Hitler's Waning Power Revealed in Election

Local Man, Wife Leave to Set Up Palestine Home

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith Given Farewell Fete By Zionist Unit

Sail Today from New York

Seeking their fortune in the Homeland and bringing to it the American industriousness and energy that marked their lives here, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith of Jewett Street sail this afternoon from New York for Palestine aboard the liner Roma.

The couple left Providence Wednesday and plan to establish themselves in Palestine with two married daughters, Fannie and Michel, one of whom is a teacher of Hebrew.

On the eve of their departure, Mr. and Mrs. Smith were guests of honor at a farewell reception and dinner in Zinn's Banquet Hall, Mathewson Street, last Saturday, tendered by the Zionist District of Rhode Island. Scores of friends assembled to bid them Godspeed and success in the Homeland.

Samuel Michaelson was chairman and introduced Joseph Smith, president of the local Zionist district, who acted as toastmaster. Speakers included Dr. Ilie Berger, Archibald Silverman, Alter Boyman, Henry Burt, Joshua Bell, Charles Temkin, Joseph Keller, Dr. Joseph Smith and Dr. Clara Smith, son and daughter-in-law, respectively. Dr. Smith is deputy superintendent of health of Providence.

The guests of honor were presented with a framed parchment scroll which, besides an appropriate inscription, bore the names of officers and directors of the Zionist District of Providence. Both made appropriate responses. Morris W. Shoham gave a reading and Cantor Joseph Schlossberg rendered several vocal selections. Morris Feinberg gave the blessing over bread.

Nazi Torch Bearer to Tell Here How He Helped Burn Reichstag

NEW YORK, Aug. 23—(JTA)—Storm Trooper J. Kruse, self-confessed and last surviving member of the Brown Shirt group which under the instruction from high Nazis set fire to the Reichstag, will be one of many witnesses who will come from Europe to testify before the American Inquiry Commission when it reconvenes during the first week of October in Washington, Arthur Garfield Hays, member of the Commission, announced yesterday.

The Commission held its first sessions on July 2 and 3 in New York. Its purpose is to examine events and trends under the Hitler regime. The group will be enlarged by the presence of several French and British jurists.

True Story of Fire
The true story of the burning of the Reichstag, the background of Hitler's "blood purge" of June 30, the accelerating economic crisis in the Reich, the changes precipitated by the death of Hindenburg, and the significance of the presidential "plebiscite" are some of the lines of investigation which it is planned to pursue in public sessions in Washington.

In addition to the escaped, self-confessed Reichstag incendiary, Herr Kruse, the chief Washington witnesses are to include:

Ellen Wilkinson, former member of Parliament, member of the edi-

U. S. Committee Opens Nazi Probe in Chicago; Examining N. J. Camps

CHICAGO, Aug. 23 (JTA) — The Congressional subcommittee investigating foreign propaganda today was planning hearings on Nazi activities in Chicago. Secret hearings will open Tuesday morning in the Federal District Courthouse.

Representative Samuel Dickstein, leading figure in the Congressional Nazi investigation, meanwhile was probing the Nazi Camp Wille und Macht, Griggstown, N. J. Congressman Dickstein said that he will hold a secret hearing but that he will make public his findings. Subpoenas have been issued.

Paole Zion Plans Outing on Sunday

National Labor Committee Secretary to Give Address

Several hundred persons are expected to attend the outing of Paole Zion Sunday, August 26, at Korman's Farm, North Attleboro, on the Boston Post Road, a feature of the event being an address by Isaac Hamlin of New York, secretary of the National Labor committee for Jewish Workers in Palestine.

Mr. Hamlin is nationally known as one of the outstanding leaders for advancement of Jewry's cause in Palestine and the upbuilding of the Homeland. His address is expected to attract considerable attention since he will describe some of the obstacles encountered in his work and the way in which the committee has overcome them.

A varied program of sports events, other games and entertainment has been arranged by the committee and valuable prizes will be awarded. In addition, several new Jewish songs will be introduced. The committee includes Max Berman, Arthur Korman, Henry Burt, Samuel Schprecher, Joseph Biller, Israel Resnick, Harry Chaet, Morris Beeber, David Newman, Dr. K. Phillips and Alter Boyman.

torial staff of the London Daily Herald, and leader in the work of caring for refugees and victims of German Fascism.

Otto Lehman-Russbuehdt, pacifist, former secretary of the German League for Human Rights, author of the expose, "The Bloody International of Heavy Industry"; he is to submit authentic data on German armaments.

Authorized representatives of European, Catholic, Protestant and Jewish organizations, who will submit surveys of measures taken against various religious groups under the German Fascist dictatorship.

Officials of German labor organizations disbanded by Hitler, who will present reports of the economic developments affecting workers and employees.

Foreign Members of Body
Foreign members who will sit in the Commission with equal right of examination and equal voice in preparation of reports on testimony are:

Sir Stafford Cripps, Parliamentary chairman of the Labor Party.

Sir Slessor, former Lord Justice for England.

D. N. Pritt, Kings Counsellor, former Attorney General of Great Britain.

Gaston Bergery, attorney and Parliamentary leader, formerly of the Foreign Relations Committee of the

Charities Here Will Benefit by Racetrack Plan

10 Percent of Two Days' Receipts to Go to Jewish Institutions

Other Agencies Also Aided

Besides providing thrills, entertainment and recreation on a scale never before seen in Rhode Island, the Narragansett Racing Association's track in Pawtucket will divert a sizeable amount of hard cash towards Rhode Island Jewish charitable institutions during the fall race session, it became known early this week.

With permission obtained from the state horse racing commission, President Walter E. O'Hara of Narragansett Park announced that the fall session will open Tuesday, October 9, and continue through November 8, with Nov. 5 and 8 proceeds donated to a wide range of charities, Jewish institutions getting a generous share.

Expect Big Sum

Just how much of a contribution the two days' sessions will amount to could not be estimated today but with record-breaking attendances noted from week to week and with all track officials and employees donating their services charities will benefit generously by Mr. O'Hara's plan, the contributions coming as especially welcome with prospects of a difficult winter and institutions none too sanguine of the success of various fund-raising campaigns. It appeared certain, moreover, that because charity is the beneficiary, the state will forego its 3½ percent tax of the total amount wagered and the federal attendance tax may be lifted.

Employees at Narragansett Park will give their services free; print workers, printers and caterers also will allow their two days' pay to be added to the gate receipts and pari-mutuel percentage.

Division Listed

The amount raised will be divided so that 10 percent will go toward Jewish charities. Jewish institutions also benefit from the 20 percent portion allocated to the Providence Community Chest since several are member agencies. Other groups to realize substantial sums from the arrangement are: Pawtucket Community Chest, 10 percent; East Providence District Nursing Association, 5 percent; miscellaneous East Providence charities, 5 percent; Catholic Charities Appeal, 20 percent; Pawtucket and East Providence Police Relief Associations and Pawtucket Firemen's Relief Association, 5 percent each; Memorial Hospital, Pawtucket, 5 percent; Notre Dame Hospital, Central Falls, 5 percent; miscellaneous charities, 5 percent.

With the spectacularly successful opening session of the new million dollar track approaching its close—all signs pointing to a tremendous appeal that will break all eastern track records—the second meeting of crack thoroughbreds at the Pawtucket plant will open October 9, instead of October 1 as originally scheduled. The change was made to avoid conflict as much as possible with the Rockingham season, which closes Oct. 6.

French Chamber of Deputies.
Maitre De Moro Gafferri, noted French criminal lawyer.

Senator Morizet of France.

Each of these six, it was pointed out, besides being a qualified student of law and legal procedure in his native country, was associated either with the French or the British Inquiry Commission which in 1933 investigated the first outbreaks of terror under Hitler and the burning of the Reichstag.

Newark Reich Veterans Refuse to Bow Before Flag Dictum of Hitler

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 23 (JTA) — The reaction of local German war veterans to the order reported from Berlin that all Nazis must cease displaying the old black, white and red flag, was swiftly condemned and defied here.

In announcing plans for a Hindenburg memorial in Irvington, under the auspices of the local post of the German and Austrian War Veterans, Richard H. Krueger, commander, declared that they would "stick to the black, white and red flag of the old empire, under which they fought in the World War. They will not recognize the swastika which Mr. Hitler himself has termed a 'symbol of anti-Semitism.'"

Arabs Clash With Jews In Morocco

Police, Forewarned After Algerian Outbreak, Halt Disorders

PARIS, Aug. 23 (JTA) — Clashes between Jews and Arabs in Oujda, Morocco, occurred early this week, according to reports received here. However, the disorders were of brief duration with no casualties on either side. Police succeeded in restoring order immediately, according to the reports.

In view of the recent events in Constantine, Algeria, during which at least 27 Jews and Arabs lost their lives, authorities are taking the strongest precautions to avoid a similar outbreak in Morocco.

The pogrom in Constantine was followed by a renewal of Arab agitation against the Jews all over Northern Africa. Jewish communities in both Algeria and Morocco have informed French authorities of widespread agitation against them and have asked for protection.

From medieval times onwards, Morocco has been the scene of violent pogroms against the Jews. Jews have been living there since the time of the Romans, when the province was called Mauretania. With the Arab conquest of Morocco, the Jews were reduced to the lowest status, compelled to live in ghettos and wear

Jewry Cheered As Nazi Leader Loses Support

Anti-Christian Campaign Serves to Unite Three Great Faiths

Other Events Encouraging

Spectacular events of the past few days gave new heart to Jewry's hopes for lessening of persecutions throughout the world and early success in the battle for economic, political and religious freedom particularly in Germany. Outstanding occurrences of an encouraging nature were:

1—A 4,000,000 opposition vote to Hitler, twice as many as dared vote against him in the last so-called election.

2—The anticipated union of Catholic, Protestant and Jewish forces in the Reich against the Nazi chieftain, all three groups now being open targets of the Hitler regime.

3—The apparent pact between Austria and Italy guaranteeing the former nation's independence and upstaging Nazi ambitions to seize control.

4—Suppression of Morocco anti-Semitic outbreaks.

5—France's pledge of co-operation with Jewry, delivered this week at Geneva.

6—The obvious world unity among Jewry in prosecuting the boycott and building up Palestine, even though there will be no World Jewish Congress in 1935.

Power Waning
The entire world today was convinced that Hitler's power was waning, that the German people are awakening from the "bad dream" of Nazi domination, the renaissance being indicated in the 4,000,000 votes cast against him last Sunday. Every trick of the Nazis failed to pile up the affirmative vote and this failure emphasized the opposition vote.

Meanwhile, with the drive against them already under way, its beginning coming immediately after the election returns, Catholics and Protestants are putting up a determined fight to prevent the spread of paganism.

distinctive clothes, and were exposed to the fury of the Mohammedan populace from time to time.

All Synagogues Urged to Help Victims of Reich on New Year

NEW YORK, Aug. 23 (JTA) — Over 2000 synagogues in every part of the country affiliated with the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, the United Synagogues of America and the Union of Orthodox Jewish Congregations of America, are being called upon to make the plight of German Jewry their first thought during the coming Holy Days, Felix M. Warburg, chairman of the United Jewish Appeal, declared.

An appeal to the officers and spiritual leaders of these congregations, endorsed by Ludwig Vogenstein, president of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, with which the Reform Jewish congregations of this country are affiliated; by Louis J. Moss, president of the United Synagogues of America, comprising the conservative congregations, and William Weiss, president of the Union of Orthodox Jewish Congregations, has been made by Mr. Warburg.

In his plea to American Jewry to make the advent of the New Year

"less black and dreary for our fellow-Jews in Germany," Mr. Warburg detailed what has been accomplished with the approximately $1,660,000 thus far raised by the United Jewish Appeal.

"Thousands of Jews have been helped to retrain for new vocations; their elementary relief needs have to be furnished; their fundamental cultural and educational institutions have been maintained; orderly immigration to other countries has been facilitated," Mr. Warburg stated.

"Systematic provision for the thousands of refugees outside Germany has also been made possible through funds furnished by the United Jewish Appeal. To Palestine have come thousands of German Jews, finding new opportunities for a free and morally healthful life," he added, and pointed out that as the principal instrument of American Jewry to cope with the problems arising out of the German Jewish situation, "the United Jewish Appeal needs the maximum co-operation if its purposes are to be adequately fulfilled."

Arabs, Watching for Illegal Entrants Into Palestine Prove Source of Irritation to General Good-Will

JERUSALEM, (JTA)—The Arab scout who was wounded at Nathania on Thursday when a clash took place between Jewish colonists and Arabs dressed as scouts who passed through the village on the way to seashore to prevent Jewish immigrants from entering the country illegally, is recovering, it was learned today. His condition was originally reported as serious. London newspapers had reported his death.

Infiltrated Jews of the colony fell upon the Arabs, who were voluntarily serving with other Arabs as guards to prevent Jews from entering Palestine illegally and to turn over to the police those who succeeded in getting into the country.

A temporary police post set up by detachments of police sped to the scene and arrested four settlers yesterday in connection with the attack, but their release was expected momentarily today after the Arabs had failed to identify them.

Fears that the disorders would spread were allayed when Tulkarm, Nablus and Jaffa yesterday failed to echo with new clashes and the rest of the countryside reported all quiet.

Issue is Sore Spot

At Falastin, Arab nationalist daily, dissatisfied with the promises of the government that illegal immigration into the country would be suppressed, protested that this had been promised many times in the past. The only effective measure, it declared, would be the complete stoppage of all Jewish immigration.

The question of illegal immigration has been one of the sore spots in the administration of Palestine.

A major problem because of the large number of Jews desirous of entering the country and the difficulties in entering legally, it is fought not only by the government and by Arabs opposed to all Jewish settlement in the country, but also by the Jewish Agency for Palestine, which distributes the immigration certificates allotted to Jews by the government.

The Jewish Agency is attempting to select immigrants on the basis of their capabilities and adaptability to the immediate needs of the country. Illegal entry by Jews not only deprives the Agency of the opportunity to do so but also limits the number of certificates available to it since the government has made a practice of limiting the number granted to a figure lower than it would otherwise give because of the number of illegal entrants.

Measures Promised

Recently the country has been agitated by the practice of Arabs in acting as scouts for the police in detaining Jews whom they suspected of being illegally in the country, and resentment at the practice has resulted in a score of minor clashes. The Arabs recently recruited Bedouin tribesmen as a volunteer frontier force to watch for would-be settlers seeking to enter the country over its land borders.

In an official communique this week, High Commissioner Wauchope, while promising that measures would be taken to prevent illegal immigration, scored the volunteer activities of the Arabs which, he said, embarrassed the authorities and tended to promote breaches of the peace. He warned that unless these ceased, the persons responsible would be liable to prosecution under the criminal code.

Two Can Play

By NINA KAYE

There were, Shirley Schiff knew, certain very definite things a girl can do to make a man realize you love him! Certain things a girl can say to make a man propose! Yet, if you're never alone with that man, not for one single evening, what can you say? What can you do?

Before Milton Klein moved to the state capital, before he entered politics and became a member of the State Assembly, he had just been one of the boys in town she rode with, danced with and invited to parties. Her falling in love with him had nothing to do with the fact of his success. It was just that she hadn't realized until she saw him after an interval of several years that she had been in love with him all the time!

But he was famous now, a figure in the State. He wasn't likely to have any stray moments out of his flying visit to his former home to fling her way! And she wasn't going to be one of those cooing, admiring females who hung about him! Lost in a crowd? Not she!

That was why she had gone out of the lighted ballroom of the Community Center. She couldn't bear to see the way the other girls vied with each other for his favor.

"If noly," Shirley sighed into the soft night, "he could have spent one evening with me! I'd have made him realize what I knew the moment I saw him again, that it wasn't just a boy and girl affair, our old fondness for each other!"

Suddenly her head went up, her eyes brightened with a new light and an audacious little smile played on her lips. "The old river road is full of clumps and root ends," she mused. "I'd probably twist my ankle, walking in these high heels! And if it was far enough from the car it would take quite a while to get back!"

Half in earnest, she toyed with the idea. "We'd be alone for quite a while."

Amazed at herself, she wheeled with swift determination and hurried back into the ballroom. She slid eagerly into the arms of the first man who asked her and danced and talked without actually being aware of anything until, at last, she was dancing with Milton Klein.

"Milton, would you mind terribly if we didn't dance this?" she asked breathlessly. "I've a dreadful headache. If you wanted to do a real act of charity, you'd take me for a little drive."

"Why, of course!" Sitting beside him as the heavy car ate up the miles, Shirley suggested in a tiny voice, "Let's take the old river road."

"Right!" At the turn, he swung the car from the main highway. "Head better?" he asked, after they had driven quite a way in silence.

Shirley knew that here was her chance to suggest a walk to the river to cure her headache. But suddenly she found she could not go through with her plan!

It came over her, all at once, that the one man in all the world you can't trap into a proposal, is the one you really care about!

Cheeks flaming guiltily, she replied, "Yes, Milton, thanks. We can go back now."

"Oh, let's go on as far as the river," he suggested. "It's a relief to get away from the excitement. You know, if I wasn't born and raised in this town, I'd ask how you folks keep up the terrific social grind."

"Don't you know," she explained with an attempt at levity, "it's all because 'Native son returns to set town ablaze!'"

"Thanks," he murmured, "but I'd have liked it better if they'd given me a little time to myself, a chance to pick up old threads, to get acquainted all over again with my old friends—uhhuh, what's that?" he broke off as the car stopped short.

JEWES OF SALONICA IN SERIOUS STRAITS

SALONICA, (JTA) — As a result of the general economic situation which has hit Greek Jews with especial force, the Salonica Jewish Community organization is in a serious situation, facing an in debt-ness of 6,000,000 drachma (about $57,600 at current exchange). Leon Carnaty, president of the community, revealed here at a press conference.

He crawled out, walked around the car, came back and tried without success to start it.

"It seems," he told her contritely, "that I've been foolish enough to come out with an empty tank. And it's much too far to walk back to the highway. I'm afraid we're stuck here, Shirley. If no cars come by, the milk trucks will be along at dawn, if I remember rightly."

Shirley thought, "Well, here I am, alone with him anyway! Why don't I go ahead with what I'd planned to do?" But she knew, now, why she couldn't. Because she really loved him!

After an infinity of silence, Milton said, "Shirley."

His voice startled her and with an involuntary movement she drew back in the seat.

"So you really do feel that way!" he murmured ruefully. "And we used to be such pals! One of the main reasons for my coming here was to see you, Shirley. I wanted to find out if you still felt about me the way you did, long ago, when we were kids. Oh, it didn't take me long to see you don't! You were about the only person in town I cut absolutely no ice with!"

Shirley stared at him through the darkness. He thought she was avoiding him, when it was only because she was too proud to be just one of the crowd!

Before she could tell him, he went on, "Shirley, there's nothing wrong with the car! I suddenly got a wild idea to keep you out all night, to tell you my enemies would seize on something like this and build it into

B'nai Brith in Membership Drive

CINCINNATI, Ohio—Mr. Joseph Herbach, campaign director of the B'nai Brith Membership Campaign, today announced that Edwin J. Schanfarber, of Columbus, Ohio, prominent Ohio attorney, and Jewish communal leader, has accepted the post of Chairman of the National Campaign Committee in B'nai Brith's drive for 75,000 members in honor of the 75th anniversary of the Order's President, Hon. Alfred M. Cohen.

Mr. Schanfarber was born at Coshocton, Ohio, in 1886, and graduated from the Ohio State University Law School. He is a past president of District Grand Lodge No. 2 of B'nai Brith, and has served as president of the United Jewish Fund of Columbus. He has been a director or trustee of the following institutions: Bryden Road Temple, Columbus; Council of Social Agencies, Columbus; Ohio Jewish Infants Home, Columbus; Jewish Orphans Home, Cleveland; National Jewish Hospital for Consumptives, Denver. In addition he is a member of the building and finance committee of the new Cleveland Jewish Orphan Home, and a member of the advisory council of the Ohio State B'nai Brith Hillel Foundation.

As chairman of B'nai Brith's National Committee, Mr. Herbach stated that he will cooperate with him in directing the activities of a nationwide network of local B'nai Brith committees in the drive to procure 1,000 members for every year in the life of President Cohen, who will be 75 on October 19.

a scandal that could wreck my career, unless you'd marry me!"

Head thrown back, between laughter and tears, Shirley cried, "Why don't you ask me, Milton? Why don't you ask me?"

"Shirley, you will! And you'll forgive me for trying to trick you into marrying me? For even thinking of such a thing! Can you understand it was only because I wanted you so desperately, loved you so much?"

"I think," she gasped between his kisses, "I can."

Miscellaneous

Dr. Jacob G. Lipman, dean of the College of Agriculture at Rutgers University, has been awarded the Chandler Medal by Columbia University. Lipman, an old Woodbine graduate, five feet four and Semitic looking, is regarded as the greatest soil authority in the world.

And yet they say — that Jews do not make good farmers.

A son of Dr. Lipman is not very studious however. He very frequently flunks his examinations, the Rutgers boys say.

Dr. Lipman was one of the experts who some years ago made a survey of Palestine's farm possibilities for the Jewish Agency.

The case of Lipman recalls another great Jewish agricultural expert — Dr. Sosskin — a Revisionist Zionist, I believe, but regarded as England's greatest authority on intensive agriculture.

Sosskin has all the ear marks of a genius. Some of his plans are fantastic. Thus, he has written a good deal on the industrialization of agriculture. Believes that some day, corn and wheat and these other things you and I have for breakfast will be grown inside. Factory agriculture, so to speak.

And then there is Holzman — the Burbank of Palestine. He has introduced more than a hundred new species of flora in Palestine.

Flowers like girls mature very easily in Palestine. Young girls under the tropic sun of Palestine become womanly much earlier than in the Occident — and of course, senility sets in earlier too.

Robert Nathan has authored a book which depicts the story of a march of the Jews of the world across Europe and Asia.

Nathan calls his picture fanciful. He does not know that it is taking place today. Forty thousand Jews marched across Europe into Palestine in Asia last year — and forty thousand will do it again this year.

And if the immigration restrictions on Palestine entry were removed — thirty thousand from America would leave this year for Palestine. That many are registered with the Palestine bureau.

And speaking about the removal of these immigration restrictions, there will soon begin the biggest display on this matter, that Jewry has ever seen. After the holidays — look out!

American public opinion will be mobilized as never since the days when President Wilson and Congress were brought to lend their support to the Balfour Declaration. It is hoped to make such a great noise in America, that his Excellency, the High Commissioner in Palestine, will be forced to heed — and allow 100,000 Jews to enter Palestine yearly.

You remember that poem: "We are coming, Father Abraham One hundred thousand strong" — That will be the refrain.

And when that happens, there will be something "diding" — you may believe it. That is almost as much as the Jewish immigration to America amounted to in the flowery days of the Jewish exodus from Russia to the United States.

And when they march 100,000 strong, the world will wake up. The tom-toms will sound around the world. It will be perhaps the greatest event in the eyes of the world that has come out of this era of the depression.

So put it down in your notebook, that the next year will be the most eventful from a Jewish standpoint in some centuries.

Sir Herbert Samuel, the Liberal leader of England, believes that Palestine during the next several years can absorb close to a million additional population.

Eddie Cantor will soon appear in a Shakespearean role. For the first time not of a humorous vein.

One reason why so many Jews leave from Germany for Palestine — aside from Hitlerism — is that the transportation costs only about $30, whereas it is over $100 for the boat trip from America.

The World-Telegram of New York — its literary editor — makes an appeal for help for Henry George Weiss — who is living in Arizona on nothing but goat's milk and cactus and writing revolutionary poetry. They want help so that his poetry can be published.

What a diet — goat's milk and cactus. Methinks, I too, could write revolutionary poetry on that menu.

Tillie Lerner, a Jewish gal arrested on the Pacific Coast, is said to be one of the most promising young writers of this America. Maybe we would be a better writer, if arrested.

I. H. Rubin, retiring secretary of the Jewish National Fund, who has served the J. N. F. for over 30 years, is settling in Palestine.

An international Anti-Semitic convention will be held in Nuremberg, Germany. Delegates are expected from Germany, Poland and Roumania.

This should be followed by an International Hoodlums Convention. Or maybe the two conventions could take place simultaneously.

Ben Ami in the London Jewish Chronicle is very much worried over the fact that the word "Jew" is defined in a verbal sense "to overreach and cheat." S'nothing Ben Ami. The word "Yankee" is also used in that sense — Particularly it was so employed in Colonial days.

Leon Samson, author of "The New Humanism" and many other works, is seriously ill.

"Did you know," writes the estimable S. B. Kamaiko of Chicago, "that a number of little Jews are to be found in the interesting 'Midget Village' at the World's Fair in Chicago.

"True, they are little folks, but each and every one has a big heart. Take, for example, that diminutive wise cracker, Rosen. He insists that his real name is 'Joel Ephraim.' I am inclined to believe that he is the diplomat of the Village. On learning that you are Jewish, he will tell you typical Jewish stories and enjoys them so much himself that he almost grows larger in his laughter.

"Then there is a Policeman Jacob Glickin who takes pride in informing you that he was a pupil in the Martin Street Hebrew School in Newark, N. J.

"It is a treat to converse with Miss Florence Rothschild, the manager of the Beauty Parlor in the Midget Village. She tells me her mother used to call her 'Friedka.'

SAVANTS TAKE SIMON TO TASK FOR "ARYANISM"

LONDON, (JTA) — The Times of London publishes the following letter, signed by three English savants renowned for their researches in the field of ethnology in which Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon is taken to task for his use of the word "Aryan" in his now famous letter regarding his ancestry:

"Sir, the use of the word 'Aryan' in the letter of Sir John Simon which appeared in your issue of Aug 4 could have gone without comment if the word had not been written by a minister of the Crown.

"Anthropologists have recognized that while it is permissible to speak of Aryan languages, it is incorrect to use this word to designate a Western European race. As a matter of fact, it was only a few days ago that Sir Grafton Elliot Smith, in his welcome address to the International Congress of Ethnological and Anthropological Sciences treated on this question with great eloquence.

"Although the use of the term 'Aryan peoples' must be attributed to Professor Max Muller, one must not forget the fact that before making answer to the severe critics, one must admit that an ethnologist who speaks of the Aryan race, Aryan blood, Aryan eyes and hair is as great a sinner as the linguist who speaks of the dolichocephalic dictionary or the brachycephalic grammar.

"We do not question the appropriateness of the fact that the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs corrected an error as to his ancestry. Nevertheless, we regret his erroneous use of a scientific term in a sense which has created such great political damage in Germany.

"It is against the illegitimate use of the word that we protest."

The letter bore the signatures of A. C. Haddon, F. Gowland Hopkins and J. B. S. Haldane.

This letter brought a rejoinder from Sir Arthur Keith, in which he wrote:

"When Max Muller put forward his theory in 1861 he naturally supposed that the Aryan mother tongue was spoken by actual men and women, and these, at first, he spoke of as Aryan. Under Huxley's attack he recanted. As a matter of fact Max Muller was right and should have withstood Huxley. He should have said to him:

"If I do not know who the original Aryan speakers were I do not know what they were not. They were not Arabs, nor Jews, nor Egyptians, nor Negroes, nor Chinamen, nor American Indians.

"It is in this explicit sense that Sir John Simon uses the term Aryan, and he is perfectly right in doing so. What other term could he have used to cover the meaning he wished to express?"

Charge N. J. Nazis Assault Tourists

PATERSON, N. J., (JTA)—Charges that Nazi youths have established a fort-like structure in Mountainview and have made a practice of assaulting tourists who pass in the vicinity, were made today by William Neuenhaus, orchestra leader at the Mountainview House and member of the local Veterans of Foreign Wars, through his counsel, Robert F. McDermott, Jr.

McDermott has announced his attention of referring a recent assault and battery case to the Federal government authorities for further investigation.

Neuenhaus charges that his wife, his brother-in-law and his wife, and he, himself, were assaulted by a group of Nazi-clad youths on the pipeline, at Mountainview, last Saturday night.

A group of six alleged Nazis were fined by Recorder Husk at Mountainview last Monday night. Other assault and battery cases were laid over until this Monday night, so that the Recorder can study the cases thoroughly.

As further proof, she writes a beautiful Yiddish.

"And don't forget Sheindel Newman. She wants you to know that her religion is precious to her. As a matter of fact she lights candles every Sabbath eve.

"You will meet quite a number of Jewish midgets among the 200 who make up the Midget Village."

Naras Seized for Action Near Warsaw

WARSAW, (JTA)—Police arrested a number of Naras, members of the anti-government, anti-Semitic National Radical party, Friday night at Radocz, near this city, it was announced today, on charges of illegal activities.

The prisoners were accused also of distributing the Stafeta, Nara newspaper which had been suppressed by the authorities during the disorders incidental to the murder of Col. Pieracki, Minister of the Interior. The paper, which had been secretly printed, was not only distributed throughout Radocz, but also had been tacked up on walls in public places.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Hitler's Waning Power

Realizing that prejudice is often the result of ignorance and misunderstanding, readers of this journal are invited to send in questions regarding the Protestant, Catholic or Jewish faiths. These questions may touch upon any aspects of these faiths or their relations. Questions will be answered in this column as promptly as possible and should be addressed to this journal or to the National Conference of Jews and Christians, 289 Fourth Avenue, New York City.

Q—Do Protestants in their Sunday Schools teach that the Jews are responsible for the crucifixion of Jesus?

A—A study of the official literature used in Protestant Sunday Schools makes it clear that the tendency of editors and lesson writers is to regard the ecclesiastical rulers of the day and the Roman political authorities as responsible for the death of Jesus. Teachers who employ materials thus provided are likely to take that attitude.

A study of teacher attitudes made at the same time indicates that the responsibility for the death of Jesus is held by 60 percent as resting upon the Jewish ecclesiastical rulers of that day, and by 16 percent upon the Roman government officers in Palestine. Five percent said the Roman soldiers were responsible and only 12 percent indicated that the Jewish people were responsible for the death of Jesus. The persons responsible for the study found individual evidence of prejudice expressing itself in speaking of the Jewish race as responsible for the death of Jesus.

It would seem a fair answer that individuals do hold the race responsible, but a very noticeable trend in the direction of understanding and appreciation of historical fact is to be noted. The rapidly spreading information concerning the social and political conditions which existed in Palestine at the time of Jesus is responsible for this more wholesome approach to the subject.

Q—Are Jews united as one block politically or otherwise?

A—Jews are no more united politically than they are religiously. As a matter of fact, there is almost chaotic division in Jewish religious life—although Jews may be broadly grouped religiously as orthodox, conservative and reform. So far as politics are concerned, Jews are divided politically among all the great parties and anyone having any knowledge or experience in American politics knows of these divisions. Just as similar divisions obtain among the other citizens of the country, so they obtain among Jews.

Q—Why do Catholics have their own schools instead of utilizing the public schools?

A—Catholics have their own schools because they believe that religion is an essential part of education, since the public schools exclude religion professedly. Catholics therefore feel that their children in the public school would not receive a complete education, since religion should permeate every part of life. Consequently, they maintain their own schools, in addition to paying the taxes on the public schools.

CAPITOL COMMENT

By NATHAN KOENIG

Without the aid of other nations Germany will not be able to pull herself out of the morass of economic ills. Observers here are of the opinion that as soon as the political atmosphere clears in Germany, the Reich government will begin a series of overtures to gain the sympathetic interest of other countries. The real leader in the drive will be Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, Germany's economic dictator. Intensive efforts will be made to increase exports. Already the Hitler government is coming to the realization that without increased exports, Germany will be forced on a self-sufficient basis. For Germany this means a low level of national existence.

During the next three months important decisions are expected to be made in Germany concerning her attitude toward the world at large. The present fight is to wipe out adverse trade balances. To do this Dr. Schacht has ruled that firms manufacturing for export would receive preferential treatment from the German government in filling their needs for raw materials. The degree of success or failure that befalls Germany's contemplated recovery efforts will in a large measure determine her future.

Dr. Schacht freely admits Germany's economic plight. He is known to be a hard-headed conservative. Opinion is that Dr. Schacht will not repeat past mistakes of others by putting up inflated public sentiment as a substitute for sound trade conditions.

Adding to Hitler's political future was the "political will" of the late President von Hindenburg. This document apparently gave Hitler the official blessing of the late Reichspresident. Observers believe that it will go a long way toward holding support of the people together.

Yet in spite of present conditions, there are many undercurrents which may be expected to play an important part in the near future. All is not well in the ranks of the Nazi storm troops. The "purging" in the June 30 revolution has not been forgotten. Unless a move is made to restore the former relationship of confidence in this organization, Hitler will have much with which to contend.

Among the five Justices of the United States Supreme Court who are entitled to retire because of their age is Justice Brandeis, who is 78.

Justice Brandeis was appointed to the bench in 1918, by President Wilson. He became eligible for retirement in 1926. Under the law a Jus-ice is entitled to retire, but is not required to do so when he is 70 and has served ten years on the bench. None of the five has given any indication of being ready to retire.

With Justice Brandeis on the bench is Justice Cardozo, who is 64 years old. Justice Cardozo was appointed in 1932 by President Hoover.

With the summer nearly over and election time only a few months off, members of Congress are laying their lines for re-election.

Representative Florence P. Kahn of San Francisco, lays claim to some opposition for re-election. Those who know Mrs. Kahn are inclined to discount her fears. She has served in the house for five consecutive terms and the folks here expect to see her back again.

With his nomination already in his pocket, Representative Adolph J. Sabath of Chicago, is much in the limelight these days. Heading a House Committee investigating real estate bondholders re-organizations, Representative Sabath has been making the front pages of newspapers with his committee's activities.

Representative Dickstein of New York, has his hands full with the investigation of Nazi and other subversive propaganda activities now under way by a Congressional committee of which he is vice chairman. Since the scene of the investigation shifted to the West Coast, Dickstein has been somewhat out of the picture. This, however, will not be for long.

The youth of the former faith already have been converted in large numbers to the Hitler youth movement disclaiming all religion and damning Christianity as well as Judaism. Protestants long have feared the increased powers given Hitler's own Reichsbishop and daring pastors are battling him. The late President von Hindenburg's warning to Hitler to "see to it Christianity is preached" has gone by the board insofar as the latter is concerned but indications are that it will be a rallying cry of the two great religious groups in their fight against extermination as such.

The Austrian situation this week has clarified itself at least to this extent—that the Nazis are hopelessly beaten in their attempt to wrest control. There is a definite link now between Austria and Italy with other nations in harmony to insure the former country's freedom from Nazi influence.

France to Help

France's pledge to co-operate with Jewry, made in a telegram to Geneva from Foreign Minister Barthou, also is encouraging news, coupled as it was with prompt suppression of riots in Morocco.

Equally inspiring were the speeches of Dr. Nahum Goldmann, president of the Jewish delegations in conclave at Geneva, and our Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, at the same World Jewish conference. Both maintained, and the world press gave their declarations generous space, that Jewry will outlive Hitler's persecutions as well as the outrages perpetrated against them in other world centres.

"World Jewry and not German Jewry alone is under attack and therefore a compromise with Hitlerism is impossible," Dr. Wise declared, "not even if the German Jews be compelled to accept a peace pact which may slightly ameliorate their wrongs, but will not alter their intolerable status of second class citizens."

Will Reject Compromise

"The Nazi Reich may decide to disarm Jewish protest by going as far as offering the Jews special terms in order to have them side with Hitlerism against civilization," he said.

"Such a compromise will be definitely rejected because the place of the Jews is unalterably by the side of those forces of civilization and freedom which cannot exist side by side with Nazism."

"To die at the hands of the Nazis is cruel, but to survive by Nazi grace were ten thousand times worse. We will survive Nazism unless we commit the inexcusable sin of bartering with it in order to save some of the victims," Dr. Wise said.

Pointing out that the boycott was the single non-violent weapon capable of being used by the Jews in self-defense, Dr. Wise declared: "The boycott could not have been averted by anyone, any more than it could have been halted by super-cautious Jewish bodies in London and New York."

"The boycott is the result of the rightful instincts of the Jewish masses, intensified in America by Samuel Untermyer, the American Federation of Labor, the American Jewish Congress and numerous Catholic and Protestant groups."

THE JEWISH HERALD invites correspondence on subjects of interest to the Jewish people, but disclaims responsibility for an endorsement of the views expressed by the writers.

THE HEADLINES TELL THE STORY

Forty million ballots are cast for a candidate out of an electorate of 45,000,000, yet he is considered to have suffered tremendous loss of prestige at home and abroad. Newspapers throughout the world build their headlines not around the overwhelming affirmative vote but the fact that a mere 4,000,000 dared to voice opposition to him.

And it is not distorted, this manner of reporting the outcome, because in these 4,000,000 votes, just as in the now trite case of when the man bit the dog, lies the real news story. Big black headlines, after Sunday's "plebiscite" in Germany described the heroism of the comparative handful that deliberately snubbed "Der Fuehrer." They also told of the only slightly less cautious hundreds of thousands who were courageous enough to spoil their ballots.

The real news is that, in the face of the most intensive election campaign ever waged, despite the fact that there was only one candidate and that his armed followers were in charge of the ballot boxes and routed out the populace under gunpoint, 2,000,000 more people are recorded by his own count as having voted against him than the last time he staged a one-man election. That's news.

That Herr Hitler himself realizes he, in effect, suffered a staggering defeat is plain from his post-election statement dedicating himself to "winning over" the 10 percent. Just what he means by winning them over is another question he must answer for the waiting world. If he runs true to form, it will probably mean another "purging," and there are early indications that he means something of the sort. For no sooner has the vote been counted than are published inspired articles by the Nazi chieftain's close followers not only attacking the Jews anew but this time openly hailing the end of Christianity in the Reich. He would revert now in religion to the barbaric state he already has attained in humanitarian aspect.

It becomes more and more evident each day that President von Hindenburg's influence was the last restraining leash. Now that it is broken and everything goes — to the limit — Catholic and Protestant, as well as Jew, will feel the Black Chancellor's wrath. And here, certainly, is the beginning of his end, because, in all the annals of history, no one has ever smashed any religion by violence. Not even the omnipotent Hitler can do it.

Those 4,000,000 have told the outside world that Germany is sick and tired of her Nazi experiment; that the "last straw," which Hitler personified to an oppressed and downtrodden nation when he leaped into power, is nothing more than straw. And four times 4,000,000 would have strengthened that conviction except for dark fear of Nazi retaliation.

Leaving aside the Communists — most of their votes were considered blanks anyway — three elements are responsible for the growing sentiment against Hitler as indicated in Sunday's vote. First, Der Fuehrer has failed to keep his promise to restore prosperity to Germany, to provide employment, to ease the tremendous tax burden, to bolster industry; Second, his bloody purging, his attempt to wipe out religion, his arrogant assumption of supreme power all have crystallized opposition to him; and third, the death of von Hindenburg, who was compelled to support many of the chancellor's measures, freed from a like compulsion millions to whom the field marshal was an idol.

It is likely only a matter of months now until that 4,000,000 swells to 40,000,000 and the figures become reversed. Then the big black headlines will tell another story — a story that is rapidly approaching the last chapter, soon ready to be set in type.

A ceremony took place in Colechester, Conn.

Hatred for Jews Growing Stronger in Poland Today

By BORIS SMOLAR

Hard days loom ahead for Polish Jewry. Days of need and of uneasiness. Uneasiness regarding possible anti-Jewish occurrences.

Polish Jewry is not organized. It is split into many factions. It can do nothing to prevent possible anti-Jewish outrages.

However, the leaders of the various Jewish factions in Poland realize that these outrages are to be expected. They realize that even though the anti-Semitic Nara party is suppressed, there is no safe-guard against the creation of another anti-Semitic organization which will be tolerated by the government as was the Nara group, and which will break loose with new anti-Jewish excesses, just as the Nara did.

The air in Poland is permeated with anti-Semitic hatred; with a thirst for Jewish blood and Jewish destruction. This feeling of hatred grows stronger from day to day. It is openly stimulated by the strong Polish political party—the National Democratic party, commonly called the "Endeks."

The Endek party is not similar to the Nara group. It does not consist of youngsters who can be dispersed easily. It is strong and solid. It is actually the terror of the ruling government party. It possesses a great intelligence. It has at its service a rich and powerful press. This party makes no secret of the fact that it is only waiting for Pilsudski's death to seize power easily and without bloodshed.

Government Fears Endek

The present Polish administration hates the strong Endek party but must reckon with it. The administration must listen to the demands of the Endek organization. Of course, the government does not act always as the anti-government party would like it too, but it disregards some of the actions of the Endeks and deems it wise to maintain silence.

One of these actions is anti-Semitic propaganda.

The Endek party carries on an intense and widely spread anti-Semitic propaganda campaign which hints of possible pogroms, both in the press and in the open, at secret meetings and at public gatherings. Never do the leaders of the Endeks allow an opportunity to slip by without inciting the public against the Jews. The spreading of this anti-Semitic propaganda is one of the underlying principles of the party. The war on Jews is one of the Endek's chief commandments.

Never before in the history of Poland has a Polish government been as strong as the present one. It has the power as never before to suppress disturbances and maintain order. Should the present government so be determined, it could remove the menace of Jewish attacks and curb the anti-Semitic press overnight.

However, the Polish government, although bitterly opposed to the Endek party, does not attempt to check its anti-Jewish agitation in the least. The Polish Government never finds it necessary to confiscate even one issue of the Jew-baiting Endek press. The government is afraid to wage a campaign against the Endeks because of their anti-Semitism. It is afraid to appear in the light as a government opposed to anti-Semitism.

What To Be Expected

Under these circumstances, when even the government fears to say a friendly word for the Jews, what can be expected of the political parties whose every program are unrelentingly anti-Semitic? What can be expected of the Endeks? What can be expected of those sport organizations around whose banners the members of the forbidden Nara party are now rallying? What can be expected of the average Polish citizen who is continually fed this anti-Jewish propaganda, and who is really beginning to believe that the Jews are the cause of his troubles?

The Jewish leaders in Poland know full well that danger to Polish Jewry is imminent. They can do nothing, however. They are divided and split into different factions and parties and cannot find a solution on which they can all agree.

At a recent conference called by an enterprising group in Warsaw to organize a strong representative Jewish body comprising the leaders of the several parties, one could hear such statements as "Polish Jewry stands on the brink of martyrdom." Pessimistic speeches by some made one's hair stand up. All the speakers—important leaders of Polish Jewry—were in accord that within a few months severe and even bloody days for the Jews in Poland are to be expected.

Nevertheless, a strong united Jewish body was not organized. The various factions found it impossible to agree on a modus operandi.

Tragic Split in The Ranks

This split in the ranks of Polish Jewry is at present the most tragic episode in the lives of the three million Jews in Poland. This disunity is certainly not in the interest of these three million unprotected Jewish citizens. It plays right into the hands of the anti-Semites and into the hands of the government, which prefers a broken and separate front to a united Jewish front.

As a result, the great Jewish community in Europe now stands in immediate physical danger. The danger is made greater by the Nara party, which is supposedly forbidden, but whose members remain and carry out their infamous work through legal channels. They have new means with which to adhere to their old program of Jew baiting and of molesting and stabbing Jews in the streets openly and without fear of either police, the law or government.

The Jews in Poland are accustomed to days of terror. They have already gone through days when their beards were pulled in the streets; days when they were hurled off speeding trains; days when they dared not go out into the streets; days of pogroms when they had to hide themselves in garrets and cellars. The Jews in Poland have already lived through a period of anti-Semitic unrest such as is not known even in present day Germany.

These outrages occurred, however, in the provinces. Never in Warsaw. Never had they occurred in the city where the government sat.

Now—in the last Nara excesses—such outrages have taken place openly even in Warsaw, before the very eyes of Polish cabinet members in the capitol of the so-called Polish Democratic Republic.

Why They Will Recur

In this fact lies the chief danger should such outrages ever occur again. When it comes to pass that in the capitol of Poland, under the eyes of the police, in broad daylight, Jews are stabbed in the streets, it is ample proof that the government policy of protection is inoperative with respect to Poland's Jewish citizens.

People, who know conditions in Warsaw, and who know the sentiment in government circles, realize that the Nara hooligans would never have dared to come out into the main thoroughfares of Warsaw with knives in their hands, had they not felt certain that the government would tolerate that. Reliable persons say that if not for the tragic murder of Minister Pieracki there would now be such pogroms in Poland as have not been seen since the days of Bogdan Chmelnitzsky.

The murder of Pieracki put an end to the doings of the Nara party. Members of the party still live, however. They are free and the Jews live in fear lest they break out again.

Aaron Rosenberg to Play Again

That great Jewish stalwart from the West Coast who has thrilled countless thousands with his brilliant offensive play and his sterling defense as a Southern Californian lineman will play once more. Aaron Rosenberg, 220 pounds behemoth has been named on the starting line up on the crack combination that will be pitted against the Chicago Bears August 31st in Chicago.

"Rosy" has been named time and again by the vast majority of sports writers and football experts throughout the land as all-American calibre. He played on the freshman eleven and made the Varsity in his sophomore year. Even as a first season soph he played so well against the Huskies from Washington and the Stanford Trojans that he was selected as the outstanding lineman on the Pacific Coast. His performance during the next two years on the gridiron stamped him as one of football's immortals.

A couple of seasons ago the pick of the western grid crop was placed on the field against the lads from the east. However, this year the situation has been changed. Instead, the bruisers, the ball carriers, and the brains who made the sporting headlines last football season and who were unanimously selected in nation wide polls will play against the champions of professional football, the Chicago Bears.

Rosenberg is at present one of the executives at the Fox Studio in Hollywood. This game will be his swan song on the gridiron. He claims that training down to the pink is more than too much after a fellow has been off the strict regime for some time.

Then again, according to the reserve list, issued by the Chicago Tribune, the paper who conducted this nation-wide poll, an invitation to play has been extended to Sidney Gilman, co-captain and end on the Ohio State team last season.

Eli Fischer Tops Grid Stars as Rassler

And speaking of Jewish football players reminds us of the Jewish lad from Brooklyn, who was a wow at the tackle position on the Rutgers University eleven. Eli turned pro the day he graduated from the little old school on the banks of the Raritan and won his first match.

Ever since that day Eli has been up with the top notchers in the wrestling racket in New York.

(That's all it amounts to in that town.) However, he is being groomed as the Jewish champ since Abie Coleman pulled a Jimmy Jordan and disappeared into the records of the Missing Persons Bureau.

Fischer has won seven straight matches in as many weeks and should he beat Browning during September he will get a crack at the Greek Adonis, otherwise known as Strumberg Jeem Londres.

Boxing Bits

Art Lasky, the up and coming youngster from Minneapolis, who trimmed the whiskers of King Levinsky's chin in the second of their scheduled matches at Los Angeles has been signed to meet Steve Hannas, Penn State's boxing idol.

It's very funny about Art Lasky being known as the home town boy who made good. Out in Minneapolis the fans were very much surprised by Lasky's sudden rise in the pugilistic world.

Despite the fact that the west coast is talking about the fistic prowess of the Jewish heavyweight slugger the home towners are the hardest to convince that he's a comer in ring circles. Ever since Lasky started strewing victims behind him in California, the fans from the Twin Cities have scratched heads over his doings.

Now comes rumors that Lasky, whose latest exploit was the taming of the Chicago Assassin, "Leaping Lena's keed brudder," may get into a heavyweight tournament, heading to a fight with Maxie Baer.

Maccabi Meves

Bill Steiner, the man who holds the world's record for the marathon distance has recently aligned himself with the United States Maccabi Association. Bill is a 22-year-old Jewish lad and has been running at the long distance event for quite some time.

His mark, created last March, is more than eight minutes faster than the Olympic record set in 1932 by Juan Carlos Zabala at the Los Angeles Olympia Games.

A mile run is considered a grueling grind, but when we stop to consider the courage and stamina that is needed to finish in a race 26 times as long it was remarkable indeed that 17 men out of a field of 35 entrants completed the course.

At the time Bill Steiner was running under the aegis of the German American A. C. But, in his letter for membership to David White, the executive director of the U. S. Maccabi

Nazis in U. S. A. to Aid Saarlanders in January Plebiscite

MILWAUKEE, (JTA) — Nazi forces in this country will conduct an intensive nation-wide campaign to raise funds to provide free trips to the Saar citizens of that region now residing in the United States, so that they may vote in the January plebiscite to decide whether the Saar will be returned to Germany.

Plans for this drive came to light during an address before the Milwaukee chapter of the Friends of New Germany by Karl Sauter of Chicago, a member of the Saarlander-Verein fuer Chicago und den Mittelwesten (the Saarlanders' Association for Chicago and the Middle West).

Sauter told the "Friends" that the League of Nations governing body has given residents of other countries who have retained their Saar citizenship the right to vote in the plebiscite. He promised that thousands of Saarlanders throughout the world will return to the region to cast their ballots. They will make the trip either with their own money or with the aid of contributions, he said.

The Chicagoan denied that the Hitler government has allocated funds for the purpose of financing this project.

He bitterly assailed France for attempting to retain the Sarr. Se-bis he said that he was willing to sever all connections with his former club and participate solely under the banner of the Jewish athletic organization.

Greatest Jewish Baseball Player

A contest is being run to determine who was the greatest Jewish baseball player who saw action in the big time ball parks of the nation have been mentioned. Hank Greenberg, Phil Weintraub, Buddy Meyer, the great Johnny Kling, Sammy Behne, Moe Berg (incidentally he was signed by the Cleveland outfit after being released by the Senators) Solomon, Levy, Bentley, and the old fiddle player, Andy Cohen.

Weintraub, Greenberg, and Kling are fighting it out for top honors. The winner of this contest, sponsored by the Jewish Daily Bulletin will receive the "Certificate of Distinction" awarded by the United States Maccabi Association to the outstanding Jewish athletes of the country.

ven eighths of the Saar residents will vote to unite with the "Reich," he asserted. "The Socialists are in complete dissolution. They will vote with the common front for return to Germany." The French and the Communists will be the only dissenters, he declared.

Copies of the forged and discredited Protocols of the Elders of Zion were sold at the meeting for $1 each. They were the brand of the Patriotic Publishing Company, Inc., of Chicago.

go. Other anti-Semitic literature also was on sale.

Sauter appealed to all Saar citizens who were present to apply for membership in the Saarlander-Verein. He received several responses.

The financial plight of the community organization, Carnaty said, is especially serious in view of the general poverty of the Jewish community and the heavy burden of emergency relief put upon it.

Skirting yawning chasms, tearing around 181 treacherous turns at breath-taking speeds, daredevil drivers fight their way up, grinding, pounding, swaying! In the annual Pike's Peak Race, where a slip means death, Firestone High Speed Tires were on the winning car. Surely this is the most amazing proof ever known of Extra Traction—Non-Skid Safety—and Dependability.

The new Firestone High Speed Tires for 1934 have the toughest, longest wearing tread Firestone has ever made. They have a wider tread of flatter contour, deeper non-skid, more and tougher rubber, giving you more than 50% longer non-skid mileage.

Every cotton fiber inside every cord is soaked and coated with Extra Rubber — eight additional pounds absorbed by every 100 pounds of cotton cords. This is Gum-Dipping, the Firestone patented process that provides extra Blowout Protection.

BERLIN, GERMANY
Dear Jack . . . Have you any idea of just how Herr Hitler and the Nazis are going to convert the ten percent who voted against them in the last plebiscite? . . . No? . . . Well, get an earful of this . . . In the first place, work, which is as scarce here as it is in your United States, is going to be made scarcer for the opponents of the Nazi regime . . . Secondly; they are not going to receive any consideration in the dispensing of relief or dole . . . Thirdly, the concentration camps will be greatly enlarged, and last, but not least, if all these measures fail to convince the ten percenters of the Divine greatness of Nazism . . . there's one remedy that will not fail in stopping the opposition . . . AN EARLY DEATH!
The economic condition here is getting to be worse daily, and as to the condition of the Jews — it's pitiful, and undecipherable . . . Don't let the few hundred renegades who came out with their despicable pronouncement last week give your American Jews the idea that ALL of German Jewry is ready to kiss the boot that kicked it . . . The miserable creatures are not representative of the real spirit of German Jewry.

Dear Sir:

I understand that you intend to censure the J. W. V. for keeping their carnival going last Friday night, so I thought I'd slip you some sensible advice . . . DON'T DO IT!
I agree with you that no Jewish organization should so deliberately violate the most important law of Judaism. There is some excuse when we as individuals have to work on Saturday . . . Well, what can you do? You've got to make a living, and we're in "golus" . . . But . . . I can see no justification for a JEWISH ORGANIZATION to do it regardless of how much profit it means.
I heard several "goyim" make fun of the boys . . . one said . . . "Money is their religion." — I heard you arguing with them, and how some of the boys threatened the paper you write for . . . Still I say . . . FORGET IT . . . Sure you are right, but you're living in a small city, and you sell insurance to make a living, so I can't see how it's advisable for you to make enemies.
It's a tough world, Jacksil . . . I know how you feel, but take my advice . . . this is one case where discretion is the best part of valor!

Samuel P. Lazarus to Head Men's Division for Home Carnival

SAMUEL P. LAZARUS

Max Siegal, general chairman of the carnival to be held from September 25 to 29 inclusive by the Jewish Home for the Aged has announced the appointment of Samuel P. Lazarus as chairman of the Men's Division of the distribution of admission tickets.

A Chevrolet automobile and five other major prizes will be awarded to the lucky number of admissions on the last night of the carnival.

This marks the first event of a state-wide nature to be planned by a Jewish institution, and is planned to take place during the Succoth festivals, offering splendid entertainment to the public. All sorts of merchandise will be displayed in separate department booths, and it is expected the entire Jewry of the state will participate in this gala event. The Home on Hillside avenue is housing forty-seven aged men and women, and is considered one of the finest institutions in the state, particularly through its splendid building appointments and the remarkable health record achieved. It is the only institution here supported chiefly through contributions and membership, and is dependent upon the cooperation of the public at large.

me over with a three ton truck! There before me, was MAXWELL BODENHEIM, an old pal, "a meshugener" like myself, but a writer and novelist greater than I'll ever be . . . an author whose books have sold by the million.

"MAX!" I hollered out so loud that two late sleepers on Potter Avenue were scared out of bed — "Whattinhell are you doing here? . . . Betty, come here, meet my old pal, Max Bodenheim . . . Well, I declare — ain't seen you in a dog's age . . . wherinhell have you been? Sit down, let me mix you a drink . . . what'll it be? Never mind answering, I've only got some rye and grenadine, so it'll be a Ward 8."

"Listen, you Russian 'karamanchick,' let me say a word . . . Glad to meet you, Betty — what did you ever see in this guy? Now drop that hatchet, 'Bodenheim,' I was only kidding," Mr. Bodenheim started off, brushing some worn out plots of his long curly hair . . . "I am on my way to Provincetown . . . I've been reading your lousy column while in N. Y. over at Barney Gallant's, he subscribes to the Jewish Herald . . . So . . . I thought I'd come over and give you some lessons in correct English."

"Well, now isn't THAT lovely — wonderful! I'll be glad to take lessons from you . . . Providing you can give them, YOU MUG!"
"Mister Silverman, I'm surprised at you! Where's your 'gastrfrentlichkeit,' as we Nazis would say? . . . Now, if you called me a 'punk,' I wouldn't mind, but a 'mug'! . . . dear, oh dear! this is awful — Don't you think so Betty?"

Poor little Betty looked at me, like you would at a couple of nuts, and I could sense that she was edging to get near the phone and call for the wagon . . . So I ups to her . . . "Don't mind us . . . that's the way we express our immense pleasure at seeing each other."

"If you gentlemen don't mind, I'll go over to Butler's Hospital and talk to some sane people," the lady replied smilingly, as she left for the kitchen.

A CARNIVAL

After a sane talk of a few minutes during which I inquired about some old friends who are now in N. Y., Provincetown and Hollywood, Max asked me a question . . . "What kind of a carnival took place here last week? I noticed it when I came into your city last Friday night."

"Oh, that was the annual carnival of the Jewish War Veterans," I replied.

"The devil you say! A Jewish organization doing business on Friday night? . . . It's bad enough that we Jews as individuals, do not observe the Sabbath — business, necessity of life and all that sort of thing . . . Why even a 'sheigets' like me can't condone it."
"Well, you know how it is, Max." I stammered apologetically, "It's for a good cause — the post's relief fund, etc."

"Applesauce!" the irate visitor replied, "So they'd made $100 less . . . what the devil is the matter with some of our Jews? . . . Is money EVERYTHING in the world? . . . Do you notice the 'goyim' cheapening themselves this way?"

"Maybe the boys forgot about it being 'Shabbess,'" I further continued.

"Listen, you . . . you are supposed to be somewhat of a widely read writer in this town . . . if you've got any guts, you'll give them muckeb help for this thing."

"Can't do it, Max . . . People don't like to be called down no matter how wrong they are. Why you'd be surprised — I've had many folks complain of being insulted 'cause I mentioned them in a kidding way . . . why, if I gave the JWV a call down, it certainly wouldn't do me good in this town. It would only add to the list of people who dislike me . . . Can't be done, Max."

"Jack, I'm sorry to tell you this . . . you're yellow . . . If it were me, I wouldn't give a damn for any one . . . I'D STATE THE TRUTH AS I SAW IT!"
"Well, Maxwell . . . maybe that's the reason you're a successful novelist, and I . . . I am only a struggling insurance salesman!"

AS BARNUM WOULD SAY

"I see you've got legalized horse racing in this state," Max continued. "YES!" I ejaculated, "Nice thing, isn't it? Makes it sort of zoom zoom for business and that sort of thing."

"Makes it what?"
"Well, er . . . it puts money in circulation."
"Yeh? Listen, smart aleck, have you ever been to a horse race?"

"No, it's against my principles, pal. I know you can't enjoy it unless you bet, and if you let it get you, you'll be going several times a week, and betting consistently . . . and if you bet consistently, in the long run you're bound to be a loser . . . and I have no money to lose . . . maybe others have — but not I."
"Well, I'm glad to see that the years past have given you SOME sense. It's a sucker game if you should ask me."

"Still, I'm continued in defence of our newest industry, 'it has given several hundred people work."

"Yes and taken it away from thousands. You know what will happen to this state when the racing season has had ample time to live? . . . The same thing that happened to towns around Rockingham. Legitimate business will suffer, dozens of weak-willed men who handle their employer's money will gamble it away, thousands of new and feverish gamblers will be created, and many a

DID GOEBBELS TAKE FUNDS TO ITALIAN BANK?

LONDON, (JTA)—Whether or not the diminutive Dr. Goebbels went to Italy on June 25 to transfer his personal funds along with the savings of his Fuehrer and other Nazi leaders is a question that is bruited about throughout Europe.

A confidential news agency, confirming many reports that the little man, after having deposited his big bank account, entrained at the Bellinzona station in Italy on June 25, offers evidence to verify the reports.

According to the news agency, Propaganda Minister Goebbels was identified by an Italian secret service agent who had been assigned by "higher ups" to go to the Bellinzona station in the early morning hours to wait for "anything unusual."

Everything was as usual until shortly before three o'clock, when a great grey coat enveloping a small figure, which the secret service man avers was Dr. Goebbels, was escorted from a Lancia car. Coat, Goebbels and all were bundled aboard the northbound train and rested in the Berlin coach. The Lancia drove back to the south.

The secret service man, according to the news agency, was later lodged in the Milan jail because he "talked and knew too much."

Reports say that there is no public record of Goebbels' movements on June 25. The prime propagandist did not appear much in the lime-light again until five days later, when Hitler "purged" his Germany.

home will be ruined by it."

"Now, look here, Max, you have no right to talk that way," I stated angrily. "The free citizens of this state voted for it . . . and when our free citizens vote for something, it stays voted!"

Here Mr. Bodenheim broke out in a hysterical laugh. "Boy, but are you dumb! Still a yokel! Why — not one-twentieth of the people of R. I. voted for horse racing in this state, and they, the saps, didn't know what they were voting for."

"Now, just a minute, mister, you can't insult the intelligent people of my native state and get away with it, I RESENT IT!"

"Resent it, or don't resent it . . . Jack, you are a spineless creature."

WRITING A NOVEL

"Listen, Max." I switched the subject of conversation. "What do you think: people like to read?"

"The kind of books I write . . . as you would call them . . . filthy ones."

"You are very modest, Mr. Bodenheim . . . You admit you're good."

"I and many thousand others . . . and you know damned well that I'm not modest, I'm the most conceited ass you ever met . . . You've got to be in order to be successful . . . Maybe if you could get rid of your inferiority complex, YOU TOO would amount to something!"

"Meaning what, Maxwell?"

"Meaning that you ought to say to yourself a thousand times a day . . . I can do whatever work I'm doing as good as any man living . . . and you can, you tramp, if you only believe in yourself."

"Listen, Max . . . I'm not going to allow this conversation to continue . . . you are getting the best of me . . . Let's eat, drink, and be 'shoosh' . . . O. K.?"

"What have you?"

"Herring and potatoes, and a bottle of rye."

"Boy, when I can get THAT, I've got everybody 'in der erd'."

And so the day passed.

"Jim Crow" Cars Used in Recent Excursion to New Port of Gdynia

WARSAW (JTA) — "Jim Crow" coaches for "non-Aryans" made their first appearance in the Polish Republic when the Liga Morska Kolonialna, an organization campaigning for colonial possessions for Poland, arranged an excursion to the new port of Gdynia, the Polish Jewish newspaper, Chwila, reported. Jews joining the excursion were segregated in different coaches and had to pass through 26 coaches reserved for "Aryans," the paper charged, in order to reach their dining car.

CHARGE JEWISH TOURIST KILLED NAZI LEADER

OTTAWA, Ont., (JTA) — P. Weltman, local Jewish fruit merchant, is being held on a technical charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Jack K. Pezals, head of the Ottawa Nazi group.

Petzals was returning with a group of Nazis from a meeting when his car collided with the truck owned by Weltman. Both vehicles were smashed, and occupants were thrown violently to the roadway.

REMOVE ULLSTEIN NAME FROM PUBLISHING FIRM

BERLIN, (JTA) — It is not enough that the Ullstein Jews have been cleared out of the Ullstein Publishing concern, and that it has been brought under complete Aryan control, but the name Ullstein, too, must be removed, says the Deutsche Zukunft. "The name Ullstein is associated with the old Liberal-Jewish order with which Nazi Germany has nothing in common, and for the sake of 'Germany's future' the name must be changed."

Jewish Sacrifices for Germany to be Revealed in Book

Were First to Volunteer and Contributed Much

BERLIN (JTA) — A special edition of the Schild, organ of the German Association of Front Soldiers, will be issued soon, dedicated to the German Jews who fell in the World War, the Association announced.

The special war issue, by means of letters from Jewish front soldiers, memoirs and historical documents, will once more show with what enthusiasm the German Jewish soldiers went to the front and with what bravery they fought for the German cause.

Among the facts gathered by the Schild are the following:

The youngest volunteer in the German army was the fourteen year old Jewish boy, Scheyer of Koenigsburg.

The oldest volunteer in the German army was the 63-year-old Jew, Adolf Stern.

The first capture of an enemy flag was made by a German Jewish soldier Fischer in 1914.

Frau S. Guttman of Szillen, Upper Prussia, had eight sons in the army immediately after the outbreak of the war, all volunteers.

Frau Baum had ten sons in the German military forces.

Frau Feibusch sent eight sons into the German army.

Immediately upon the outbreak of the war 30 Jewish nurses volunteered for front service and their offer was thankfully accepted by the authorities.

The Schild declared that the facts enumerated are only a small part of the sacrifices made by the German Jews in the interests of the Fatherland.

Rabbi Schussheim Officiates at Double Wedding Held Sunday

An unusual and attractive event took place Sunday evening at the Mayfair Inn, in the form of a double wedding when Miss Betty Cohen and Maurice Bazar, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kirva Bazar of Harvard Avenue, and Miss Rae Rakatansky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Rakatansky of Trask Street and Harry Levin, son of Mrs. Mamie Levin of Blackstone Street, were united in marriage. Rabbi Morris W. Schussheim performed the double ceremony. The two brides are cousins.

Miss Cohen was attended by her aunt, Mrs. Ruth Allen of Los Angeles, Cal., and Mr. and Mrs. David Kimberg of New York. Her maid of honor was Miss Frances Rakatansky. The bride wore a gown of white satin with a jackette en train and a short veil. She carried a bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Rakatansky wore a gown of blue crepe.

Mr. Bazar was attended by his parents and by his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. William Brown of New Orleans. The best man was Hyman Bazar, a brother.

Miss Rakatansky was given in marriage by her parents and her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Max Gordon. Her maid of honor was Miss Dorothy Cohen. The bride wore white satin with a long veil and carried a bouquet of roses and valley lilies. The maid of honor was gowned in pink satin with blue accessories.

Mr. Levin was attended by his mother and his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. David Bazar. The best man was Milton Levin, a brother.

Ten ushers were also in the wedding party and included Sheldon Hornstein, Henry Cohen, Milton Berk, Harry Bazar, Reuben Wolf, Charles Bazar, Israel Rakatansky, Tom Falcofsky, Conrad Strauss and William Blumenthal.

More than 150 guests from New Orleans, New York, Los Angeles, Boston, Fall River and this city attended the reception which followed. Upon returning from a wedding trip, both couples will reside in this city.
