CHEST DRIVE STRESSED BY JEWISH UNIT

Federation for Social Service Picks Corps of Solicitors

Campaign Opens Nov. 13

With a carefully selected group of solicitors, the Jewish Federation for Social Service will throw its full strength into the coming Community Fund Campaign, November 13 to 21, in a strong effort to bring the entire Jewish community of Providence into conscientious and generous cooperation with the Chest.

A meeting of the executive committee of the federation held this week was marked by careful thought and intensive discussion on the subject of the Jewish communal responsibility in Providence and elsewhere throughout the country. The trend has been for Jewish agencies to come into Community Chests everywhere, and everywhere there has been a lessening of support by some members of the community for that reason. Those who used to contribute generously to the Orphanage, Hospital, aid societies, Community Center and other agencies by means of annual dues, tickets, and a dozen other means, it was pointed out sometimes content themselves with a very small annual donation for all the Jewish agencies and all the others besides. They will be approached this year with the plea that Providence Jewry must again and from now on accept financial responsibility for its own.

U. S. Leader Speaks

The meeting was addressed by George W. Rabinoff, field secretary of the National Bureau of Jewish Research and of the National Council of Jewish Federations, who indicated the trends and related the experiences of many cities throughout the country in meeting similar situations.

Meeting with the executive committee were representatives of Temple brotherhoods and sisterhoods, whose board memberships have pledged their services for the coming campaign. All expressed enthusiastic interest in the drive.

Plans were discussed for the conference of Jewish organizations to be held at the Jewish Community Center at 2:30 p. m., on Sunday, October 29. To that meeting 62 local groups have been invited to send five delegates each. The program will consist of consideration of plans for the consolidation of the entire Jewish community of Providence into a well-organized entity to consider communal problems of what-

FAMOUS SCHOLARS, EXILED FROM REICH, COMING HERE

Two famous German-Jewish scholars, exiled from Hitler's Reich despite their international reputations in the fields of economics and finance, will address the Institute of Jewish Studies for Adults at Temple Emanu-El, November 4 and January 3, Rabbi Israel M. Goldman announced today.

The German savants are Prof. Alfons Goldschmidt, who until a few months ago was dean of the economics department of the University of Leipzig, and Prof. George Bernhardt, noted editor and former member of the German parliament. Prof. Goldschmidt's lecture November 4 will mark the opening of the institute course, which is expected to attract large gatherings. Rabbi Goldman long has been interested in and has pushed Jewish education among younger as well as older members of his congregation.

Brown Dean to Preside

Prof. R. G. D. Richardson, dean of the graduate school at Brown University, will preside and will welcome Prof. Goldschmidt. Regarded in pre-

Many Problems Facing Home for Aged at First Annual Meeting Next Sunday

The problem of tremendously increased requirements because of present day conditions will face the first annual meeting of the Jewish Home for the Aged of Rhode Island Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock when the membership at large meets at the Home in Hillside Avenue.

Supt. Manuel P. Ostrow, in his annual report, will discuss this feature of the Home's work in detail, pointing out that depressed business conditions have done much toward increasing the burden to such an extent that now it has become a community problem.

With industry demanding greater energy and activity and age limitations having been established in recent years, Mr. Ostrow will point out the work of the Home has increased noticeably. The Home superintendent also will stress inability of children to take care of their aged parents since the prosperous times ceased to be.

Dr. Schechter to be Installed as Rabbi, October 29

Dr. Abraham I. Schechter will be installed as Rabbi of Congregation Sons of Jacob with special ceremonies Sunday afternoon, October 29. (Continued on Page Eight)

Sunday's session coincides with the beginning of the fiscal year for the Home and annual reports will be presented by the following chairmen:

Membership, Nat C. Cohen; entertainment, Bernard M. Goldowsky; house, Benjamin Hyman; admissions,

Mrs. Samuel N. Deutch; finance, Henry Hassenfeld; budget, Milton Sulzberger; publicity, Alter Boyman; memorial, Judge J. Jerome Hahn; legal, Walter I. Sundlun; medical, Dr. Leo Cohen; ladies' association, Mrs. Harry Shatkin.

President Samuel M. Magid will deliver his message and the election of officers and trustees for 1933 and 1934 will follow. Several leaders of the community will be present to address the gathering and entertainment will be furnished for the occasion.

The newly erected building on Hillside Avenue, it was pointed out, presents a vital addition to the existing institutions of the city, and is the pride of Rhode Island Jewry. It represents not only a humane and kindly enterprise on behalf of aged, but also sacrifices on the part of community-minded Jewish people who have strained every ounce of energy to keep the institution going.

The committee in charge of the meeting is emphasizing the fact that there will be no solicitations or appeals made on this occasion.

The nominating committee consists of Leo Logan, chairman, Benjamin N. Kane, Dr. Illie Berger, Louis Frank Rosenberg, Jacob I. Felder, Morris Chusmir, Joseph Adelson, Alter Boyman and Samuel Rosen.

Women's Pioneer Club to Present Paole Zion Head

Approximately 500 persons are expected to attend a mass meeting Sunday night at 8 o'clock in the Jewish Community Center, 65 Benefit street, sponsored by the Women's Pioneer Club of Providence and at which Leo Glantz, assistant editor of "The Kempter," Jewish weekly, will be the principal speaker.

Mr. Glantz, widely known as an orator and national leader in Jewish affairs, is an outstanding member of the Paole Zion Organization of America and was a delegate to the World Zionist Congress last August, taking an active part in the important deliberations of that committee both on the floor and in committee.

His first-hand description of the Congress workings and the impressions he gathered from contacts with different view-points of delegates from various parts of the world have been deemed of such value that the Women's Pioneer Club committee extends an invitation to the general public and to Zionist organizations especially to attend the mass meeting.

The club's fall and winter season opened recently with an executive board meeting in the home of Mrs. Harry S. Beck, president. Committees were named to arrange for the annual dance in January, the donors' luncheon some time later and other social events.

Herman M. Davis Honored by Vets

Herman Davis, past Rhode Island State Department Commander of the Jewish War Veterans was honored at the last muster of R. I. Post No. 23, held Saturday evening, October 14, at Post headquarters on Niagara Street.

A set of resolutions was tendered him commending him for his heroism in saving the life of a mother and child from a fiery death and performing this act irrefragably of his own danger.

RACIAL ISSUE IN NEW YORK ELECTION HIT

McKee Explains Article Scored as Anti-Jewish By Untermyer

Raps La Guardia Charge

(JTA)

Although injection of the race issue in the New York City mayoralty contest was deplored by the representatives of all factions, the issue, revolving around the alleged anti-Semitism of Joseph V. McKee, independent Democrat, running on the "Recovery Party" ticket, continued to hold the center of attention in the election preliminaries Tuesday.

Samuel Untermyer, who had previously strongly denounced Mr. McKee on the basis of an article the candidate wrote in 1915, declared that Mr. McKee's explanation, made in a special broadcast Monday over Station WABC, was evasive. Mr. McKee had denied any intention of criticizing the Jewish race.

"I did not criticize Jews nor Judaism," Mr. McKee had declared. "I criticized only those who abandoned Judaism. Do Jews do less?"

He severely attacked Major Fiorella H. LaGuardia, Fusion candidate for mayor.

Major LaGuardia replied: "Mr. McKee's charges that someone else has injected the religious issue in the campaign are like the pickpocket who shouts 'Thief!' to avoid detection. Mr. McKee wrote the scurrilous, cowardly attack on a great race, and the responsibility is his. He wrote it when he was a teacher on the city payroll, and the only time he calls it politics is when he runs for office as his own weak confession admits."

Mr. Untermyer's statement follows:

"If Mr. McKee had said frankly that this deliberate, unprovoked libel upon the moral character and integrity of the entire younger generation of Jews—which is precisely what it is—had taken place 18 years ago, when he was still a young man, and that he had since changed his views and regretted the incident, we Jews, who are a patient, forgiving, long-suffering people, accustomed to being misunderstood, persecuted and maligned, would be disposed to overlook it."

Refers to Marshall

"That was probably the attitude of my lifelong friend and partner, Louis Marshall, who was naturally anxious, as I would have been, to avoid the responsibility of forcing any such issue into a political campaign. "I have examined into Mr. Mc-

The public is invited to the services.

FORUM SERVICES

Following the general plan to make Temple Beth Israel a community-wide organization, Rabbi Schussheim is arranging his services to include the public and to permit discussions by the public after every service. An attempt will also be made to have social hour follow.

To raise the level of these services, special college-trained men will be invited to start the discussion with brief addresses. Announcement of these services will be made in the press.

The success of this bridge will prove the popularity of the project. Mrs. Jack Davis is chairman and Mrs. Abraham Kastenman, the co-chairman.

REGIONAL CONFERENCE

New England Regional No. 1 Conference of National Federation of Temple Sisterhoods, of which Mrs. Maurice L. Fox is president, will be held at the Providence Plantations Club, Tuesday, October 31. ## List Substitutes for Nazi-Made Goods

A twelve-page pamphlet listing the American and British equivalents of 52 German-made drugs used in this country has been distributed to 10,000 physicians, dentists and optometrists in all parts of the United States by the American League for the Defense of Jewish Rights as part of its program of prosecuting the boycott of German goods and services, according to an announcement today by Samuel Untermeyer, president of the League. The booklet is prefaced by an appeal to the members of these professional groups "to meet the challenge of Nazi Germany by the only method possible, namely, the prosecution of an economic boycott."

Twenty-three drugs made in the United States are included in the list of non-German equivalents. In an appendix there is also a list of prices which shows that 16 proprietary preparations, most of which come from Germany, cost $31.55 as compared with $8.29 for their American non-proprietary equivalents.

The names of eleven American health resorts in ten different states and 32 health resorts in six foreign countries whose facilities and medicinal value are the equal of the German spas are also listed in the pamphlet. Today's mode of living is a modern mode. Every advancement that adds to its enjoyment creates a convenience — new and greater comfort to make living more worthwhile.

Man has harnessed electricity and turned its magic energy into the silent and automatic performance of duties which meant human toil and labor not so long ago. The sputtering kerosene lamp, the base burner, the flickering gas jet and the old-fashioned ice box... all conveniences in their day, but who would tolerate them now or fail to recognize their out-of-dateness with the modern trend of living.

Just as these conveniences of yesterday have outlived their usefulness, so has the time-worn traditional method of home heating given way to modern automatic oil heat... the home heating method that banishes forever the drudgery and dirt connected with "furnace tending" and replaces it with dependable, clean, healthy automatic heat for year in and year out warmth and comfort.

Now that the summer heat is gone, activities are a plenty. First, there was the NRA parade, then the dedication of Bucci Memorial Square, also the dedication of Dyer Memorial Square. Yes, the boys were out in full regalia at all three events, and the drum and bugle corps showed their wares, and performed admirably. Thanks to Adjutant Esmond Borod.

On Sunday, November 5, the Post will dedicate the Cleinman Memorial Square, corner Hope and Olney Streets, in honor of Jack Cleinman, a Providence Jewish boy killed in action in France. Trustee Abram Halpert, general chairman, and his committee are planning to have a dedication that will be a credit to the Jews of Providence. The Providence Fraternal Association is planning to turn out 400 strong, and nearly every Vet Post has promised to take part.

Headquarters are almost complete after an entire summer of renovation. The ball room is the shining light of the building, thanks to the excellent work of Comrades Bregman and Jacober. Trustee Paul J. Robin had complete charge of the renovation.

On Armistice night, Saturday, November 11, a military ball will be held at headquarters, 100 Niagara Street, in the new ball room. Senior Vice Mac Cohen, chairman, and his committee are arranging an affair that will be long remembered. As this ball is open to the public, a very large attendance is expected. Tickets can be secured from any Jewish War Vet.

Comrade Irving D. Paster and his membership committee are certainly on the job. Seven new members at the last two meetings. Keep up the good work, boys.

Congratulations are in order to Comrade and Mrs. Musen for the new auxiliary prospect.

Judge Advocate Bert Israel has the deepest sympathy of his comrades in his recent bereavement.

The Post was honored at their last meeting with a visit of the Past State Department Commander Herman M. Davis. All the comrades were delighted to see him well and looking so good after his terrible accident.

MACY'S AND MR. UNTERMYER

The refusal of Percy S. Straus, president of Macy's and himself a Jew, to participate in the defensive boycott of world Jewry against Hitlerland products, and the pains he took — by full page advertisements in leading New York dailies — to proclaim himself out of step with the humanitarian movement to compel relief for 600,000 fellow-Jews in the Reich, have been rightly exposed by Samuel Untermyer, president of the World Jewish Economic Federation and its American branch, the American League for the Defense of Jewish Rights.

Macy's, if its Jewish owner had shown the proper patriotism toward his people (and even non-Jews have joined sympathetically in the program) could almost single-handed have brought Hitler to his knees. The great store's tremendous influence undoubtedly would have caused all other metropolitan establishments to follow its lead; and the consequent loss of business to Germany would, together with the widespread boycott elsewhere, have ruined the Black Chancellor once and for all. It was unfortunate, too, that metropolitan newspapers that carried Macy's ad failed to publish Untermyer's answer.

Macy's claim that boycott action by American department stores would be setting a "dangerous precedent" is ridiculous. The most it could do would be to send business to other countries with the doubtful possibility of a slight increase in price, which shoppers gladly would pay. Mr. Straus's refusal to take part in the movement is a severe setback but it will be overcome by the consumers' boycott. Macy's will find no outlet for its German-made goods; it will lose millions in business from Jews in New York and from countless thousands of non-Jews who are in sympathy with Jewry's plight in Hitlerland.

Already the boycott — which, incidentally, The Jewish Herald advocated long before there was any organized movement in that direction — has taken its toll and Germany is forfeiting millions daily. The boycott hardly has started, yet its growth and momentum has been tremendous. If Jewry is forced to continue it long, Germany stands to lose permanently a huge amount of business that will be gained by other countries.

While we are 100 percent behind Untermyer's anti-Hitler program — indeed, we anticipated it — we cannot see eye-to-eye with another unfortunate episode in which he is associated. Mr. Untermyer's connection with dragging a "Jewish issue" into the New York election fight does not jibe with his magnificent efforts in behalf of German Jewry. His attack on Mr. McKee for an article the latter wrote back in 1915, in which Jewish students are allegedly criticised, strikes a discordant note. From this distance, it would appear that Mr. Untermyer on the one hand takes Mr. Straus to task for his failure to put Jewish patriotism above personal business gain while he himself makes political capital out of an 18-year-old article that might be made to seem like a criticism of Jewish students. Perhaps we are impractical idealists, but we are convinced that neither in Providence nor in New York nor anywhere else should there be a "Jewish bloc" for political purposes. By that we do not mean that Jews should not join in defending themselves from such hoodlums as Hitler; we simply insist that there should be no such thing as a "Jewish vote" in politics, and no attempt should be made to create one.

The League and Palestine
 It seems to me that the decision of the League of Nations to appoint a commission to take care of the matter of the refugees from Germany marks a turning point not only in the history of Jewry but in the history of Palestine.

All along we have been asking that the League of Nations assist in the work of settling Jews in Palestine, just as it did in the matter of repatriating the Greeks from Turkey.

Dealing with the Jewish refugees from Germany, the League will now have to take up the Palestine question. First, only as it affects the German refugees, but once it has put its hand in the Palestine matter, it is not at all unlikely that it will follow with Polish Jews, etc.

I am beginning to believe that Sir Herbert Samuel was right in his prediction that within 30 years the Jewish population of Palestine will be about three millions or about the same as that when King David reigned.

The German Agreement
 Jacob De Haas furnishes some interesting light on the so-called agreements of Germany with regard to the withdrawal of money in the shape of goods or in exchange for German goods.

He points out that the deal was first started long before Hitler assumed power—and that it was really an effort to get over the prohibition of taking money out of the country which prevails and prevailed not only in Germany, but in many other European countries.

The way it started was this: Several thousand German Jews, when Gruening was Chancellor had registered with the Palestine Bureau in Germany for emigration to Palestine, but they were prevented from going by the fact that the law stopped the taking of money out of the country.

It is not a Hitler agreement at all, at least, was not originally. And personally I am entirely in favor of it. In fact, something like this will have to be done in various other European countries, which forbid the removal of money from the country.

It does not seem to me to be any violation of the boycott. The German Jews are merely withdrawing their own money in the form of goods. It is merely a form of liquidation of their own property.

Mr. Lipsky has pointed out that indeed Herzl in his Judenstaat had devoted some space to this question of "liquidation" and that the Jewish Colonial Trust was in part created to assist in this very thing.

Melamed and Mussolini
 Dr. Melamed and Mussolini. Why do I put these two names together, you ask me. I answer, I don't know, but that it sounds all right and who knows but that in the ultimate essence of things, sound may be a just criterion.

But really I suppose, I put these two names together, because I can never think of Dr. Melamed without thinking at the same time of some one else. And the reason for that is because of the influence of Dr. Melamed himself.

Do you recall the old Reflex which Melamed edited? Never did Melamed write of one person without at the same time contrasting him with another. There was St. Paul and Trotzsky, for instance.

And now we have a new book by Melamed and it continues in the same tradition. It is a book on Spinoza but it is called Spinoza and Buddha.

So I say: Melamed and Mussolini and though I myself see no points in common between the two names, I am quite sure, if I were he and he were I, he would.

Lenin and Spinoza
 Dr. Melamed is always an interesting writer, and this book is no exception. Lenin, Melamed writes was more a follower of Spinoza than of Karl Marx. Saint Paul, he describes as a sickly, epileptic levanine Jew, the greatest organizer in history; Jesus, a simple villager, a dreamer of the ghetto.

"Judaism is the spirit of the desert where man alone, felt more intensely his own personality and the will to live."

The University of Chicago Press is publishing the book.

Resigned from the Race
 I heard this one the other day. A negro applied for aid to the Jewish charities.

"I am very sorry, but we must help our own. Why don't you apply to the Charities for the aid of colored people?"

"I have resigned from the negro race," said the black fellow.

"Has your resignation been accepted?" asked the Jewish charity worker.

The story is equally good for the Jew. It appears that Mr. Hitler refuses to accept the resignation of many Jews who have resigned from the Jewish race.

More Books
 Speaking of books, as I was a couple of paragraphs back, I mention that Jacob De Haas's one volume Jewish encyclopedia will soon be out. Some seven hundred pages I believe.

Also out soon: History of Jews, but written from a different slant for adolescents by Leo Schwartz, former Young Judea leader.

A Sad Reflection
 I met the other day Barnett Janner, the English Jewish representative in the House of Commons of the London Whitechapel, corresponding to the New York East Side.

And a sad thought came over me: I compared him with some of our own elected Jewish officials and it seems to me, he stands heads and shoulders above them. More genuine, more cultured, better in every way.

Why is it we American Jews elect such and suches. Now when it comes to Jews who are appointed to office, such as some of the men surrounding Roosevelt, we can make a better showing. But, by and large, our elected officials are nothing that you want to write home about.

The Story of a Beard
 Some men wear beards, because the Bible says you should wear one. Some men wear beards, the better to hide a weak chin. Some men wear beards just for ordinary ornamentation. I once knew an old queer figure at the library of Congress—a non-Jew who wore a beard, because he said it was the masculine thing to do and moreover, it was healthy. He wrote an article trying to prove that beards keep pneumonia germs away.

There are beards and beards—but the strangest beard of all I came across the other day at the Cafe Royal. I saw the man—and I saw the beard and Jacob Fishman, editor of the Jewish Morning Journal recounted to me the story of that beard. And the story was of a beard—not of hygiene, not of esthetics and not of religion. It was a beard of revenge.

We shall call the man Goodkind, because that is not his name. If you have ever been to the Cafe Royal you have seen Goodkind, and you couldn't help but notice him. He has black gleaming eyes, and generally he is without hat and there is something about him that makes you think that either he is an anarchist or a Yiddish poet.

And the fact is that he is a Yiddish poet. But let us go back to his beard, for that is the first thing you will notice about him. It is the kind of beard that you would expect to develop in a contest for the growing of the most generous beards.

I have said that this beard was a beard of revenge, but it was also a beard of sacrifice and a beard of martyrdom.

And the story is this. Goodkind is a Yiddish poet and a staunch 100 per cent Yiddishist.

And loving Yiddish, he hoped to raise his only begotten son to treasure it even as he does. When the boy was five and six, he read to him of the gems of Yiddish literature. He read to him of his own Yiddish poems—and he looked forward to the day, when as he grew old, his son would rise and raise high the Yiddish banner even as he did.

The son grew older and little by little, the father began to see that a new generation had arisen, which knew not Joseph, as the Scriptures would put it—which knew not Joseph and did not even want to know him.

This coldness grew until one day, the son came home and openly proclaimed his complete separation and independence of things Yiddish. He didn't like the language, he said. He would have no commerce and no dealings with it.

"A filthy jargon," the son exclaimed, "a language for the unpolished, unkempt. I hate everything Yiddish."

I need not go into all the details

Aims and Objects of Jewish War Veterans

By PAUL ROBIN

Series III
 Object 3—"To inculcate and kee alive the spirit of comradeship among the men of our race wI fought in the various wars of tl republic."

This object is self-explanator The spirit generated by the trial tribulations and suffering of the he of war ought to be perpetuated b cause there is no force that bin men more closely together than th force of suffering and privation.

Object 4—"To assist such con rades and their families as ma stand in need of help, encouragemer or protection."

Under this object our organiza tion carries on its general welfar program which includes many activi ties. It has been the experience o disabled veterans and their depend ents to find practically all existin welfare agencies closed to them This is due to the fact that welfar agencies assume the attitude that : veteran and his dependants are b truth a charge of the government and that in most cases compensatio or some form of relief is accorded them through the U. S. Veterans Bureau.

Our organization feels that th veteran and his dependents shoul not be thrust upon existing relief agencies, but that such relief shoul come from and through a veterar organization, such as our own. Ne agency can be as familiar with the federal compensation, pension, insurance and rehabilitation laws, as we can be. This is due to the fact that our interest in the laws is so much more genuine than the interest that any other agency might have in them.

Through our liaison officers, our organization establishes contact with every federal, state and local department that has to deal with veteran relief. In this activity we have been called upon to make inquiry into dismissal of veterans from government service. We follow up each case wherever it is claimed that such dismissal was predicated upon religious intolerance.

We have also been called upon to obtain positions for the wives of deceased comrades, and we have been instrumental in placing a number of veterans and their dependents in various positions.

Income for Relief
 Although "The Jewish War Veterans" can hardly be said to come within the scope of charitable organizations, the fact remains that the major portion of our income from every available source is expended in alleviating in some measure the distress of those unfortunate ex-service men who daily appeal to us for aid, and this without regard to religion or racial question. Frequently, such aid to be effective must be and is rendered by us with the least possible delay. In this respect our organization differs from every other form of charity-dispensing body.

Then, our organization has engaged in welfare work which other agencies would very well handle but of the heated conversation that ensued except to say that it wound up as follows: The father said: "You can't stand Yiddish. You can't stand the Yiddish language. You have dared even as the very scum of the streets to call it a "sheeny" tongue. I'll tell you what I will do. The more you go away from it, the closer I will get to it. I will take it, the closer I will get to it. I will speak no word of English. The razor I will throw out and I will grow the beardiest of beards. I will be everything that you hate. I will be that "sheeny," and everyone will say, see—that "sheeny" is your father. Ha-ha-ha I will smile, as you will be eaten up by the disgrace."

And so now for years, the beard has grown into the beardiest beard of the bearded East Side.

And the poet patiently carries his martyrdom.

Orioles Win from Olneyville Harps

The J. A. C. C. Orioles subdued the strong Olneyville Harps 6 to 0 at Roger Williams Park before a crowd of 5,000 people last Sunday afternoon.

With Captain Moe Kessler intercepting a pass and running 60 yards for a touchdown the Orioles held their opponents to the lone score. This Sunday the Orioles will clash with the strong Wanskuck Townies at Wanskuck Oval. Still stinging from the setback the Orioles gave them last year the Townies will use their strongest lineup in this game. Both of these teams have been drilling hard for this game and it will be a fast and interesting one.

Coach Irving Katsnelson requests that all Orioles report for a practice session at 9 Sunday morning in lower Davis Park. Plans to handle a capacity crowd are being made for this game. The kickoff will be at 2:15.

CENTER BROADCASTS

SCHOOL REGISTRATION LARGE
The Center Religious School is proving to be a permanent institution by being able to hold a large registration of children. The total today stands at 225 with prospects of increasing within the next few weeks. Children who have not registered are requested to do so at once. The graduating class consists of 13 students and the Post graduation numbers five which means that in June the school will graduate its largest group. Faculty members are as follows:

Harriet J. Winnerman, kindergarten; Miriam Winkelman, assistant kindergarten; Esther Grossman, first grade; Ethel Levine, second grade; Beatrice Gross, third grade; Ruby B. Winnerman, fourth grade; Lester L. Aptel, fifth grade; Edward Kleiner, sixth grade; Ira Blum, seventh grade; Samuel Cohen, graduating class; Sydney Hedrich, post graduation; Nathan Roy, dramatic instructor; Evelyn Segal, singing instructor; Gertrude B. PARENTS TO MEET
The Jewish Center Parents' Association will hold its first meeting Monday evening, November 6 at which time a complimentary bridge will be tendered the members. At an executive meeting held recently a program was laid out for the winter. The following were present: Mrs. Paul J. Robin, Mrs. Sigmund Robinson, Mrs. Ira Robinson, Mrs. Morris Feldman, Mrs. Samuel Littman, Benjamin Rakatansky and Herman S. Galkin. The Association will accept several projects with the idea of helping the Center to carry on its club and school activities.

CONTRIBUTIONS

Acknowledgment is made with thanks of a contribution of an excellent piano from Mrs. Samuel Markow of 16 Congress avenue and a set of pictures from Bernard M. Goldowsky, a member of the Board. These two contributions are very welcome to the Center. Contributions of books are especially welcome to the Jewish Center Library. On occasions of Bar Mitzvah, Birthdays and in Memoriam it would be a good deed to remember that the Center can use many little things that its budget does not allow it to buy. Such contributions will be acknowledged with gratefulness.

CENTER AS HEADQUARTERS

Many of the Jewish organizations in Providence are beginning to learn the various advantages of the Center as a meeting place for groups, lodges, fraternal groups and women's organizations. The Jewish Federation for Social Service is calling a conference of Jewish organizations for Sunday afternoon, October 29 and a meeting of workers of the campaign for Monday evening, November 6.

The Center is used regularly for meetings by the Louis Feiner Lodge, Women's Consumptive League, The Senior Hadassah and the Ladies' Union Aid Association held meetings at the Center. The Women's Pioneer Club is planning a meeting Sunday evening, October 22. The Literary Group of the Council of Jewish Women also met at the Center last year.

The facilities of the Center are unusual because its rooms are light, warm, and spacious and any Jewish organization is welcomed.

GROUPS ORGANIZE

The Jewish Center Players met with Mrs. Starr Tuesday evening to organize for the season. A meeting of the J. Y. M. A. was held Thursday evening to organize for the season. The Intermediate and Senior recreation rooms are now in full swing. The clubs now meeting are: Checkers, Kodimohs, J. U. G.'s Top Notches, Pollyannas, Girl Scouts and Olympics.

ACTIVITIES FOR NEXT WEEK

Activities scheduled to be opened next week include the Jewish Center Orchestra rehearsal, Sunday afternoon, October 22 at 3 o'clock. The Jewish Center Choral Society, Monday evening, October 23, at 8 o'clock. Persons who would like to join a fine singing organization are urged to come to the Center next Monday evening. This group is open to both men and women. The newly proposed Woman's Group will have its Rabbi Schechter established a Religious School, a College of Jewish Studies, which will include classes in Talmud and Shulchan Aruch, also Young Judaea clubs and other people's activities.

Last Sunday, registration for the Religious School classes was held, and 140 children, from Kindergarten age to 15, enrolled. A competent staff of teachers will be in charge of the various classes, and the first meeting Monday evening, October 23. The basketball team will meet its newly elected coach Monday evening, October 23. The Senior House Council, composed of representatives from the four adult groups will meet Tuesday evening, October 24, at 8:15 o'clock to organize permanently. The Senior Women's gym class is scheduled to begin Thursday evening, October 26 at 7 o'clock.

And So The Days Pass

By JACK SILVERMAN

THE DREAMS AHEAD

What would we do in this world of ours
Were it not for the dreams ahead?
Thorns are mixed with blooming flowers,
No matter which path we tread.

Each of us has his golden goal,
Stretching far into the years,
And ever he climbs with a hopeful soul,
With alternate smiles and tears.

The dream ahead is what holds him up
Through the storms of ceaseless fight,
When his lips are pressed to the bitter cup
And clouds shut out the light.

To some it's a dream of high estate,
To some it's a dream of wealth;
To some it's a dream of a truce with fate
In a constant search for health.

To some it's a dream of home and wife,
To some others it's a crown above;
The dreams ahead are what make each life,
The dreams . . . and faith . . . and love!

YOUTH MARCHES ON

The other day I had a chance to observe two children playing games. One was a little girl of nine, the other about a year younger. "I'm gonna be a movin' pitcher actress when I grow up, and make $30,000 a week," exclaimed the older one in reply to my query as to what they were playing.

Funny, isn't it? . . . Sure it is, to you and me! . . . But, ah, my friend . . . to follow up the poem above . . . it's the dreams ahead . . . foolish? Children? Maybe! . . . But not any more foolish and childish than the fears that we supposedly smart adults entertain and allow to ruin whatever chance we have for happiness in life . . . Tell me now, — is there really any force in life that can muster as much strength to make your life miserable, as you can . . . if you only will . . . find the strength that will lead you on to the road of happiness?

Youth with its dreams . . . its happy dreams . . . is what makes life worth while living . . . Youth who refuses to be worried by depressions, inability to pay taxes or the mortgage . . . Youth who likes to play, sing and be gay and happy . . . Youth, which knows not many things . . . including the folly of continuous sorrow and grief . . . keeps marching on with glee and laughter to a happy tomorrow!

You and I may smile at youth, but we certainly envy it. What wouldn't we give to be children again!

THE GARDENER AND THE BIRD (A Rabbinical Fable)

One day a large bird got into an orchard and destroyed a quantity of fruit. Suddenly the gardener appeared on the scene, and seeing the destruction wrought by the bird, caught it, and decided to wring its neck. But the bird implored him to spare its life, saying that if he did so, it would tell him three ancient and useful maxims, and would likewise fetch him a hidden jewel that was as big as its own body.

The gardener having consented, the bird said: "Firstly, you must never crave after the unobtainable . . . Secondly, you must not deplore past losses . . . And thirdly, you must not believe fairy tales!"

Thereupon the gardener allowed the bird to escape, reminding it of the hidden jewel. But the bird settled itself on a tree outside the orchard and began to mock the gardener, who, seeing himself duped, called for it to return.

"Foolish man," the bird replied, "Have you so quickly forgotten the three golden rules that I have just quoted you? Didn't I tell you as one of them . . . Not to believe in fairy tales?"

My muse, though airy, glides softly along,
Singing full off a voiceless song.
My pen, though frail and slim of figure,
Has a serpent's tooth and a lion's vigor.

DEMOCRACY AND THE PEOPLE

The spectacle in Germany and other places in the world, of the multitudes rushing, marching, flinging themselves to the support of autocracy and dictators, brings a question for some reason or other have overlooked, such as:

1. Friendly or comradely visits to the disabled veterans still in hospitals, and supplying them with little necessities and foods such as cigarettes, candies, books, etc.

2. Providing religious services for the disabled in hospitals on the various Jewish holidays and the Sabbath.

3. Providing food and clothing for the widows and orphans of the deceased and disabled, especially to provide the distinctly Jewish necessities, such as matzo, eggs, cakes during the Passover season, and candles and toys for the orphans during the Chanukah season.

Object 5—"To gather and preserve the records of patriotic service performed by the men of our race."

A statistical and research department is our goal. Same to be maintained for the compilation of the Jewish contributions to the development of the U. S., together with an accurate list of the number of Jews who served in the wars of the republic, the number of them on foreign soil or in foreign waters, the number of them who were wounded or killed, and the number who were decorated by this or other governments. This information is indispensable as the refutation of the common slander that the Jew is unpatriotic.

Object 6—"To honor the memory of our heroic dead and to shield their graves from neglect."

From the very inception, the Jewish Veterans sought to honor their dead by an appropriate burial and annual memorial and armistice services.

We maintain a national burial ground in Staten Island for burial of deceased comrades and the free burials of all deceased Jewish veterans whose families are too poor to pay for such burial.

(Next Series—The Jew in America's Wars)

to my mind as to whether we as a human race are yet ready to receive the privileges and responsibility that a free democratic government offers the people.

Hitler's oppressed Germany would most certainly rally to a call for offense in much greater numbers than would Franklin D. Roosevelt's free and democratic people of the United States in the case of even defending their own country . . . There seems to be a spirit of indifference among our people as to how we are governed, by whom we are governed, or what it's all about that is appalling . . . Can you imagine . . . the privilege of the vote . . . for which thousands have died . . . is utilized by only 65 percent of our people . . . And those who do vote . . . do it in such an unintelligent manner that only through a miracle do we occasionally get the right man or woman in office.

Oh, well . . . I suppose that's human nature . . . not to appreciate the gift of liberty and freedom any more than we do the very essentials of life such as air, food, and water . . . not until we are deprived of them.

HERE AND THERE

That little fellow Jack Morton (or Mitnick) can't be kept down; he's gone and made the Hills Grove Country Club one of the finest night clubs in New England . . . The other places are doing a healthy business also. Especially the Club Nara, an intimate rendezvous, Doby's Grove, and my friend Jimmie DeSarro's Frolics club . . . I talk to Jimmie in Russian, and he answers me in Italian, which is Greek to me . . . And who do you think writes the Roundabout? . . . Well, it's not yours truly, so don't blame me if you see your name in it. I hope you didn't take me seriously about Jimmie Goldman's

NEWS WRITTEN FOR THE JEWISH HERALD by GEORGE JOEL

Football Twins

Up at Syracuse where they still take their football seriously the Singer twins, Milton and Walter are both playing in the line. These two boys look so much alike that even the boys who play on the team with them are unable to tell them apart. Recently as a mental test, Coach Hansen asked five of the Orange team to try and name the boys, four failed, the fifth guessed right but only after examining the teeth of the Singers.

Low Carr who has been coaching the baseball team on the hill, almost as long as the hill has been sticking its flat top above the City of Syracuse, says the only way he is able to tell the Singers apart is through the fact that one carries a first baseman's mitt and the other a fielder's glove. Both, of course, play on the team. Last spring when Syracuse was playing Colgate at Hamilton the umpire refused to let Walter take his turn at bat, declaring that he had just called him out on strikes. Milt had to come from the bench to convince the umpire that Walter wasn't trying to put one over. Even after Milton's appearance the umpire was doubtful. He seemed insulted all that afternoon.

But the strangest mixup occurred after Walter had won the novice heavyweight boxing championship at Syracuse last year. A few minutes after the bout Milt appeared in the ring and received the gold medal while the winner, Walter, was in the dressing room. After pocketing the gold trinket Milt disappeared and when Walter demanded his medal nobody would believe he was Walter.

During a game the boys are particularly annoying to their opponents as one boy plays center and the other end. If a pass is thrown and the center Singer catches it he plays end on the next play. It is all very confusing.

Fishman Out Again

Sammy Fishman, Dartmouth's first string quarterback will probably spend another season on the bench. During practice last week the Jewish boy hurt his ankle. The tell-all X-ray machine showed Sammy had a cracked bone. A similar injury last season kept the fast stepping signal caller on the sidelines and he is now out indefinitely. His loss will be felt keenly by the Hanover Greens.

Other Gridiron News

Harry Newman, All American quarterback at Michigan last season has made the jump to professional football without a pause in his stride. The New York Giants, star, according to National League statistics compiled recently, is second in ground gaining with a total yardage of 180 yards. He is also second in passing, having completed no fewer than 11 tosses out of 31 attempts. He accounted for 195 yards of gain through the aerial route. Newman has scored 18 points so far this season and was also on the receiving end of the season's longest pass, a heave from Ken Strong with which he ran some 70 yards for a touchdown.

Howard Jones, coach of the University of Southern California team writing in the Saturday Evening pinocchio playing . . . you might lose your shirt . . . Don't forget that Mrs. Caesar Misch is running for the important post of school committee—If you live in her district, it's your duty to do your utmost to elect her with the greatest majority a candidate ever received . . . There are a lot of names I could use today, but I can't say anything good about them, and dare not say anything bad . . . and so the days pass.

Post calls Rosenberg of that college, one of the best running guards in the game and gives the huge Jewish boy credit for a great share of U. S. C.'s fine defensive play.

Chatterings

Jackie Kid Berg whose checkered career in the American ring has kept the fans coming through the turnstiles is back in the ring again. Last week in New York City before a crowd of 4500 he knocked out a win over Harry Wallace by Koing Wallace in the fourth round of a scheduled eight round go. The English fighter looked alert and in good shape. He hopes to be seen in the main goes around town this coming winter.

Lower priced football tickets are meeting with the fans' approval if early game receipts are any indication of what is going to happen. Thirty-two colleges report that 206,861 more people watched the opening games this year than appeared in 1932. Perhaps it is not fair to blame the turn-out on cheaper tickets alone. Another reason might be the fact that most colleges are meeting stronger competition with better games being the result.

N. Y. U. the haven for Jewish players evidently got what they wanted. A few years ago when the head of the University dismissed Chick Meehan because football was becoming too important at the college he said that the school would prefer to play a less important part in intercollegiate sport. They certainly are. The defeat by West Virginia Wesleyan definitely marked the Violet as out so far as big time football was concerned. The only thing I can't understand is if the college wanted less emphasis on the gridiron sport why did it hire the Yankee Stadium to play in? Why not use its own smaller park? I predict that after Fordham steam rolls over N. Y. U. the alumni of the latter college are going to have plenty to say about the importance of football.

Kopans, Harvard's large sized tackle has conquered the eligibility requirements and started off the season for the Crimson, which team seems to be getting somewhere. Off-hand it seems to me that Princeton is going to lead the so-called Big Three this season. Watch Brown, Colgate and Michigan.

Fall River News and Personalities

By IRWIN ROSENBERG

Cemetery Chapel Is Dedicated

Many people witnessed the impressive exercises Sunday, marking the dedication of the chapel on the Temple Beth-El cemetery, presented by Abraham I. Yamins. Rabbi Morton Goldberg officiated, with the assistance of Cantor Max Halpern. Mayor Hurley and Counselor Machado, as well as a number of other non-Jewish friends, were present.

The exercises began with the regular Mincha service which was followed by Mr. Yamins presenting the key of the chapel to the congregation. Samuel B. Cooper, newly elected president, accepted it and thanked him on behalf of the members.

Beginning with a tribute to Mr. Yamins and with thanks to the City of Fall River for the manner in which it cooperated in making possible the purchase of the building, which was formerly used as a school house, at a very nominal price, Rabbi Goldberg addressed the gathering.

His text was "From earth thou art and to earth shalt thou return," and he alleged that to understand life one must first understand death. To illustrate his meaning Rabbi Goldberg elaborated on three ways in which Jews describe a cemetery—"Bais Akvora" (House of Graves), "Bais Olam" (House of Final Resting Place), and "Bais Achai" (House of Life).

Nathan Yamins, speaking as head of the cemetery committee, also thanked the city for its wholehearted cooperation, made more significant by the fact that in the past when the establishment of a Jewish burial ground was proposed it had to be situated in a place not as easily accessible as this.

Mayor Hurley declared that thanks were hardly necessary as he was certain that if conditions were reversed and if the government were in need of something which the Jewish community could furnish, they would show the same amount of cooperation. In this respect he mentioned the fact that the first sessions of the Rhode Island State Legislature were held in a Newport synagogue, the one, incidentally, which was established in this country.

Cantor Max Halpern chanted the psalm, "Lift up Ye Heads Oh ye Gates."

Temple Board Conducts Meeting

The first meeting of the new Board of Directors of Temple Beth-El was held in the vestry of the Temple Sunday morning at 10:30. President Samuel B. Cooper presided and the business of the meeting consisted of selecting the following committees:

Finance, Isador Levin, chairman, Maury Olinik, Edward Adaskin, Nathan Yamins, Joseph List; Cemetery, Nathan Yamins, chairman, Edward Adaskin, Myer Markell, secretary, Sol A. Rosenberg, and one to be added; House, Sol A. Rosenberg, chairman; School, William Abrash, chairman; Ways and Means, Harry Yoken, chairman; Membership, William Leviss, chairman; Welcoming, Moses Entin, chairman; Sick, David Bilsky, chairman; Mortgage Fund, Maurice Gomberg, chairman; Memorial, Morris Mines, chairman; Bowling, Al Harris, chairman; Mitzgan Joseph List, chairman.

Simchas Torah Festival

Flushed faces, candy bags, waving flags with lighted candles precariously attached to the top were all much in evidence at the Simchas Torah festival in Temple Beth-El last week.

Rabbi Goldberg delivered a short talk in which, by means of a fable of his own making he showed that the only way listeners can reap the benefits of a thoroughly Jewish life is by first diligently studying the religion of their ancestors.

Paper flags, inscribed on both sides with Hebrew characters and illustrated by wood-cuts, were distributed prior to the procession of the torahs in which over a hundred children took part. Later, in the vestry, bags of candy prepared by the Sisterhood were given each child.

Cantor Max Halpern was assisted by the two young sons of Mr. and Mrs. Max Kaplan and Mr. and Mrs. William Leviss. The youngsters were robed as miniature cantors and did creditable work.

Mrs. Sarah Kossoi Dies in Son's Home

A well known and respected resident of this city for the past forty years, Mrs. Sarah Kossoi, member of the Star Lodge, I. O. B. A., and Board member of the Jewish Home for the Aged, died at the home of her son, Edward Kossoi of Whipple street. Burial was in the Jewish cemetery. Three sons and four daughters survive.

Elect Belotz Synagogue Head

For the 13th consecutive year, Barney Belotz was chosen president, at the recent meeting of the congregation American Brothers of Israel Synagogue on Union street.

Other officers elected were: Louis Wexler, vice president; Henry J. Forman, treasurer, and Abraham Udis secretary. The new executive committee consists of Henry Forman, Jacob Ostroff, Aaron Packer, Leopold Schwartz and Louis Wexler. This year marks the twenty-fifth anniversary of the dedication of the synagogue building on Union street and also commemorates the arrival of Rabbi Lipshtiz to Fall River.

Junior Hadassah Makes Season's Plans

Meeting at the Jewish Community Center, the Junior Hadassah planned their year's work, which included a membership drive and musical and tea at the Women's Union on November 5th. The regular activities, including cultural classes and book review sessions, are planned.

December 12th is the date set for a formal dance, the place not decided upon as yet.

A. A. Pi Alumni Club Accepts Five Members

Five new members were admitted to the Alpha Epsilon Pi Fraternity Alumni Club at a meeting held Monday evening in the Biltmore Hotel. They are Harry J. Prebluda, Fall River, Harold Golden, Woonsocket, Aaron Broszofsky, Jack Goldman and Maxwell Waldman, all of Providence.

Fred Tenenbaum addressed the members. Mr. Waldman was appointed to the publicity committee.

Elect Anne Goldman to Important Post With Canadian Group

MISS ANNE GOLDMAN

Miss Anne Goldman, niece of Mr. and Mrs. James Goldman of 119 Adelaide Avenue, has been following the example of her uncle and aunt in taking keen interest in Jewish activities. Miss Goldman, who lives in Ottawa, has been elected chairman of the finance commission of the Federation of Young Judaea of all Canada, an organization comparable to the national organization of Young Judaea of America.

Providence Fraternal to Participate in Dedication Ceremony

At a meeting held last Tuesday evening, Providence Fraternal Associates voted unanimously to participate in the parade and dedication of Jack Cleinman Memorial Square to be held Sunday, November 5, at Olney and Hope streets. The dedication is being sponsored by R. I. Post No. 23, Jewish War Veterans, U. S. A. A committee of ten headed by past president Alfred Finkelstein, was appointed to make all arrangements for the parade.

Zeta Epsilon Pi Fraternity Meets

A meeting of the Zeta Epsilon Pi Fraternity was held Sunday evening at the home of Oscar Dressler. Herbert Feldman was accepted as new member and the prospects announced are Joseph Golditch, Albert Gordien and William Klitzner.

A committee was appointed to choose the emblem for the club and includes George Kaufman, chairman, David Salk and Saul Weinbaum; publicity, Oscar Dressler, chairman, Joseph Gladstone and Irving Siegel. Tentative plans have been made for a drawing.

Milton Forman, a charter member of the fraternity, and who just left for Hawaii was honored at a bon voyage dinner in North Attleboro.

Keel's surprising claim of friendship with Mr. Marshall and find it to be news to all those near to him and who ought to know, as it was to me. The first impulse and the first line of defense of every anti-Semite, when charged with bigotry, is to cry: 'I have many friends among the Jews.' It has a familiar ring.

Do You Keep A Diary?

One of the most interesting works in the English language is Pepys' "Diary", yet it was written for none but the author's eyes.

Do you keep a diary — just a line jotted down now and then, which, later, brings back a host of memories?

Your Old Colony pass book is a diary. Each entry tells a story. Remember that payment in January? Doesn't it bring back something you saw and wanted? The money almost burned a hole in your pocket . . . remember? But the budget just couldn't stretch — and you finally made your payment on schedule, with a mental pat on the back. Then in March when you got that pay cut — pretty hard going, wasn't it?

Yes, it's fun to look back. The hard times, the temporary set-backs, which made the world look so dismal for a while, now seem remote, even though only a short while ago.

Results of saving the Old Colony way are profitable, too. Each line which tells of a monthly payment of $5 means that you are one step nearer to receiving $1000 at the end of about 11½ years. A REAL reward!
