Announce Series of Sunday Lectures on Jewish Matters

Groups from Temples
Emanu-El and Beth-
Israel Cooperate

Noted Speakers on List

The Jewish Theological Seminary of America, situated in New York, and one of the foremost institutes of Jewish learning in the world will present four Sunday evening lectures to the Providence Jewish community during the months of December, January, February and March. These lectures are sponsored jointly by the Institute of Jewish Studies of Temple Emanu-El, and by the Study Circles and Men's Club of Temple Beth-Israel. The Jewish Theological Seminary has established these lecture courses in a number of communities in response to many requests for clear authoritative and popularly presented information on Jewish life, literature, religion and history. It is with great pride that these two Temples, both of whom are allied with the Seminary, present these public lectures to the Providence Jewish community.

The entire program is as follows: Sunday, December 9, at 8 P. M., at Temple Emanu-El—Dr. Israel Efros, on "Bialik, the Greatest of Modern Hebrew Poets." Dr. Israel Efros is a professional lecturer at the University of Buffalo and is a Hebrew poet of great renown. He is a famous Hebraist who has helped to compile the best Hebrew-English Dictionary available up to the present time. He is an eloquent speaker and is doubtless one of the foremost authorities in this country on Bialik and his works.

Sunday, January 13, 1935, at 8 p. m., at Temple Beth-Israel—Professor Louis Finkelstein, on "The Jew in a Changing World." The importance and timeliness of this lecture are obvious. Professor Louis Finkelstein of the Jewish Theological Seminary will present an interesting discussion of the world conditions which make the survival of the Jew inevitable and will analyze the form which Judaism will take under these new conditions.

Sunday, February 10, 1935, at 8 p. m., at Temple Emanu-El—Professor Alexander Marx, on "The Romance of Jewish Books." Professor Marx is one of the foremost Jewish (Continued on Page 4)

A Memorial Library Fund has been organized at the Talmud Torah of the Sons of Zion Synagogue on Orms street. Saul E. R. Feinberg has presented four volumes in memory of his beloved mother, Mrs. Ida Zelda Feinberg, Mr. Abe Heller, four volumes in memory of his father.

A new feature of the Talmud Torah has been the Saturday morning services which are being conducted by the children themselves having their own cantor and being supervised by the principal, Meyer M. Smith. At the conclusion of the services every Saturday morning refreshments are served, being contributed by Morris Feinberg, president of the Talmud Torah, Rev. Smith, Abe Heller and Mrs. Barnett Fain.

The Tag Day last Sunday was very successful and President Feinberg expresses the thanks of the Talmud Torah to the chairman and members of the committee and the (Continued on Page 4)

Festivities to Commence on December 7 with Address by Rabbi Feature is Banquet

A significant event in the history of Providence Jewry will take place in this city on December 7, 8 and 9 when Temple Beth-El, "The Congregation Sons of Israel and David," celebrates its 90th anniversary. In commemoration of the event, the congregation and its affiliated societies will hold a three-day celebration. Many former members of the congregation and a number of the living rabbis who served in past years will return to the city to attend and participate.

The anniversary celebration will begin with Sabbath Evening religious services at the Temple at 8 o'clock. The anniversary sermon will be delivered by Rabbi William Gordon Braude of the Temple and the Anniversary Address by Rabbi Samuel H. Goldenson, president of the Central Conference of American Rabbis and Rabbi of Temple Emanu-El, New York. Others who will participate will include Charles C. Brown, president of the congregation, Rev. Everett M. Baker, minister of Westminster Unitarian Church, and Rev. Arthur E. Wilson, minister of Beneficent Congregational Church. A Sisterhood reception will follow.

At the Sabbath morning services, on Saturday, December 8, addresses will be delivered by Rabbi Nathan Stern and Rabbi Samuel M. Gup, both former heads of Temple Beth-El, the scripture reading will be given by Rabbi Gustav Hausman, also former Rabbi, and the services will be participated in by Rabbi Israel M. Goldman of Temple Emanu-El and Rabbi Morris Schussheim of Temple Beth-Israel, both of Providence.

The principal event of the celebration will be the anniversary banquet and ball at the Providence Biltmore Hotel on Saturday evening, December 8 at 6.30. Reservations for this event have been practically exhausted and an overflow attendance is expected. The principal address will be delivered by Rabbi William H. Fineshriber of Temple Keneseth Israel of Philadelphia on the subject: "The Lust For Power." Another address will be delivered by Right Rev. Granville Gaylord Bennett, auxiliary bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Rhode Island. Others who will participate include Max L. Grant, general chairman of the anniversary, and Samuel H. Workman, toastmaster. Following the postprandial exercises, there will be general dancing until 12 o'clock and that will be followed by a midnight performance of the "Anniversary Hilarities."

On Sunday, December 9, the religious school celebration will be held. This will include services for the religious school in the Temple Auditorium and also a general reunion of all graduating classes dating back for several generations. Children who will partake in the exercises are all descendants of graduates of the school.

Milestones in the congregation history include sufficient information to warrant the publication of a volume on the subject. From the days when the first meetings were held in the parlor of the home of Solomon Parola on Brigham Street in 1844 through the various steps to the present day is filled with romance and interest. The original copy of the Ten Commandments, used at the first minions are still in possession of the congregation. The first acquisition of the Reservoir Avenue cemetery land occurred in 1858. The first corporate charter of the Congregation Sons of Israel was passed by the General Assembly in 1855. (Continued on Page 4)

Aged Men at Home Organize New Club

The 28 men residing at the Home, have formed a social club with meetings held regularly three times a week in the afternoon. At this time, programs are presented by the old people themselves. The most popular topics are current events taken for the Jewish newspapers and the weekly Sidrah. Harry Bander has been elected president and Jacob Silverman is recording secretary.

Several readings have been rendered by Nathan Person and other members of the club. Commentaries on the Torah have been presented by S. Rubinstein.

As a result of one of the meetings at which time a poem in Hebrew, dedicated to the poet Bialik and the loss of his death has brought us, was read, it was decided to send the poem to one of the Hebrew newspapers to be printed.

Senior Hadassah Participating in National Drive for Members

One of the busiest organizations in town today is the Senior chapter of Hadassah, the Women's Zionist Organization of America, which is engaged in a concentrated membership campaign to culminate on December 1, designated as "Hadassah Sabbath." With the slogan "Every Jewish Woman has a place in Hadassah," the campaign committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. J. D. Grossman is employing a variety of methods to enroll the Jewish women of Providence in the ranks of Hadassah.

The local chapter's campaign is one of 300 throughout the United States in a nationwide drive to enroll at least 7,400 new members in Hadassah, who 74th birthday is celebrated next month. After a series of events throughout this month Hadassah will be the subject of Pulpit addresses by hundreds of rabbis in all parts of the country. They will tell their audiences of the part that Hadassah is taking in the upbuilding of Palestine as a Jewish homeland through its widespread non-sectarian health system and of the organization's influence in the Jewish life of this country through its educational program.

The local chapter is eager to be a winner in the countrywide membership competition, Mrs. Grossman said. A first prize of $100 and a

Cleveland, Ohio—An attack upon a small group among American Jewish leaders who still refuse to recognize Palestine as "the one constructive solution of the problem of homelessness for tens of thousands of the Jewish people," was the principal point in the address delivered here at the Euclid Avenue Temple by Morris Rothenberg, president of the Zionist Organization of America, who had come from New York to address the annual conference of the Ohio State Zionist Region.

He charged that "there are still some minds in American Jewry constitutionally incapable of overcoming old prejudices." He added that "rescuing thousands of Jews from certain destruction in Europe is no longer the domain of philanthropy but a grave problem requiring constructive and visionary statesmanship."

A national conference on Palestine will be held in Washington, D. C., on January 20, 1935, Mr. Rothenberg announced, declaring his belief that "every section of American Jewry, regardless of its own sphere of activity and point of view on all other Jewish topics, will join in its sponsorship," so that the upbuilding of Palestine may be accelerated and "rapidly and effectively absorb large masses of Jews."

In his speech, Mr. Rothenberg said:

"Despite the overwhelming experience of the past few years, there are still some minds in American Jewry which remain closed to the truth that Palestine represents the one constructive solution to the problem of homelessness for tens of thousands of the Jewish people. The testimony of masses of hopeless Jews in Europe who eagerly look to Palestine for their salvation is still ignored by the diminishing remnant which is constitutionally incapable of overcoming old prejudices."

Leading Organizations of City Support Amer. Jewish Congress

A regular quarterly meeting of the delegates to the R. I. Council of the American Jewish Congress was held last Sunday at the Jewish War Veterans quarters. Every organization which comprises the membership in this Council was represented.

The following resolution was adopted:

"That the policy of the American Jewish Congress be:

(1) to serve in the United States as the democratically constituted all-inclusive representative body for the protection of Jewish rights and the promotion of common Jewish interests through an assembly of delegates in which all Jewish national organizations shall co-operate and of which all American Jews and individuals shall constitute the electorate.

(2) to co-operate in the creation of a permanent commission which shall speak and act for the whole Jewish people in protection of Jewish rights the world over, and in the promotion of common Jewish interests. The permanent commission is to be set up by a world assembly composed of delegates from each Jewry of the world elected in accordance with its best democratic traditions and precedents. The delegates are to serve for a stated period of three or four years. The permanent commission which they create will serve a san executive body and will be responsible for the conduct of affairs between the sessions of the world assembly."

This policy was unanimously approved by all leaders of U. S. Jewry and has met with continued success when brought before every representative body. The R. I. Council has agreed to cooperate with the American Jewish Congress in this effort.

The following organizations have pledged their support to the policies of the American Jewish Congress by agreeing that the local Council be the common voice for the Jewry of Providence:

R. I. Hebrew Sheltering Society; Louis Feiner Benevolent Association; R. I. W. R. PROVIDENCE JEWISH WAR VETS NOTES

A regular meeting of Rhode Island Post No. 23, Jewish War Veterans, was held last night, with Commander Max A. Cohen presiding.

A very successful bridge party was held at the Post headquarters by the Ladies' Auxiliary last Wednesday. Mrs. Reuben Blumenthal was chairman, assisted by Mrs. Irving Epstein.

The Drum Corps of the Post did an excellent job at the Armistice Day parade. However, four buglers are still needed to make a real bugle and drum corps.

Past Commander Reuben Lipson and his building committee hope to purchase our building in the not too distant future.

Our Armistice night celebration, held at our quarters, Nov. 12, was not only well attended, but was voted one of the best affairs held by the post. The entertainment in charge of Comrade Irving Epstein was well received, and the gathering was pleasantly surprised when he introduced his daughter, Helen. She rendered several selections in a "torch singer" style.

Judge Joslin Main Speaker at Woonsocket Synagogue Induction

WOONSOCKET — Amid some of the most pretentious and formal ceremonies ever conducted within the portals of the Congregation B'nai Israel Synagogue, officers of the congregation were installed in a program that began Sunday afternoon and extended late into the evening.

Philip C. Joslin of Providence, justice in the Superior Court, was the principal speaker on the elaborate program. Others who made addresses were Arthur I. Darman, retiring from the president's chair after serving for five successful years, and Joseph S. Eisenberg, his youthful successor. Mr. Darman acted as chairman throughout.

The Woonsocket Hebrew Choral Society registered a hit when it presented a program of Hebrew melodies, interspersed with the formal proceedings. The group was under the direction of Rev. Anshel Heurberg.

Reports indicating the progress of the various functions of the congregation were made by Charles L. Miller, superintendent of the Woonsocket Hebrew School; Mrs. Arthur I. Darman, treasurer of the Woonsocket Hebrew School and Samuel J. Medoff, who gave the auditor's account.

Judge Joslin gave a brief history of the religious centers of Judaism and compared the synagogues of today with those of long ago. He said "While we adhere to the fundamental principles of the Jewish religion, we must not forget the great changes taking place with each succeeding generation, and we must act accordingly."

Education Stressed

He stressed the necessity of maintaining a high Jewish standard of education, not only for the young but for adults as well. Judge Joslin has been president of the Temple Emanu-El in Providence for the past 10 years.

Following the ceremonies a reception was held in the vestry.

Officers who were seated follow: President, Joseph S. Eisenberg; first vice president, Samuel Macktaz; second vice president, Morris Rubin; financial secretary, Abraham Hopp; recording secretary, Morris E. Yarus; treasurer, Arthur Kornstein.

The board of directors includes: Charles Berlow, Isaac Eisenberg, Coleman P. Falk, Robert Finklestein, Abraham E. Goldstein, Israel S. Goldstein, Henry Kasidoy, Hyman G. Sholovitz, Nathan Swartz, Louis E. Sadwin, Samuel Kornstein and Samuel J. Medoff.

CHANUKAH — THE FEAST OF DEDICATION

One of the most interesting of the lesser holidays in the Jewish calendar begins this year on Saturday evening, December 1, and lasts for eight days. It is known as Chanukah, the Feast of Dedication, and is observed by special services in the home.

The historical background of the celebration is found in the fact that in the year 165 B. C. E., Judah Maccabeus recaptured the city and re-dedicated the Temple at Jerusalem after its pagan pollution. The Syrian king, Antiochus Ephiphanes, had set up in the Temple a shrine to his heathen gods. Just three years after this desecration, on the 25th day of the month of Kislev, the Temple was reclaimed, purified, and re-dedicated to the service of God.

Around this festival cluster a number of legends which have helped to shape the character of the celebration. One such legend relates that only a single cruse of unpolluted, sacred oil was available when the Temple was to be re-dedicated. Though ordinarily inadequate, this oil miraculously proved to be sufficient for eight successive nights until other oil fit for the service might be prepared. For this reason, the Jews light candles in their homes, in increasing numbers, for eight successive nights, one on the first night, two on the second, and so on.

The Feast of Dedication teaches likewise the lesson of religious liberty and tolerance. With the Maccabees the struggle was not a war for conquest or dominion. The freedom of belief and worship. The celebration of this event is an annual re-dedication to those ideals of religious liberty for which the Jews have fought and sacrificed throughout the ages.

Chanukah is a time for rejoicing not only on the part of the well-to-do, but also on the part of the poor as well, who are always liberally remembered with gifts of many kinds.

S. O. S.

The call which the Jewish leaders in Austria issued "to the world and to all governments," stating that the Austrian Jews will never resign their citizenship rights voluntarily, must be taken as a signal that the Jewish position in Austria has reached the point of serious danger.

This call is the S. O. S. of Austrian Jewry. It has been issued by the three leading figures of the Jewish community. The people who issued it and who constitute the presidium of the Jewish community of Vienna, have more than once been accused of not being brave enough to fight openly for their rights in their country.

Now even they have raised their voices. Not only do they no longer hesitate to declare that they "demand living room for Austrian Jewry," but they go even further. They address themselves to the world and to all governments.

This urgent call for help must be picked up by the American Jewish Committee, the American Jewish Congress, the B'nai Brith, the Joint Consultative Council and every other existing Jewish organization interested in the fate of Austrian Jewry. Immediate rescue must be organized.

It may be true that international treaties are in our present time merely scraps of paper. It is however, reasonable to think that the Austrian government in its present situation could not afford to ignore the national minority provisions imposed upon her by the Saint-Germain treaty, if existing Jewish organizations would see to it that the League of Nations institute an inquiry as to how the Saint-Germain treaty is being carried out in Austria.

The case of Austria's mis-treatment of its Jewish population must come up before the League of Nations. There is sufficient ground for bringing this case up before the League. The equal rights for national minorities, stipulated by the Saint-Germain treaty, have been insufficiently violated by the Austrian government.

Simultaneously with taking up this case in Geneva, something must be done by organizations in America to make the Austrian government feel that the Jews have no more patience with Austria. Immediate action is the crying need of the hour.

Starring in this play are Samuel Auerbach, Sadie Shoengold and Max Kleter. These are assisted by the entire Franklin Park Theater cast. Tickets for this performance are on sale at the regular stations.

YOUNG JUDAEA NOTES

The Leader's Club of Young Judaea held their second meeting of the season at the home of Miss Frances Ackerman, last Thursday.

Under the capable leadership of Samuel Strong this group is accomplishing a great deal in cultural and educational activities.

Each leader has been assigned a definite Palestinian project, for their clubs and work on these projects has already been started.

Mr. H. Woolfe gave a review on the book "Silberman" by De Lacroix. Plans were made for the J. N. F. Day, December 2, and the annual Chanukah night at the Temple Beth Israel Dec. 7. On Dec. 9, the Senior Judaeans will hold a debate with the Herzl Club of Boston. The subject will be "Resolved, that Nationalism and not Anti-Semitism is the cause of Zionism."

These meetings are made so interesting and inspiring that we are pleased to report 100 percent attendance. The future for Rhode Island Young Judaea is indeed most promising.

Martin Cohen, leader of the B'nai Yehudah Club, addressed the group at an organization meeting held at the Jewish Community Center, Nov. 14. He appealed to the boys to cooperate in the drive for membership. Young men between the ages of 14 and 16 are invited to come to the Center Wednesday nights and join the group.

Israel Moses, Joseph Teverowsky and Irving Datz are members of the constitution committee. Samuel Kritman was appointed publicity chairman.

The Jolly Jewish Juniors, a new Young Judaea Club, met Friday at the home of Evelyn Bass, 113 Sumner Street. The club is composed of girls between the ages of 10 and 12, and is sponsored by the Rhode Island Council of Young Judaea.

Miss Esther Travis is leader. The officers are: Miss Evelyn Block, president; Iris Strong, vice president; Jean Rodin, secretary and Selma Lightman, treasurer.

The club meets every Friday. A cultural program of readings on Palestine, and its songs, is being conducted.

TEMPLE BETH-EL

There were a few men who sought to solve the problem of the Jew through magnificent and gigantic bounty. The Duke of Naxos, Baron de Hirsch, and the scion of a princely Jewish house have been generous donors. To the last of these is dedicated the sermon "Baron de Rothschild" to be delivered at the service, at 8 o'clock tonight by Rabbi William G. Braude. What success have these men had and what success is possible through such efforts?

Service participants at Saturday's Service are Hannah Davis, Bruce Sundlun, Florence Zwoden and Therese Wiesel.

Fur Coats Restyled by Mr. Tolchinsky

With Old Man Winter a-howling and a-puffing around the corner, a suggestion to the housewife to re-style her old fur coat is not out of order.

For years Mr. Tolchinsky, who conducts the fur shop at 1478 Broad street has served a discriminating Jewish trade. He and his expert workers will transform your old fur coat into one that will conform with the latest in fashion.

The rates for this service are as low as can possibly be obtained anywhere else and the work is guaranteed to satisfy. The restyling also includes re-cutting, re-fitting, re-pairing, cleaning and glazing. Mr. Tolchinsky also makes coats to order. For further information phone Williams 3374.

Gov. Green's Interest in Budget Causes Legislative Speculations

Belief That Democrats Desire to Grab Welfare Board and Factory Inspection Berth

The sudden revival in the mind of Governor Green of State finances, and in particular, the balancing of the budget, evidenced by newspaper interviews this past week, is promoting no end of speculation in political circles.

That the Governor's observations were not casual, but were part of a carefully laid plan, is the observation heard on many sides. The Governor began last week a series of interviews, suggesting that now that the election was over, the minds of the legislators might be free to attend to this matter of "balancing the budget," especially in view of the increased income from "horse racing and liquor revenues."

It remained for the current press to reveal the Governor's real underlying reason, as more keenly concerning obtaining an adjournment of the legislature, rather than in the subject of budget balancing.

"Why this sudden revival of interest in State finances?" asked a Republican senator. "We submitted eleven plans during the regular and special session, any one of which would have balanced the budget, but the Governor did not lift a finger of co-operation in those days of active effort toward budget balancing. I suspect," said this legislator, "that Governor Green sees the handwriting on the wall—he sees that if he doesn't get this legislature adjourned, he will again have to reckon with the Senate in January regarding these important appointments. His present interest in budget balancing, I believe, is only a smoke screen to hide his real desire for a clear road with no legislative check on his desire to grab off these two important political plums for the deserting Democrats and for the distributing of political jobs to hungry party henchmen."

Ellery Hudson, late Chief Factory Inspector, died on April 1, 1934.

The statute providing for the appointment of the Chief Factory Inspector (General Laws of Rhode Island, Chapter 85, Sec. 3, Clause A as amended by Public Laws of 1930, Chapter 1553, Section 1) contains no provision governing the filling of a vacancy which may occur in said office when the Senate is in session, but only contains a provision for filling a vacancy which may occur in said office when the Senate is not in session.

General Laws of Rhode Island, Chapter 30, Sec. 7, however, fills in this gap, the material provisions of said Sec. 7 being:

"Whenever any officer . . . appointed by the Governor, with the advice and consent of the Senate, or elected by the Senate, shall die . . . during a session of the General Assembly . . . the vacancy then occurring . . . may be filled at such session for the unexpired term of office in the manner provided by law for the election or appointment of such officer for a full term."

In this case the Factory Inspector died during the regular session of the General Assembly. According to Bouvier the word "may" may be construed as "shall" if the context so requires. It seems that such should be the construction of Sec. 7, the material portions of which are quoted above, and that it was the plain duty of the Governor to send in an appointment to the Senate as soon as possible after the vacancy occurred.

The situation regarding an appointment to the important office of State Public Welfare Commissioner to succeed the late Robert S. Hayes of Newport is identical with that of the Factory Inspection vacancy.

Commissioner Hayes died in August, but the vacancy has not yet been filled. The legislature has been in continuous special session since June 14th. An inquiring public may well ask, "Why has no appointment been made to this important office?"

This Board, consisting of three members, is charged with the conduct and maintenance of the State's Prison, the State Hospital for the Insane, the State Sanatorium, the Exeter Home for the Feeble Minded, the State Sanatorium at Wallum Lake, the Sockanosset Boys' School, the State Home and School, and all the other important welfare institutions and agencies of the State of Rhode Island.

Approximately 1200 paid jobs would fall into the lap of the Democrats if Governor Green would name a Democrat to this office as an "interim appointment" who would work in harmony with Mrs. Rose A. Gerber, the other Green appointee now a member of this Board.

"Less politically informed persons might readily fall for Governor Green's suggestion of budget balancing and adjournment," said one member of the State Senate, "but we are only too well aware of his real object." This legislator summarized the situation in the following statement when he said, "It is and has been the plain duty of the Governor to send in these appointments now long overdue. It is the plain duty of the legislature to attend to the matter of budget balancing. Let the Governor attend to his statutory obligation and the legislature get their heads together and balance the budget, then I guess you will see the legislature adjourn in short order."

Charitable Group Seeks Suitable Quarters For Meetings

A request has been issued by the Intermediate Miriam Hospital Association for the use of quarters where they may conduct their bi-weekly meetings. Because of the charitable nature of the organization the members would appreciate the privilege of meeting in some centrally located hall, at no expense to their treasury.

The Association is now concluding its 11th year and during its existence has raised much money for hospital purposes. Meetings are held Monday evenings. Those who have the desired accommodations are asked to communicate with Mrs. Harry Tolchinsky, 61 Waverly Street, Dial West 4101-R.

This dinner will begin the campaign for which plans are now being laid.

State of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations
Thanksgiving Proclamation
By His Excellency, Theodore Francis Green
GOVERNOR
Whereas, from the time when this colony was first settled as the home of religious and civil liberty it has been the custom to set aside at harvest-time a special day of Thanksgiving;
Now, therefore, I, THEODORE FRANCIS GREEN, Governor of the State of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations, do designate
Thursday, the 29th Day of November, A. D. 1934
As a Day of PUBLIC THANKSGIVING
so that we, the people of this State may both in family reunion and public meeting offer our deepfelt thanks to Almighty God for His care and guidance of us and His manifold mercies to us through the trying days of the past year. On that day let us join in public services of worship and not only give thanks for what we have received, but prayers for His continuing aid to our State and our Nation and the World at large. Especially let us ask Him to give our President and others in authority wisdom and strength to meet the extraordinary demands of our economic emergency. Let us also especially ask Him that this State, founded on the principle of religious liberty, and later the birthplace of political independence, may become the home of Social Justice. According to established custom let us who are fortunate in having family ties strengthen them by family reunions; at the same time giving evidence of our thankful hearts in an act of generosity to those not so favored. Let us resolve as an expression of the sincerity of our thanksgiving to place public service above private gain; the general welfare of our fellow man above mere private advantage, and humanity above mere material prosperity. I further request that on this day our National and State colors be displayed.
In Testimony Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the State to be affixed this twenty-first day of November in the year of Our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four, and of Independence the one hundred fifty-ninth.
By the Governor: THEODORE FRANCIS GREEN, Governor
Louis W. Cappelli, Secretary of State.
