Community to Recognize Rabbi Goldman's Decade of Leadership

Expect Many Notables to Participate in Two Celebrations of Event

All is in readiness for the two celebrations to be held tonight (Friday) and Sunday night, honoring Rabbi Israel M. Goldman in recognition of his 10 years' leadership in this community. Dignitaries of church and state and leaders in civic, religious, and educational institutions are uniting in these celebrations.

This (Friday) evening, a 10th Anniversary Service will be conducted at which Dr. Clarence A. Barbour will be principal speaker. In accepting Judge Joslin's invitation, Dr. Barbour wrote: "I shall be pleased and honored to attend and to participate in your service in recognition of the Tenth Anniversary of the distinguished leadership of Rabbi Goldman in your Congregation."

Rev. Dr. Elias L. Solomon of New York, honorary president of the United Synagogue of America, will also speak. Participating in the service will be Rev. Dr. Allen E. Claxton, president of the Rhode Island Ministers Association, who will give the scriptural lesson; and Rev. Dr. James D. Morrison of the Central Baptist Church who will give the invocation. It is expected that many local clergymen and a number of Brown University and Rhode Island College of Education professors will attend as special guests of the Congregation.

400 to Attend Banquet

More than 400 members of the congregation and of the community at large, are expected to attend the banquet to be tendered on Sunday night at the Narragansett Hotel. Heading the list of speakers is Rev. Dr. Israel Herbert Levinthal who is considered one of the leaders in the Jewish clergy of America. Also on the program will be Bishop Bennett of the Episcopal Diocese of Rhode Island; ex-Mayor Joseph H. Gainer, speaking for the Rhode Island Seminar on Human Relations of which he is co-chairman; Mayor James E. Dunne. Judge Joslin will act as toastmaster. Nat C. Cohen will be chairman. Rabbi Abraham I. Schechter will give the invocation. Greetings will be heard from Rabbi Morris Schussheim, Samuel Magid, the presidents of the Temple Men's Club, Sisterhood and Alumni Association.

DR. CLARENCE A. BARBOUR

A special musical program has been arranged by Prof. Arthur Einstein, presenting a special chorus of 35 voices. Cantor Bettman will offer additional musical entertainment. Others at the speakers' table will be Rabbi Bernard H. Ziskind of New Bedford, Rabbi Morton Goldberg of Rall River, Rabbi Morris Gutstein of Newport, and Rev. Frederick A. Wilmot, religious editor of the Providence Journal. Many groups from New Bedford, Fall River, Woonsocket, and other neighboring communities have made reservations for this banquet.

Jewish Home for Aged Sets September 16 as Carnival Date

With summer fast approaching, and fall not far behind, the Jewish Home for the Aged of Rhode Island is looking forward to the latter season and has already begun to outline plans for its annual carnival which each year attracts scores of localites.

September 16 has been set as the date for this event, and a board session of the men's organization will be held next Tuesday at the Home, at which time important matters will be decided in regard to preparations for the affair.

B'nai Brith Urges Eternal Vigilance for Jewish Rights

A warning that Jewish leaders must put aside desires for self-aggrandizement for the benefit of Jewry or be replaced by other leaders was contained in a report of the special committee on the president's message, adopted by District Grand Lodge One of B'nai Brith at the closing session of a three-day convention at the Hotel Commodore, New York City.

At the same time, the special committee on anti-defamation recommended "eternal vigilance" in safeguarding Jewish rights.

"Every manifestation of anti-Semitism must be checked in its incipient stages," the report said. "The approach in the solution of the problems as they present themselves should be free of any venom or ill-will. The process rather should be a polite and cultured discussion with emphasis upon our constitutional rights and in appreciation of Jewish contributions to the life of our nation."

Resigns Wider Scope Post

It was announced that because of the objection of the American Bar Association to members serving in a capacity involving money collection, Judge Myron Sulzberger, chairman of the wider scope committee, was obliged to resign from his post.

The report dealing with Jewish leadership said:

"The time has come when the

ZIONIST SPEAKER

BARUCH ZUCKERMAN

Baruch Zuckerman, representative of the Jewish Federation of Labor of Palestine and Histadruth, will be guest speaker of the Paole Zionists, at Zinn's Banquet Hall next Wednesday evening.

Mr. Zuckerman has been a resident of this country for more than 20 years and during that time has actively participated in Jewish activities, not only in the Paole Zionist movement but as a member of the Joint Distribution Committee and the People's Relief Commmittee. He is also recognized for his ability as a Yiddish and Hebrew writer. His topic for the evening will include a discussion of the Shekel Labor Campaign in connection with his main subject, "Why Every Sincere Zionist Must Vote the Paole Zionist Ticket."

Alter Boyman, chairman of the arrangement committee, will be assisted by Miss Frances Carter and Henry Burt, vice-chairmen; Milton Auerovitz, secretary, and William Strong, treasurer.

Parades in Berlin Signal Beginning of New Campaign

BERLIN (JTA) — Two anti-Jewish parades which took place in the streets of Berlin yesterday were taken as a signal throughout the country to start a renewed intensive drive against the Jews.

As a result of the parades in Berlin, similar demonstrations will now be held in other German cities.

The Berlin parades were led by bands flaunting the banners of the Nazi party. Nazis in uniform carried large placards with anti-Jewish slogans reading: "The Jews Are Our Misfortune," "Aryan Women, Boycott the Jewish Doctor," and others.

Women Assailed

In Breslau, a high-pitched, hysterical campaign was started today by members of the Nazi Storm Troops against "Aryan" women suspected of associating with Jews. The drive assumed the appearance of a medieval pursuit of witches. Defamatory posters were placed in front of the homes of "Aryan" women alleged to have dealings with Jews. Their names were also printed and posted conspicuously throughout the city.

The campaign against the women under suspicion caused a panic among hundreds of non-Jewish women in the city since the list of names posted included many who had never associated with Jews. The campaign is being assisted by the local press, which announces that it will daily publish new names.

Expulsion Urged

In Dresden the press today published inciting articles demanding that Jews be expelled from the city. "The Jews are having a good time," the Freiheitskampf of Dresden complains.

The paper protests that Jewish stores still exist in Dresden and that "there are still Shields of David prominently displayed in the windows of Jewish boarding houses to single them out."

"Is it any wonder that the Jews go about as though the place belonged to them?" the paper asks.

Paper Wants Action

Des Gesellige, a Nazi paper in Schneidemuehl, publishes an article complaining that "there has been no progress made with the Jewish question in Germany."

Lawrence View on Arab Riots Disclosed in Newspaper Story

LONDON, (JTA) — "With 400 decent British policemen in Palestine the Jews need not fear any Arab riots," was the opinion once voiced by the late Col. T. E. Lawrence, the "Lawrence of Arabia."

This opinion of Lawrence's is disclosed in the Manchester Guardian in an article by L. B. Namier, former political secretary of the Jewish Agency.

Mr. Namier states that Lawrence supported Zionist aims and was a friend of the Jews. He was ready to testify in favor of the Zionists before the British Cabinet in 1930, following the anti-Jewish riots of 1929 in Palestine but was not called.

Mr. Namier also discloses that Lawrence told him that the Cairo conference of 1921 decided to merge Transjordan with Palestine and open Transjordan to Jewish immigration. Circumstances, however, forced the continuance of Transjordan as a native State under British protection, in order to prevent the French from obtaining control over it.

"If you had 400 decent British policemen in Palestine there would have been no trouble for the Jews there," Col. Lawrence said to Namier after the anti-Jewish massacre of 1929, according to Namier's article in the Manchester Guardian today.

Dutch Scientists Honor Two Jewish Professors

AMSTERDAM, (JTA) — Queen Wilhelmina has confirmed the appointment of Prof. Hermann Weyle, a Jewish professor of mathematics at Princeton University, as foreign member of the Royal Academy of Science in Holland.

Prof. Levi Civita of Rome was another Jewish scientist whose appointment to the Academy was confirmed by the queen.

Torture Trial is Again Postponed

CZERNOWITZ (JTA)—The trial of Capt. Panisoara and three gendarmes of the Czernowitz police, charged with torturing Samson Bronstein, secretary of the Poale Zion in Yedlinez, was scheduled to take place here but was postponed for the tenth time.

The court set July 2 for the trial. Somson Bronstein was arrested in May, 1932, on charges of being identified with Communist activities. The charges proved groundless. During his examination he was subjected to six hours of torture which sent him to a hospital for several months. It was feared that he would never walk again. He has, however, recovered.

The three gendarmes and Captain Panisoara have so far pleaded not guilty.

Greek Government Bars Anti-Jewish Propaganda in Country's Newspapers

SALONICA, (JTA) — A decree prohibiting the press from making references against any religion was issued here by the government. The decree aims to prevent anti-Jewish propaganda throughout the country, in connection with the forthcoming parliamentary election in June.

The government party is counting on winning all the Jewish votes since it has exhibited its pro-Jewish attitude on numerous occasions. It was with the help of the Jewish votes that the government party won a majority in the last elections, which infuriated the anti-Semitic elements in the country.

Roumanian Students to Police Colleges

BUCHAREST, (JTA). — An ingenious plan to maintain order in Roumanian universities was evolved today by the authorities, who organized a special police force of students.

The force will be chosen by the student body, thus making all students of the universities responsible for any outbreaks such as the recent anti-Jewish clashes. The student policemen, who will enter upon their duties next semester, will be entrusted with maintaining order within the university grounds.

CAPITOL COMMENT

By NATHAN KOENIG

Washington — Reports that the Longs, the Coughlins and the Townsends of the nation are taking stock of their activities as a result of the farmer's spontaneous pilgrimage to Washington last week, are reaching the ears of the observers here. The effect of the visit of the more than 4,000 dirt farmers from twenty-five states who came to the nation's capital to praise President Roosevelt's farm recovery program, may be to turn the tide against the type of radicalism which seeks to pit class against class, religion against religion, and race against race in order to gain its end.

Ever since the depression started there has been a rapid growth in the United States of disgruntled elements. Appealing to prejudices and hatreds, the leaders of these goups never failed to interject names of prominent Jews in the affairs of government and finance. The game was to cast suspicion on Jewry as a whole. Thus, they tried to emulate the Hitleristic trick of making the Jew the scapegoat. In their drive to build up opposition to democratic governmental policies, various panaceas were suggested. Most of these smacked of Fascism, Hitlerism and Communism. At the same time self-centered business and industrial interests sang their own chorus of opposition which was directed against New Deal policies. As long as there was condemnation without a murmur of praise coming from any segment of the American people, the undermining by the radicals could continue unabated. But now a new trend has made its appearance. The Roosevelt recovery program supporters have come to the fore. The trouble-makers are being driven to cover. Democracy still prevails.

Representative P. L. Gassaway, Oklahoma cowboy member of Congress, is carrying on a campaign of ridicule directed against Father Coughlin and Senator Huey Long. As a matter of fact, the Oklahoma cowboy is quite a lecturer and knows how to sling his words.

The other day he addressed the Brotherhood of the Temple Isaiah Israel in Chicago, and reports are that he made a real hit. Convinced that his verbal campaign is "killing Huey Long's soul," Representative Cassaway says that the Kingfish already "is a very sick boy." He told the Brotherhood meeting in Chicago that "President Roosevelt is trying to help the country, but Father Coughlin and Huey are only promising to pray for it." Warning against the promises, he said, "don't let any crackpot politician tell you the world owes you a living and you'll get it if you howl long enough for it."

The German government has inaugurated a new program with aims to make the country as nearly as possible self-sufficient for all raw materials, particularly farm products. L. V. Steere, agricultural attache stationed in Berlin, reports to Washington that a decree has been issued by the government authorizing the German minister of finance to allocate several million dollars to facilitate production on German farms of food products and raw materials.

It is emphasized in the decree that the production of wool, flax and hemp has been neglected but that these industries should now be developed in line with the German government's general policy directed toward self-sufficiency. The government, under this plan, will extend credits to farmers and subsidize them under terms which are to be announced in the near future.

It is pointed out by the United States Department of Agriculture that in subsidizing the wool, flax and hemp industries the German government is moved more by the desire to conserve foreign exchange by reducing imports than by conviction that greatly increased production is practical.

Germany has not land enough on which to graze sufficient numbers of sheep to make possible a great expansion of wool production. If much of the land now in grain and other crops were devoted to grazing, and to flax and hemp, it would be at the expense of food crops. This in turn would necessitate an increase in food imports, something which Germany does not care to do.

The Hitler government's rearmament program has stimulated industrial activity in Germany and has brought a temporary impetus to the prices of steel and machinery stocks.

The Eastern European Situation

By DR. JOSEPH LVOVITCH

(Editor's Note: The following article was prepared especially for the Jewish Telegraphic Agency by Dr. Lvovitch shortly after his arrival here from Paris. Dr. Lvovitch, who is vice-president and member of the praesidium of the World ORT Federation, is in this country to raise funds for ORT rehabilitation and colonization activities throughout the world).

Upon my return from my trip through Germany, Poland and Latvia, and after seeing the condition of the Jews in those countries, I felt like one who is recovering from a serious illness. In Germany one meets Jews whose faces express panic, in Poland one meets young people whose attitude toward life is that of sheer hopelessness. In Latvia Jews told me conditions in their country are worse than anywhere, because the economic discriminations they have to face are a new misfortune to which they are not accustomed.

It will perhaps sound to many like a paradox, but when I arrived in Russia from these other countries, I felt greatly relieved. Of course, one should not gather from this that I mean to say the conditions of the Jews in Russia is enviable. It is not, inasmuch as they are lacking in so much that is necessary even for ordinary comfort, but there is no specifically Jewish question in Russia, and Jews in no way feel any discrimination.

It is no wonder therefore that one meets large numbers of Jews in the border states who crave to emigrate to Russia. Millions of Polish Jews—and now surely there are as many thousands in the other Eastern European countries—would emigrate anywhere at all if only the way were shown to them.

One hears of an unusually high number of suicides among Polish Jewish business men. And recently this suicide epidemic has been spreading among the younger element; including even disappointed Chalutzim, who failed to secure a viss to Palestine. The Jews in Poland and in Latvia are practically abandoning their hopes of remaining in the businesses to which they have been accustomed. For this reason they are anxious to place their children in vocational schools.

Demand for Vocational Schools

There is now such a big demand for vocational courses, so many apply to the ORT vocational schools for admission, that we are unable to accommodate one-tenth of those who apply. You find in the ORT vocational schools in Poland, Lithuania, Latvia and Rumania young people who have finished higher educational courses in other schools, even universities, learning manual trades and crafts. The wives and daughters of business men are taking up millinery, dressmaking and corset-making.

Out of the total of 114 ORT institutions for vocational training, no fewer than fifty-two are operating in Poland. These institutions include the Jewish Technicum in Vilno, textile and hosiery training factories in Lodz and Bialystok, and a considerable number of engineering, iron-working, joinery, weaving, tailoring and other trade schools in Warsaw, Lodz, Wloclawek, Bialystok, Brzesc, Grodno, Lublin, Pioro-kow, Rovno, Kovel, Sarney, Wlodzimierz, Krzemieniec, Volynsk, Kobry and other cities.

If I tell you that in the vocational schools and workshops of the ORT in Eastern Europe 5,000 persons receive instruction annually at present, and that during the last 10 years the Polish ORT had given to about 25,000 possibility of acquiring a sound knowledge of different branches of handicraft and industrial work, you will appreciate that a very serious work has been accomplished.

Now Able to Find Employment

The vocational schools and workshops have acquired such a reputation that factories and private artisans are very willing to give work to those who have been trained in them. From data not yet completed for 1934, it can be seen that in Volhynia, for instance, the young men who have been trained in mechanical smithing and joinery have found work not only in Jewish, but also in non-Jewish enterprises. An inquiry carried out by the administration of the ORT Technicum in Vilna shows that a number of its graduates—smiths and electricians—found work in small and big factories, and in public works such as canalization, water supply, etc. A number of graduates of the Technicum emigrated to Palestine and to Russia, and have found work in their respective trades.

We have great difficulty just now in supporting our schools, because of a lack of money. Formerly we received liberal support from the Joint Distribution Committee, for which we have been always thankful. But for the past few years ORT has maintained its institutions through funds obtained from its own sources. Many of these schools would have closed long ago were it not for the sacrifices made by the local populations and the local ORT committees, which have carried on a desperate struggle to keep the schools open.

In a number of towns the authorities demanded that the school buildings be enlarged or that considerable repairs be made. These new tasks added considerably to the heavy burdens of the ORT. Many school buildings would have been taken away by the government in lieu of taxes, social insurance, etc., but in each instance the committee appeared and bought the building back. Many municipalities which formerly subsidized our institutions have now reduced these subsidies. For instance, from the Warsaw government we used to receive 40,000 zloty ($8,000) annually. Now they do not give us anything.

Impose Additional Burdens

A new burden has been imposed upon Polish Jewry by a recent Polish act which requires artisans to possess craftsmen's certificates as a prerequisite to the right to work. More than 20,000 Jewish artisans are affected by this decree which requires that a fee of forty-two zloty, or $8.50 in American exchange, be paid for the certificates and that many Jewish workers be obliged to undergo a qualification examination. Realizing that not only will 20,000 Jewish families face the loss of a livelihood but that one of the most important sources of Jewish labor will be closed, the Polish ORT has prepared a plan for the creation of special courses in fifteen cities for the purpose of preparing thousands of Jewish artisans for the compulsory examinations.

There is a movement now among Polish Jewry for agricultural work. Those who find it impossible to settle on the land, wish at least to develop small garden plots in their small towns where they can raise their own vegetables.

We support twelve agricultural cooperatives in Jewish colonies in Volinien, Poland. In Lithuania there is a very successful farm, Magorina, where thirty-two young Jews from Germany are learning farming. Many of them went to Palestine where they were placed on farms. There are more than 100 young German Jews—farmers, doctors, lawyers and professional men—who are attending ORT schools in Kaunas and Libo preparing for new vocations. In the Paris ORT there are special courses for German refugees; also agronomical assistance is given by the French ORT to groups of refugees who are desirous of settling on the land in Southern France.

Valuable Aid Given Colonists

The conditions of the Jewish colonies in Russia is this year much better than it was two years ago, on account of good crops. We helped many colonies to maintain themselves by establishing cooperative factories and workshops where the women were able to work at millinery—and now at toys—which ORT sells to the cooperatives. In this way the women were able to earn from 100 to 150 rubles monthly, which additional income helped the colony to exist.

In the small towns we have organized, and are supporting, about sixty factories where declassed Jews are working. The condition of the Jew in the small towns, however, is not at all satisfactory, and many of the small town dwellers are emigrating to the Jewish colony in South Russia Crimea and now to Biro-Bidjan, where the government is firmly determined to establish a Jewish colony and is spending considerable money to accomplish this purpose.

From my conversation with Peter Smidovitch, who just died, to the great and irreparable loss of the Jews in Russia—for he was a great friend of the Jewish reconstruction in Russia—I learned that the Soviet government would be willing that foreign Jews, who are mechanics or have some useful trade, settle in Biro-Bidjan, providing foreign Jewish organizations provide them with the necessary housing, tools, etc. On this occasion, he stated that he had been commissioned by his government to thank the central committee of ORT for the work it has done in Russia.

On the question as to why I came to this country, my answer is this: When I came to Moscow, everybody asked me what I was doing in Moscow. When I was in Warsaw, I had the same experience. But when I left Paris for America, nobody asked me why I was going to America. Everybody seemed to know.

DANZIG BEFORE THE LEAGUE

The question of the Jews in Danzig will come up for discussion before the Council of the League of Nations, which opened its session in Geneva this week.

The petition by the Danzig Jews which the Council will take up is one of seven submitted by various groups of the Free city to the League of Nations, demanding a curb on Nazi activities there. The Jewish petition, however, will no doubt attract more attention than the others since the anti-Jewish propaganda now being conducted by the Nazi administration in Danzig is a direct violation of the provisions set by the League for the administration of the Free City.

The 8000 Jews of Danzig have long been suffering from the Nazi propaganda in the Free City and from the anti-Jewish regulations. Their suffering has, however, become more intense during the last few weeks, following the devaluation of the Danzig currency.

Although the devaluation was carried out by the Danzig Senate, which is controlled entirely by the Nazis, Nazi agitators and the Nazi press started a campaign that the Jews are the ones to be blamed. The campaign, encouraged by the Nazi administration of the Free City, is leading many to believe that the Jews are indeed responsible for the deflation from which they are suffering. Since most of those affected are of the middle clase, whose total deposits in the Danzig banks are estimated at 70,000,000 gulden, the incitement against the Jews is finding fertile ground even among those who are not Nazis.

The truth of the matter is that the Danzig Senate before devaluating the currency of the Free City, tipped off the Nazi institutions in time to permit them to exchange their capital. It is also a fact that the move of the Danzig Senate to devaluate the currency was aimed to pauperize that part of the population which voted against the Nazis in the parliamentary elections of April 7.

Notwithstanding this fact, the leaders of the Nazis in Danzig have seen in the devaluation of the currency a good excuse for strengthening their anti-Jewish propaganda by blaming the Jews for it. The anti-Jewish propaganda in Danzig has thus, after the inflation, assumed an unprecedented, dangerous character.

The petition which the Jews of Danzig has submitted to the Council of the League of Nations is a result of this situation. A similar petition was submitted to the League by the Catholic population of Danzig, which is also persecuted by the Nazis though to a lesser degree than the Jews.

Among the petitions which the League Council will take up at its present session, is also one submitted by Sean Lester, the League's High Commissioner of Danzig. Mr. Lester has been openly defied by the Nazi administration in Danzig. He has therefore requested that the league once and for all define his powers in Danzig.

O. H. C. NOTES

Social

The Order of Hebraic Comradship has planned a gala affair for Thursday, June 6. The occasion is to be of a surprise nature. The committee however, has promised enough to arouse considerable suspense.

Athletic

With the end of the bowling session next Thursday, the Bowling League season signs off for another year. On the heels of this wind-up comes the announcement that plans are being made to conduct a baseball party to Boston soon.

Playing its second game in the Jewish Baseball League, the O. H. C. ball club lost to the Orioles by a good margin. The game was held last Sunday, at Davis Park. Next Sunday the O. H. C. plays Woonsocket in that northern city. The Jewish League, formed by the O. H. C., is rapidly shaping into a real thing.

Membership

The most recent addition to the membership of the O. H. C. is Jack Dress, a graduate of Brown, class of 1933. The O. H. C. plans to hold initiation of four members in June.

Educational

The chairman of the educational committee has been successful in having speakers, in the form of the members themselves, on hand for most of the meetings. The last speaker was Vic Hittner who spoke on "Camping in New Hampshire."

GOLDENBERGS OBSERVE WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

The 10th anniversary of their wedding was celebrated at the Port Arthur Restaurant last Wednesday by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Goldenberg, at a party tendered by Mrs. Abe Siverling and Mrs. Louis Yarlas. Twenty couples attended and presented the guests of honor a silver hostess tray. Guests attended from Providence, Newport, Woonsocket and Fall River.

THE WEEK IN JEWISH NEWS

The "Protocols" Trial

The verdict handed down last week by the court in Berne declaring the "Protocols of the Elders of Zion" a forgery is a blow not only to the Nazis in Switzerland but to the entire anti-Jewish propaganda conducted by Nazis all over the world.

The verdict once and forever puts an end to the legend which was invented 30 years ago by officials of the Czarist Secret Political Police, that the Jews have mapped a definite program to dominate the world. Although everyone knew the legend to be false, anti-Semites throughout the world did not hestitate from time to time to revive it.

With the rise of Hitlerism in Germany, the "Protocols" became the Bible of the Nazi propaganda against the Jews. Alfred Rosenberg, Hitler's right hand man, saw to it personally that the "Protocols" should be spread all over the world in order to justify the Nazi anti-Jewish persecutions.

Something had to be done to show the world that the "Protocols" are nothing but an invention on the part of anti-Semites. This has been accomplished now in Switzerland by Jewish leaders who had determined to bring the case to court. By suing a number of Swiss Nazis for spreading the "Protocols," the Jewish leaders have demonstrated that they had nothing to fear as to the alleged authenticity of these notorious documents.

The verdict which the court issued undermines the entire Nazi theory about "Jewish domination." It is a direct slap in the face to the Nazi government, and it is therefore no wonder that the German government made an attempt at the 11th hour to intervene through the government of Switzerland, seeking to influence the court to bring in a verdict which would not be unfavorable to Germany.

The verdict was based upon three questions put by the court to the experts at the trial. The three questions were:

1. Are the so-called "Protocols of the Elders of Zion" genuine, not genuine, or forged?

2. Do they constitute a plagiarism, a literary theft?

3. Do they fall under the description of obscene literature, that is to say, are they designed by content or form or both, to incite to crime, or to lead to the endangering of public order, to arousing a sense of disgust, or in some other way to give cause for brutal revulsion?

Of the three experts who appeared before the court, two definitely established that the "Protocols" are forged, that they constitute a plagiarism and that they fall under the category of obscene literature. One of the two was Dr. Loosli, the official expert retained by the court.

Even Col. Fleischhauer the Nazi "expert" who publishes the "Protocols" in Germany, could not prove that this notorious anti-Jewish document is genuine. His entire "expert" analysis was based solely on the contention that it had never been proven that the "Protocols" were not genuine.

The verdict of the Berne court will go down in Jewish history as an important victory over bigotry and falsehood. The London Times, after an investigation, long since established the falsity of the notorious "Protocols." Now this falsity has been officially established in a court. The verdict will remain the best argument of the Jews against all those who have been trying to utilise the "Protocols" for their anti-Semitic purposes.

But whether it will halt the use of the forged "Protocols" by the Nazis in their propaganda throughout the world remains to be seen. As the New York Times pointed out editorially, however, little can be expected from a nation that allows a "lunatic" like Julius Streicher to state that Wasserman's famous blood test was conceived by him only for the purpose of getting some Christian blood for Jewish ritual purposes.

Jewish Youth Groups Unite in New League

BERLIN (JTA).—All Jewish youth organizations in Germany were consolidated when the Sports League of the Union of Jewish War Veterans became affiliated with the Federation of Jewish Youth Organizations.

A spring exhibition of the work of Jewish artists in Berlin has been opened in the Museum of the Berlin Jewish Community.

Dr. Heinrich Stahl, president of the Berlin Jewish Community, in opening the exhibit, said that the Berlin Community regards it as its duty to preserve Jewish cultural values. After the Nazis came into power, he explained, a special department was organized by the Community to look after the interests of Jewish artists and enable them to continue their work.

Duckings at College Reported Due to Anti-Semitism on Campus

MADISON, Wis. — Anti-Jewish feeling on the campus of the University of Wisconsin was held partially to blame for the spectacle of husky university athletes seizing and ducking students in Lake Mendota.

The entire State has become aroused over the hooliganism shown by a mob of students and athletes in breaking up a meeting of the League for Industrial Democracy and tossing participants in the lake.

Rabbi Max Kadushin of the Hillel Foundation in Madison, the home of the university, declared that the ducking, though stirred up by propaganda against radicalism, was an evidence of an undercurrent of anti-Semitism. He said the raid leaders were not actual anti-Semites, but he pointed out that during the disturbance there were shouts from the crowd such as "Go back to the Bronx" and "New York Indians." A number of the students who were ducked live in the Bronx and other sections of New York City.

Recognition that race prejudice exists was made by George C. Sellery, dean of the College of Letters and Science, in an address at an all-university protest meeting held here to denounce the hooliganism. "I understand the ugly head of race prejudice lifted itself on the campus," he said. "The principle on which these riotous proceedings were based will wreck the university unless we wreck the people who support that principle."

A banquet which is expected to make history as well as repeat it, is the annual one planned by the Young Women's Hebrew Association for 6:30 o'clock next Monday evening at the Narragansett Hotel. This will mark the 10th anniversary of the Jewish Community Center, with which the association is affiliated, and it has been arranged to present an unusually fine program to celebrate this event.

dents of the Y. W. H. A. Miss Frieda Simon, who has been re-elected president of the association for next year, will be inducted into office with proper ceremonies by a prominent Providence woman. Principal speaker will be Mrs. Bessie P. White, well-known playwright and lecturer of Boston.

In addition, a pageant has been prepared which will portray outstanding events in the life of the Jewish Community Center, and the part played by the Y.W.H.A. in achieving these ends. Incorporated in this pageant, will be musical offerings by well-known performers.

It is the belief of the committee, which is headed by Miss Helen Sapsovitz, that failure to attend will cause regrets, and to assist those who desire to be present, reservations may be made by application to the Jewish Community Center. Miss Ethel A. Levene is chairman of the program committee.

Danzig Nazis Urge Pogroms for Jews

DANZIG (JTA).—Open incitement to pogroms in revenge for the petition submitted to the League of Nations protesting the anti-Jewish activities in the Free City, featured a speech by Herr Forster, Nazi leader of Danzig.

The increased anti-Jewish agitation which the Nazis in Danzig have developed "as a reply to the Jewish complaint to the League of Nations" has created a tense situation.

Jews are molested on the streets; anti-Jewish slogans are shouted by Nazi youths in public places, and defamatory inscriptions are painted on walls in many sections of the city.

Urges Executions

Addressing a large audience, Herr Forster accused the Jews of plotting a war against Germany and of devaluating the currency in Danzig. "In the event of war all Jews should be executed by firing squads," he urged. He emphasized that the Jewish petition to the League of Nations complaining of the violation of Jewish rights in Danzig by the Nazi administration, has infuriated the "Aryan" population.

Anti-Jewish speeches similar to Herr Forster's were delivered today in various parts of the city by other Nazi leaders. The speeches have disturbed Jewish leaders since nothing can be done to stop them.

The petition to the League will be taken up at the coming session of the Council in Geneva. It enumerates a series of anti-Jewish actions taken by the Nazi administration of the Free City to deprive the Jews of their rights, which is in direct violation of the provisions of the League of Nations under whose supervision Dansig is administered.

Sean Lester, the League's High Commissioner in Danzig, has submitted a report to the League of Nations which substantiates the facts enumerated in the Jewish petition.

Providence Council of Jewish Women Re-Elects Mrs. Jack Davis as its President by Unanimous Vote

Mrs. Jack Davis was unanimously re-elected president for the third consecutive term of the Providence Section, National Council of Jewish Women, at the 41st annual luncheon-meeting which took place Tuesday at the Weber Duck Inn, in Wrentham, Mass.

Election of officers, besides installing Mrs. Davis in the president's post, included:

Mrs. Pierre Brunschwig, first vice president; Mrs. Edward M. Deutch, second vice president; Mrs. Leo Cohen, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Edward Altman, recording secretary; Mrs. Joseph W. Ress, financial secretary; Mrs. Aaron Cohen, treasurer; Mrs. Morris Cowen, clerk; and Mrs. Lillie Summerfield, auditor.

Mrs. Bernard Goodman, general arrangements chairman for the affair, presented Mrs. Rose A. Gerber, one-time president of the local council and former member of the Public Welfare Commission, who delivered a highly interesting and informative address on "Prison Industries," in which she pointed out the benefits derived from keeping prisoners occupied.

Mrs. Caesar Misch, founder of the Providence Council, its first president, who is now serving as honorary vice president of the National Council, was next called upon. Mrs. Misch outlined the high-spots in the local Council's program, and spoke of her gratification in the increased enthusiasm apparent in the organization, especially stressing her pleasure in seeing such a large influx of young members to carry on the work begun by those now growing older.

Miss Edith Nichols on the Providence Journal and Evening Bulletin, was another guest. She spoke briefly on the subject of publicity. The record of a successful year of worth-while activities was outlined in the reports at the business session following the luncheon, conducted by Mrs. Davis. In an inspiring message, Mrs. Davis enlisted the continued assistance of officers, chairmen and members at large for the coming year, and bespoke her continued loyalty and effort on behalf of the Council.

Mrs. Goodman thanked the large committee which had assisted her in arranging the event, among whom were: Mrs. Leo Cohen, transportation; Mrs. David C. Adelman and Mrs. Edward M. Deutch, reservations; Mrs. George Wise, decorations; and Mrs. Samuel Markoff, menu.

The delicious luncheon was served at long tables where some 110 members and out-of-town guests assembled. The council's color — blue — was noted in the decorations, combining apple blossoms and violets.

Seated at the head table were: Mesdames Jack Davis, Rose A. Gerber, Caesar Misch, Bernard Goodman, Pierre Brunschwig, John J. Rouslin, Leo Cohen, David C. Adelman, Samuel Markoff, George Wise, Philip Marcus, Edward Altman, Joseph W. Ress, Aaron Cohen, Lillie Summerfield, Samuel Wachenheimer, Albert Shore, and Miss Edith Nichols.

Mrs. Samuel Wachenheimer gave the invocation.

Corsages of colorful spring flowers were presented to Mrs. David, Mrs. Gerber, Mrs. Misch, and Mrs. Goodman.

A large group of Council members assisted Mrs. Leo Cohen, transportation chairman, by placing their automobiles at the disposal of those attending the meeting.

The OBSERVER

Hello friends! Well, another week has passed and oh, so many things have happened! In fact, I don't know which party to tell you about first. However, I'll begin with the Hakoahs who held their annual informal dance at the Y. with Eddie Quinton's snozzy orchestra doin' the tinkerin'. The first to come into view was Archie Kapstein who never seems to miss any affair, and this time it was with that sophisticated miss, Gladys Chernack, and were they setting a neat dance pace!

Who Nellie! there goes Reevie Field sitting out another dance. Can't take it, eh Reevie, or maybe you like chatting with Evelyn Goldberg, eh what! Tut, tut, Ike Brown and Guertie Nulman together again. And Lillian Wexler being escorted about by Sonny Monchick. Who would have thunked it! Saul Miller is a Hakoat-ite and with him is Charlotte Weiner looking very sweet in that flowery apparel. Nice goin', Saulie.

Oh, there you are, Phyllis Luber. You certainly have what I call undivided popularity. Iz Wallick is a swell guy too. And lookit him! Rudy Volpe strutting about with his chest in the air because he won the door prize. Sure, Rose Silverman looks OK in the natty sport attire. I wonder if Beatrice Ponce is as shy as she acted, or maybe Mo Zimmerman wanted to go back to the "Sportsman's Club?" Quite early to leave a dance.

There are a couple of newcomers bobbing in and out the doorways, Joe Goldstein and Esther Mallon. Make way for tempestuous Sid Granoff with Molly Seigle. And look out! here comes Fred Arontcrantz and Molly Berman with Morris Gordon and Leo Kopit on their last lap around the hall. Good workout boys. Nice party Hakoahs, don't forget me on the next one.

Oh, does my head ache after last night, and here's Norman Kauffman having a birthday blessing to-night. So I gather my trusty Bayers (aspirins to you), and have my chauffeur take me up Cranston way. Goody, goody, look at the oodles of food! and lookie over thar! little Sylvia Davis who was the reason for Sam Stein's swell time at the Soph-Frosh Hop at P. C. And here are the very congenial Kauffman brothers with their ever-ready card tricks. Say where do all these other Kauffmans come from, and they insist that they are not related.

Saulie Miller and Lil Wexler in the spotlight again, not forgetting a very interesting person named Norma Dorsey (nothing to the band maestros). You should meet her and be delighted by one who is so, so, different. And so my stooges and I took our departure once more—only to be awakened Sunday at the early hour of two in the afternoon, so that I could do some pecking in at a swelegant lawn party that Shirley Strasmich was giving.

Once again we saw gathered the debs of Providence. There pervaded an atmosphere of hilarity, with the Duchess (whose name we will give you in the near future) presiding. Of course Ben Wexler was there, as was Ira Nulman. However, Harvey Rubin was missing, but Joe Prague was there to take his place. Amid a whirl of mixed deals, the thuds of accurately aimed candies, and Chickie White's riding about on a trusty two-wheeler, the party was soon in full bloom.

Yet all this did not bother Shirley Halpern who was comfortably seated enjoying rapt moments with tender thoughts on her mind. "Can it be the tress that fill the breeze with rare and magic perfume?" Don't let it bother you Shirley, vacation will soon be here — very, very soon.

So, I say goodbye, but first reminding all you young ladies not to forget that this is the party season, and the time when members of the opposite sex are looking for a place to drink their tea.

Oust Jewish Doctors from 47 Positions

VIENNA, (JTA). — The process of eliminating Jewish doctors from the State and Municipal Panel system is continuing, it was reported at the annual meeting of the Association of Jewish Doctors held here.

Speakers at the meeting emphasized that all efforts to improve the position of young Jewish doctors have been of no avail. No positions have been open to Jews in Panel institutions. Not only have no new appointments been made, but Jews have even been refused the opportunity to register for vacancies.

Seven Jewish doctors and forty assistants will be dismissed in October from the Franz Josef Hospital here, it was disclosed at the meeting.

(Editor's Note:—This is the fifth in a series of articles written especially for the Jewish Herald by Dr. Charles S. Bernheimer, director of studies of the Jewish Welfare Board, who has based his remarks on a study of cultural and recreational sources of Providence Jewry.)

One of the results of the study of the Jewish community of Providence made by the Jewish Welfare Board was a recommendation that a Jewish Educational and Recreational Council be formed. This recommendation was personally presented by Louis Kraft, of the staff of the Jewish Welfare Board, who cooperated with me in the study that was made. The group to which it was submitted included representatives of leading Jewish congregations and organizations. It was agreed to form such a Council and to accept in principle the recommendations that were made.

The recommendations are substantially as follows:

1. It is recommended that a Jewish Educational and Recreational Council be formed, under the aegis of the Jewish Federation for Social Service. The Council should consist of representatives of the principal social and cultural organizations, including the Jewish Community Center, the congregations, the Jewish Family Welfare Society (which has an interest in recreational activities, juvenile and youth delinquency), and a number of other adult organizations described in this report.

Serve as Clearing House

2. The Council could serve as a clearing house for exchange of information, for consultation on plans for the season's activities so as to avoid conflicts of dates and obvious duplication of major activities. It should not interfere, however, with the autonomy of any organization.

3. The Council could also consider plans for expansion by any Jewish organization so that independent ventures may be subjected to analysis from the standpoint of their value to the community. Ventures that are launched by organizations for their own specific purposes quite frequently become responsibilities of the community as a whole.

Study Communal Problems

The basis for the considerations of this Council will be found in the facts of the study, particularly the description of the activities of various Jewish organizations. These facts could be amplified in a series of hearings by the Council or by sub-committees, at which informed representatives of the Jewish organizations may be invited to present their plans with respect to their organizations and their views as to how the program of the community might be modified and improved. For example, the city-wide problem of Jewish education might be considered, with a view to effecting correlation, coordination, centralized planning, and technical service. Such action does not necessarily involve additional expense to the community.

4. There are certain cooperative projects that may be sponsored by the Council in the interests of several organizations. For example, a number of local organizations conduct clubs and foster group activities. They require volunteer leaders and it is highly desirable that these leaders should receive some training. The problems of recruiting and training leaders could become the responsibility of the Council. Because of the specialized experience in this field of the Jewish Community Cnter, it would be desirable for the Council to delegate the immediate responsibility for training to the Jewish Community Center; but recruiting and assigning of leaders, the organization of the course, and selection of teaching personnel could be a cooperative venture of synagogues and other interested groups, under the sponsorship of the Council.

Train Sunday School Teachers

5. There is a similar need for training and recruiting Sunday school teachers that could be dealt with in much the same way by the Council, the responsibility being assigned to a group representative of the several organizations engaged in Jewish education.

6. A sub-committee, comprising the organizations interested in this problem, could give it special consideration with a view to centralized recruiting and training of teachers as discussed above, exchange of experiences, utilization of teaching materials and improved technique, united effort in promoting enrollment, joint mass observances, and a common program of education of the Jewish community to the need of Jewish instruction.

7. The Council could sponsor the recruiting and training of Big Brothers and Big Sisters to render such service, in which the recreational organizations and the Jewish Family Welfare Society may cooperate.

8. The Council could also consider the special needs of the Jewish students, particularly non-residents, for contact with Jewish social life. A special committee could plan for activities that would integrate them with the Jewish community and thus continue earlier interests which they may have formed in their home cities and prepare them for participation in Jewish activities upon graduation.

Cantor Heuberg is Again Re-Elected

Members of the Congregation B'nai Israel of Woonsocket re-elected Cantor Anshel Heuberg for a two-year term at a meeting in the synagogue on Greene Street.

Cantor Heuberg has been in Woonsocket five years, coming from Brooklyn, N. Y. Soon after taking over his work, he organized the Woonsocket Hebrew Choral Society which has in the short space of time become one of the best known musical organizations in the State.

Having studied at the Conservatory of Music in Vienna and in various art centers of Germany, Cantor Heuberg has during his long musical career, composed more than 40 classical compositions in addition to arranging many songs. Not only in composition but in arrangement as well, he has developed a strictly individualistic style and manner.

Cantor Heuberg's re-election came on the eve of the annual concert of the Hebrew choral he has organized presented in the Hotel Blackstone. Some of his original compositions and arrangements were offered by the chorus of 40 voices.

The featured artist on the program was Rene Viau, concert pianist. The soloists in the choral were Mrs. Emma Kasidoy and Mrs. Lillian Goldstein, sopranos; Samuel Kornstein, tenor, and Philip Macktaz, basso. The accompanist was Mrs. Celia Epstein.

PLATFORMS OF ZIONIST FACTIONS ARE EXPLAINED

Maurice Hendel in a talk before the members of the Masada Student's League, the Youth Zionist Organization of America, Tuesday evening, clarified the separate platforms of the Central Zionists and the Paole Zionists and advocated that the members support the Central program, to which they had pledged their votes.

Two Things in Life are CERTAIN

Everyone needs money as long as he lives.

No one makes money as long as he lives.

Earning capacity does not extend to the end of one's natural days, unless he is cut off in his prime by an accident.

Your parents took care of you in your early non-earning days, providing you with the necessities of life . . BUT, for the later years of non-productivity, every self-respecting person tries to make provision himself while earning power is at its height.

There is much talk these days of the social legislation to provide for old age. Glorious pictures are painted of a worry-free, effortless retirement to be provided out of public funds. All that the Government can do, in charity, will be to take care of the needy cases on a subsistence basis. This will not go far in providing comforts . . it may merely remove the spectre of starvation fear . . and it will mean little more, to the prudent man of independent spirit.

He pins his faith and hopes to his own efforts and provides NOW for the sunset years of life. A small sum set aside weekly or monthly will yield, with dividends, a tidy lump sum that can assure security in later years.

With JOSEPH M. FINKLE

THANK YOU

To all of you who have been so kind, either by letter, or in person, as to tell me your likes and dislikes about this column, I extend my sincere thanks . . . We really do try to bring you news items and names that will interest you . . . However, strange as it may seem, it is quite difficult to be interesting always, especially, in our community which does not cover any great metropolitan area . . . We often wish too, that our memory would serve us better so that we could include everything that goes on in our very busy little state . . . Your letters are always welcome . . . Again, thank you for your interest.

GOLDMAN ANNIVERSARY

We believe that the most significant event on this week's calendar is the celebration honoring Rabbi Israel M. Goldman of Temple Emanu-El, in recognition of his 10 years as spiritual leader of that congregation and leadership in the community . . . The feature events of the program will be the Tenth Anniversary Service tonight (Friday) and the anniversary banquet on Sunday night at the Narragansett Hotel.

President Barbour of Brown University, a personal friend of Rabbi Goldman, will be one of the principal speakers tonight . . . The principal speaker on Sunday night will be Rabbi Israel Herbert Levinthal of New York . . . Sharing the program with him will be several of the most distinguished men in the community . . . Judge Philip C. Joslin will officiate as toastmaster.

It is expected that more than 400 will attend . . . Nat C. Cohen has directed the activities of the anniversary committee . . . It has given me a great deal of pleasure to have been able to assist the committee in arranging for this outstanding observance.

NEW YORK CITY

I spent the week-end in New York with several friends, attending the convention sessions of District Lodge No. 1, B'nai Brith, at the Hotel Commodore . . . District Lodge No. 1 consists of nearly 70 lodges and 30 ladies' auxiliaries throughout New England, New York State and Canada . . . The convention sessions of this great order were stimulating to the hundreds of delegates and others who were privileged to sit in and hear about the great international work of B'nai Brith, in all parts of the world.

It was surprising to me to hear that more than a million dollars has been expended by the Order in the past year in the interest of Jews everywhere . . . The convention, next year will be held in our neighboring city of Worcester . . . It is hoped that a large delegation from R. I. will be in attendance . . . The local lodge of B'nai Brith, which is named after the founder of our state, Roger Williams, and which has barely reached its first year of existence, has a fine and representative membership of men who are keenly interested in and who realize the position of the Jew in this present world.

AFTER THOUGHTS

Somehow, or other, I am always glad to get back home after a trip anywhere . . . Possibly, I am still a small timer, or maybe it is that I shall always have a soft spot in my heart for home-town Providence . . . In the big city, I missed that greeting of friends on the main streets, and also those intimate little "gab sessions' with a friend or two . . . So let us get down to business.

The Jewish Center operetta, the "Pirates of Penzance" was a great success as I had anticipated . . . It was another triumph for Mrs. Starr and Ben Premack . . . The show was capably reviewed in last week's Jewish Herald, so we shall not take the space here to repeat the good things said about it . . . Bernard M. Goldowsky writes me that although I have missed him, he is very much around . . . He points out to me that the United Jewish Appeal, now being waged here, is one that should be brought to the attention of every Jew in Providence, because it is for the benefit of our distressed brethren in Eastern and Central Europe. . . . Dr. Ilie Berger is chairman.

While we are on the subject, congratulations to him and to Mrs. Samuel Michaelson who were named delegate and alternate respectively, to the World Zionist Congress which will convene at Geneva next August. . . . It will formulate policies in regard to Palestine for the next two years . . . No better choices could have been made, because these two brilliant people are outstanding leaders in the cause of Zionism.

AT THE CENTER OPERETTA

We saw Dr. Starr and the eldest son 10 rows back . . . He is his wife's most severe critic and attends every rehearsal . . . Valencia Lapsitz, looked very fetching in yellow, in the fourth row . . . Dorothy Waldman's parents and sister Mildred were on hand to see her glorious debut as leading lady and Dorothy was great . . . Jack Abrams and daughter Ruth, a real, grown-up lady . . . Dr. Jay Fishbein came in late . . . Selma Finkle with husband Archie . . . Sitting in front of me . . . Aaron Roitman and Lester Solonek with a nice-looking female.

The Herman Galkins, with the Samuel Galkins . . . two generations . . . Archie Silverman in one of the front row seats . . . Ben Kane with the Samuel Soforenkos . . . I always enjoy listening to Milt Sapinsley make a speech . . . As always, his 'Tween the Acts talk was one of the features of the evening . . . Evelyn Siegel, former star of Center productions, enjoyed the show with sister Minnie Seefer . . . Dr. Harry Dimond just couldn't keep his eye off Valencia . . . Mary Ellis, owner of that well-known lingerie shop on Weybosset St. was on hand to watch sister Sophie do her dance.

Others we saw: the Joseph Adelsons, Julia Berlin, the Norman Feinbergs, the Arthur Levys, the Martin Bersteins, Perry Bernstein and Dr. Gerald Feinberg, each with a pretty lass, the Abe Flinks . . . Phil Lieberman, Harold Moskol and Lou Davis on the stag line . . . Ruth Waldman all the way from Kingston with another Kingstonian (male) . . . Milton Pliner watching with great interest wife Marcia in one of the leading roles . . . incidentally, she has just been elected president of the Sisterhood of Temple Beth-El . . . Benny Premack used up plenty of handkerchiefs and collars directing his fine orchestra through the lengthy and tuneful numbers . . . Mrs. Samuel Ernstof with the two Ernstof girls . . . Ethel Goldman capably handled the money at the door, while Gertrude Tarnapol was here, there and everywhere.

TIDINGS

Max C. Siegal and Sam Lazarus are signing plenty of Petroleum Service oil contracts . . . Jacob Ernstof is still showing plenty of the younger fellows how to play handball at the Y. M. C. A. . . . Arthur Goldstein tells me that marriage is the solution to all problems . . . Saul Feinberg, Ben Mactaz and Arthur Kornstein certainly flooded the mails this past week with post cards on their vacation to Atlantic City, Philadelphia and New York . . . Some of us thought it was a new chain-letter idea.

A former local boy, Israel Faber, is making plenty good with his immense Play-lands at Coney Island . . Our very best to the Ben Poultens on the arrival of their first born, a son . . .

Mrs. Poulten is the former Pauline Chorney, who until last year was editor of the Jewish Herald . . . Husband Ben is city editor of the Pawtucket Times . . . Rose Helfand, former Woonsocketite, is now a resident of Philly . . . Mrs. Ed Friedman did a fine job as chairman of the Mother's Day program at the Jewish Community Center . . . incidentally, she is expecting a visit from her sister, Mrs. Art. Davis, and her mother, Mrs. Ethel Kessler, of New York . . . Mrs. Davis' husband is one of the leading animated movie cartoonists in the industry.

We understand that the members of that local bridge club had one jolly week-end in New York City . . . At any rate, they looked mighty happy when we met them in Child's on Times Square, Sunday noon . . . Abe Goldstein was the life of the party at the Commodore on Saturday night . . . It sure takes those Woonsocket boys to lead the way . . . Attended a rehearsal of the Repertory Players last night . . . expect great things from this talented group . . . Reservations coming in fast for the Junior Unit, American Jewish Congress, dinner-dance at Metecomet Golf Club, June 22 . . . Au revoir till next week.

Father and Son Dinner by Beth-El Men's Club

The Men's Club of Temple Beth-El is expecting to hang out a "Standing Room Only" sign at its annual Father and Son Dinner to be held in the vestry of the Temple, next Wednesday evening at 6:30 o'clock.

The committee has devoted a great deal of thought to the menu for the dinner which will be followed by a number of events including a unique sketch, "Junior Jamboree" to be staged by a Boy Scout troop. The major feature of the evening will be a series of wrestling matches for the championship of Glenham Street. New England Heavyweight Champion Watchme Nokisheadoff is already in training for his bout with Whata Boaconstrictor, the hugger from Africa.

J. Harold Williams, executive of the Narragansett Council, Boy Scouts of America, one of the most popular boys' speakers in New England, will be guest of honor.

The committee in charge of the dinner includes Dr. Biderman, chairman; Harry Myers, ex-officio chairman; Samuel Workman, Leonard Hellman, Arthur Levy, Charles Brown, James Krassnoff, Jack Abrams, Harry Glickman, Charles Silverman, Bert Lernhardt, Irvin Forbstein, Dave Falk, Sol Rothstein, and Dr. Banice Feinberg.

Members who have no sons of their own are asked to escort a youth from the Orphanage or from elsewhere. Harry Myers will welcome the opportunity to arrange such groupings as may be desired.

Temple Emanu-El Men's Club Makes Initial Carnival Gift of $3,400

The meeting of the Men's Club of Temple Emanu-El last Thursday evening which was scheduled as a night of amateur talent developed into a double-header when Sam Rosen, chairman of the carnival committee, presented Judge Philip C. Joslin a check for $3,400 with a promise of more to come, as net proceeds from the recent carnival.

In accepting the check, Judge Joslin stated that he always considered the meeting of the Men's Club which followed the carnival as his "big night." Gifts of appreciation were given Sam Rosen, Ralph Krauss, Nat C. Cohen, Michael Tieman, "Teddy" Max, and Mesdames Max Temkin and Charles Strasmich.

Nomination, election and installation of the following new club officers and members of the board of governors was held: Herman J. Aisenberg, president; Herbert Tieman, vice president; Ralph Krauss, second vice president; Louis Hurwitz, treasurer; Martin M. Zucker, recording secretary; Samuel Halpern, financial secretary; Daniel Jacobs, publicity director. The Board of Governors comprises: Nat C. Cohen, Nathan Fertman, John P. Goldsmith, Alfred H. Bromberg, Philip Glanzman, Harry Gilstein, Samuel Garr, Charle Strasmich and Louis Abedon.

After a rollicking evening of amateur entertainment and the awarding of prizes to the amateurs whom Martin Toohey, stage impresario, introduced to the audience, the meeting adjourned with the serving of refreshments.

THE WEEK IN REVIEW

Poland's dictator, has caused deep concern in Jewish circles. It wasn't that he had been openly pro-Jewish but that by his strength, and maintenance of police power in the country, he saved the Jews from the attacks of the more rabid anti-Semites. A triumvirate, composed of his three closest advisors, will now rule the country. Whether they are strong enough to keep the anti-Semites in check, and whether they will keep their skirts clear of any alliance with the Endeks, remains to be seen.

The Jews actively participated in the mourning for the late Marshal. A four week official period of mourning in memory of him was proclaimed by the Warsaw Rabbinate. Jewish stores and factories were all closed on the day of the funeral. Condolences were received by the Polish government from Jews and Jewish organizations all over the world.

DANZIG

It was announced that the League of Nations at its coming session will take up a petition submitted by the Jews of Danzig emphasizing the anti-Jewish discrimination practiced by the administration of the Free City, in violation of the provisions of the League of Nations with regard to national minorities.

The Nazis are very much perturbed at the Jews for petitioning the League. Herr Forster, the Nazi leader of Danzig, addressing a large audience accused the Jews of plotting a war against Germany. His speech was decidedly inflammatory, open incitement to a Jewish pogrom. Other similar speeches were also made throughout the city. They were made "as a reply" to the Jewish complaint to the League of Nations.

PALESTINE

A call to boycott the purchase of shekels for the forthcoming World Zionist Congress was issued by Moshe Smilansky, president of the Jewish Farmers Association.

Fifty percent of the orange crop in Palestine was damaged by the recent long and intensive heat wave, it has been estimated by government experts.

The city of Tel Aviv was granted 700 dunams of land for further expansion by the Palestine government. The land is located beyond the Yarkan River.

The Palestine government was threatened with Arab demonstrations by the Federation of Arab Youth unless it ceases to facilitate Jewish immigration.

GERMANY

The liberal faction of the Jewish community of Berlin will fight the recently announced efforts of the German Zionists to assume control of internal German-Jewish life. A struggle for power seems unavoidable, as regrettable as it would be.

The endless succession of further discriminations against Jews in Germany continues. Last week the Ullstein papers, long since Nazified, were not even permitted to print an obituary on Hans Ullstein, one of the directors of the paper.

RUSSIA

Plans for the development of Biro-Bidjan continue to be announced by the Soviet government. As a starter comes the news that Sergei Tchuzkajev, an expert on Bureya, was appointed to succeed the late Peter Smidovitch as chairman of Comzet, the government committee to settle Jews on the land.

Then came the announcement of a five year plan that would give Biro-Bidjan a total population of 220,000, 40,000 hectares of land for wheat, the bringing in of not less than 120,000 new immigrants, the establishment of a metallurgical base to employ 10,000 workers, the increase of railway transportation and the building of an airport in the district to serve as the stopping place, on the Trans-Siberian airlines.

UNITED STATES

David Ben-Gurion, Laborite member of the Jewish Agency for Palestine, arrived in New York for a three weeks' visit in connection with the forthcoming World Zionist Congress.

The Rabbinical Assembly of America at its convention last week took steps to change the traditional law so that a woman deserted or not supported by her husband for three years can get a rabbinical divorce if she has already gotten a civil divorce. This change overcomes the problem of the Agunah (deserted wife who cannot get a divorce or remarry under the Jewish religious law). It is a far reaching liberalization of the divorce laws by the orthodox rabbinate.

A boycott by local merchants in San Diego, California, has caused the German steamship lines to remove the city as a port of call for its vessels. It had been planned to bring a German liner into the port every two weeks.

ARGENTINE

The government of the Argentine, according to a statement made by League High Commissioner MacDonald, is sympathetic towards the admission of a limited number of German-Jewish refugees.

ROUMANIA

Student riots broke out again last week at the University of Bucharest resulting in its being shut down by authorities once more.

provide for the elimination of the Jews, the paper declares that two years ago, when the Nazis came into power, it was expected that Germany would finally rid itself of "the hooked-nosed Israelites." However, the Jews are still seen everywhere, as in the old days, the paper complains.

"Adolf Hitler and his Third Reich have organized no Jewish pogroms," the paper writes, "and there will be none in Germany. But we must see to it that the Jews in Germany feel that they are under a National Socialist regime."
