that there is ample precedent for United States intervention, Mrs. Caesar Misch, former President of the Providence Council of Jewish Women, likened the situation in Germany to that which existed in Russia during the Taft administration.

"During the Taft administration," Mrs. Misch stated, "the United States abrogated a treaty with Russia because of a treatment of Jews in that country. I think we face a similar situation now in Germany. The late Colonel Harry Cutler was called to the White House for a conference with President Taft before this country took action in the Russian incident. The position of our government at that time was very firm in protest against persecution of the Jews."

Branded "Black Chancellor"

Hitler will go down in history as the "black chancellor." Rabbi Braude declared. He added the Nazi leader is a worse blow for the Reich and to civilization than the World War and the Versailles treaty. While not hopeful of the good that may be accomplished through protest meetings, Rabbi Braude placed his confidence in President Roosevelt, Senator Borah and Premier MacDonald to bring to bear "some pressure upon the raging fanatics of Germany."

Senator Robin, who is also National Adjutant of the Jewish War Veterans of the United States, pointed out that 100,000 Jews fought for the "fatherland" in the World War, 12,000 of whom died on the battlefield.

"And what is Germany's reward today for these heroes?" he continued.

"German history bristles with illustrious Jewish names, as Karl Marx, Albert Ballin, Walter Rathenau, Men-

[Continued on Page 8]

SEN. PAUL ROBIN

Jewish 'War Vets' Official Who Will Introduce a Resolution Tuesday Protesting the Nazi Excesses

Woonsocket Y. W. Will Stage Trial

The Woonsocket Young Women's Hebrew Association is sponsoring a "Yiddish Mock Trial," to be presented, in Yiddish, Sunday evening, at 8 o'clock, in the vestry of the B'Nai Israel Synagogue, corner Greene and Bernon streets, Woonsocket. The play is being produced under the direction of Mrs. Ceil Israel.

It is the story of the divorce proceedings of Abie and Tsipe Grune Schlemiel, portrayed, by Samuel Kornstein and Miss Anne Kornstein. The complete cast includes: Fred Israel, Moe Yarus, Marion Rubin, Jacob R. Russian, Mrs. Ceil Israel, Louis Sadwin, Irving Zimmerman, Joseph Borenstein, Nat Bader, Montie Swartz, Philip Birenbaum, David Daniels, Bess Sherman, Eva Israel, Dorothy Sherman, Sallie Castleman, Regina Goldfine, Philip Macktaz and Alec Brenner.

Musical accompaniment will be rendered by Mrs. Celia Epstein and an entertainment will follow the play.

The committees include: Properties, Anne Kornstein; publicity, Anne L. Dunn; programs and announcements, Bernadine Lavine and Ada Levin; tickets, Rae Shallen; patronesses, Eva Garelick (chairman), Ida Decter, Rebecca Blecher, Esther Golden; candy, Alice Kibrik. The head usher will be Ruth Brenner, assisted by Bernice Rubin, Selma Billick, Rose Helfand, Sara Susel and Isabel Sholovitz.

A partial list of the patronesses includes: Mrs. Rachel Dunn, Mrs. J. Sydney Lavine, Mrs. Lena Schlansky, Mrs. Shane Schlansky, Mrs. Morris Rubin, Mrs. Isaac Kibrik, Mrs. Moses Kornstein, Mrs. Arthur I. Darman, Mrs. R. Garelick, Mrs. Jacob Susel, Mrs. Israel Levin, Mrs. Philip Hopp, Mrs. Samuel Kornstein, Mrs. Moe Yahrus, Mrs. Nathan Falk, Mrs. Nathan Tiekton, Mrs. Sam Golden, Mrs. R. Blecher, Mrs. Louis Macktaz, Mrs. David Schlieve, Mrs. David Decter, Mrs. Jacob R. Russian, Mrs. J. Zimmerman, Mrs. Joseph Borenstein, Mrs. S. Norman, Mrs. J. W. Brenner, Mrs. Maurice Brenner, Mrs. Charles Berlow, Mrs. Abe Goldstein, Mrs. Israel Goldstein, Mrs. Louis Helfand, Mrs. Rebecca Brenner and Mrs. H. J. Sholovitz.

State Department Orders Inquiry at Behest of Jewish Congress

Whole Nation Aroused

Heartened by the inquiry instituted by the State Department, America's Jewry in every city and town throughout the nation today was linked with Jew and Gentile alike the world over in mighty protest against the outrages of the Hitler regime in Germany.

The movement, already started in England, Poland and France, was initiated in New York last Sunday when thousands of representatives of organizations attended a conference called by the American Jewish Congress. Bernard S. Deutsch, President of the Congress, presided. The conference adopted a resolution calling for protest demonstrations to be held simultaneously throughout the nation, New York's own mass meeting to be held in Madison Square Garden.

U. S. Probe Started

Rabbi Stephen S. Wise and other prominent members of the Congress earlier this week conferred with Undersecretary of State Phillips at Washington and was told that the American Embassy in Berlin is following all phases of the German upheaval. A detailed report on the anti-Semitism question there is being prepared in Berlin and by American consulates in other large German cities. The United States government, it is indicated, is prepared to make formal diplomatic protest if official reports bear out newspaper indications of the Nazi outrages against Jews and others.

Through its delegates in the large cities, the American Jewish Congress is spreading its mighty protest movement into every corner of the nation. From California to Maine mass meetings are being planned with petitions prepared to be presented to the state and federal governments, asking intervention on humane grounds and pointing to precedents set in years past.

Hub Meeting Planned

Chicago, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Boston and other large cities are planning meetings of prominent Jewish leaders for next Sunday. In Boston an emergency conference of Jewish organizations will be held at 2:30 Sunday afternoon in Mishkan Tefila Temple, Seaver street, Roxbury.

Meanwhile, in Germany, Nazi officials continue to harass and persecute Jews. District mayors of Berlin last week were ordered to cancel their contracts with Jewish physicians employed at municipal hospitals, according to The Jewish Telegraphic Agency. Jewish lawyers in Breslau would be allowed only restricted practise before Breslau courts under a numerus clausus now pending. Jewish professors and teachers have been and are being barred from the field of education. Jewish artists, authors and scientists are fleeing the country. Jewish merchants and business men long have been confronted with boycotts as well as violence.

Jewish clubs and organizations have been raided and padlocked, their members beaten and wounded. Hitler's own attempt to bring some sort of discipline out of the apparently uncontrollable avalanche he has started has been futile. Violence for several days had subsided in Berlin and somewhat in the provinces, but latest reports call attention to attacks on worshippers entering the synagogues, floggings in Frankfurt.

FALL RIVER JEWISH COMMUNITY CENTER NOTES

The bi-weekly dance sponsored by the David R. Radovsky Chapter of A. Z. A. was held Thursday at the Jewish Community Center. The next dance will be held Thursday, March 30th. These dances are held to procure funds to meet the expenses of the Sunday Night Forums conducted by the organization. The A. Z. A. dances are very popular with the young folks from the neighboring cities of Providence, Newport, New Bedford and Taunton.

On Sunday evening, at 8:15, the Jewish Center debating team will engage with the Taunton debating society on the subject of "State Unemployment Insurance." There will be no admission charge and everyone is welcome.

On Wednesday, a cooking demonstration will be given at the meeting of the Y. W. H. A. through the courtesy of the Fall River Electric Light Co. All members and their friends are invited.

The local A. Z. A. Chapter will conduct the services Friday evening, March 31st, at 8:15, at Temple Beth-El. The chairman of the committee is Saul Lips and speakers for the occasion will be Milton Lincoln, Aleph Godol of the chapter, Milton Epstein, advisor and Louis M. Shanok, executive director of the Jewish Center and organizer of the chapter.

The Fall River Center will have a part in the Educational Conference to be held at the Hotel Kimball in Springfield, April 1st and 2nd.

WEALTHY MANUFACTURER DIES AT AGE OF SIXTY

Los Angeles, Mar. 24—(JTA)—S. M. Sten of Chicago, a wealthy manufacturer, died in his suite at the Ambassador Hotel from a heart attack. He was sixty years of age, and at his bedside were his wife and his secretary.

GENERAL CONTRACTING
Painter and Paper Hanging
Estimates Free of Charge
Established for 21 years
LOUIS SEITMAN
44 Carrington Ave. ANgell 2838

HEAR CRAZY QUARTET
Mon., Wed., Fri., Sat.—11:45 A. M.
Tues., Thur.—5:45 P. M.
15 Minute Programs
—WPRO—
CRAZY CRYSTAL STORE 14 Arcade

EAST GREENWICH DAIRY CO.
ICE CREAM
THE CREAM OF QUALITY
ALSO
GRADE "A" RAW
AND
Grade "A" Pasteurized Milk
FROM GUERNSEY DAIRIES
Call East Greenwich 337

CARMOTE
Paints, Varnishes, Enamels
CITY HARDWARE CO.
25 Rathbun St., Woonsocket, R. I.
TEL. WOON. 2965

ADVERTISERS ENGRAVING Company
66 ORANGE ST.
ARTISTS-ENGRAVERS
"NEW ENGLAND'S SMART ENGRAVING HOUSE"

TELEPHONE WRENTHAM 8113 RING 3
WEINSTEIN'S LAKE PEARL MANOR
This modern and beautiful hotel is located on the shore of LAKE PEARL, WRENTHAM, MASS.
An Ideal Place to Spend Your Vacation or a Week-End
Special Comforts for Winter Accommodations
REASONABLE RATES
CATERING WEDDINGS, BANQUETS, PARTIES

TEMPLE EMANU-EL

SABBATH SERVICES

This evening, Rabbi Goldman will speak on the subject, "The Language of Words and the Language of Action." Friday eve services will also be held at sun-down in the chapel. Sabbath morning services at 9 o'clock in the main synagogue. Junior Congregation services at 10:30. Daily services in chapel morning and evening.

RABBI IN THE COMMUNITY

Rabbi Goldman will speak at the Fourth Baptist Church on Hope street Sunday morning, March 26th, and will speak at the Westminster Unitarian Church on Adelaide avenue that same evening. Rabbi Goldman will give the last of his three talks over the radio Wednesday afternoon under the auspices of the Parents' Council. He will speak on the subject, "The Spoiled Child."

KINDERGARTEN PRESENTATION

The kindergarten class of Temple Emanu-El Religious School will present a Biblical Sketch with Biblical songs at the assembly this Sunday. The pupils participating are Elaine Seigal, Bobby Tieman, Franklin Blazar, Buddy Fain, Buddy Bachman, Yvette Kaufman and Sybil Ganzer.

HONOR ROLL

The Honor Roll for the months of January and February in the Religious School is as follows:

Hebrew School—Jerome Halpern, Irving Levine, Helen Koppelman, Milton Isserlis, Sylvia Katz, Helen Resnick, Morton Frank, Milton Richman, Norman Kohnovsky, Aaron Beck, Douglas Seigal, Joseph Seigal, Maynard Burt and Anita Perelay.

Sunday School—Maurice Beck, Howard Blazar, Beatrice Norman, Anita Perelay, Mathew Marks, Gladys Chernack, Hilda Greenberg, Berrick Joslin, Lillian Ackerman, Rachel Levine, Elaine Guny, Eva Levine, Shirley Sackett, Joseph Schechter, Douglas Seigal, Arthur Spear, Shirley Norman, Harvey Spear, Lester Millman, Ruth Ostrow, Ruth Rotman, Aaron Beck, Leonard Blazar, Sheldon Gerber, Sylvia Katz, Milton Isserlis, Stanley Garn, Irving Levine, Arlene Goldblatt, Harvey Berman, Shirley Kaufman, Bernice Lipsey, Phyllis Norman, William Bloom, David Temkin, Joyce Joslin, Phyllis Rosen, Rena Pritsker, Melvin Frank, Philip Simon and Edna Sackett.

FLORAL OFFERING

The floral offering for this Sabbath Friday and Saturday, is the gift of Mrs. Jacob Felder, in memory of her departed father and mother, Aaron and Anna Sackett.

MARDI GRAS HUGE SUCCESS

The Temple vestry last Thursday night once more became a Temple of Chance in celebration of the Purim holidays. The usual paraphernalia of

DID YOU EVER HEAR THE HOSPITAL WHISTLE BLOW?

By CHARLES M. HOFFMAN, MIRIAM HOSPITAL

The following is the first of a series of articles written especially for THE JEWISH HERALD, by Major Charles M. Hoffman, Superintendent of the Miriam Hospital for the purpose of presenting enlightening facts of which the laymen are unaware. Major Hoffman enters his seventh year of continuous service as executive head of the Miriam Hospital next Saturday.—Editor.

"Did you ever hear the hospital whistle blow?" That's a foolish question, if ever there was one, but if any one asked that question, it undoubtedly was to show some difference between hospitals and business establishments.

A business office or a factory closes late in the afternoon, but the hospital keeps open constantly. Usually when a hospital opens its doors they remain open until growth of demands makes a new building necessary.

No one knows when accident or sudden illness will strike, and our hospital receives many patients during the night. Moreover, even if gambling equipment adorned the sedate vestry rooms. Nat C. Cohen, the Master Plunger of the evening, announced that in accordance with instructions from the Secretary of the Treasury, the Mardi Gras Committee had increased the amount of money to be released from the treasury from $500 to $1000. The increase of the circulation medium brought a marked improvement at the gambling tables.

Business was off somewhat because the customers seemed rather careful in plunging with their scrip. The fine array of gifts that were on display finally caused intense playing at the last minute. The Stock Market, in its wildest days, scarcely outdid the frenzied plunging of the last 10 minutes. Twenty thousand dollars were staked on the turn of the wheel. The cashiers signed I. O. U.'s right and left. At the end of the evening's play, amidst the hushed silence of the huge crowd, it was announced that a moratorium had to be declared. After a huddle, it was decided that the Mardi Gras Bank would refuse to honor the I. O. U.'s of the cashiers. Nu, what could you expect from a committee that did not have even a Goldbergs on tap, to maintain the gold standard?

The winner of first prize, a luxurious tapestry chair was Abe Rotman. Second prize went to Louis Goldsmith; third prize—to but what's the use, everybody who won a prize insisted that it be sold and the proceeds be donated for the Temple Carnival which is to be held in the Temple Vestry, May 23rd, 24th and 25th.

The committee of arrangements consisted of Nat C. Cohen, Michael Tieman, Sam Rosen and the other officers of the Men's Club of the Temple.

JUDGE JOSLIN SPEAKS AT TEMPLE MEETING

The first meeting of the Carnival Committee of Temple Emanu-El was held Sunday morning in the Temple. The 1933 carnival will be held in the Temple Vestry for three days, May 23d, 24th and 25th.

After listening to the plans, Judge Philip C. Joslin spoke briefly to the thirty members of the committee. He said that in his opinion, all indications showed that bad times had passed. He was more than encouraged by the tremendous enthusiasm of the men present, and in view of their success in raising a huge sum in the year 1927, when times were worst he felt that success was assured for the coming carnival. In fact, the Judge was so sure of his "chickens" that he even told the committee what was going to be done with the funds when they were turned over to the Temple treasury.

Sam Rosen, the chairman, will be assisted by Alex Weiner, co-chairman; Herman Aisenberg, chairman of tickets; Mike Tieman and Nat C. Cohen, gifts, and Martin M. Zucker, chairman of publicity, together with the entire committee of the 1933 carnival.

emergency service were not required, a hospital could not shut its doors and send all the personnel home at 5 or 6 p. m. For what would the patients do from then until the doors were opened in the morning?

The 24-hour day of service of the hospital adds materially to the expenses of the hospital. First, there must be a night corps of workers, then heat, light, power, telephone service and other activities and other necessities must be available. The equipment and much of the furnishings of a hospital deliver at least two years' service every twelve months, compared with a factory, because the hospital is busy night and day, while the factory may open only 12 hours daily, at the most, and frequently is closed from Saturday noon to Monday morning.

Briefly, in comparison with an industrial plant, the Miriam Hospital carries on 24 hours a day, every day in the year. From 6 p. m. to 6 a. m., when an industrial plant is usually shut down, the hospital has a sufficient quota of nurses and other employees on duty to maintain the plant and to serve the sick. Besides these, there are a number of others subject to call at any hour of the night in connection with an emergency operation.

TRANSFER REMAINS OF NOTED GREEK ZIONIST TO PALESTINE

Salonica, Mar. 24—(JTA)—The remains of Dr. Maurice Cuffinas were transferred to Tel Aviv. Dr. Cuffinas was a Zionist Deputy for Salonica from 1915 to 1920, and was the initiator for a great movement in Greece on behalf of the Jewish National Fund, for the establishment of a colony of Greek Jews in Palestine.

Cook Potatoes with 6 minutes of electricity!

WITH less than a half-cup of water, potatoes are cooked with only six minutes of electricity. At the end of six minutes the switch is turned "off" and stored heat in the surface coil finishes the cooking. Using little water, electric cookery conserves the healthful food values. You can't help but be economical when you use an electric range.

ASK YOUR DEALER ABOUT ELECTRIC COOKERY

THE NARRAGANSETT ELECTRIC COMPANY

Electric Shop 51 Westminster St.

BRANCHES — ARCTIC — BRISTOL — WARREN — OLNEYVILLE — EAST GREENWICH

TEMPLE BETH-EL

SERVICES

"A Genius of Goodness" will be delivered at the services this evening at 8 o'clock by Rabbi Braude. The Scriptural reading for the week, "Yavakel Pekude," begins with 35:36 and ends with 40:38 in the Book of Exodus; the Prophetic selection is I Kings 5:9-26. Saturday morning services are at 10:30.

PARENT-TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION

The following were unanimously elected officers of the newly organized Parent-Teachers' Association:

Jewish Half-Hour Sunday From 12:30 to 1—WPRO

The following program will be presented over Station WPRO Sunday from 12:30 to 1 o'clock:

- (1) Choral selection, "En Ko-mo-cho" by Sulzer
Rendered by Mr. Einstein's Temple Emanu-El Choir
- (2) The Trio, consisting of Benjamin Premack (violinist), Arthur Einstein (pianist), and Miss Barbara Smith (cellist)
- (3) Yiddish Folk-Song, "Tan-ehum" by Golub, Cantor Bettman
- (4) Address: "The Voice of Einstein and the Hands of Hitler," Rabbi Israel M. Goldman
- (5) Yiddish Folk-Song, "A Brief Tzum Rebbin," Cantor Bettman
- (6) Choral selections of Synagogue music, "Le-cho Hag-dulah," Temple Choir.

B'NAI B'RITH COUNCIL, NEW JERSEY, HOLDS CONVENTION

New York, Mar. 24—(JTA)—B'nei B'rith Council of New Jersey held its quarterly convention at the Community Center building, Jersey City, on March 19th. Leon H. Rose, Camden, its President, presided.

Reports were made by committee chairmen conducting B'nei B'rith activities in New Jersey. The council was the guest of the B'nei B'rith Lodge of Jersey City and was entertained at a luncheon at the Center. The convention was attended by prominent Jews of the state to consider Jewish problems.

ANNUAL DONORS' LUNCHEON, HADASSAH, HELD IN NEW YORK

New York, Mar. 24—(JTA)—Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, President of the Federated Council of Churches, was the principle speaker at the annual donors' luncheon of New York Hadassah, held on Monday, March 20, at the Waldorf Astoria.

Five hundred members and friends of Hadassah have made reservations, in an effort to meet the quota of $25,000 set by the National Office for Health and Medical Work in Palestine.

Milton Sapinsley, President; Mrs. David D. Gilman, First Vice President; Miss Amelia Wise, Second Vice President; Mrs. Henry M. Ehrlich, Recording Secretary; Mrs. Phillip V. Marcus, Corresponding Secretary, and Mrs. Alex Kleinberger, Treasurer.

Louis R. Golden, chairman of the Religious School Committee, reported the recent resolutions passed by the Board of Trustees.

BETH-EL TUESDAY LUNCHEON CLUB

The last meeting of the luncheon club was held Tuesday at the Narragansett Hotel. Rabbi Israel M. Goldman spoke on "Currents Events." That meeting concluded the second season of the club which is coming to fill an increasingly important role in the life of the Jewish community.

YAHREZIT

At the service this evening prayers will be offered in memory of: Edward Sanek, by Mr. and Mrs. Max Sanek; Isaac Schloss, by Mrs. William Schloss; Marion Blumenthal, by Mrs. Louis Steiner. At the service next Friday, prayers will be offered in memory of: Louis Rosenfeld, by John J. Rosenfeld, Mrs. Mabel Caffrey, Mrs. Estelle Einstein; Moses Einstein, by Mrs. Estelle Einstein.

VISITATION COURSE

The Confirmation Class, under the leadership of the Rabbi, visited the Orms Street Synagogue recently and listened to the reading of the Megillah. This is the first trip in a course of visiting Jewish institutions in Providence and vicinity.

BOOKS DONATED

"Know the Bible" by Maurice Liberman, "The American Remnant" by Robert Lee Straus and "Jewish Legends of the Middle Ages" by Wolf Pascheles, presented by the Sisterhood, in memory of Morris G. Eilenberg; "Jewish Influence in Modern Thought" by A. A. Roback, presented by Mr. and Mrs. Sigmund Lederer, in memory of Edward Weinlander.

DISCUSSION GROUP

The next meeting of the Discussion group will be held Sunday, March 26, at 7:30 p. m., in the vestry. Miss Cornelia Walder will recite "Credo" by Sh. Tchernickowsky and Miss Beatrice Goldberg will read a paper on "The Last Days of Shylock" by Ludwig Lewisohn.

FATHER AND SON NIGHT

Harry Myers, chairman, announces that elaborate plans are being made for the annual Father and Son Night to be held in the vestry, Saturday, April 22, at 6:30.

CENTER BROADCASTS

EDUCATIONAL CONFERENCE IN SPRINGFIELD

The second annual New England Educational Conference for Jewish Centers, Y. W. H. A. and Y. M. H. A. workers will take place at Springfield, April 1st and 2nd. The conference is being sponsored by the New England Association of Jewish Center Executives in conjunction with the Associated Y's of New England. The two-day event is directed primarily toward the betterment of professional and volunteer workers in Jewish recreational institutions.

The program has been made as varied as possible to include important phases of this type of social service. The conference will open with a dinner meeting of the N. E. Executive Directors. In the evening the annual conference dance is scheduled to allow the participants from the region to meet socially.

The entire morning of April 2nd will be given over to sectional meetings. The round tables on clubs will be guided by Jacob I. Cohen. Joseph H. Kushner, principal of the Springfield "Y" Biblical School, will preside at the meeting on Jewish Education. Louis Shanok, Executive of Fall River, will lead the discussion on dramatics and Jacob Mirviss, Director of New Haven, will preside at the round table on physical education and recreation.

Following the sectional meetings the conference luncheon will be held, at which Jacob I. Cohen of Providence, President of the Jewish Center Executives will preside. The main address will be given by an authority in the field of leisure time activity. The conference will close with a dramatic tournament with Springfield, New Haven and Providence participating.

Members of the Center having automobiles and planning to go to Springfield are requested to get in touch with Mr. Cohen. The first conference was held in Providence.

JEW, GENTILES CELEBRATE FORTIETH ANNIVERSARY

Easton, Mar. 24—(JTA)—Jews and Gentile united in celebrating the 40th anniversary of the Congregation Children of Abraham of Easton, more than 300 persons being present at the banquet held in the Y. M. H. A. auditorium.

Judge William M. McKean of the Northampton county bench and Mayor F. C. Roberts were among the speakers. The principal speaker was Rabbi J. Hahn of New York City. Other speakers were Rabbi Shapiro of Easton and Israel Krohn, a member of the congregation, who was toastmaster.

A number of the founders of the congregation were present at the banquet.

All speakers stressed conditions in Germany at the present time and urged Jews in the United States to aid the Jews in Germany.

Brith Sholom Lodges Will Hold Joint Meeting Here, April 4

A joint meeting of all Brith Sholom Lodges in Rhode Island has been arranged by S. L. Tatz, Rhode Island State Deputy Grand Master, and will take place Tuesday, April 4, at Swedish Hall, on Chestnut street.

Several grand officers from Philadelphia will be the principal speakers and every member is urged to attend this meeting. Many matters of vital importance will be discussed.

TIDBITS

By SYLVIA L. ROBIN

Providence Fraternal Association celebrated its sixth birthday with an entertainment and dance last week on the regular meeting night. Features of the evening were Harry Levine and Nathan Ostrow, clad as Chassidim (strictly Orthodox Jews). They made an ardent appeal in heavy Jargon, for contributions which would be applied to the benevolent fund of the organization. They were well received, and the hat that was passed was pretty nearly filled. A door prize was won by Mrs. I. Fiertel—she can give it to her husband, and he, in turn can get all spruced up—a military set of brushes should not go to waste. A cash consolation prize was won by Hyman Troupe.

Then dancing was in order—a string orchestra provided the music and a few less timid couples danced. Later on, in a Paul Jones the ice was broken and a hilarious time followed. Ben Agronick was so afraid he would be left without a partner. Jack Brown wasn't taking any chances, either, so he clung to his partner, even when the others were changing. Mrs. Sidney Hoffman was having such a good time that she didn't want to go home, in spite of her husband's protests of fatigue. A group of ladies acted as hostesses, assisted by a few mere males and served generous sandwiches and punch after several helpings, the large gathering gradually dispersed.

Mrs. William Schmelz and Mrs. William Reuter got busy and sponsored a bridge for the benefit of the Hadassah Donors' Luncheon, at the home of the former, 24 Pennsylvania avenue. Four tables were in play and the competition for prizes was strong. Those who won were Mrs. Henry M. Ehrlich (the lady who so efficiently takes care of publicity for Hadassah), Mrs. Adolph Levy, Mrs. Louis Ross and Mrs. Joseph Teller.

Mrs. Anna Strumfeld of Hartford, formerly of Providence, was present, and Miss Tillie Brody, guest of the hostesses, received a prize. The hostesses outdid themselves in the variety of refreshments, and all of the guests were so well satisfied that they expressed a willingness to be invited again.

A guest of the Philip Pokrases, Harry Pokras of Bridgeport, is now in town—he is a very genial gentleman, and might readily be taken for his brother—so if you bump into him, beware—it may be a case of mistaken identity.

This was also birthday week for Rhode Island Post of the Jewish War Veterans, and they celebrated in a fitting manner with a dance at their quarters on Niagara street. Everyone present had a most enjoyable time. Troop 10, of the Boy Scouts, sponsored by the Post, under the leadership of young Mr. Leach, gave a demonstration of a model meeting as conducted by the Troop. It was very interesting and the parents of some of the boys in the Troop were bursting with pride and no one could blame them for that.

Music for the dance was furnished by a peppy orchestra, and the floor was crowded for each dance—there were no wall-flowers, either, because when there were not enough men to go around—for you know the men must take an intermission every so often to smoke and schmooze, the ladies paired off by themselves. The usual Paul Jones took place, and again there were difficulties with a preponderance of ladies—those lazy men had to be actually drafted into the circle.

Delicious refreshments were served, and all the men were saying, "If only the Beer Bill were passed." At midnight the strains of "Home, Sweet Home," announced that it was time to go home.

Jewish Home for the Aged of R. I. News

By M. P. OSTROW

DONATIONS

J. Fineman, Inc., chickens; A. Abrams & Sons, chickens; Seigal's Meat Market, chicken; B. Gershman, chickens; Freedman & Mittleman, chickens; S. Glantz, chicken; J. Dressler, tongues; Red Fox Beverage Co., soda; Shore Bros., fruit and vegetables. United Fruit Stores, apples; Sweet Saritary Bakery, bread; Korb Baking Co., bread; Mrs. M. Sheer, handkerchiefs; Mrs. J. Hochberg, cake; Mrs. M. Berry, cake; Mrs. Leo Logan, cake; Mrs. M. Novgrad, cake; Mrs. Tessler, wine; Mrs. A. L. Sutton, cookies; Mrs. Kahnovsky, cake; Mrs. D. Fain, cash; Mrs. J. Cohen, cash; Mr. M. Fowler, cash; J. Brownstein, cash; Mrs. M. Michelson, cash; Mrs. H. Swartz, cash; Mrs. Harriett, cash; Mrs. Leo Weiner, cash; Mrs. Bernstein, cash; Mrs. Lecht, cash; Mrs. Hochberg, cash; Mrs. J. Davis, bread; E. Rosen, talcum. Mrs. M. Abramowitz and Mrs. H. Swartz, prunes; Mrs. A. Bernstein, refreshments; Mrs. B. Brill, sugar, candles, wine, bread, cake; Mr. and Mrs. A. Zalkind, cakes and bread; Mrs. J. P. Weisman, cash; Mrs. J. D. Grossman, prunes; H. Werner, wine; Mrs. S. Michaelson, cake; Mrs. S. Goldberger, apples; Mr. S. Resnick, flowers; Mrs. S. Hyman, cake. Mrs. P. Ruby, cake; M. Feinberg, candy; Victory Bakery, cake; Mrs. L. Seitan, candy and wine; Mrs. D. Kahanovsky and Mrs. Brodetsky, taglach; Mrs. H. Rosenhirsch, cake; Mrs. B. I. Sass, cake; Mrs. M. Mellion, wine and cake; Mrs. E. Rosen, wine; Mrs. L. Smira, wine; Mrs. B. Ginsburg, cake and wine; Nathan White, Jewish books. H. B. Lasker; Mrs. I. Podrat, wine and cake; Mrs. M. Waitman, pillows; Mr. and Mrs. Max Seigal, wine.

Young Judaea Clubs

LEADERS' CLUB

The Leaders' Club of Rhode Island Young Judaea met met Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Rose Yaras, with Harold Gelfman presiding.

Club reports and problem analyses constituted the business discussion. Joseph Keller, Young Judaea supervisor, stressed competition for all Young Judaea clubs in the coming New England Regional Contests.

A committee, composed of Hy Stein, Martin Cohen, Leonora Finberg, Fannie Leve, Milton Scribner and Sidney Ballon, was appointed to make plans for a dance in order to obtain funds for various worthy ventures. The Leaders' Club welcomes all capable club leaders.

YOUNG ISRAEL

Sidney Hedrich addressed the first Friday evening forum of Young Israel on the subject, "What Ails American Judaism?"

The services Saturday morning were featured by Martin Cohen, club leader, who spoke on, "What a Club Owes to a Leader."

A committee composed of Israel Zukroff, Samuel Penn, Sydney Cohen and Abe Kilberg, has chosen a mock trial to be presented at the Center Intermediate Surt Night.

Samuel Wilk is the newly appointed Shamus for the Friday evening services and Jacob Marks for the Saturday morning services.

Max Parness, who reads the scrolls weekly, was recently ordained a Shochoit by Rabbis Werner and Levinson.

YOUTH OF JUDAEA

The Youth of Judaea met at Temple Emanu-El Wednesday evening, at which an intensive membership drive was launched.

Harold Gelfman, club leader, lead the discussion on the question, "Must a Zionist be a Religious Jew?"

It has been decided to sponsor a dance in the future in order to accumulate sufficient funds for contribution to the Keren Hanoar, the scout movement in Palestine.

SENIOR JUDAEANS

Under the chairmanship of Harry Fain, President, the Senior Judaeans held the most successful dance Saturday evening in the Vestry of Temple Beth-Israel. More than one hundred and fifty Judaeans and their friends attended. The proceeds of the affair will be used for Palestinian work.

All young men and women of the ages of seventeen and eighteen, who are interested in Young Judaea work, are invited to the next meeting of the group, Tuesday evening.

FAMOUS PIANIST SUCUMB

Berlin, Mar. 24—(JTA)—The famous pianist, Karol Szreter, died here at the age of 34. He was born in Lodz. He was regarded as a virtuoso from an early age.

Rabbi Kook Appeals to Save His Universal Yeshivah

To the people of Israel in every corner of the world I address this urgent call for help to our Holy Temple of Torah in Jerusalem—the Universal Yeshivah—which is the central institution for the diffusion of the light of our Holy Torah in our Holy Land and throughout the world.

In this difficult hour, when the gloomy clouds of economic distress have penetrated into every corner of the Jewish world, I appeal to our people who have so many times undergone such trials in the past that they rally all their spiritual forces and concentrate all efforts to strengthen and support the cause of our Holy Torah, which is the very basis of our life and the connecting link between our glorious past and the rehabilitation of our great people in our Holy Land.

Great are the economic difficulties of the Yeshivah at the present moment. Its very existence is threatened. With great bitterness in my heart I see the disgrace of the Torah and the affliction of those who are building it and are seeking a shadow in its utmost Holiness.

To every Jew and Jewess in whose heart there is a spark of the great eternal Jewish soul, to every one whose heart beats for the Jewish people and the Jewish Torah, I address this heart-rending appeal for help. Every Rabbi of a Jewish community, every conscientious Jewish leader, every magnanimous contributor should participate in this sacred work of saving the stronghold of Torah in our Holy Land—the Universal Yeshivah.

KEEP NO SILENCE, you who make mention of the name of our Lord and of Jerusalem, his Holy City. Come to the assistance of the Universal Yeshivah, and God will shower His blessings upon you from the Holy City of Jerusalem. As is the wish of your brother, who hopes for the redemption of our people in the near future.

(Signed) ABRAHAM ISAAC KOOK

All monies should be mailed to the Universal Yeshivah, Room 416, 38 Park Row, New York, N. Y.

Accuse 15 Bakeries of Violating Lord's Day Act In Montreal, Can.

Montreal, Mar. 24—(JTA)—Actions have been instituted in the Recorder's Court by the Montreal police department against upwards of 15 Jewish bakeries in the metropolis, alleging infraction of the Lord's Day Act.

The court subpoenas, returnable two weeks hence, charge the bakeries with having baked bread on Sunday mornings in direct contravention of the Federal Act, this Sunday labor necessitating the employment of Gentile help and thus disturbing the peaceful enjoyment of the Sabbath by Christians.

This police action will bring before the Recorder's Court once more the question as to just what are the rights of the Jews under the Lord's Day Act.

KOSHER FOOD BILL PASSED IN CONNECTICUT SENATE

Hartford, Mar. 24—(JTA)—The Connecticut State Senate passed the Kosher Food Bill recently, which had been sponsored by Senator Jacob Caplan of New Haven. The bill provides for fines of $100 and six months imprisonment for violations.

The bill orders all Jewish restaurants, meat markets and handlers of packaged goods to carry signs in their establishments, in letter at least four inches high, announcing whether the product being sold is either kosher or non-kosher.

LESCHINSKY PERMITTED TO REMAIN IN GERMANY

Berlin, March 24—(JTA)—Jacob Leschinsky, the representative of the New York Daily Forward, against whom an expulsion order had been made by the authorities here, has been granted permission to stay another fortnight on condition that he sends out no reports from Germany during that period.

Pronouncement of his stay followed intervention on his behalf by the Lithuanian Minister. Leschinsky is a Lithuanian citizen.

PROF. SHARFMAN TO AID IN ECONOMIC READJUSTMENT

Ann Harbor, Mich., Mar. 24—(JTA)—Prof. I. Leo Sharfman, head of the economic department of the University of Michigan, has been called to Washington in connection with the present economic readjustment.

On Feb. 24, Professor Sharfman and four other members of the University of Michigan faculty submitted a memorandum to the Senate Finance Committee predicting the closing of banks all over the country, and they urged Congress to act in guaranteeing all deposits 100 per cent.

"The Lamp of Experience— Is The Light To Guide Our Footsteps Into The Future"

If a testing such as the past three-and one-half years of financial history is experience . . .

If the soundness of the savings-and-loan plan through it all is evidence . . .

If the record of Old Colony's performance in particular is an index of what may be expected . . .

Then this institution may logically hope to attract a growing army of thoughtful people, ambitious for financial independence attained with safety and profit.

OLD COLONY CO-OPERATIVE BANK

58 WEYBOSSET ST. PROVIDENCE
WENSOCKET - WEST WARWICK - GREYSTONE - PAWTUCKET

Systematic Saving Spells Success

The Jewish Herald

THE JEWISH HOME NEWSPAPER OF RHODE ISLAND
PUBLISHED EVERY WEEK IN THE YEAR BY THE JEWISH PRESS PUBLISHING COMPANY

MYER M. COOPER, President

PAULINE CHORNEY, Editor

116 Orange Street, Providence, Rhode Island
TELEPHONE GASPEE 4312

Member Jewish Telegraphic Agency, Inc., With News Correspondents
All Over the World

Subscription Rates: Five Cents the Copy. By Mail, $2.50 per Annum, payable in advance

THE JEWISH HERALD invites correspondence on subjects of interest to the Jewish people, but disclaims responsibility for an indorsement of the views expressed by the writers.

FRIDAY, MARCH 24, 1933

Jewish Calendar 5693 1933

ROSH CHODESH NISSAN	TUESDAY, MARCH 28
1ST DAY PESSACH	TUESDAY, APRIL 11
7TH DAY PESSACH	MONDAY, APRIL 17
ROSH CHODESH IYAR	THURSDAY, APRIL 27
LAG B'OMER	SUNDAY, MAY 14
ROSH CHODESH SIVAN	FRIDAY, MAY 26
1ST DAY SHABUOTH	WEDNESDAY, MAY 31
ROSH CHODESH TAMMUZ	SUNDAY, JUNE 25
FAST OF TAMMUZ	TUESDAY, JULY 11
ROSH CHODESH AB	MONDAY, JULY 24
FAST OF AB	WEDNESDAY, AUG. 2
ROSH CHODESH ELLUL	WEDNESDAY, AUG. 23
5694 - 1933-34	1933
YOM KIPPUR	SATURDAY, SEPT. 30
ROSH HASHONAH	THURSDAY, SEPT. 21
1ST DAY SUCCOTH	THURSDAY, OCT. 5
SHEMINI ATZERETH	THURSDAY, OCT. 12

THE JEWISH TELEGRAPHIC AGENCY

The Jewish Telegraphic Agency, this week observing the 15th anniversary of its foundation, may proudly pause a moment to look back upon a past devoted to the service of world Jewry, and then stride firmly ahead to greater heights, mindful that the need for such an organization is ever increasing.

Mr. Jacob Landau, when he laid the groundwork for the service, undertook a unique task not unlike, in a local degree, the work undertaken by the Anglo-Jewish publications it serves. Just as the Anglo-Jewish weekly makes no attempt to compete with but rather supplements the great dailies in the gathering of local news, so does the J. T. A. serve a particular purpose in the collection and dissemination of its material.

The J. T. A., through the newspapers with which it is associated, presents the Jewish side of the news, a viewpoint to which no other news-gathering organization caters. This is the raison d'être of the J. T. A. and locally of the Anglo-Jewish weekly. The importance of both to Jewish life the world over is axiomatic.

A happy inspiration indeed led Mr. Landau to take the steps which led to creation of the J. T. A. in 1918, and it came at an opportune time, when Jews in all nations had been cut off from their foreign brothers during the chaos of war and the reconstruction period that followed. New nations were being born, Europe's boundaries were in process of readjustment, the whole face of the world was changing. To Jews oceans apart it meant confusion and peril. Contacts between families were gone, Jewish news was completely submerged, communication was almost impossible.

It took a brave man to tackle such a situation but under Mr. Landau the J. T. A. grew, its news-gathering tentacles spread speedily into New York, London, Paris, Berlin, Warsaw, Vienna, Jerusalem, wherever great Jewish colonies exist, establishing an invaluable medium for the exchange of information. Since that time it has branched out further until it covers thoroughly, with the aid of local agencies, practically every sizeable Jewish group in the world.

The service has been more than a news-gathering agency. It is perhaps the greatest single practical influence that can be brought to bear not only upon the Jewish people everywhere but also upon non-Jewish groups in behalf of Jews. Merely by pointing them out, the J. T. A. has time after time eliminated some of those injustices from which Jews suffer. It has awakened the Jew in many instances and at the same time has goaded him into bringing about sufficient pressure to overcome evils which he otherwise would bear in sullen silence.

Of equal importance is the spotlight the J. T. A. throws upon Jewish culture and the accomplishments of Jewish artists and scientists and men and women of letters, making public their achievements for the whole world to appreciate and acclaim.

It were a poor newspaper which, in this age of rapid communication through telegraph, swift steamer and speedy postal arrangement, neglects to provide its readers with a general knowledge of what is going on beyond the borders of the particular community in which it is published. Such an attitude presupposes a provincialism on the part of its readers which is diametrically opposite to the trend of the times. Failure to provide information on national and world affairs is dereliction of duty on the part of any Anglo-Jewish newspaper when the excellent facilities of the Jewish Telegraphic Agency are available.

May the J. T. A. continue its high task of furnishing to all Jews the Jewish side of the news.

BY THE WAY

TIDBITS AND NEWS OF JEWISH PERSONALITIES

By DAVID SCHWARTZ

Speaking of Hygiene

If one waits long enough, it comes. I am referring just now to this business of sleeping with the windows open—even in cold weather. I am one of the few people never enthusiastic about this idea—in fact, in my own personal circle the only one. Of course, when the subject was up for discussion, I would be just a little evasive. Theoretically, I had rationalized that even if the air was as beneficial as these window-openers contend, it could hardly do one good, when these very same window openers pile so many blankets on them. For after all, the whole body is something of a breathing organ—not alone the mouth. But essentially it wasn't a matter of theory with me—it was just that, I like the cold weather only in summer.

Listen to Haldane

And now comes confirmation of my prejudice. At least partial confirmation. And from a source none other than Professor J. B. S. Haldane, the famous English scientist. Says Haldane: "Except in overcrowded sleeping quarters or in hot weather, I do not believe in open windows at night." Mr. Haldane attributes his changed conviction, by the way, to his wife, who, by the way, is a Jewess.

Let us go on further with Mr. Haldane's confession: "I was brought up to sleep with the window open and had about a cold a month. Since I married, my bedroom window is shut in cold weather and I only get about two colds a year." Now, you cold air fiends, what say you to this?

The Proletariat

Sometimes I believe that charity is a social aspirin which will prevent any real readjustment of society, in the ends of social justice.

I am told, for instance, that in Harlem, there are hundreds, yes, thousands of negroes, more comfortable and secure today than ever. The unemployment committee pays their rent, gives them a food ticket buys clothes for them and sends doctors and nurses among them. They just have to wait for the girl with the check to visit them.

The same is true of a considerable element of the very poor whites.

The Case of Dykaar

I remind myself of the great clerk who suffer, too proud to seek charity. And it seems to me, that if a revision comes, it must come from this bourgeoisie instead of the proletarian element, socialist thinking, notwithstanding.

I remind myself of Moses Dykaar, the famous Jewish sculptor, who threw himself in the front of a subway this week. I am quite sure that had Dykaar been aided even to the extent of one of those Harlem families, he would be still living today.

A Great Artist

Dykaar, as you may know, sculptured such well known figures as Coolidge, Alexander Graham Bell, Samuel Gompers, Chief Justice Hughes. If you visit the New York National Museum in Washington, you will be struck by the quantity as well as quality of his work. Yet poverty haunted his door steps.

I met Dykaar several years ago. Brooding misery was on his face then. He scarcely knew then where his next meal was coming from. A head of one of the government departments at Washington admired his work, and let him use a room free as a studio. But he had a wife and two children to support.

"Hands Like Mine"

Dykaar knew he was a genius. "Hands like mine," he once said to me, "come to only a few people in a hundred years." Yet he moaned to me, "These gifted hands can do little work for the worry over bread."

Had Dykaar been helped to the extent of one of these proletarian families, he would, I believe, be still living and making beautiful things today.

Hitler Herring

Brother Slomovitz comes to the aid of this department this week with several stories.

The first of them, Slomovitz credits to Dr. Abram L. Sachar of Illinois Hillel Foundation.

A Jew went into a grocery store and asked for a Hitler herring.

"A Hitler herring—what sort of a herring is that?"

"Oh, don't you know! A Bismarck with the brains taken out."

Technocratic Banks

The second story Mr. Slomovitz credits to Dr. Bernard Heller. A Jewish woman went to her bank and asked for the "Chemiker."

"You mean the cashier?" said the girl at the information desk.

"No, the Chemiker," replied the woman.

"You mean the president, the manager, the directors?"

"No—the Chemiker," persisted the Jewish woman.

"Chemiker—what do you mean?" asked the girl.

"It's very plain—I want to see the man who turned my money into Blote (mud)."

The Rebbe and the Goat

"And now," concludes Brother Slomovitz, "for the story which I am passing around here apropos of the great Bank Yom Tov. I suppose, most of us, who months ago thought it could not be worse than it was then, would only be too happy to go back to that status. Which serves to recall the story of the Chassid who went to his Rebbe and pleaded that he intercede in behalf of his earthly plight. Said the Chassid:

"I have thirteen children. Every son has a wife, every daughter has a husband, most of my children have children of their own, and all of us are compelled to live in two rooms. What shall I do?"

"Do you have a tzig? (goat)," asked the Rebbe.

"Yes," said the Chassid.

"Take the tzig in to join your family," said the Rebbe.

Off went the Chassid, but in two weeks, he returned, and he was frantic.

"Rebbe, it is impossible. We can't suffer this any longer. What shall we do?"

"Take out the tzig and come back to see me in a week," advised the Rebbe.

In a week, the Chassid was back, all smiles and happy. "Now, Rebbe, it is a machayah (wonderful)."

Well, cheer up, Brother Slomovitz. Since the receipt of your letter, the banks have reopened.

We may be eating again soon—and if not eating—at least, we'll be able to make a lechayim.

Well, cheer up, Brother Slomovitz. Since the receipt of your letter, the banks have reopened.

We may be eating again soon—and if not eating—at least, we'll be able to make a lechayim.

Well, cheer up, Brother Slomovitz. Since the receipt of your letter, the banks have reopened.

We may be eating again soon—and if not eating—at least, we'll be able to make a lechayim.

Well, cheer up, Brother Slomovitz. Since the receipt of your letter, the banks have reopened.

We may be eating again soon—and if not eating—at least, we'll be able to make a lechayim.

Well, cheer up, Brother Slomovitz. Since the receipt of your letter, the banks have reopened.

We may be eating again soon—and if not eating—at least, we'll be able to make a lechayim.

Well, cheer up, Brother Slomovitz. Since the receipt of your letter, the banks have reopened.

We may be eating again soon—and if not eating—at least, we'll be able to make a lechayim.

Well, cheer up, Brother Slomovitz. Since the receipt of your letter, the banks have reopened.

We may be eating again soon—and if not eating—at least, we'll be able to make a lechayim.

Well, cheer up, Brother Slomovitz. Since the receipt of your letter, the banks have reopened.

We may be eating again soon—and if not eating—at least, we'll be able to make a lechayim.

Well, cheer up, Brother Slomovitz. Since the receipt of your letter, the banks have reopened.

We may be eating again soon—and if not eating—at least, we'll be able to make a lechayim.

Well, cheer up, Brother Slomovitz. Since the receipt of your letter, the banks have reopened.

We may be eating again soon—and if not eating—at least, we'll be able to make a lechayim.

Well, cheer up, Brother Slomovitz. Since the receipt of your letter, the banks have reopened.

We may be eating again soon—and if not eating—at least, we'll be able to make a lechayim.

Well, cheer up, Brother Slomovitz. Since the receipt of your letter, the banks have reopened.

We may be eating again soon—and if not eating—at least, we'll be able to make a lechayim.

Well, cheer up, Brother Slomovitz. Since the receipt of your letter, the banks have reopened.

We may be eating again soon—and if not eating—at least, we'll be able to make a lechayim.

Well, cheer up, Brother Slomovitz. Since the receipt of your letter, the banks have reopened.

We may be eating again soon—and if not eating—at least, we'll be able to make a lechayim.

Well, cheer up, Brother Slomovitz. Since the receipt of your letter, the banks have reopened.

We may be eating again soon—and if not eating—at least, we'll be able to make a lechayim.

Well, cheer up, Brother Slomovitz. Since the receipt of your letter, the banks have reopened.

We may be eating again soon—and if not eating—at least, we'll be able to make a lechayim.

Well, cheer up, Brother Slomovitz. Since the receipt of your letter, the banks have reopened.

We may be eating again soon—and if not eating—at least, we'll be able to make a lechayim.

Well, cheer up, Brother Slomovitz. Since the receipt of your letter, the banks have reopened.

We may be eating again soon—and if not eating—at least, we'll be able to make a lechayim.

Well, cheer up, Brother Slomovitz. Since the receipt of your letter, the banks have reopened.

We may be eating again soon—and if not eating—at least, we'll be able to make a lechayim.

Well, cheer up, Brother Slomovitz. Since the receipt of your letter, the banks have reopened.

We may be eating again soon—and if not eating—at least, we'll be able to make a lechayim.

other goyim. You are a Jew—why do you have to go to Marx, when you have such an economist as Moses to guide you."

Moses as Economist

"What is there of the economics of Moses?" I replied, "that is applicable to our present economic dilemma?"

"Did you ever read the Biblical injunction," retorted Brining, "Thou shalt not remove thy neighbor's landmark?"

"Did you ever read the passage in Isaiah: 'Woe unto those who join land to land and field to field?'"

"Did you ever read in the Bible: 'The earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof?'"

"Did you ever read the Biblical ordinances for the re-distribution of the land and the laws of the Jubilee?"

"And did you ever realize that these injunctions have a distinct relationship to our own mortgage problems and land speculation problems—to the whole intricate machinery of our economic system?"

He Insults Me

"Well," I replied, "those land laws were very good in their day. They were even good in much later days. They were, for instance, very important for a feudal system. Given such laws, the degradations and penury which made up the feudal system would have been impossible. But today, land has sunk into relative unimportance. Today, the issue has been shifted to capital and machinery—the instruments of production."

"That only goes to show what an ass you are," said Brining. "Pardon me for speaking so frankly."

"Oh, that's all right," I replied. "Don't mind me."

"I won't," said Brining, "but just let me show you how absurd your statement is. You say that land is today relatively unimportant as compared with former ages. You are in New York. You remember, the site of this city was bought from the Indians for about twenty-five dollars. Today, the mere annual rental value of the land of New York is over 600 millions a year. You will admit then that city land is much more important than it was in former years and ages. Isn't the same also true of, say, timber lands. Today we use infinitely more paper than in former ages, and paper is made out of timber. The same thing is true of mineral lands—iron, copper, ore, gold, silver, tin, of water power sites, and so on. The progress of invention has enormously increased the value of these mineral lands. In brief land has become a tremendously more important factor than it ever was in feudal days."

"That only goes to show what an ass you are," said Brining. "Pardon me for speaking so frankly."

"Oh, that's all right," I replied. "Don't mind me."

"I won't," said Brining, "but just let me show you how absurd your statement is. You say that land is today relatively unimportant as compared with former ages. You are in New York. You remember, the site of this city was bought from the Indians for about twenty-five dollars. Today, the mere annual rental value of the land of New York is over 600 millions a year. You will admit then that city land is much more important than it was in former years and ages. Isn't the same also true of, say, timber lands. Today we use infinitely more paper than in former ages, and paper is made out of timber. The same thing is true of mineral lands—iron, copper, ore, gold, silver, tin, of water power sites, and so on. The progress of invention has enormously increased the value of these mineral lands. In brief land has become a tremendously more important factor than it ever was in feudal days."

"That only goes to show what an ass you are," said Brining. "Pardon me for speaking so frankly."

"Oh, that's all right," I replied. "Don't mind me."

"I won't," said Brining, "but just let me show you how absurd your statement is. You say that land is today relatively unimportant as compared with former ages. You are in New York. You remember, the site of this city was bought from the Indians for about twenty-five dollars. Today, the mere annual rental value of the land of New York is over 600 millions a year. You will admit then that city land is much more important than it was in former years and ages. Isn't the same also true of, say, timber lands. Today we use infinitely more paper than in former ages, and paper is made out of timber. The same thing is true of mineral lands—iron, copper, ore, gold, silver, tin, of water power sites, and so on. The progress of invention has enormously increased the value of these mineral lands. In brief land has become a tremendously more important factor than it ever was in feudal days."

"That only goes to show what an ass you are," said Brining. "Pardon me for speaking so frankly."

"Oh, that's all right," I replied. "Don't mind me."

"I won't," said Brining, "but just let me show you how absurd your statement is. You say that land is today relatively unimportant as compared with former ages. You are in New York. You remember, the site of this city was bought from the Indians for about twenty-five dollars. Today, the mere annual rental value of the land of New York is over 600 millions a year. You will admit then that city land is much more important than it was in former years and ages. Isn't the same also true of, say, timber lands. Today we use infinitely more paper than in former ages, and paper is made out of timber. The same thing is true of mineral lands—iron, copper, ore, gold, silver, tin, of water power sites, and so on. The progress of invention has enormously increased the value of these mineral lands. In brief land has become a tremendously more important factor than it ever was in feudal days."

"That only goes to show what an ass you are," said Brining. "Pardon me for speaking so frankly."

"Oh, that's all right," I replied. "Don't mind me."

"I won't," said Brining, "but just let me show you how absurd your statement is. You say that land is today relatively unimportant as compared with former ages. You are in New York. You remember, the site of this city was bought from the Indians for about twenty-five dollars. Today, the mere annual rental value of the land of New York is over 600 millions a year. You will admit then that city land is much more important than it was in former years and ages. Isn't the same also true of, say, timber lands. Today we use infinitely more paper than in former ages, and paper is made out of timber. The same thing is true of mineral lands—iron, copper, ore, gold, silver, tin, of water power sites, and so on. The progress of invention has enormously increased the value of these mineral lands. In brief land has become a tremendously more important factor than it ever was in feudal days."

"That only goes to show what an ass you are," said Brining. "Pardon me for speaking so frankly."

"Oh, that's all right," I replied. "Don't mind me."

"I won't," said Brining, "but just let me show you how absurd your statement is. You say that land is today relatively unimportant as compared with former ages. You are in New York. You remember, the site of this city was bought from the Indians for about twenty-five dollars. Today, the mere annual rental value of the land of New York is over 600 millions a year. You will admit then that city land is much more important than it was in former years and ages. Isn't the same also true of, say, timber lands. Today we use infinitely more paper than in former ages, and paper is made out of timber. The same thing is true of mineral lands—iron, copper, ore, gold, silver, tin, of water power sites, and so on. The progress of invention has enormously increased the value of these mineral lands. In brief land has become a tremendously more important factor than it ever was in feudal days."

"That only goes to show what an ass you are," said Brining. "Pardon me for speaking so frankly."

"Oh, that's all right," I replied. "Don't mind me."

"I won't," said Brining, "but just let me show you how absurd your statement is. You say that land is today relatively unimportant as compared with former ages. You are in New York. You remember, the site of this city was bought from the Indians for about twenty-five dollars. Today, the mere annual rental value of the land of New York is over 600 millions a year. You will admit then that city land is much more important than it was in former years and ages. Isn't the same also true of, say, timber lands. Today we use infinitely more paper than in former ages, and paper is made out of timber. The same thing is true of mineral lands—iron, copper, ore, gold, silver, tin, of water power sites, and so on. The progress of invention has enormously increased the value of these mineral lands. In brief land has become a tremendously more important factor than it ever was in feudal days."

"That only goes to show what an ass you are," said Brining. "Pardon me for speaking so frankly."

"Oh, that's all right," I replied. "Don't mind me."

"I won't," said Brining, "but just let me show you how absurd your statement is. You say that land is today relatively unimportant as compared with former ages. You are in New York. You remember, the site of this city was bought from the Indians for about twenty-five dollars. Today, the mere annual rental value of the land of New York is over 600 millions a year. You will admit then that city land is much more important than it was in former years and ages. Isn't the same also true of, say, timber lands. Today we use infinitely more paper than in former ages, and paper is made out of timber. The same thing is true of mineral lands—iron, copper, ore, gold, silver, tin, of water power sites, and so on. The progress of invention has enormously increased the value of these mineral lands. In brief land has become a tremendously more important factor than it ever was in feudal days."

"That only goes to show what an ass you are," said Brining. "Pardon me for speaking so frankly."

"Oh, that's all right," I replied. "Don't mind me."

"I won't," said Brining, "but just let me show you how absurd your statement is. You say that land is today relatively unimportant as compared with former ages. You are in New York. You remember, the site of this city was bought from the Indians for about twenty-five dollars. Today, the mere annual rental value of the land of New York is over 600 millions a year. You will admit then that city land is much more important than it was in former years and ages. Isn't the same also true of, say, timber lands. Today we use infinitely more paper than in former ages, and paper is made out of timber. The same thing is true of mineral lands—iron, copper, ore, gold, silver, tin, of water power sites, and so on. The progress of invention has enormously increased the value of these mineral lands. In brief land has become a tremendously more important factor than it ever was in feudal days."

"That only goes to show what an ass you are," said Brining. "Pardon me for speaking so frankly."

"Oh, that's all right," I replied. "Don't mind me."

"I won't," said Brining, "but just let me show you how absurd your statement is. You say that land is today relatively unimportant as compared with former ages. You are in New York. You remember, the site of this city was bought from the Indians for about twenty-five dollars. Today, the mere annual rental value of the land of New York is over 600 millions a year. You will admit then that city land is much more important than it was in former years and ages. Isn't the same also true of, say, timber lands. Today we use infinitely more paper than in former ages, and paper is made out of timber. The same thing is true of mineral lands—iron, copper, ore, gold, silver, tin, of water power sites, and so on. The progress of invention has enormously increased the value of these mineral lands. In brief land has become a tremendously more important factor than it ever was in feudal days."

"That only goes to show what an ass you are," said Brining. "Pardon me for speaking so frankly."

"Oh, that's all right," I replied. "Don't mind me."

"I won't," said Brining, "but just let me show you how absurd your statement is. You say that land is today relatively unimportant as compared with former ages. You are in New York. You remember, the site of this city was bought from the Indians for about twenty-five dollars. Today, the mere annual rental value of the land of New York is over 600 millions a year. You will admit then that city land is much more important than it was in former years and ages. Isn't the same also true of, say, timber lands. Today we use infinitely more paper than in former ages, and paper is made out of timber. The same thing is true of mineral lands—iron, copper, ore, gold, silver, tin, of water power sites, and so on. The progress of invention has enormously increased the value of these mineral lands. In brief land has become a tremendously more important factor than it ever was in feudal days."

"That only goes to show what an ass you are," said Brining. "Pardon me for speaking so frankly."

"Oh, that's all right," I replied. "Don't mind me."

"I won't," said Brining, "but just let me show you how absurd your statement is. You say that land is today relatively unimportant as compared with former ages. You are in New York. You remember, the site of this city was bought from the Indians for about twenty-five dollars. Today, the mere annual rental value of the land of New York is over

Happenings of Interest in the Women's World

ORGAN OF THE LEAGUE OF JEWISH WOMEN'S ORGANIZATIONS

FIRST NATIONAL STORES

EVERYBODY'S INTERESTED IN SAVING

Where can you get the most for your food dollar today? The prices of the foods in your First National Store are the best answer. Wasteless selling makes it possible for us to offer the finest quality foods at the lowest possible cost to you. Stretch your food dollars to the limit by shopping in your local First National Store.

- BROOKSIDE BUTTER 2 lbs 41c
- FINAST FLOUR 24 1/2 lb bag 51c
- PASTRY FLOUR 24 1/2 lb bag 47c
- BROOKSIDE CREAM 34% - 1/2 pt. jar contents only 10c
- Kenyon's R. I. Johnny Cake Meal pkg 19c

BURNHAM & MORRILL'S LOBSTER No. 1 Tin 21c

RICHMOND SWEET SIFTED PEAS 2 No. 2 Tins 25c

Finast Codfish Delicious, Flakey 1 Lb Box 23c
Beardsley's Shredded Codfish 2 3 oz Pkgs 25c

UNSWEETENED EVAPORATED SEALACT MILK 4 Tall Tins 18c

MILK CHOCOLATE or ALMOND HERSHEY BARS 2 1/2 Lb Bars 29c

Marshmallows CAMPFIRE Free Jig Saw Puzzle 1 Lb Pkg 17c
Shredded Wheat 2 Pkgs 19c

STANDARD PACK TOMATOES 4 No. 2 Tins 25c

FINAST or DEL MONTE ASPARAGUS TIPS 1 Lb 5q Tin 23c

Swansdown Cake Flour 44 oz Pkg 21c
Baker's Shredded Cocoanut Pkg 9c

KIRKMAN'S LAUNDRY SOAP 3 Bars 13c

CLEANS AS NOTHING ELSE DOES OAKITE 2 Pkgs 23c

BAKERY Suggestions

FRENCH TEA CAKE EA 12c

PLAIN RYE BREAD LGE LOAF 7c

COOKIES (ALL KINDS) FINAST 2 LBS 25c

UNEEDA Bakers

ASSORTMENT De Luxe 1 Lb Pkg 25c

ROYAL LUNCH GRAHAMS CROWN PILOTS } YOUR CHOICE 1 Lb Pkg 18c

CHOCOLATE CIRCLES LB BULK 19c

Ladies' Free Loan Assn. to Hold Annual Luncheon at Zinn's, Wednesday

Plans have been completed for the annual luncheon and entertainment of the Ladies' Hebrew Free Loan Association, which will take place Wednesday afternoon, March 29, at Zinn's Banquet Hall.

The price of admittance has been cut in half, it has been announced by the committee. Members are urged to send in their reservations before Monday, March 27.

Mrs. Samuel Ernstof is chairman of arrangements and Mrs. Samuel Shanbrun is co-chairman, assisted by the members of the board. A special meeting of the group was held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ernstof on Sumter street.

Program and Donors' Committee, Hadassah, Will Meet Monday

A board meeting of the program and Donors' Committees of the Providence Chapter of Hadassah will take place Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Press, 51 Westford road.

The co-chairmen in charge of the program are Mrs. Herman Swartz and Mrs. George Press, and the assistants helping in the arrangement of the program are Mesdames J. Berkelhammer, Joseph Dressler, Ilie Berger, Jonas Goldenberg, H. Rosenhirsch, Morris Narva, Morris Sheer, Benjamin Brier, J. D. Grossman, A. A. Fain, Leo Cohen, Joseph Gartner, Louis Kestenman, Samuel Blacher, Benjamin Blacher, J. Ernstof, Barney Taber and Henry M. Ehrlich.

35 Tables in Play at South Prov. Institute Auxiliary Bridge

Thirty-five tables were in play at the bridge sponsored Wednesday evening by the South Providence Hebrew Institute Ladies' Auxiliary in the vestry of Temple Beth-El. A feature of the evening were the movies shown by a local milk concern and which were enjoyed by the guests.

Mrs. David Gerstenblatt, chairman of arrangements, expressed her thanks and appreciation to all who contributed to and attended the affair.

Mothers' Alliance Holds Special Meeting; Plan Annual Bridge for May 16

A special meeting of the Jewish Mothers' Alliance was held Wednesday afternoon at the Jewish Center with Mrs. Harry Weiner, the President, presiding.

Plans were discussed for the annual bridge which will take place Tuesday, May 16, at Zinn's Banquet Hall. Mrs. Benjamin Chaset was appointed chairman with Mrs. Louis M. Kortick as associate.

Mrs. G. Zaidman and Mrs. Samuel Melamut were hostesses for the afternoon.

Sanders-Covinsky

Miss Diana Covinsky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Covinsky of Orms street became the bride of Mr. Simon Sanders, son of Mr. Ben Sanders, of this city, Saturday evening at Weinstein's Banquet Hall. Rev. Myer Smith officiated.

The bride was gowned in gold satin with a cap shape veil of alencon lace to match and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. She was given in marriage by her parents and the bridegroom was attended by his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Sanders.

The bride's mother was gowned in black chiffon and lace and Mrs. Sanders wore a gown of black chiffon with beige trimmings. Both wore corsages of roses.

Upon their return from a wedding trip, the couple will make their home at 143 Orms street.

LEAGUE CALENDAR

MARCH

- Monday, March 27—Council Book Review. League of Jewish Women's Clubs.
- Tuesday, March 28—South Providence Hebrew Institute, evening. Women Pioneers' Club, afternoon. Jewish Orphanage, afternoon.
- Wednesday, March 29—Ladies' Hebrew Free Loan, annual luncheon.
- Thursday, March 30—Women Pioneers' Club Donors' Luncheon.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Michaelson of 45 Eaton street sailed Wednesday on the S. S. Manhattan leaving from New York for Palestine. A host of friends were at the boat to wish them bon voyage!

Mrs. Morris S. Waldman of 121 Modena avenue entertained at a Donors' Bridge for the benefit of Hadassah, Saturday afternoon.

Seven tables were in play and prizes were awarded to Mrs. Thomas Michaels, Mrs. Maurice L. Felder, Mrs. Morris L. Cowen, Mrs. Joseph H. Cohen, Mrs. Meyer Silverman, Mrs. Harry Singer and Mrs. Nat Conis.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, who was assisted by Mrs. Leo A. Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. Sol Vigo of 42 Carlington avenue entertained Saturday evening at a dinner and bridge in celebration of their twenty-ninth wedding anniversary. Four tables were in play and prizes presented to Mrs. Gertrude Vigo, Mrs. Harry Finberg, Mrs. Harry Shockett and Mrs. Samuel Grossman.

The hostess was assisted by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Gertrude Vigo, and Mrs. Ben Cohen.

Miss Mollie Fried entertained at a surprise reception and dinner in honor of the twenty-fifth wedding anniversary of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Myer Fried, last Wednesday evening at Weinstein's Banquet Hall. The table was attractively decorated with roses and silver ribbon. Harry Sklut was the toastmaster.

Miss Fried presented her mother with a diamond ring.

At a meeting of the Phi Gamma Sorority, held Monday evening, at the Home of Miss Pauline Slefkin of Rosewood street, Pawtucket, final arrangements were made for a depression dance, to be held Sunday evening, March 26, in the vestry of the High Street Synagogue in Pawtucket.

Miss Ida Fishman, the chairman, is being assisted by Miss Pauline Slefkin, treasurer. Miss Ida Weiner, pub-

Local Junior Hadassah Members Honored by New England Regional

Miss Beatrice Goldowsky, former President of the local chapter of Junior Hadassah, was elected Vice President of the New England Regional, at a conference held at the Hotel Kenmore, Boston, last week. Miss Mary Sydney, also of the local unit, who was Vice President of the regional last year, was named to the executive board.

DONORS' LUNCHEON

Plans are underway for the Donors' Luncheon to be held in June under the auspices of the local chapter. Miss Lillian Blumenthal is the chairman, assisted by Miss Goldowsky, co-chairman; Miss Mathilda Goldblatt, Treasurer; Miss Nettie Bander, publicity, and Miss Elizabeth Davis, ex-officio.

CULTURAL ACTIVITIES

Miss Belle Rubinstein will conduct a course in Jewish history at her home on 89 Orms street, the third and fourth Monday of each month.

Miss Ethel Fish of 13 Payton street will review "Josephus" by Leon Feuchtwanger, Wednesday evening at her home. These two meetings are in conjunction with the cultural work of the Providence chapter.

MRS. IDA RATNOFF DIES AT AGE OF SEVENTY-SIX

New York, Mar. 24—(JTA)—Mrs. Ida Finger Ratnoff died at the age of 76 at the Beth-Israel Hospital, where her son, Dr. Nathan Ratnoff, is medical director.

licity; Miss Anne Goldberg, Miss Terry Hazen and Miss Jennie Luck-sniansky, ex-officio.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Markowitz of Cranston street have changed their residence to 106 Gordon avenue.

Miss Sybil Radovsky, fiancée of Melvin Orsteen of Haverhill, was introduced to many out-of-town guests at a tea given by Mrs. Joseph Radovsky of Highland avenue last Tuesday. Mrs. Joseph Laurans of New Bedford and Mrs. H. William Radovsky poured at a table adorned with spring flowers.

Miss Radovsky, who spent the week-end with her fiancé's mother, Mrs. Myer Orsteen, was honored at a luncheon and bridge, Saturday, in Exeter.

Mr. and Mrs. George Caurhan of Oakland avenue announce the birth of a son, Franklin, on March 16.

Mrs. Caurhan was before her marriage Miss Ann Ostrow.

A meeting of the Phi Gamma Sigma Sorority was held at the St. Regis Restaurant Monday evening. Bridge was played and prizes won by Miss Sadye Rubenowitz and Miss Minnie Mack. Miss Rubenowitz entertained with novelty dancing.

The next meeting of the group will be held Monday evening at the home of Miss Diane G. Chorney on Olney street.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. David Robin of 23 Goddard street at the Miriam Hospital.

A novel "poverty" masquerade attracted many out-of-town guests to Temple Beth-El ballroom in Fall River last Wednesday evening when the Sisterhood arranged the unusual event.

Prominent in the success of the affair were Mrs. Myer Sobiloff, Mrs. Julius Goldstein, Mrs. Nathan Yamins and Mrs. Herman Mason. Assisting as aides were also Mrs. Simon Bloom, Mrs. Louis Friedberg, Mrs. Israel Sobiloff, Mrs. William Cohen, Mrs. Joseph Feinberg, Mrs. David Kaplan and Mrs. Samuel Yamins, President of the Sisterhood. Awards were given for the most appropriate depression costumes. The judges were Mrs. Simon Bloom, Nathan Yamins and Maury Olinick.

A regular meeting of the Alpha Mu Sigma was held last Thursday evening at the home of Miss Evelyn Chase.

A report was rendered on a most successful food sale, which took place recently, the proceeds of which will be presented to a needy family for Passover food.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the hostess.

Miss Lillian Goldberg of Salisbury street and Miss Sylvia Goldman of Early street have returned from a week-end stay in Fall River. Miss Goldberg had spent the past fortnight there.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kadsivitz of 5 Goddard street at the Miriam Hospital.

TWINELMS

PUTNAM PIKE HARMONY, R. I. MANAGEMENT OF JOHN BARBER
SATURDAY NITE DANCING
5 BIG VAUDE- 50c
VILLE ACTS
Good Food If You Wish to be Served
2 HOT 2 DANCE
BANDS 2 FLOORS
Metropolitan N. Y. Club Band and
Twin Elm Colored Harlem Orchestra
Centredale 0749-J-1

FIRST NATIONAL STORES

Diamond Walnuts
RED BRANDED POUND
Your favorite cake will be even better with chopped Walnuts inside and half Walnuts on the icing. Just try it! You'll be surprised.
27c

Shechita Prohibited In Three German Cities

London, Mar. 24—(JTA)—The press here reports the official announcement of the prohibition of Shechita, both in Cologne and Siegburg. Shechita has also been prohibited in Bonn by the State Commissioner, with immediate enforcement.

The English press also records that while acts of violence against Jewish stores have ceased in Berlin West Germany, particularly Frankfurt, is still suffering from the violent agitation against Jewish business houses.

The London Daily Express relates an interesting case tending to show that the Nazi authorities are attempting to impose a curb on their followers. It tells of three Nazis who robbed Jewish merchants of £40; they were subsequently arrested by Nazi police, stripped of their Nazi emblems, expelled from the party, and put on trial for robbery with violence.

SUBMITS NOTE ON ATTACKS ON POLISH JEWISH CITIZENS

Warsaw, Mar. 24—(JTA)—The Polish Minister in Berlin has submitted to the Foreign Office in Berlin an Aide-Memoire, detailing a number of cases in which Polish citizens have suffered material loss and physical hurt during the present German disturbances.

The document, which reserves the right of the Polish government to submit to the German Foreign Office a demand for damages, deals exclusively with attacks on Jews.

The document concluded with the request that the German Foreign Office should see to it that competent authorities issue orders for the discovery and punishment of attackers as well as the prevention of such incidents in the future.

CONVICED OF VIOLATING KOSHER FOOD ORDINANCE

Baltimore, Mar. 24—(JTA)—Convicted of violating an ordinance regulating the sale of food, Harry Magad, an East Lombard street store-keeper, was fined $100 and costs by Judge George A. Solter in the Criminal Court.

Magad was charged with having advertised as kosher food meat which was not kosher.

Arraigned several weeks ago, Magad's trial was postponed upon the suggestion that he be tried before a rabbinical court in the ancient manner of his people. Ten rabbis found him guilty and ordered him to remove all kosher symbols from his store.

Active In Yiddish Mock Marriage to be Presented Monday at Temple Beth-Israel

—Photo, Courtesy of News-Tribune
Front row, left to right: Albert Lisker, Charles J. Sentler, Nathan Harry Silverman, Morris Shoham, Boris N. Nelson. Back row, left to right:

KINDNESS CAN KILL

By NINA KAYE

Every morning at 11 o'clock, Mrs. Milton Schwartz arrived at her daughter-in-law's apartment.

If, as was usually the case, Shirley was still in bed, do you think Mrs. Schwartz scolded? Oh, no, she was far too good a mother-in-law to reveal displeasure by the slightest suggestion of a frown. In fact, it was hardly displeasure she felt. At least, so she told herself.

Shirley, sleepy-eyed and clutching a bath robe about her shoulders, would yawn and blink with surprise. And every morning she gasped in exactly the same way, "Why, Mother! I didn't know it was you!"

And Mrs. Schwartz would say, as if she had not said it every day, "What's the matter, Shirley, dear? Aren't you feeling well? It's eleven o'clock."

Shirley would try to keep the rasp of irritation out of her voice. "I'm feeling quite all right, Mother. Just overslept a bit, that's all."

"Then it's good I came to wake you up in time. It's too nice out to be sleeping half the day. I was telling Helen I don't see how you can expect to be well, spending so much time sleeping."

Shirley's eyes would swing fondly toward the tumbled, inviting bed and then shame-facedly, at the tiny, tumbled apartment. She had meant to wash up the dishes after she and Fred had their cheese and crackers and coffee after coming home last night. Hadn't her last thought been, "I must wash up those dishes before Mother sees them." Why had she forgotten?

But there was mother, already out of her coat and her sleeves rolled up to the elbow. "I'll wash up these dishes for you, Shirley. Hurry into your things. I promised Helen I'd bring you back for lunch."

Shirley knew better than to expostulate that she never felt like eating a large meal so soon after getting up. What use was it? She knew her mother-in-law's answer. "We'll walk over to Helen's. It will give you an appetite."

Over the sound of the shower, Shirley heard her mother-in-law. "We're going out to Shore Lake this afternoon, Shirley. Papa saw a cottage we might take for the summer. It's got eight rooms and Fred can drive in every morning with Papa and Helen's Manny. It will be fine for Helen's two and you can have swimming and tennis and—"

What was the use telling her mother-in-law she had planned to go to the library? How explain that there was so much reading she had promised herself to catch up on when she would have the leisure her marriage had promised. Why, she didn't even have time to read the morning paper and even when she had gone to work, there had been a long half hour over her coffee and paper every morning.

Coming out of the shower, all ruffled and dewy, Shirley did manage a timid, "I oughtn't to go to Shore Lake with you, Mother. I want to make Fred a real meal tonight. And my friend Stella was coming over in the evening."

"What's the matter? Isn't my cooking good enough for Fred any longer? I made pot roast with mushrooms specially for him this morning. And you can call up your friends and tell her to come to my house—for dinner, too."

Shirley sighed and viewed the little-used pots in her now immaculate kitchen. She'd been married two months and hadn't spent an evening with any of her friends, without the attendance of one or more of the Schwartzs.

Silently, resistlessly, Shirley watched her mother-in-law rent the Shore Lake cottage. She saw the room designated as hers and Fred's, with Helen's two boys, seven and nine, to be placed next to them. She rode back to town and sat through the long and stuffy Schwartz dinner and tried, without success, to steal five minutes with her friend Stella alone.

And that night, back in the tiny apartment, Shirley announced her decision.

"Either we move so far away that it will be a day's journey for any of your family to come to see me, or you move back with them and I stay here alone. Fred Schwartz!" she said, biting back the tears and trying not to see the hurt in his eyes.

"But Shirley," Fred said, trying to stick to his decision that their marriage should be one without quarrels. "I can't understand you. Everybody in town says what a wonderful mother-in-law Mama is. She's always doing something for us. She helped pick out the furniture and she had this apartment rented for us when we got back from our honeymoon."

And she's always cooking what you like and helping you buy your clothes and keeping you entertained. Why, you'd die of boredom if you had to hang around alone all day. All your friends are working, you know—"

"Well," Shirley replied, white-lipped. "I'm going to try it. I'd rather die of boredom than spend all my life receiving favors and being looked after."

Fred tried to dismiss the argument by ruffling her hair, but she squirmed out of his reach.

The argument, to Fred's concern, continued far into the night. And since he was his mother's son, he simply couldn't see what Shirley was complaining about. "You ought to be tickled to death you haven't got the traditional mother-in-law," he finished brutally.

"Oh," she almost screamed. "I'd welcome it! Then I would have some excuse for being stand-offish and trying to live my own life in my own way—not hers!"

There the argument rested. Fred went off to work and Shirley snuggled down in the blankets—but not for long. For, when Mrs. Schwartz arrived at the apartment, with a sweet little dress she'd picked up cheap and just Shirley's size, there was no answer to her ring.

She fetched the superintendent and he opened the door. There, everything stood as ruffled as ever—but not Shirley.

It seemed foolish to pay rent for two apartments, so Fred submitted to his mother's urging and moved back to the big house again. All the furniture of the tiny apartment fitted into one of the huge rooms and there Fred dwelt with his memories and crumpled telegram which was his only communication from Shirley.

"When you see my side, you can reach me through Stella," the telegram curtly read. But it was signed, "Always your Shirley."

Had Mrs. Schwartz a word to say against her daughter-in-law? Oh, no, she was far too kind for that. Instead, she tried to make up to Fred for his unhappiness. She cooked all the things he liked and tried not to show disappointment when he passed them back untouched. She invited all his old friends to the house and every Sunday morning routed him out at 6 o'clock for his long-neglected golf.

If Fred grumbled and tried to bury his head beneath the blankets, he soon learned that his mother was determined. So, despite the fact that he had taken hours, long, worried hours to fall asleep, Fred crawled out of bed in what was practically dawn and went to limp reluctantly round a golf course. Chasing a ball didn't seem to be nearly as important as it once had been.

If Fred tried to read the paper and Helen's boys played ping pong on the living room table, he soon learned to keep objections to himself. Hadn't they always done exactly the same thing, long before Fred had married? He never had objected before.

His mother fed him amply and yet Fred had grown used to the midnight snacks Shirley used to provide for him. He raided the well-stocked refrigerator in his mother's kitchen one night and felt like a guilty school boy when she berated him at the breakfast table.

If Fred growled that there was always company and not a moment's peace, his mother's hurt look made him hide his resentment.

The family moved out to the Shore Lake cottage, with Helen and the two boys and the servants. In the evening Helen's Manny arrived with his father-in-law, but without Fred.

"Didn't you wait for Fred?" Mrs. Schwartz demanded of her son-in-law. Manny shook his head. "Fred's crazy, I guess. I called for him at his office and he said he wouldn't come out here for a million dollars. He said he's going home to sleep until he feels like getting up and then he's going to take an apartment in Elmhurst and see if Shirley won't come back. He said he understands what she objected to and he's going to try to make it up to her."

Mrs. Schwartz broke out in radiant smiles. "Why should he take an apartment in the summer? They can come here with us, just as I said they should."

"That's what I told him," Manny, who was in business with his father-in-law, replied, "but he just laughed, crazy like, and didn't say anything."

"Poor Fred," Mrs. Schwartz shook her head. "all summer in the city. What will they do with themselves, the two all alone. Maybe, we ought to go back—"

But Mrs. Schwartz had her duty to her daughter and her grand-children. So Fred and Shirley managed very well.

DEMAND FOR UNITED STATES ACTION IN DAHLBERG CASE

New York, Mar. 24—(JTA)—"We have called on the American State Department for immediate action and on the German government through its representatives here," was the statement issued by the National Committee for the Defense of Political Prisoners, through its Secretary, Dr. Joshua Kunitz, with regard to the attack made upon Edward Dahlberg, American novelist in Berlin, by uniformed German Nazis.

Mr. Dahlberg, who is the author of "Bottom-Dogs" and "Flushing to Calvary," is a member of the National Committee for the Defense of Political Prisoners. He was attacked and badly beaten, early last week, first on the Kurfurstendamm, and later within a Berlin police station.

ONLY JEWISH SCHOOL IN HAVANA THREATENS TO CLOSE

Havana, Mar. 24—(JTA)—The only Jewish school threatens to close down as a result of the difficult economic situation prevailing in the island.

The Jewish People's School, which is maintained at the Jewish Center here, provides education for 350 children, of whom some two hundred are the children of parents unable to contribute financially towards their education.

The management of the school plans to devote a whole week to a campaign for raising a sufficient sum to enable the school to continue. An appeal is being issued to the Jewish population to do all in their power to prevent the closing down of the school, which would mean that at least 200 Jewish children would be left without any education.

City Mattress Upholstery Co.
Mattresses Made Over
Furniture Reupholstered
LOWEST PRICES
743 Eddy St. GAspee 9577

Not Cheap, Not Expensive,
JUST REASONABLE
For Expert Painting,
Paper Hanging, Also
Decorating
Call
SIGMUND GREBSTEIN
Estimates Cheerfully Given
10 Reeder Street
Telephone HOpkins 5135

KORB BAKING CO.
EAT KORB'S BREAD
Try Our Pastries
Korb Bakery Products
585 NORTH MAIN ST.
Call ANgell 3772 for Orders

The Woonsocket Y. W. H. A.
Presents
"A Yiddish Mock Trial"
SUNDAY EVE., MARCH 26
at 8 O'Clock
Vestry of the Synagogue
Cor. Greene and Bernon Sts.
Entertainment to follow
Tickets 50 Cents

Special 3-Piece Parlor SUITE
Recovered in Tapestry—Denum $22.00
CHAIRS $7.00
Special—Parlor Suite $1
Cushions Refilled, each $1
Superior Upholstering Co.
1104 BROAD ST. Call Williams 0193

"THE PUBLIC BE PLEASED"
NEW YORK ROUND TRIP
3.00 ONE WAY 4.50 10-day Lumb
(Above Rates Include Berth in Cabin, Swimmers Daily and Sundays From Colonial Wharf, Providence, at 7:30 P. M.)
Week-End Excursions, $3.50
COLONIAL LINE
Ticket Office, 75 Dorrance St. GA. 9424

Watch Repairing
WE KNOW HOW
Krasnow The Jeweler
25 Washington St.

Lorraine Mills Remnant Room
547 MINERAL SPRING AVE
PAWTUCKET, R. I.
WOOLENS — — COTTONS
RAYONS — — SILK
Open Daily 8:30 - 5:30
Smithfield Bus to Mineral
Saturdays 8:30 - 5:00 Spring Ave.
Unrestricted Parking

"For Quality and Service"
E. S. CRANDALL'S DAIRY
Properly Pasteurized
MILK and CREAM
"A HEALTH BUILDER"
A Friend to the Jewish People
12 Lowell Ave. West 4358

MAX SUGARMAN
Funeral Director and
Embalmer
AND MONUMENTS
EXCELLENT EQUIPMENT
—REFINED SERVICE—
"The Jewish Undertaker"
146-150 RANDALL STREET
Telephone DExter 8994

NEWS OF INTEREST TO MEN

COLLEGE — COUNTRY CLUB — SPORTS

Announcing . . . Earl's Toggery HABERDASHERY

73 UNION STREET PROVIDENCE

You Are Cordially Invited to Stop at My New Toggery Shop and Renew an Old Acquaintance

Earl Goldenberg
PROPRIETOR

English Insurance Company Invests Money in Palestine by Arrangement With J.N.F.

London, Mar. 24 — (JTA) — Some three-quarters of a million pounds has already been invested by the Prudential Assurance Company in securities which help forward the industrial life of Palestine, her buildings and her railroads, it is stated by the Jewish National Fund in an explanation issued recently of the advantages that have accrued so far as a result of the co-operation between the Assurance Department of the Jewish National Fund and the Prudential Assurance Company.

The first experiment along these lines was made by the Jewish National Fund in 1923 in Austria and Czechoslovakia with the Phoenix Assurance Company of Vienna, it is stated, and the arrangements have since been extended to most countries of Europe, to Palestine, Egypt and Northern Africa.

The Prudential, it is pointed out, is the largest insurance institution in the British Empire, and one of the largest financial institutions in the world, with assets exceeding £263,000,000.

Jewish Service Men to be Granted Passover Furloughs

New York, Mar. 24 — (JTA) — Furloughs for Passover have been granted all Jewish service men, it was announced by Dr. Cyrus Adler, chairman of the Army and Navy Committee of the Jewish Welfare Board.

The United States War Department, the Bureau of Navigation of the Navy Department, and the U. S. Coast Guard have each issued orders to their respective commanding officers,

Tell Our Advertisers
You Saw It In
The Jewish Herald

Getting Started

The idea that saving is hard keeps some people from starting a Savings Account.

Certainly, getting started is the most difficult part. Once you have opened a Savings Account with Industrial Trust Company you will find it easier than you think to make deposits each week.

Decide now to make the small effort necessary to open a Savings Account with Industrial Trust Company.

INDUSTRIAL TRUST COMPANY

SPORTING WORLD

NEWS WRITTEN FOR THE JEWISH HERALD by GEORGE JOEL

HARRY WOLF WINS SQUASH CHAMPIONSHIP

Harry Wolf of New York City again won the squash tennis championship of the United States. In a match filled with spectacular shotmaking and packed with excitement the young gentleman of our faith defeated Rowland Haines in a five set match that kept the packed galleries at the Harvard Club on edges until the last shot had been made. It was the fourth consecutive year that Wolf walked off with the crown.

This time he limped off the wooden enclosed court, literally and figuratively. The scores were 15-7, 11-15, 15-3, 14-18 and 17-16. The winning point came when Wolf limping badly from an injured knee caught his opponent out of position up near the front wall.

By his victory, gained despite his adversary's brilliant shotmaking and his own leg injury that for a time made it appear that he would have to default, Wolf equalled the mark held by Fillmore Hyde, who also won the title four times.

Wolf had a close call from defeat. In the last game, with the score 2 up in games, Haines led 10-6. The hitting was terrific, both players having given up the idea of soft tricky shots in favor of minor explosions. Wolf's left knee, which had been injured by a spill he took earlier in the match, began bothering him, but he managed to catch up with Haines. Wolf then went into the lead with a shot that was just good by the fraction of an inch. With the score 11-10, a disputed point came up. The referee first gave it to Haines and then decided to call it a let. The score then moved back in Haines' favor 12-11.

Wolf, playing inspired squash, smashed into the lead 14-12. He was one point away from victory. It was then that Wolf crashed to the floor with a leg cramp which forced a temporary rest. A quick massage and he was ready to begin. Upon resumption of the play, Haines gathered two points to tie the score again at 14-14. As you squash followers know the receiver can elect whether the rest of the game should be two out of three, or three out of five of the points to be played. Haines elected the long count. He led first by 1 love and then 2-1. Playing on sheer nerve Wolf tied the count and then brought off the winning shot. The gallery sat back and roared its approval.

It was a grand match and if anyone thinks that squash is not an exciting game you should have been there.

ROSENBLUM HOLDS ON TO LIGHT-HEAVYWEIGHT CROWN

One of Mr. Hitler's countrymen, Adolf Heuser, found a Jewish fellow he couldn't slap around when he ran into Maxie Rosenbloom, current light-weight champion, at Madison Square Garden, in New York, last week. It was a fifteen round affair and at the end of the session Maxie was declared winner and retained his title. There was no question as to who won.

The hard hitting Heuser didn't make any visible impression upon the champion, but the Rosenbloom slaps (I hope nobody ever slaps me that way), closed the German's left eye and made a rather messed up dish of his anatomy generally. Dancing in a Broadway cafe hours after Heuser had retired the night before the fight, Maxie was able to continue his dancing all through the fight and well enough to make Heuser so dizzy that he could not put on a sustained drive. Heuser scored a moral victory. After the fight Maxie was too tired to go night clubbing, but retired to the chaste sanctity of his own bed.

About this night life of Rosenbloom. It is true that he is a night club habitue and does like to hit the high spots, but Maxie is neither a drinker or smoker, the former being the one thing that brings fighters to a quick finish. Maxie stays out, but he gets his sleep and rest. He doesn't do much training because he does so much fighting. No one can deny that his style is unorthodox to watch, but scientifically both in his training and fighting, he follows the broad principals of boxing.

DOCTORS FROM BERLIN REACH PRAGUE

Prague, March 24 — (JTA) — Large numbers of Jewish doctors from Berlin hospitals have arrived here for treatment following mishandling by Nazis.

Many of them had been forcibly ejected from the Berlin hospitals and beaten up.

MARTIN BUBER'S HOUSE SEARCHED BY POLICE

Berlin, Mar. 24 — (JTA) — The house of Prof. Martin Buber, the writer on Chassidism and Jewish mysticism, was searched recently. His house at Heppenheim near Frankfurt was entered by political police, who left after a thorough investigation, in which nothing illegal was found.

They took with them, however, letters and manuscripts of the late Gustav Landauer, which Prof. Buber was engaged in editing.

UNITED SYNAGOGUE, N. Y., TO HOLD ANNUAL CONVENTION

New York, Mar. 24 — (JTA) — The 21st annual convention of the United Synagogue of America and its affiliated organizations, the Women's League of the United Synagogue and the National Federation of Jewish Men's Clubs, will take place at the Hotel Pennsylvania, New York City, on May 7th, 8th and 9th, according to an announcement issued by Louis J. Moss, of Brooklyn, N. Y., President of the United Synagogue of America.

The United Synagogue represents the conservative movement in Jewish life and plays an important part in the Jewish religious movement in the United States.

CHATTERINGS

Last week I had so much news that I had to omit the gossip. I see by the papers that Herr Hitler has told German sport leaders that he is not in favor of having the Olympic games take place in Germany in 1936. He is opposed, so it is said on two grounds — the international quality — which is the antithesis of his nationalistic jingo, and the fact that the Jews are too closely connected with the athletic demonstrations both as performers and spectators. It's all just about as intelligent as most of Hitler's program. But then 1936 is a long time away and perhaps by that time the fifth rate Mussolini may be just a ghastly joke.

Abraham Krauker, knee high to a grasshopper and weighing 115 pounds, is picked to win the Eastern Ping Pong Championships now going on in New York City. His most feared opponent is 15-year-old Albert Goldman of Brooklyn.

Ben Jely will defend his newly won middleweight title in New York City before the month is out. His opponent hasn't been named as yet, but his manager will make sure that Benny is not overmatched.

The indoor national singles and doubles tennis tournament, held last week, saw no Jewish boys get anywhere. Julius Seligman entered, but went out before the tournament really got serious. His brother Sidney was also entered but did no better.

Lou Katz, one of the better amateur fighters, won a golden glove at the tournament held under that name. He will be a member of the New York team when he meets the Chicago club next month. Katz is a lightweight.

That Baer-Schmeling fight is still hot and it looks very much as though it will actually take place during the coming summer. Dempsey will act as promoter.

Watch Temple University's football team next fall. With Glenn Warner at the helm you are sure to find a batch of Jewish players developing. Warner had them at Pitt and again at Stanford. At Temple, which had a fairly good sized Jewish registration, he should be able to pick a whole squad of them.

O. H. C. NEWS

MUSICALES PLANS NEAR COMPLETION

The Order of Hebraic Comradeship musicale, which has been established as a spring gathering of young folks prior to the O. H. C. annual dance, will be held late in March or early in April.

Al Rainsner, social director; Sam Berditch and Sam Kagan have been working diligently in procuring talent to furnish an excellent night's entertainment. Date and place will be announced later.

DANCE PLANS PROGRESSING

The 12th annual dance will be held at the Arcadia Ballroom, Tuesday, April 18, the last night of Passover.

BOWLING

The O. H. C. Bowling League is in its last lap with the teams captained by Pobirs and Filler fighting for first place. M. Filler and I. Saxe are vying for individual honors.

The O. H. C. High Five defeated the Interstate bowling team two out of three series. The O. H. C. team challenges any Jewish bowling team in a home-and-home arrangement. Address all communications to Sam Shindler, care of O. H. C., 37 Weybosset street!

Martin Buber's House Searched by Police

Berlin, Mar. 24 — (JTA) — The house of Prof. Martin Buber, the writer on Chassidism and Jewish mysticism, was searched recently. His house at Heppenheim near Frankfurt was entered by political police, who left after a thorough investigation, in which nothing illegal was found.

They took with them, however, letters and manuscripts of the late Gustav Landauer, which Prof. Buber was engaged in editing.

UNITED SYNAGOGUE, N. Y., TO HOLD ANNUAL CONVENTION

New York, Mar. 24 — (JTA) — The 21st annual convention of the United Synagogue of America and its affiliated organizations, the Women's League of the United Synagogue and the National Federation of Jewish Men's Clubs, will take place at the Hotel Pennsylvania, New York City, on May 7th, 8th and 9th, according to an announcement issued by Louis J. Moss, of Brooklyn, N. Y., President of the United Synagogue of America.

The United Synagogue represents the conservative movement in Jewish life and plays an important part in the Jewish religious movement in the United States.

R. I. POST, No. 23 Jewish War Veterans of the U. S.

A regular meeting of the Post was held Thursday evening, with Commander Harry A. Hoffman presiding.

The "Honor Roll" sponsored by the ways and means committee, headed by Senior Vice Commander Max A. Cohen, is increasing at every meeting. The object of the "Honor Roll" is for each comrade to pledge himself to raise $5 for the 1933 Post funds. The names of all comrades raising their share will be placed on the "Honor Roll." The campaign will end late in June, after which a victory celebration will be held.

The fifth anniversary of the Post was celebrated in the form of an entertainment and dance Tuesday evening at the quarters on Niagara street. A large attendance of comrades and their friends was present. The affair was in charge of Comrade Reuben Blumenthal, officer of the day.

Prof. Einstein Bust Acquired by French National Museum

Paris, Mar. 17 — (JTA) — The Musee National, the National Museum, has purchased a bas relief of Professor Albert Einstein.

The work was executed by the well-known Berlin sculptor, Arthur Loewental.

ANNOUNCEMENT

For Easter Holiday

We wish to announce the arrival of an exceptionally fine stock of Men's and Young Men's New Spring Suits and Topcoats to be sold at astounding prices at the

MORRIS CLOTHES SHOP

101 RICHMOND ST., Providence
Quality Clothing Always at the Right Price

Bene'

Incorporated

BEN AGRONICK, Prop.
Office Outfitters, Printers,
Stationers, Multigraphers
152-154 PINE STREET
PROVIDENCE
Tel. GAspee 5229

COAL - COKE

JOS. OLNEY & SONS
INC.
45 Weybosset Street
Telephone Your Orders NOW
GAspee 6817 — 8635

D. M. WATKINS CO.
A COMPLETE LINE OF
Jewelry Findings and Screw
Machine Products
Call
GAspee 2758 — 2759 for
Quality and Service
274 PINE STREET

PROVIDENCE
PHOTO
ENGRAVING CO.
Makers of Halftones
and Line Plates
15 PINE STREET
Telephone GAspee 7994

Rabbi William G. Braude Addresses Meeting of Jewish Council Women

Rabbi William G. Braude of Temple Beth-El gave an interesting review Tuesday afternoon of Joseph Klausner's "Jesus of Nazareth" at the meeting of the Providence Section, National Council of Jewish Women's, held in the home of Mrs. Samuel Markoff, 229 Waterman street.

During the business session, conducted by Mrs. Louis H. Borod, President, routine reports of departmental chairman and tentative announcements of future events were given. The latter included a program for the April meeting, consisting of a musical revue by children of council members; also tomorrow morning's meeting of the Dramatic Group at the home of its director, Mrs. Samuel Starr, 206 Waterman street, at which four members of the group will read "The Second Mrs. Tanquay."

After adjournment of the business meeting, tea was served from an attractive table, arranged with yellow accessories and spring blossoms. Mrs. Julius Irving poured. Others assisting the hostess were: Mrs. David Adelman, Mrs. Saul Abrams, Mrs. Nathan Polotow, Mrs. Harold Libby, Mrs. Philip Marcus, Mrs. Allen Markoff, Mrs. Judah Semenov and Mrs. Benjamin Salter.

Mrs. Morris Gershman, Chairman of the Education Committee of the Providence Section, National Council of Jewish Women, will be the reviewer at the Literary Group's Monday afternoon meeting, March 27th, 2:15 o'clock, at the Community Center. The Literary Group is one of the four study groups directed by the Council's Educational Department, the others being the International Relations, Art and Dramatic Divisions. Mrs. Gershman will review two plays by Luigi Pirandello. "As You Desire Me" and "Tonight We Improvise."

"World Trade" will be the topic of discussion Wednesday afternoon, March 29th, at 2:15 o'clock, when the International Relations Study Group meets in the home of its chairman, Mrs. Samuel Wachenheimer, 395 Lloyd avenue. Charts showing the interdependence of the nations of the world have been prepared by Mrs. Wachenheimer and will be used at this meeting. Tea will be included in the social program of the afternoon.

Tell Our Advertisers You Saw It In The Jewish Herald

TEMPLE BETH-ISRAEL

SERVICES

This evening services will begin at 8:15. Cantor Joseph Schlossberg will officiate in the absence of Rabbi Mazure. The congregation will be addressed by Rabbi Samuel Belkin on the topic, "The Jew In His Relation With the World."

Saturday morning services begin at 9:15.

Yahrzeit

The light on the Memorial Board this evening is in memory of Cheya Beile Feinselber, mother of Morris Feinselber.

The minyan is held twice daily at 7 a. m. and 6 p. m.

SCHOOLS

The Religious School will begin at 10 o'clock, Sunday morning.

Assembly will be conducted by Joshua Bell, chairman of the school committee.

The Bar-Mitzvah League will meet as usual at 9 o'clock for prayer and breakfast.

Ladies' Charity Unit Holds Induction and Luncheon

[Continued from Page 1]

sary of His Death." Several entertaining recitations were given by Abraham Grebstein.

The flowers for the tables and a contribution was cash were presented by Miss Jacobs, in memory of her mother, the late Mrs. Harry Loeb Ja- contribution of cash were presented with a bouquet of red tulips by Miss Jacobs, which she later sent to the Miriam Hospital. In appreciation of her indefatigable work, Mrs. Nelson presented Miss Jacobs with a corsage of roses on behalf of the organization.

Among the guests were representatives of many organizations to which Mrs. Nelson belongs. In her address she gave a brief resume of the fine work accomplished by the group in their short existence of but three years. Mrs. Nelson was also successful in enrolling several prominent people as members.

Mrs. Charles Hoffman Entertains Staff of Miriam Hospital

Mrs. Charles M. Hoffman, wife of the Superintendent of the Miriam Hospital, was hostess to the entire staff of the hospital last Thursday evening. Mrs. Hoffman personally makes this an annual event and this is the fifth year that she has entertained the staff in her home.

MRS. CHARLES M. HOFFMAN

There were six tables in play for bridge. Interesting prizes were awarded to Mrs. Lena Yosinoff, Mrs. Etta Malinow, Miss Ida Fain and Catherine Cassidy. After cards, refreshments and delicious pastries were served by the charm hostess, assisted by Mrs. Morris Berry, Mrs. Abe Halpert and Mrs. Carl Jagoliner. The table was set in a most attractive and decorative manner with the color scheme and decorations carried out in green and white. Group singing and entertainment followed.

The guests included the nursing staff headed by Miss Florence R. Mintzes, Miss Ethel Clauson, Miss Mary Bayley, Miss Nettie Kiven, Miss Frances Evans, Miss Dorothy McInness, Miss Clara Johnson, Miss Margaret Doran, Miss Christine McElroy, Miss Carolyn Merola, Miss Agnes Barrett, Miss Genevieve Haugh, Miss Charlotte Lemmis, Miss Helen Gilmartin, Miss Molly Schwartz, dietitian; Miss Rose Duggan, laboratory technician, and the office staff, comprising Miss Ida Fain, Miss Sarah Litwin and Mrs. Lena Yosinoff.

Miriam Intermediates to Meet Monday

Plans for the sixth annual Mothers' and Daughters' Night, to be held May 8, were made at a meeting of the Intermediate Miriam Hospital Association, Monday, at Temple Beth-El.

Josephine Horowitz, chairman, will be assisted by the Misses Sylvia Goldman, Sarah Pavlow, Charlotte Sonion, Mildred Marks, Mrs. David Kosofsky and Mrs. Paul Goldstein, ex-officio.

The next meeting of the group will take place Monday evening at the home of Miss Sylvia Goldman, 136 Early street.

Aaronson-Felder

Miss Minnie Felder, daughter of Mrs. Mary Felder, of Eaton street, and Perry Aaronson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Aaronson, of Monroe avenue, Bronx N. Y., were married Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in Zinn's Banquet Hall. Rabbi Israel Goldman officiated.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Jacob I. Felder, wore a white crepe gown with hat to match and carried a Bible. The ushers were Charles Felder and William Felder, brothers of the bride, and David Field.

The mother of the bride was attired in a black chiffon gown and the bridegroom's mother wore a black chiffon lace gown. They both wore corsages of sweet peas.

After an extended wedding trip, the couple will live at 1785 Monroe avenue, Bronx, N. Y.

SCHECHTA PROHIBITED IN WUERTEMBERG

Berlin, Mar. 24—(JTA)—Schechta has been legally prohibited in Wuerttemberg. This follows its forcible stoppage by the Nazis a few days ago.

By the Way

[Continued from Page 4]

of the land for society in lieu of all other taxes.

"That," I retorted, "is the idea of a guy by the name of Henry George—his single tax idea."

"No," said Brining, "Henry George merely proposed a method more fit for modern conditions, but the fundamental idea was advocated by Moses. Go back and read your Bible again!"

CARLTON THEATRE

THURSDAY, FRIDAY, SATURDAY NIGHTS
APRIL 6, 7 and 8, with Saturday Matinee

SAM H. HARRIS

Presents

THE ONLY MUSICAL PLAY TO WIN THE PULITZER PRIZE

'Of Thee I Sing'

By George S. Kaufman and Morris Ryskind
Music by George Gershwin Lyrics by Ira Gershwin

DIRECT FROM 55 WEEKS ON BROADWAY WITH

William Lois Victor
GAXTON MORAN MOORE

AND THE ORIGINAL CAST INTACT

WITH THE FINEST SINGING AND DANCING CHORUS IN AMERICA

(The Opening Night Is the Night to be Present)

CARLTON THEATRE,
Providence, R. I.

Enclosed find check or money order for $..... for which please send } Orchestra } seats at } Mezzanine } } Balcony }

each for the } Eve } performance on } Mat }

Name

Address

NIGHTS: Entire Orchestra $3.30; Mezzanine: A-B $2.75; C-D-E-F $2.20; Balcony J-N $1.65; O-S $1.10. Saturday Matinee: Entire Orchestra $2.75; Mezzanine A-B $2.20; C-D-E-F $1.65. Balcony $1.10. Send self-addressed, stamped envelope with order if you want tickets mailed to you—otherwise they will be held for you at the box office.

SCHOOL NEWS

CENTRAL HIGH

Louise Abrams was a member of the committee in charge of the try-outs for new members held Thursday by the afternoon session dramatic society.

The Central debating team defeated the Hope High team last Wednesday evening on the subject, "Resolved, That the United States Should Cancel the Inter-Allied War Debts." The Hope High speakers who upheld the affirmative included Harold Hassenfeld and Harry Fain was the alternate on the Central team. Theodore Sack was the timekeeper for Hope.

HOPE HIGH

The Junior Dramatic Society presented a musical comedy in one act Tuesday evening for the annual Fathers' Night program in the Nathan Bishop Junior High School. In the cast were Hilda Raphael, Bernard Golner, Mathew Marks, Selma Slavik, Bernice Miller, Rosalind Gouse and Florence Shapiro. The sewing of the costumes was done under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Davis. Elton Wunsch assisted the stage managers.

ROGER WILLIAMS JUNIOR HIGH

A sketch demonstrating the correct use of English was given last Thursday by the girls of 9A and included Celia Greenberg, Dorothy Mushlin, Sadie Sweet and Mary Rothstein. Posters were made under the direction of Miss Selma Katz of the art department.

The following were among the students who entertained the Men's Community Club of Washington Park last Tuesday evening: Sylvia Salzman, Rose Lazarus and the Millman Trio.

THOMAS A. DOYLE

A group of pupils from the Nathan Bishop Junior High School presented a program of entertainment at the Thomas A. Doyle School, Wednesday showing what is being done at junior high.

The students who participated included Sylvia Rose, Frances Mittleman, Marion Davis, Shirley Logan, Natalie Rosen, Beverly Starr, Charlotte Morsin, Adelaide Pincus, Marjorie Seif, Arline Marcus, Carolyn Sydell, Willard Schreiber and Herbert Cohen.

Hebrew School Pupils to Give Religious Play

[Continued from Page 1]

It proceeds with the persecution of an entire Jewish community accused of murder, but through a particular incident, the curiosity of a young boy, helps to vindicate them from the crime. Forty characters, between the ages of seven and fourteen, comprise the cast.

Samuel S. Cohen, principal of the school, and coach of the play, announces that rehearsals have been very diligently attended and the play promises to be not only entertaining but most educational. He also announces that in order to afford every one the opportunity of seeing this play the school has made a minimum charge as admission fee, merely to cover the expenses.

The following are in the cast: Samuel Goldfarb, Ruth Fishbein, Irving Pickar, Harry Rosenberg, Sydney Cohen, Meyer Grossman, Joslyn Presser, Beatrice Cutler, Louis Schleifer, Sarah Gordon, Minnie Meyers, Rose Wallick, Ethel Horvitz, David Wilkes, Irving Gertz, Haskell Frank, Haskell Wallick, Hama Perlow, Abraham Lobel, Sydney Greenfield, Morris Sweet, Kenneth Sydell, Adolph Snow, Morris Bernstein, William Gregerman, David Saslaw, Jack Goldstein, Morris Snyder, David Feinberg, Sanford Fineman, Eunice Horowitz, Albert Surdutt, Ida Barles, Sydney Green, Morris Goodman, Irving Weiner, Joseph Cohen, Philip Friedmann, Max Simcofsky, Sydney Kloner and William Robin.

Max Gorodetsky, formerly connected with the Jewish stage, will be in charge of costumes and make-up.

U. S. Jewry Protests Hitler Menace

[Continued from Page 1]

delsohn, Meyerbeer, Rubenstein, Heinrich, Heine, Wasserman and Albert Einstein. In philosophy, science, literature, music and in drama, Jews have contributed largely to the culture and civilization of the German people. How does Adolph Hitler compare with these giants?

"Hitlerism stands for hatred of Jews, hatred of Catholics, hatred of democracy and parliamentary system. It is opposed to peace, honor and justice and stands for material power. It is a German Ku Klux Klan movement."

"We Jews here in America must more than ever before become more mindful of our traditions and our past in recognizing the need of organization of Jews to combat and offset such pernicious and malicious movements."

"The Jewish War Veterans of the United States has formed this particular object—to combat the powers of bigotry and darkness, to uphold the fair name of the Jew and fight his battles wherever unjustly assailed. The Jewish War Veterans of the United States headed a protest parade of more than 50,000 in New York yesterday at ten o'clock, and we here will follow their lead within a few days."

"We here in America must be ever watchful. Hitler has declared that his is a world movement. Hitler has representatives and established offices in Washington and New York and various lodges in various parts of the United States."

LOUIS SLOSS, FINANCIER, DIES IN CALIFORNIA

San Francisco, Mar. 24—(JTA)—ouis Sloss, one of the leading financiers in San Francisco, died here recently.

He was the son of ouis Sloss, one of the pioneer settlers in California who later built up a fortune in clip per ship trading along the west coast.

In Your Name . .

we will donate the sum of $1.00 from each new subscription at the regular price of $2.50 to THE JEWISH HERALD in the name of the subscriber, to:

THE JEWISH HOME FOR AGED THE MIRIAM HOSPITAL OR THE JEWISH ORPHANAGE

This offers NEW subscribers an opportunity to receive The Jewish Herald regularly, and to make a donation to their favorite charity at no extra cost.

If already a subscriber, you may send The Jewish Herald to a friend or relative.

This Offer Applies to New Subscriptions Only

Special Subscription Blank

THE JEWISH HERALD,
116 Orange Street
Providence, R. I.

With the understanding that $1.00 of the enclosed $2.50 is to be sent, in MY NAME, to:

Check

THE JEWISH HOME FOR AGED
MIRIAM HOSPITAL
THE JEWISH ORPHANAGE

you may enter my subscription to The Jewish Herald for 52 weeks, commencing with the next issue.

SEND PAPER TO

SIGNED