EXODUS PLAN FOR JEWS DENIED

Attempt Life of Chief Rabbi; Anti-Semitic Plot Feared

BUCHAREST (WNS)—The abortive attempt made to assassinate Dr. Jacob Isaac Nieremower, Roumania's chief rabbi, in broad daylight as he was leaving his house to attend the synagogue, has created a panic among the Jews here because they believe that the fanatic who fired at Dr. Nieremower was only the tool of the forces responsible for the nationwide wave of anti-Jewish agitation.

Although a police investigation has disclosed that the would-be assassin, Aurel Jonescu, is mentally unbalanced and a former inmate of an insane asylum, the fact that he had a gun despite his known poverty gives plausibility to the theory in Jewish circles that he was only a pawn.

Theory Supported

Dr. Nieremower's description of the shooting also supports this theory. As he was leaving his house, three men standing nearby looked in his direction and pointed toward him. Then three shots were fired at him and two of the three men fled while Jonescu, with the smoking gun in his hand, was caught with the help of the Rabbi, who was slightly wounded in the foot and the hip.

Grilled by the police, Jonescu declined to explain his act except to say that "a saintly man named Lupa told me to shoot him." Jonescu's record shows that some years ago he rang the bells of the Bucharest Cathedral "on orders from God Himself."

Discover Ancient Sign Warning Non-Jews from Temple

JERUSALEM (WNS)—Palestine Agency—A sensational archaeological discovery, which reveals that non-Jews were forbidden to enter the area of the Temple at Jerusalem, was made with the discovery of a fragment of porcelain found in an excavation here. The fragment is from a porcelain sign which was found near St. Stephen's Gate during excavations made in the middle of the road.

The scholars who have deciphered the sign believe that it is part of a series of plaques in Hebrew, Latin and Greek which were posted in the vicinity warning non-Jews against entering the Temple, holiest place in ancient Palestine. The fragment is dated in the early years of the first century, A. D.

Hadassah Has New Responsibilities, says Mrs. Epstein

A capacity crowd gathered in the vestry rooms of Temple Beth-El, on last Tuesday afternoon to listen to Mrs. Moses B. Epstein of New York, national vice-president of Hadassah, who was presented as guest speaker by the local chapter on the occasion of its annual linen shower.

Mrs. Epstein, through long affiliation with the ideals and activities of the Zionist movement in America, and personal contact with the scene of rehabilitation in the Holy Land, is today one of the best known of the younger leaders of the movement. Her address, replete with stories of personal experience, portrayed an interesting and inspiring picture of what American Jewish womanhood, through Hadassah, has been able to offer as its contribution to the renaissance of our people.

Youth Aliyah Project

Sketching an introduction of the process made in Palestine by the Hadassah Medical Organization since the war, Mrs. Epstein devoted the major portion of her address to the Youth Aliyah project, which Hadassah has just recently taken under its aegis, in response to the crying need of the German situation. certain crystallization point in its health program, Hadassah felt it could work securely, and to its platform, the work of rehabilitating the German youth of today, who through recent Nuremberg legislation, find themselves outside the pale of school or factory.

The speaker vividly described both the process of transferring German-Jewish children between the ages of 15 and 17, to Palestine (beginning with the selection and preparation of applicants in training camps, for life in the new homeland) and the difficulties of adjustment to the new land (with its involved changes of climate, language and personal associations).

The discouragements confronting the young immigrants with first contacts are quickly overcome, however, if one can judge by the steady and happy progress being made by the children already transplanted; over 1,000 young pioneers are already adapting themselves to their new mode of living in the cities and co-operative communities of Palestine. Whether they remain to work on the soil, or through vocational guidance, fit themselves for trades in the cities, they are permitted to continue their normal German situation. Having reached a

N. Y. Changes Law to Avoid Primary Conflict with Passover

ALBANY, N. Y. (WNS)—To avoid a conflict with the first day of Passover, the state legislature unanimously passed a bill introduced by Assemblyman Saul Street changing the date of the spring primary from April 7th to April 2d. The bill was necessary in order not to disfranchise hundreds of thousands of Jewish voters because the law provides that the primary be held on the first Thursday in April, which this year is the first day of Passover.

Portland, Ore. (WNS)—E. K. Oppeheimer has been named vice-chairman of area E, of the national rehabilitation committee of the American Legion, a post which puts him in charge of rehabilitation work in all states west of and including Colorado as well as in Alaska and Hawaii.

Sensational Reports Are Shown to be Unfounded

Negotiations Center Around Zionist and Non-Zionist Differences

LONDON (WNS)—All sensational reports to the contrary notwithstanding, it is a fact that the reported plan for raising a large sum of money for a mass exodus of Jews from Germany is still only in the discussion stage, with Zionists and Non-Zionists in constant conference. In an official statement issued here by Viscount Bearsted, Simon Marks and Sir Herbert Samuel, who are sailing for the United States on January 15th to discuss the project with American Jewish leaders, it was stated that "the object of the mission to the United States is exploratory."

Will Seek Counsel

The delegation will seek to take counsel with all sections of those interested in America with a view to the preparation of a scheme to promote the emigration of Jews from Germany and to assist emigrants to start enterprises and find occupations in their new homes. It is intended to formulate a definite scheme after consultation with various Jewish bodies not only in America but also in Palestine and elsewhere. Any scheme for these objects will clearly require the raising of a large sum.

Proposed Liquidation Has No Connection With $15,000,000 Fund

LONDON (WNS)—From sources of unquestioned authority the Seven Arts Theatre Syndicate learns that the sensational report emanating from here that Nazi emissaries have demanded of Jewish leaders in Great Britain that world Jewry undertake a mass exodus of Jews from Germany through financing German exports which German Jews would take with them is based on a misinterpretation of two separate and entirely unrelated projects, neither of which originated with German officials.

Facts Mixed Up

The author of the report, or his source of information, the Seven Arts is informed, mixed up two facts: first, a plan for a world-wide appeal to Jewry to raise $15,000,000 in the next four years to transfer a substantial number of Jews from Germany to other countries, and second, a proposal for creating an international bank to liquidate the property of Jews leaving Germany.

The proposed liquidation project has absolutely nothing to do with the $15,000,000 fund which is the chief object of the forthcoming visit to the United States of Sir Herbert Samuel, Simon Marks and Lord Bearsted. If such a project actually comes to pass it will be established under the auspices of the League of Nations and not through any Jewish committee.

Plan Not Actuality

It is understood that when the League of Nations discusses the letter of resignation of James G. McDonald as High Commissioner for German Refugees it will also consider the suggested international bank and attempt to prevail upon Germany to cooperate. In other words, the project is still far from an actuality. At any rate it involves nothing that would break the anti-Nazi boycott.

The Seven Arts informant expressed the opinion that the sensational report of a Jewish fund to finance German exports as part of a mass exodus scheme grew out of the fact that some of the people identified with the projected $15,000,000 fund are also interested in creating the liquidation company, which is desired by the German Jews. It may be said unequivocally, however, that the liquidation project is still only in the discussion stage. As a matter of fact, Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, minister of economics, is the only high Nazi official interested in the project.

jamin L. Saxe, Max Temkin, Isaac Woolf, Ralph Krauss, Mrs. Max Viner, Samuel Rosen.

Ralph Krauss was chairman of the nominating committee which consisted of Sol Cohen, A. H. Rotman, R. I. Saxe, Michael Tieman, Irving I. Fain, Irving Glantz, Samuel Goldstein, Joseph Smith.

School Board Report

Of the many reports rendered, perhaps the report of Charles A. Backman, chairman of the School Board, aroused the greatest enthusiasm when he reported that a new school building to accommodate a school of 500 children is being contemplated and that already a Building Fund has been established.

The social program for the evening was as follows: Community singing led by Mrs. Fred Weiser, accompanied by Miss Marion Grossman at the piano. Vocal selection by Hilda Pritsker, accompanied by Morrie Goldblatt at the piano. Declaration by Mrs. Elaine Frank. Russian Dance by the Dworkin sisters, Blossom, Mildred, and Ruth.

The arrangements committee was headed by Mr. Abraham L. Jacobs, assisted by Jacob I. Felder, Mrs. Samuel Garry, A. H. Rotman, Benjamin I. Saxe, Mrs. Charles Strassheim, Mrs. Max Temkin.

JACOB BILLIKOPF

Terms ORT a Constructive Jewish Agency

New York (WNS)—Hailing ORT as "a great constructive Jewish organization," Dr. Jacob Billikopf, noted Jewish social service worker and non-in-law of the late Louis Marshall, enthusiastically endorsed the $500,000 American ORT campaign.

The former director of the Philadelphia Jewish Federation of Charities declared that "I know the constructive phases of ORT work. I know how highly helpful is the relationship of the organization to those whom it serves. I know the importance of ORT to Jewish life in all those countries in which ORT does its work. I know all this from first hand experience, for I have visited the training schools of ORT and their agricultural colonies in Poland, Latvia, Lithuania, Roumania and Russia. I know its work for German refugees in France."

development as youthful adolescents, incidentally helping to rebuild the land as a haven for future refugees.

New Responsibilities Accepted
In conclusion, Mrs. Epstein refuted the assertion that Hadassah had accepted its new undertaking because it had nullified its usefulness. "On the contrary," she stated, "through the medium of the Rothschild-University Hospital, Hadassah hopes to maintain its leadership in the medical field of the Near East for many years to come; it has accepted its great, new responsibility because it could no longer turn a deaf ear to the persistent need of the barren situation."

The speaker was presented by Mrs. Alfred Fair, president. Mrs. Lester Eimer, chairman of the function, briefly thanked her committees and the chapter members for their successful cooperation.

Announcement was made by the president of the Mid-Winter Conference of New England Regional Hadassah, which will be held on Monday, at the Hotel Commodore, Cambridge, Mass., beginning at ten o'clock.
A social hour followed the program.

Rochester (WNS)—Sol Heumann has been elected third vice-president of the Rochester Chamber of Commerce.

She has studied exclusively in this country and has played with distinction before music clubs of prominence, on radio programs and at such exclusive schools as the Lincoln school of Providence, Miss Porter's school of Farmington and Stoneleigh Manor.

Recently she set a mark in achievement by presenting a concert of three concerti, a feat seldom attempted. Miss Congdon was twice both State and district winner in the biennial concert of the National Federation of Music Clubs.

SANTA BIONDO

N. E. Grand Opera Co. to Present "La Traviata"

The New England Grand Opera Company which made its debut in Providence last season with a successful presentation of "Rigoletto," will give Verdi's "La Traviata," at the Metropolitan Theatre, Sunday night, under the direction of Maestro Danilo Sciotti.

The principal roles will be sung by outstanding operatic artists among whom will be Santa Biondo of the Metropolitan Grand Opera Company of New York, Giuseppe Barsotti, tenor formerly with the Chicago Grand Opera Company, and Giro DelTiti, baritone who has made several appearances here.

Proceeds of the production are to be used for the development of the New England Choral Society, from which the chorus for the presentation has been recruited.

The New England Grand Opera Company, organized a year ago, has its headquarters in Providence. Besides the choral group, a nucleus of instrumentalists is being recruited to form the orchestra to play with operatic productions. For Sunday night's performance, 30 musicians have been in rehearsal under the direction of Andrew Vespia, concert master for the organization. Miss Biondo came to this country in 1930 to sing at the Metropolitan. She has not previously appeared in Providence.

ELECT OFFICERS

Helen Landerer was elected president of the BG Girl's Club last week at a meeting held in the Jewish Community Center. Other officers elected are Nettie Keller, secretary; Sylvia Tesler, treasurer; and Etta Shatkin, committee chairman. Helen Landerer and Etta Shatkin were chosen to participate in a debate.

Palestine Appeal

In the declaration of its principles it was made clear that the United Palestine Appeal does not regard its campaign as merely "an appeal to the philanthropic instinct" but as "the one and only constructive method of solving permanently the problem of Jewish homelessness which is the most tragic phase of the present and ever-recurring Jewish crisis."

The United Palestine Appeal calls upon Jewry to conduct the fund-raising effort with the high understanding of the above principles.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By Samuel R. Finegold

THE RESPONDING HAND
There are four types of bids available for the responding hand which we shall briefly define:

1. The raise. This bid must never be made without adequate trump support. (Qxx or xxxx in the bid suit.) This bid is made in the SAME suit which partner opened. It denies a biddable suit of your own and implies unbalanced distribution. The extent of the raise depends chiefly on playing tricks.

2. The takeout. This is a bid in a new suit which does not necessarily deny ATS for partner. A simple takeout is FORCING for one round, i. e., it compels original bidder to bid once more. A jump takeout, in which one more than necessary is bid, compels partnership to keep bidding open until a game contract is reached. Takeouts on minimum holdings should be kept at the range of one when possible. A one-over-one takeout, however, is NOT forcing when partner has originally passed. Let us explain.

South deals and passes. North opens a diamond and South responds with one spade. Since South originally passed, North is no longer required to bid unless he wishes of his own accord to show additional values. But if North deals and bids one diamond and South responds with one spade, North MUST bid again. If his opening bid was made on a minimum hand, he has a choice of three bids; he can rebid his own suit, if rebiddable, he can support partner's suit with ATS, or he can deny any additional strength other than minimum holding by bidding One No Trump. This second bid, however, is his last, providing, as we said above, his opening was made with a minimum hand. (2 1/2 to 3 HT.)

3. One No Trump. Please remember that this response is a negative bid which denies ATS for partner and no biddable suit of his own. Many players confuse this bid when it is made as a response and when made as an original opening bid. As an opening bid One No Trump shows at least 4HT; as a response it shows from 1 to not more than 2 1/2 HT. An opening bidder who has opened with a near minimum holding should usually pass a One No Trump response unless his suit is strongly rebiddable or contains at least 3 1/2 HT.

4. Lacking at least One Honor Trick, or strong distributional support (plenty of ATS), the responding hand should usually pass. We repeat, the PASS is the most eloquent bid in bridge.

NO TRUMP RESPONSE

A bid of One No Trump over partner's opening bid when the next opponent has passed, is known as a negative response. It denies sufficient strength for a raise or a takeout in a new suit. A takeout of One No Trump should be made when holding One Honor Trick and stoppers in two suits, or one plus two plus HT regardless of distribution. Since a one No Trump response shows weakness, the opening hand will pass unless holding well over the minimum strength required for his opening suit bid.

Example: Partner has opened with one heart. Respond one no trump with Sp Qxx, Ht xx, Df xxx, Cl Kxxx, or with Sp xx, Ht xxx, Df xxxxx, Cl Axx. With greater strength but still lacking the proper type of hand for a suit takeout or a raise, bid with two No Trump. This bid is made with 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 HT and is forcing to game and shows at least two cards in partner's suit. (It is not forcing when partner's bid is 70 is sufficient to go game.)

By the way, can you recite the Table of Playing Tricks?

WHAT PRICE GLORY?

Brother Prez Jack (Touro) Temkin, reading the above by line, has called upon us to conduct duplicate contract tournaments free for Touro members and their wives on the first Wednesday of each month. It is a worthwhile step and should prove exceedingly popular. Come and see how good you are. Duplicate is very intriguing and once played, you can't stay away.

This (Friday) evening services will be held at 8 o'clock. The Congregation is cordially invited to make use of this one hour Friday evening to participate in community-worship and discussions from the pulpit of a problem of the day.

The Junior Congregation will meet Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. Children from the age of ten and over are required to attend this service, particularly the classes of the following teachers: Miss Dorothy Markoff, Gerald Bronstein, Samuel Solinger and Sigfried Arnold. Plans are being formulated for the annual carnival and bazaar of Temple Beth-Israel to be held sometime during the latter part of April or the first part of May. Zionist Differences

Differences of Opinion
It is learned here on unimpeachable authority that a good deal of the negotiations in connection with proposed plans centers around a difference of opinion between Zionists and Non-Zionists as to the allocation of the fund to be raised.

The Zionists want the bulk of the money to be used for settling the emigrants in Palestine while the Non-Zionists favor using a larger proportion of the money in other countries. The Non-Zionists also want to set up a special committee to direct the project and expend the money, while the Zionists desire the Jewish Agency for Palestine should be entrusted with the task. The author of the plan is Simon Marks, a leading Zionist and a close associate of Dr. Chaim Weizmann.

A new course in Modern Jewish History is being offered under the auspices of the Institute of Jewish Studies of Temple Emanu-El in co-operation with Junior Hadassah. This course, a series of ten lectures, will deal with the history of the Jews in Europe, America, and Palestine since 1700. A survey will be made of the important movements such as Hasidism, Emancipation, Reform Judaism, Haskalah, and Zionism, together with a consideration of the social and economic factors which have played a significant role in Jewish life. The course will be given on Tuesday evenings from 8 to 9, at Temple Emanu-El. Mrs. Samuel Kessler is the instructor.

Rev. Dr. Robert Carmichael, Assistant Rector at Grace Church, will speak on the subject, "Love and Marriage," before the monthly meeting of the Alumni Association this Sunday evening, at 8 o'clock. Dr. Carmichael has dealt with this social problem at many national conferences of young people in many parts of the country. Milton Jacobs will preside at the meeting.

'Queen's Husband' to be Presented by Center Players

3-Act Comedy at Barker Playhouse on Sunday

This week has been a hard one for the Center Players because they have been called upon to rehearse practically every night in their most ambitious undertaking in their career. A three-act play, "The Queen's Husband", that has had a wide play on Broadway and over the radio is a difficult assignment even for a professional group. But the Center Players were determined to do their best Sunday evening at the Barker Playhouse.

Organized in 1926, the Center Players are rounding out 10 years of a fruitful career during which time this fine amateur dramatic group made itself well known not only in Providence but in New England as well. In 1933 the Players came back to Providence as winners of the dramatic tournament held in Springfield that year. During the past 10 years more (Continued on Page Four)

NO MORE PUSSYFOOTING

The attempted assassination of Dr. Jacob Isaac Niemerower, chief rabbi of Roumania, by an insane dupe of the anti-Semitic parties, is dramatic evidence that the Jews of Roumania are living on the edge of a volcano that may erupt at any moment. Ever since the rival anti-Semitic groups united to form the Fascist Front Roumanian Jewry has expected a violent outbreak of anti-Semitism. Already there have been isolated attacks on Jews in Bucharest and Jassy while anti-Semitic agitation is growing rapidly. Despite reiterated promises the government has failed to do anything to halt the rising tide of Jew-hatred. Its luke-warm attitude has served merely to encourage the anti-Semites.

The shots fired at Dr. Niemerower should be a warning to the Roumanian government. Three years ago the anti-Jewish agitation was climaxed by the murder of Premier Ion G. Duca by a fanatic anti-Semite. If the present Roumanian government stands by and permits the anti-Semites to have their own way it is not only paving the way for new outrages but is also undermining its own influence. When Jew-baiting politicians can boldly carry on propaganda which leads to the attempted cold-blooded murder of the country's leading Jew then it is time for the Roumanian government to put an end to its pussyfooting and to deal with the situation firmly and frankly.

A NOTABLE EXAMPLE

Too little attention has been given to a really remarkable undertaking initiated by the Phi Sigma Delta Fraternity, an organization of Jewish college students with 19 chapters throughout the country. A year ago Phi Sigma Delta undertook to aid outstanding German Jewish refugee students in this country by giving them free room and board and providing their tuition costs where scholarships were available. During the past eight years such students in five universities have been continuing their studies as guests of Phi Sigma Delta.

Now Phi Sigma Delta is expanding this work. A drive to raise $10,000 for this purpose has been launched in order to aid additional refugee students. Phi Sigma Delta, a pioneer in this work, has invited the cooperation of other Jewish fraternities. Already Phi Epsilon Pi, with chapters in 32 colleges, has agreed to give free room and board to refugee students. To those who have often questioned the need for Jewish fraternities the program initiated by Phi Sigma Delta is an eloquent answer.

It is a work that deserves commendation and support from every Jewish undergraduate. Phi Sigma Delta's notable example should find wide support in Jewish fraternity circles.

Center Players

than 30 one-act plays were produced and four operas including "Sweethearts" and "Chocolate Soldiers" which brought forth wide acclaim from dramatic and musical critics in the city.

Mrs. Samuel Starr Director
The plan that the Center Players has followed has been to give one dramatic performance mid year and a musical production in May. This year however, the plans are being considerably enlarged. In addition to Mrs. Samuel Starr who has been director for the past seven years Miss Florence Shappas and Mrs. Abbie Grant Huddish are now making plans to enlarge the Center Players and to give more persons an opportunity to participate in dramatics. Mrs. Shappas is now directing a senior and intermediate group. Mrs. Huddish will develop classes in public speaking, play reading, and dramatics.

Open Meeting Planned

An open meeting of the Center Players is to be held Tuesday evening, February 4, where it is hoped to bring forth the purpose of the Players to a larger group. Sidney Donald Long is the president of the Center Players.

At next Sunday evening's performance the cast will include some of the best Jewish amateurs in the city. They are Willard Kiffin, Jack Smith, Sidney Long, Abe Gurwits, Sarah Baker, Bert Rosenberg, Ann Goldman, Selma Slavit, Leo Cohen, Nat Roy, Irving Podrat, Nathan Grossman, and William I. Matzner.

The following will assist: Ben Vicer, scenery; Lester Solonick, sound effects; Jack Alprin and Florence Shappas, properties.

A Letter to the Editor

Editor, "The Jewish Herald":
As I know of no better medium to reach the Jews of Providence, I may be permitted once more to make use of some space in the coming issue of "The Jewish Herald" to urge them to do their full duty towards the United Palestine Appeal Campaign that will close within a few days?
If every Jew in our city will contribute his share of funds in accordance with his means, the ten thousand dollar quota would be doubled in jig time.

There is no longer a question of the necessity of a homeland for persecuted Israel. Even anti-Zionists admit that fact. Now, honor bright, does it require the slightest effort of imagination to decide that Eretz Israel is preferable to other lands?

Colonizing Jewish other lands has been tried time and again with disastrous results. The colonists became a burden upon the shoulders of the World Jewry because the inevitable was bound to happen, namely, the creation of a bottleneck for relief. But in Palestine, the colony became in time prosperous and free independent Adonay Ho-Oretz. But why the Jewish anti-Semitism in opposing Palestine as the Jewish National Homeland is beyond my comprehension.

Wine heads, in years gone by, saw the handwriting on the wall and acted accordingly. The Alliance Israelite Universelle was born after the Damascus libel and the Mortara outrage. Theodor Herzl blew a new breath of Zion after Dreyfus, the Jew, was falsely accused and outrageously convicted of treason. And now, with the cruelties perpetrated upon the Jews by Hitler and the persecution they suffer in other countries of central and eastern Europe, is it not about time that the Jews of the world ever should turn their eyes towards Mizroch—Palestine? A fact is a fact, whether one is Orthodox, Conservative, Reform or a plain Deutscher-Litvak.

And now, Mr. Editor, I thank you most sincerely for the opportunity to remind my fellow-Jews of Providence to perform a duty that is clearly and unmistakably theirs. Incidentally, I urge them also to subscribe—and promptly pay their subscription—for the indispensable local Jewish newspaper—"The Jewish Herald."
BERNARD M. GOLDOWSKY.

Reservations Necessary for Center Formal

More than the usual amount of interest has been aroused in the Center Formal to be staged at the Narragansett Hotel, Tuesday evening, January 28. Reservations are coming in in a very encouraging number and all indications point to a very fine social event.

The committee desires to call to everyone's attention that those attending this event will be seated and reservations must be made by phoning Mrs. Sidney Rabinowitz, Plantations 8804 or the Center office, Dexter 6730. The formal will be staged as a Mexican Fiesta with proper decorations and suitable entertainment. Howard McDonald's orchestra is too well known to require too much attention and the team of Gladys Flantz has a very sensational entertainment. Price per couple, $3.00.

Dr. A. Budner Lewis and Mrs. Sidney Rabinowitz are in charge of arrangements.

Rabbi Schechter Will Conduct Lecture Series

Rabbi Abraham I. Schechter will hold a series of lectures at the Sons of Jacob Synagogue. The series will consist of six lectures on vital Jewish problems, and will be presented to the public on six Sunday evenings during the winter season.

The first lecture will be given by Dr. Schechter on Sunday evening, January 19, at 8 o'clock. The subject of this lecture will be: "Why is the Jew eternal?" These lectures are open to the public. Similar series of lectures were given by Dr. Schechter during the past two years. The lectures are presented in a popular manner.

BOOK NOTES

By Esther Levine

"Mary Queen of Scotland and the Isles." By Stefan Zweig, translated by Eden and Cedar Paul. (Viking Press.)

Chance, we all know, plays a very important part in history. The little word "if" is a mighty one. For example, if Elizabeth, Queen of England, had generously welcomed her cousin Mary of Scotland when the latter came seeking refuge, perhaps there would have been a few lines in some little-read history book about a certain Queen of Scotland who had to flee from her country.

Mary might have been just a minor Elizabeth wandering about from country to country. Elizabeth, undoubtedly, of course, raised her to a seat among the romantic immortals. As long as there are authors there will be stories and biographies of Mary.

Mr. Zweig has given us a sympathetic study of this queen in whose wake we may tragically almost from her birth. No attempt is made to "whitewash" her actions but the author seeks to present a reasonable interpretation of them.

There is a most interesting contrast between Elizabeth and Mary. Elizabeth started life under a cloud. Her legitimacy was questioned, her life threatened, her religious principles held in disfavor, her chances of inheritance doubtful. Her crown and her power came to her slowly.

Mary, on the other hand, became Queen of Scotland, six days after her birth. She was a Queen of France at sixteen and a widow soon after. When she returned to her native land she, who had known homage and praise, came to rule a land that was poor, torn by constant war with England and with itself. The Scottish nobles were treacherous and lawless, with little regard for loyalty and honor. They pledged themselves to their Queen with one hand and with the other pocketed England's gold for betraying her.

John Knox, fanatical Protestant, was one of Mary's most bitter enemies. He preached openly against her and tried to rouse the people to overthrow her rule.

All this unrest was to Elizabeth's advantage. The struggle between the queens was in fact a contest of malice and never courage confronting courage. Elizabeth's diplomacy was used to keep the surface smooth. Mary could be diplomatic, too, up to a certain point. However, her nature was too impulsive for her own good, yet, having once declared herself, she would not retract.

"Bloody" Mary, she has been called. Rizzio, her secretary, was assassinated; Darnley, her husband, was murdered; Bothwell, whom she loved to her undoing, died in escape. Only Mary, her brother, escaped. He was the barometer of trouble. When it was coming, he left; when it was over, he reappeared, blameless, on the scene.

Mr. Zweig is convinced that Mary was directly implicated in the murder of Darnley. He accepts the traditional theory of "casket letters"—those fatal documents which reveal the illicit relationship between Mary and Bothwell. She was madly in love, and did what Elizabeth could never have done—she jeoparded her throne for this man who was "not a moral, not a humane figure, but at least a man, such as man may be."

Her actions after the murder of Darnley, though understandable under the circumstances, led to her downfall. Without Bothwell, without throne, or son, or money, she fled to England for help only to discover her error when it was too late.

Elizabeth kept Mary a prisoner for nineteen years, during which time she feared constantly for her throne. Yet she would not let Mary go. Time and again, Mary failed by a hair's breadth to help only to discover her error when it was too late.

The plot which led Mary to the scaffold is told here in all its bald trickery. Mary was trapped by her own love of intrigue. She died, grateful for her release, still Queen of Scotland, exemplification of the old order of chivalry and romance.

"It Seems to Me." By Heywood Brown (Harcourt, Brace.) "Pious draws almost entirely from newspaper columns—chiefly from the New York World-Telegram." — Author's note. Covers ten years, 1925 to 1935. LONDON (WNS)—Palcor Agency.—The National Conference on Palestine which was to have been convened by American Jewry on February 8th and 9th will be held instead on February 1st and 2nd in order to accommodate the delegation of three distinguished British Jewish leaders who are leaving next week for the United States, to discuss plans for the solution of the German-Jewish problem, it was reported here. Late Nazi Envoy Insisted Upon Jewish Doctor

PARIS (WNS)—Friends of the late Rudolf Koestner, German Ambassador to France, now admit that the Nazi envoy insisted on being treated by two Jewish physicians during his fatal illness, despite the violent objections of other embassy officials. The two Jewish doctors who attended the Nazi diplomat were Dr. Zadok Kahn, a Frenchman, and a German refugee physician. Koestner's friends say that he placed no reliance in other physicians.

Palestine is Preparing for a Boxing Champion

Jerusalem (WNS-Palcor Agency)—Jewish boxers and fans of Palestine may produce a ring champion in the very near future. A group of them have just met in Tel Aviv and decided to raise a fund to give the Benny Leonard Boxing Club permanent quarters. For the time being they will use one of the buildings of the Levant Fair on the seashore.

So many embryo heavyweights and welterweights and lightweights have come to this country to settle, including some outstanding leather-pushers from Germany, that the necessary material exists to build up an effective athletic club. So far the British police and members of the British garrison have provided the leading fitness merchants for the different bouts held from time to time.

Some of the British coastguards have won championships in the Guards, the crack brigade of the English Army, or in other spheres. Jews have not been backward in providing clean, fine sport in the ring. But they have lacked equipment for training. The enthusiastic amateurs, led by Samuel Wolfson, English Jew, immigration officer at Jaffa, are now planning a properly-equipped gymnasium and training camp.

OUR FIRST ANNIVERSARY
Here we are at the beginning of the second milestone or year in the writing of this column and if this was the first page of a newspaper we would head this Vol. 2, No. 1... we do hope that you have found these paragraphs interesting, and if you have—all the credit goes to you and you because this column is about you and you, and this humble soul can only written in our own way what happens "around the town" ... may I express my sincere thanks for all your encouragement and pleasant words and remember, I once more make the same request as one year ago today—please—for my sake, be as interesting as you can, and this is what I call, neatly passing the buck.

WOONSOCKET B'NAI BRITH CELEBRATES

Any organization, Jewish or otherwise, that counts nearly a 100% representation of its population at its annual dinner certainly must be up and coming... this was the case on last Sunday night... B'nai Brith made merry at the Mayfair, the occasion being its annual installation and dinner dance... it seems that most every Jewish male of this R. I. city is a member of

German Refugee to Speak Here

Gerhart Seger Will Discuss Nazi Persecution

Gerhart Seger, former member of the German Reichstag and a leader for many years of the German Social Democratic party, before the advent of Hitler and his incarceration in a concentration camp, will give a first hand account of the recent happenings in Germany and the reasons for the renewed persecutions of the Jews, Catholics, and other religious and political minorities, at a lecture on Monday evening, January 22, at the Workmen's Circle Center, Room 301, Hoppin Homestead Building, 337 Westminster street.

Seger has just arrived in this country from Europe where he lived close to the German border. His lecture, the first in this city, is being arranged by the Young Circle League, youth section of the Workmen's Circle, the largest fraternal order in the country.

Herr Seger became known to the world in 1933 following his spectacular escape from the concentration camp in Graunenburg, and his account, one of the first of the horrors perpetrated there against political prisoners. As revenge for his escape, the Nazis arrested his wife and child and placed them in a concentration camp. This so aroused the ire of the European populace, among them the British House of Commons, that the latter demanded of the German ambassador their immediate release and asylum in Britain.

Seger is a close observer of German affairs, and the author of "A Nation Terrorized", his personal account of life in the Third Reich. He arrives direct from Switzerland where he maintained frequent contact with the leaders of the underground movement in Nazi Germany. He was in the United States for a short stay in 1934.

The committee of arrangement is as follows: Beatrice Goldman, Benjamin Muldrick, Louis Rottenberg, David Davis, and Grace Shocket, of the Young Circle League of Providence, Branch No. 1010.

Have You Played "MONOPOLY"?

The object of the game is to purchase the most desirable property on the board, if you can, and build houses and hotels on it, thereby enabling you to collect higher rents from those who in turn are required to stop on your property. You must at the same time keep yourself in a strong cash position. The player who does the best job forces the others into bankruptcy and wins all the money and property.

For forty years Old Colony has demonstrated to thousands of Rhode Islanders, the advantages of buying desirable property, improving it, and keeping themselves in a strong cash position by saving a definite amount every week or month.

We have no "monopoly" on savings or mortgage plans, but we have helped so many people to win financial security and homes of their own that we feel that we know the game very well.

Let us show you an easy way to play the game of saving and home building.

Nation Journalist Forum Lecturer

Raymond Swing to Discuss Propaganda Media

"Gravediggers of Democracy" is the macabre title of the Providence Community Forum's next lecture to be given by Raymond Gram Swing, Washington correspondent of the Nation, Sunday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock in the Plantations Auditorium. L. Metcalfe Walling, Forum chairman, will preside. Mr. Walling stated today that Mr. Swing will discuss the power of the press, radio, and politics as media for propaganda, and the manner in which such men as William Randolph Hearst, Father Coughlin, and the late Huey Long used these agencies.

Mr. Swing is particularly qualified to speak on this subject. Recently he wrote the "Forerunners of American Fascism." Since graduation from Oberlin College he has been a journalist. He was employed on various newspapers in this country; then served in Europe from 1913 to 1917 as the Berlin correspondent for the Chicago Daily News.

The public is invited to attend.

is the most important factor in TIRE SAFETY! In all our experience of servicing our customers we learned that the important thing in TIRE SAFETY was non-skid TRACTION. Naturally we recommended the tire with GEAR-LIKE tread which we knew would hold on all kinds of slippery roads.

The famous MILLER GEARED TO THE ROAD tires have proven their worth by their long wear and satisfactory service. You, too, should consider these Factors before buying.

See your nearest MILLER TIRE Dealer—or if convenient drive out to our garage... and let us quote you on your next set of tires.

Jane Withers in "Paddy O'Day" at Fay's Today

Cast as Cute Colleen in Tuneful Picture

With a twinkle in her eye and a saucy Irish brogue in her song, little Jane Withers heads a stellar cast of fun makers in her joyous new Fox picture, "Paddy O'Day", opening today at Fay's Theatre.

The picture, which follows the fascinating adventures of a motherless little girl from Erin to the strange city of New York, presents Pinky Tomlin, Rita Cansino, Jane Darwell and George Givot—the Greek ambassador of radio—in the strong supporting cast.

The story of "Paddy O'Day" follows the trail of a little lass who comes over to the United States on the steerage of a big boat, and who captivates the hearts of all her fellow passengers.

When she arrives at Ellis Island, it is only to meet disappointment: Her mother has died and she must be sent back.

She eludes the vigilant eyes of the immigration inspectors, and escapes to the house where her mother used to work. It is a strange, crazy household, presided over by two eccentric aunts who repress the almost irresistible Pinky Tomlin.

Tomlin discovers Jane, and together they have a great many joyous adventures as she introduces him to her Russian acquaintances of the ship. Before the climax of the picture a romance has sprung up between Tomlin and Miss Cansino and, finally, when the immigration officers ferret out Jane's hiding place and attempt to take her away, they come to her rescue.

"Magnificent Obsession" Opens at Majestic Today

Irene Dunne and Robert Taylor are Co-Starred

Another important, outstanding motion picture has come to Providence. "Magnificent Obsession," the Universal screen offering opens an engagement at the Majestic theatre today.

Irene Dunne and Robert Taylor are co-starred in this powerfully stirring production whose cast includes such screen favorites as Charles Butterworth, Betty Furness, Sara Haden, Ralph Morgan, Henry Armetta and Gilbert Emery.

"Magnificent Obsession" is one of the sweetest romances ever told, yet it reaches into the realms of deepest drama. The story will pull tremendously at your heart strings as has no other motion picture you have ever seen. It is the crowning achievement of John M. Stahl, master of emotion, whose previous production includes such outstanding successes as "Back Street," "Only Yesterday" and "Imitation of Life."

Be sure to see this remarkable screenplay. You will smile through the tears, entranced by the charming love narrative and the splendid portrayal of its characters; you will have seen a tender, heart-warming motion picture that you will never forget.

A delicate poem by Emma Lazarus, American Jewish poetess, has been engraved on a bronze tablet and may still be seen inside of the Statue of Liberty.
