British Delegation Again Denies Plan to Break Boycott

Ransoming of German Jews Not Included in Delegates Plans

New York (WNS)—Upon their arrival the delegation of British Jews whose mission it is to lay plans for aiding German Jewry once more categorically denied the story that their project involves the "ransoming" of German Jews by encouraging imports of German goods. The members of the delegation, Viscount Bearsted, Sir Herbert Samuel and Simon Marks, said that the British delegation "would not be willing to accept such a plan if it were advocated in America."

In an official statement on their mission the delegation declared: "In a situation so grave as that which is now confronting the Jewish people of Germany, it is essential that there should be a close and effective cooperation between those groups in other countries who are willing and able to render assistance."

"We have not come with any specific proposals, but rather to discuss various plans and to agree upon methods for aiding the Jews who are forced to leave a country in which their lives have become intolerable. Large numbers of these have gone, or will go, to Palestine, others in smaller numbers to other countries. We hope to have the opportunity of engaging in discussion with representatives of organizations in America who have already done so much for the Jews in Germany."

"It is fully realized that whatever proposals are adopted, funds from all over the world, of a much larger scale than hitherto, will be needed. It is our hope that during our visit we may be able to agree on plans, both administrative and financial, to secure the object in view, to help the rescue of as large a number of the German Jewish population as possible from the tragic position in which they have been placed."

"Israel Weaves a Tapestry" Topic of Dr. A. L. Sachar

The fifth lecture in the series on "Dramatic Moments in Jewish History" will be delivered by Dr. Abraham L. Sachar, noted historian, lecturer, and educator, tomorrow (Saturday) afternoon, at 2 o'clock, in Temple Emanu-El. Dr. Sachar will lecture on the subject "Israel Weaves a Tapestry." Mrs. Carl Hyman will preside.

Dr. Sachar is widely known as a lecturer. This is a recent engagement for Dr. Sachar at Temple Emanu-El. All who are enrolled in the Institute of Jewish Studies are admitted free.

Hitler's Illness Serious; Nazis Prepare Successor

Berlin (WNS)—The throat ailment from which Chancellor Hitler is suffering is so serious that despite official denials of danger to his life he himself has taken steps to provide for the continuation of the Nazi regime in the event of his death. In the first public speech he has made in two months, Hitler declared that "the regime today is not linked with one person. Succession is secured."

This broad hint led to inquiries in authoritative Nazi circles where it was learned that the chiefs of the army were called into extraordinary session by Defense Minister Werner von Blomberg to decide "what the order of the army should be in case anything happened to the Fuehrer." It is understood that von Blomberg gave his subordinate sealed orders containing instructions for immediate action in the event of Hitler's death.

Triumvirate Planned
Usually well-informed sources here report that von Blomberg's sealed orders, which have the approval of Hitler, provide for army support to a triumvirate comprised of Rudolph Hess, Hitler's deputy leader of the Nazi Party; Wilhelm Frick, minister of the interior; and General Hermann Wilhelm Goering, premier of Prussia and head of the secret police. Monarchist circles, on the other hand, maintain that the real head of the Nazi government in event of Hitler's death would be one of the younger members of the Hohenzollern family.

The serious nature of Hitler's illness, which is said to be cancer of the throat, was disclosed when Dr. George Portmann, eminent French specialist, was invited to come to Berlin to operate on Hitler because no German surgeon would risk performing an operation that might cost Hitler's life. The fact that German surgeons have refused to operate is regarded as a tacit admission that Hitler is seriously ill. Dr. Heinrich Neumann, the famous Viennese throat specialist, has also been approached but Hitler is known to be opposed to letting Dr. Neumann operate because he is a Jew.

NEW BRITISH KING IN SYMPATHY WITH ZIONIST CAUSE

Edward VIII Numbers Many Jews Among His Friends

London (WNS)—While British Jewry is arranging memorial services for King George V, who was the greatest friend Jewry had among the reigning sovereigns of the last three generations, great interest is being aroused here as to how the new monarch, Edward VIII, the former Prince of Wales, will react to Jewish problems.

In the past two years Edward VIII had aroused world-wide comment by his strenuous efforts to bring about a rapprochement between Germany and Great Britain. It was he who led a delegation of English war veterans to Germany and he too was responsible for the return visit of a group of German ex-servicemen to England.

It is known, however, that like his father and grandfather, the new King numbers several prominent Jews among his intimate friends. Sir Philip Sassoon, under-secretary for air in the British cabinet, is perhaps the closest personal friend of King Edward. It was Sir Philip who accompanied the then Prince of Wales on his last visit to the United States. Sassoon has also been a constant companion of the new ruler on his various hunting expeditions and was frequently seen in his company in public.

Yonnger members of the Rothschilds have also been friends with Edward VIII. During the last few weeks the new King was also seen in the company of Arthur Schwartz, the American song-writer and composer. King Edward VIII has also befriended a number of Jewish ex-servicemen and has taken a personal interest in Major Brunel Cohen, the legless head of the Jewish Ex-Servicemen's Union.

MUSIC LECTURER

PROF. ARTHUR EINSTEIN

Prof. Arthur Einstein director of the Kadimah Choral Society and music instructor of note will be the concluding lecturer tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at Temple Beth-Israel. Prof. Einstein will discuss "Jewish Contributions to Music." The lecture will be illustrated with excerpts of classical music.

Nazi Banking Emissaries Given Cold Shoulder

New York (WNS)—The two officials of the German Reichsbank, now in this country to negotiate a loan and to seek a resumption of the German-American trade agreement, are doomed to disappointment, according to New York bankers. Dr. Hans Hartenstein, an official of the ministry of the interior, and Emil Pahl, a director of the Reichsbank, have already gotten a cold shoulder in Wall Street which is not disposed to lend Germany any money.

Palestine Considered Backbone of British Communication Line

Judge Louis D. Brodsky Will Address Beth- Israel Men's Club

Judge Louis D. Brodsky, of New York, will speak before the Men's Club of Temple Beth-Israel on March 16, Samuel R. Finegold, chairman of arrangements announced today.

Assisting Mr. Finegold in the preparations for the meeting are the Messrs. B. Wolf, C. Zimmerman, J. Schlossberg, S. Lazarus, D. Proctor, H. Lisker, M. Chasimir, J. Leavitt, Dr. S. Pritzker, S. Marris, and M. Hengel.

Palestine Jews Safety Element Says Political Observer

New York (WNS)—Anglo-Italian tension in the Mediterranean has brought home to Great Britain the key importance of Palestine, and especially of its Jewish population, as the backbone of the British line of communications with the East. It is declared by Augur, eminent British political observer, in an article in the New York Times.

Pointing out that "the navy alone no longer can insure British pre-dominance in the Mediterranean, because altered methods of naval warfare have made the British naval base on the island of Malta obsolete, Augur emphasizes that the imperial chain of communications is dependent on solidly established air bases in the midst of friendly populations.

Emphasizing that the Jews of Palestine are the only such population in the Near East, Augur asserts that "the Jewish population represents an element which can supply a guarantee of safety for the establishments of the air force" because "in the sea of the native population of Arabia the Palestine Jews stand isolated, an outpost of Europe, and, if rightly handled, an element of strength for the empire."

Jewish Militia
"In spite of obstruction from the part of traditionalists in the British Colonial service," Augur says, "the Jews have established themselves as a virile and growing element in the spot where the nerve center of imperial communications is to be found. Military experts say a Jewish militia of 50,000 men may be a reality tomorrow. This means that the British air force in Palestine has the prospect of finding what it could not obtain in Iraq when that country was intended to become the central point of imperial activities; security on the ground.

Jews Must Quit Saar by March First

SAARBUECKEN (WNS)—Celebration of the first anniversary of the return of the Saar region to Germany served to warn the Jews of this territory that they have less than two months to leave before the anti-Jewish laws in effect in Germany proper are applied here. Under the terms of the Rome agreement Germany agreed to spare the Jews and other foes of the Nazi regime in the Saar until March 1, 1936. After that time they must either get out or be subject to the anti-Jewish legislation.

HOSPITAL WOMEN INSTALL OFFICERS

Speaker Describes Duties of Women's Auxiliary

More than 200 women attended the annual meeting and luncheon of the Miriam Hospital Association last Monday at Zini's restaurant.

The highlight of the afternoon or rather the highlights were the interesting and enlightening talk by Mrs. David M. Small and the installation of officers for 1936 by Mrs. Charles C. Brown, past president.

Mrs. Small was presented by Mrs. Harry Parvey, program chairman, who in a charming tribute called the speaker "a silver tongued orator." Mrs. Small, who is chairman of the speaker's bureau at Temple Israel of Boston, chose as her topic "What a Women's Auxiliary to a Hospital May Do."

This appropriate subject was greeted with great interest. "To serve the sick," she said, "is part of every Jewish woman's code." Today that service is organized as in the form of auxiliaries and is a source of a hospital's life. The auxiliary is both life giving and life saving. Mrs. Small extended an invitation to all present to visit Beth Israel Hospital in Boston and compare the work to the auxiliary there.

Hospital Corporation Hears Annual Reports

The Providence-Cranston Community Fund was lauded by Max L. Grant in his annual message to the Miriam Hospital Corporation last Sunday afternoon at the Narragansett Hotel. He also expressed his regard to the "members of the general public who have been so kind to us," Mr. Grant spoke after he had been re-elected president for the 11th consecutive time.

Mr. Grant reported that the net operating expense of the hospital in 1935 was $82,205. The net income, he said, was $41,818.

All but $809 of the deficit was made up from income from the Providence-Cranston Community Fund, and the cities of Providence and Cranston.

Other figures cited by Mr. Grant showed that there were 221 babies born in the hospital; 815 operations; 386 X-ray examinations; 126 X-ray treatments; 10,656 tests in the pathological laboratory; 4001 days' treatment to part paying patients, and 5017 days' treatment to free patients.

500 Jewish Patients
"Out of 5798 patients treated in the free clinic in 1935," said Mr. Grant, "there were 501 Hebrews, 866 Protestants and 4431 Catholics. These figures to me are most significant, and we of the hospital are most proud of this non-sectarian record. Miriam Hospital is for the welfare of the entire community. Sectarianism and race prejudice have no rightful place in the true hospital atmosphere."

A plea for "some broad-minded philanthropist to awake to the need of the hospital for a nurses' home" was made by Maj. Charles M. Hoffmann, superintendent of the hospital. Maj. Hoffmann said, "A nurses' home is an integral part of a modern hospital. We have the site, but we lack the funds for the building. Let us hope the day is not far distant when some broad-minded philanthropist will render us this great service." Maj. Hoffmann also thanked the nursing staff for "its splendid spirit during the year."

HEAR MORGENTHAU WILL QUIT HIS TREASURY POST

Joseph J. Kennedy Mentioned as Morgenthau's Successor

Washington (WNS)—The resignation of Henry Morgenthau, Jr., as Secretary of the Treasury is reported to be imminent as the result of a shake-up in the Treasury Department which has already brought the resignation of two assistant secretaries of the Treasury, Thomas J. Coolidge and Chip Roberts. Although no confirmation of the report was obtainable, it is understood that the administration wants a secretary of the Treasury who can gain the confidence of the leading bankers. Joseph J. Kennedy, former head of the Securities Exchange Commission, is mentioned as Morgenthau's successor.

Jewish Show at Modern Theatre on Monday

A Jewish show, with the mystifying title of "The Hidden Woman," a comedy-drama full of excitement and fun, comes to the Modern Theatre Monday evening, January 27, for one performance with an all star cast of favorites from the Franklin Park Theatre.

Featured in the main roles are Sadie Shoengold, Sam Aurbach and Max Kletter. Others in the cast include Sam Gershtengauz, Luba Wesley, Anna Weisman, Abe Hart, Liza Tuckman, Pearl Adler, Sam Gertler, Max Klass, and George Gould, all from the first run cast that played to enthusiastic audiences at Franklin Park Theatre.

Tickets may be obtained at Harry's Delicatessen on Cleomece street, Rakatansky's Spa, Willard and Prarie avenues; Berman's Spa, Willard avenue and Gay street; and at the box office the day of the performance.

Jewish Girl Only Woman to Beat Edward VIII at Golf

New York (WNS)—Boa Gottlieb, the 29-year old Jewish golfer from Tuckahoe, New York, who became an international celebrity in August 1933 when she beat the Prince of Wales, now King Edward VIII, at golf, the first woman to turn the trick, is living in virtual retirement here.

Catapulted into fame by her golf match with the future King, Miss Gottlieb spurned movie and stage offers because she didn't want to exploit the name of the heir to the throne. Shortly thereafter she became ill and nothing has been heard of her since. She was not only the first American woman golfer to play the Prince but also the first to beat him.

Mamma Moses da Almeyda was one of England's greatest women poets.

The first day of Rosh Hashona never falls on a Sunday, Wednesday or Friday.

Mrs. Samuel Marnar and family thank their friends and relatives for their expressions of sympathy during their recent bereavement.

FILM DIRECTOR WINS ENCOUNTER WITH THIRD REICH

Benoit-Levy Refuses to Cut His Name to Benoit

Jean Benoit-Levy, the famous French motion picture director, of "LA MAFERNELLE" (Children of Montmartre), the French screen classic which is to open at the R. K. O. Victory Theatre, Providence, R. I., commencing January 25th, is probably one of the few Jews who, by his steadfast attitude, won a fight against the Third Reich.

Interviewed in New York, Mr. Jean Benoit-Levy, who is also the General Secretary of the French Education Department of the League of Nations and a high executive of the French Educational Cinema, had the following interesting story to relate:

"One day a few months after the Paris Premiere of "La Mafernelle," the French producer informed me that a German concern would be interested in acquiring the film at very favorable terms. Of course, I was delighted that my picture had received such international recognition as to be bought even by the purified screens of Aryan Germany.

"Fourteen days later, I was visited in Paris by a representative of the German concern who proposed to me that I should drop the word, "Levy," from my name and just call myself "Jean Benoit" as far as the German presentation of "LA MAFERNELLE" was concerned. When I explained to the man that my family has been living in France for the last two hundred years under the name Benoit-Levy, and that I would not change my name merely because of a possible success, the German representative pulled out his wallet and asked, "How much? Naturally, I turned him out of my apartment.

"A few months later I received press clippings from German papers on my picture which was first shown in Berlin. These clippings referred to me simply as Jean Benoit. I communicated immediately with the Society of Authors who threatened the German company with a lawsuit. Immediately, all the advertising, all the posters, all the screen announcements, all the publicity regarding this film, contained my full name, Jean Benoit-Levy.

"From this significant incident, I have drawn a moral. I am neither proud nor ashamed to be a Jew. I am simply a French Jew who has the right to proudly carry his name and I will not permit anyone to violate my dignity as a man!"

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By Samuel R. Finegold

Having covered the preliminary ground in a rather comprehensive fashion, we shall now take up one subject at a time and elaborate on it as lucidly as possible. Our subject today will be raises. A raise is an increase by the responding hand in the SAME suit opened by partner. Remember: NO RAISE MUST EVER BE GIVEN AS A FIRST RESPONSE WITHOUT ADEQUATE TRUMP SUPPORT (ATS), which means at least three to the Queen (Qxx) or any four trumps (xxxx). There are many occasions which shall be discussed later when a raise is given with less trumps providing partner has REBID the suit. But later.

SINGLE RAISES

You may raise from one to two (single raise) on an intervening bid when holding ATS and

1. One Honor Trick and a singleton.
2. 1½ HT and a doubleton.
3. 2 HT and 4-3-3 distribution. If there has been NO intervening bid a "shaded" raise may be given with one less Honor Trick in each of the above instances. Yes, you may raise even with a complete bust so long as you have four trumps and a singleton.

DOUBLE RAISES

A raise from one to three (double raise) is FORCING upon the original bidder to bid again, UNLESS THE RAISER ORIGINALLY PASSED. Example: North deals and passes. East passes, South bids one spade. West passes. Now the distributional makeup of North's hand may be such as to warrant a raise to three Spades, but South may now pass this bid, only because North passed on his first chance to bid. If North had not passed originally, South must bid again. In raising a minor from one to three, remember that five are necessary to go game, so that unless your hand warrants a pass should your partner rebid three No Trump, or unless you are prepared to play for five, try to find some other bid.

Raise partner suit three when holding at least four trumps (xxxx) and

1. A singleton with 2 HT.
 2. A doubleton with 2½ HT.
 3. Balanced hand with 3 HT.
- In other words, the difference from a raise to two and a raise to three is One Honor Trick, and these requirements do not change even over an intervening bid, but a double raise should not be given with absolute minimums.

TRIPLE RAISES

A jump from one to four in a major or to five in a minor is a shutout bid, made to hamper opponents from exchanging information. It is made on hands that are defensively weak and are usually predicated on a long trump suit with side short suits. This preemptive raise like a pre-emptive three or four bid, is made on hands defensively weak and strong only in one particular suit. Paradoxical maybe. The chief requirements for such a shutout raise are five trumps, about 1½ HT, and a singleton or a void. Example: partner opens with one spade; you should raise to four with Sp xxxxx, Ht x, Dt xxx, Ct xxx. (we are always afraid of putting one "ace" too few or too many, so if you ever take the trouble to count the x's and find one short or over, adjust it, please).

With distribution 6-5-1-1 or 6-5-2-0 (one of the long suits is of course trumps) about ½ HT is sufficient for the shutout raise. But from one to five in a minor, such raise should rarely be given without 1 HT and two singletons or a void.

Now, instead of trying to memorize this lesson we suggest that you review your lesson on Playing Tricks (we in a minor, such raise should rarely be given without 1 HT and two singletons or a void.)

JOIN TOURO AND PLAY DUPLICATE

With Navy recruiting on the wane we have adopted the above slogan (without permission of the Bored). In view of the proposed tournaments of duplicate contract to be conducted every first Wednesday for Tourists and their Tourabouts only, you ought to get a membership card. It so happens that there are also other advantages to Touro membership. (How's that, Jack Tenkin?)

GIFTS ACKNOWLEDGED

Mrs. Charles Adelsberg, of the Ladies' Union Aid Association, entertained members of her Cake Sale committee at a complimentary bridge yesterday afternoon.

A letter of appreciation was received, it was announced, from Dr. Noyes, superintendent of State institutions thanking Mrs. Louis Lovett and her committee for the gifts of stockings, handkerchiefs and goodies that were distributed among the Jewish inmates during the recent holidays. The stockings were donated by Bernard Goodman and the other articles by Mrs. J. Horvitz, Mrs. Morris Mellion and the association.

Sunday Savings

on

Telephone calls

All day Sunday you can make out-of-town telephone calls at week-day night rates.

Take advantage, this Sunday, and make — at the new bargain rates — that telephone call to:

- the mother who hasn't heard from you lately
- a son or daughter away from home
- a friend who is ill
- someone who has a birthday or anniversary soon.

THREE MINUTES of family news, of encouragement, of cheer, of congratulation, will be an ideal Sunday afternoon interlude, and will undoubtedly mean as much to you as to the person you call.

Ever since last June, when telephone night rates went into effect at 7 o'clock instead of at the old hour of 8:30, we have been saying "Save after seven."

Now we say, in addition: "Save on Sunday" because, beginning January 19th, regular telephone night rates apply all day Sunday. This means that from 7 o'clock Saturday evening until 4:30 Monday morning, you can make most out-of-town telephone calls at bargain rates.

NEW ENGLAND TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMPANY

STATION-TO-STATION CALLS

When you call by number on the "day"

Beginning Sunday, January 19th, and on every Sunday thereafter, the regular night rates (in effect from 7 p.m. to 4:30 a.m.) will also be in effect all day Sunday. This means you can make most station-to-station telephone calls from 7 o'clock Saturday evening until Monday morning, at rates ranging from 12 to 30 percent lower than week-day rates.

PERSON-TO-PERSON CALLS

When you call for a particular party

Beginning Wednesday night, January 15th, and every night thereafter and on Sundays, lower rates are available for the first time on all person-to-person calls which have a day station-to-station rate of more than 35 cents. These rates are in effect during the same hours as the night rates for station-to-station calls — from 7 p.m. to 4:10 a.m. nightly and all day Sundays.

NOTE

When you wish to make a station-to-station call, you do not have the number of the person for whom you wish to make the call. When you wish to make person-to-person calls, you do not have the "day" operator. For further information about telephone rates rates call "Talk Operator."

NATIONAL CONFERENCE FOR PALESTINE

Representative Jewish leaders have been summoned to Washington, D. C., for February 1st and 2nd to attend the National Conference for Palestine. There is every evidence, from the list of those who will be present, that the Washington Conference will in reality be representative of some of the most constructive forces in the Jewish community. The results of the Conference will determine to what extent the spokesmen at Washington will reflect the genuine willingness of American Jewry to do its share to increase the capacity of Palestine for absorbing greater numbers of the Jews of Germany, Poland and other lands.

Considering the extraordinary results that have been obtained in Palestine as a result of comparatively negligible amounts that had been expended there in public funds and invested in private resources, it is difficult to understand why American Jewry has not before this engaged in some truly monumental action that would be a reflection of its sympathy and at the same time enlarge Palestine's proved ability to help meet the situation which becomes more pressing daily in Europe.

What the sponsors of Palestine rebuilding seem to have overlooked is that since 1929 at least, there has been a sharper division than ever before between those who have money and those who have not. The bulk of the Jewish money in this country that is available for communal purposes, either here or abroad, is concentrated in the hands of a very small group of men and women who live in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and Boston and a few scattered points elsewhere.

It does the Palestine movement no good to close its eyes to the fact that most of these men of great wealth have been and continue to be indifferent to the rebuilding of Palestine. It is ironic that virtually all of these men who have large sums at their disposal are of German Jewish extraction. Few of them have become reconciled to Palestine by what it has done in such large measure for their fellow Jews of Germany.

The National Conference for Palestine must reckon with the fact that no matter how ambitious the plans, no matter how obvious are the advantages and capacities of Palestine, the money sought for Palestine upbuilding will have to come from the great masses of American Jewry. Those who have not always been more generous than those who have.

Winter Sports Available at Weinstein's Manor

Winter sports for health and fun, and Weinstein's Lake Pearl Manor for winter sports, might well be a slogan adopted by the wise. This popular resort at Wrentham, Mass., is an ideal spot for skating and all other winter fun.

The lake is now frozen over and skates fly over its glazed surface with the velocity of winged feet. From Friday to Sunday, parties can be found from all points of the state, indulging in a full week-end of glorious winter fun. The week-end special being offered skating parties by Lake Pearl Manor cannot be surpassed.

Weinstein's popular resort is also admirably equipped with care for vacationists, convalescents, and all others who desire either relaxation or rest. The cuisine is famous for its tasty, wholesome food. Dietary laws are strictly observed.

Weddings, banquets, parties, are catered in the same fine manner which has long established for Lake Pearl Manor an excellent reputation. For information, telephone Wrentham, 8113-Ring 2, Lake Pearl Manor is conveniently located on Route No. 1 A between Boston and Providence.

Dr. I. Sol. Rosenberg is Educational Speaker

The Men's Club of the Jewish Institute will hold their first educational evening on Sunday night at 8:15 o'clock at the Jewish Institute headquarters, 191 Orms street. The guest speaker of the evening will be Dr. I. Sol. Rosenberg, member New York Bar, young rabbi and noted speaker. The topic of Dr. Rosenberg's address will be "The Function of Youth". Dr. Rosenberg is a graduate of the New York Rabbi Isaac Elchanan Rabbinical Seminary and of New York University.

In connection with the lecture a musical program has been arranged in which Miss Sally Pressman will sing Jewish folk songs. She will be accompanied by Miss Ruth Silberman, piano, and Miss Bertha Gordon, violin. The educational evening is free of charge and the Jewish Community is cordially invited to attend.

Young Israel Talk Day
The Young Israel Club of the Jewish Institute will hold their annual Talk Day on Sunday.

A Letter to the Editor

Through the columns of the "Jewish Herald" I want to take the opportunity of thanking the people of Providence and surrounding communities who gave so generously in supporting our campaign for funds for the United Palestine Appeal.

Never before have we received such a successful response from Rhode Island Jewry. We are glad to report that our quota of $10,000 is nearly reached, and the volunteer workers are reporting new contributors daily. There are a number of people, however, who, because of inadvertence have not been visited by our workers, but who may be willing to contribute to the rebuilding and rehabilitation of our National Homeland.

We are about to publish the names of all contributors, but before doing so, we desire to give everyone the opportunity to join the hundreds of others who have given so generously. To them we urge that they communicate with our headquarters at 214 Strand Building, Gaspee 9061, and one of our workers will be glad to call and receive your pledges.

On February 2 the national conference for the United Palestine Appeal will meet in Washington. There the report of Providence will anxiously be awaited. For we are the first community in this country to open its lips in 1936. We want to go over the top for as Providence goes, so goes the country.

DR. ILIE BERGER, Chairman,
United Palestine Appeal.

COUNCIL ARRANGES ANNUAL DANCE

Mrs. Edward Deutch is Dance Chairman

Providence Section, National Council of Jewish Women, will hold its third annual dinner dance Thursday evening, February 13, at the Providence Biltmore Hotel, with Mrs. Samuel Markoff acting chairman of the annual arrangements. Mrs. Edward Deutch will again head the dance committee. Other chairmen assisting in the preparation for the dance include: Mrs. Leo Cohen, reservations; Mrs. Joseph W. Ross, Mrs. Samuel Shore, co-chairman, program book; Mrs. David C. Adelman, treasurer; Mrs. Joseph Gartner, secretary; Mrs. Bernard Abelson, Mrs. Samuel Rappaport, co-chairman, hooster page; Mrs. Louis B. Wolfenson, publicity.

The event is being arranged to benefit the social service department of which Mrs. Coleman Zimmerman is chairman and Miss Jeanne Bercovitz, co-chairman. From the proceeds of the dance, sick and needy girls will be sent to camp, the milk depot maintained, a further daily supply of milk distributed to a number of needy families, and other social service activities.

BOOK NOTES

By Esther Levine

"Unquiet" by Joseph Gollomb. (Dodd Mead).

There has been, within the last year or two, a craze for writing long novels. We have had some very fine ones. However, excessive length carries with it the particular danger of not exercising the proper discrimination. No matter how interesting a character or a life may be there seems to come a point at which only the author is interested in his subject. Ruskin has said that even change may grow monotonous. Authors sometimes forget that too great a wealth of material is almost as bad as poverty.

All of which will indicate that Mr. Gollomb's interest in David Levitt is sometimes greater than that of the reader. That is not true throughout. David, the child, is unusually sensitive and perceptive.

His initial reaction to his great-grandfather, the wise and greatly loved Zayde, is one of disgust. Could this be the man his mother was so proud of—this pitiful figure with a long, untrimmed, yellowish beard? But after a little while spent in that lovely garden, all the more beautiful for its unexpectedness, David felt differently and "flew to paradise into the most understanding embrace, to the softest beard in the universe."

The Levitts were well off. They lived in St. Petersburg where Aaron had an engraving shop. The family lived in comfort, the children were being brought up as Russians rather than Jews. Their friends were Russians.

A period of unemployment led to uprisings against the Jews, David, put for a short while with Zayde, is fired into the conflict when he is attacked by two men discharged from Zayde's employ. The battle leaves its mark upon him. When he returns to St. Petersburg he finds his friends singing taunting verses at him. He fights back but the family is forced to leave their home.

They come to the East Side of New York and prepare to conquer America. Aaron's salary was barely enough to cover actual living expenses. Rachel's life followed the pattern of her neighbors—the housework, the marketing, the meals and in the afternoons the sewing on coats from a sweatshop. Her natural instinct towards service and leadership displayed itself even in such an existence.

David grew lustily in his new home. Words and books fascinated him. His imagination was set afire by the wide extent of his reading. He saw Chinatown as a secret vice-laden city where anything might happen.

True, his sister Annie made friends eagerly with a little Chinese girl of her own age and seemed to see little difference between Doyer street and Suffolk street. David was annoyed by this demonstration of the bond of humanity.

There are many other scenes showing David's development into a young man—his first acquaintance with death in McCue's burlesque house—his interview with the famous newspaper editor Charles Chapin—his unhappy love affair and his bitter struggle to live his own life and yet do his duty by his family.

The first half of this apparently autobiographical novel is the most interesting part although the last half contains some incidents which are familiar to the experience of many of us.

YOU COULD NOT LIVE without Dextrose. It is as necessary to Life as air and water. It is the "fuel" of the human body. As an eminent physician wrote:

"Not a twitch of our muscles, not a throb of our hearts, not a flash of our imagination, but is produced by . . . Dextrose . . . only through the Gateway of Dextrose can we enter the Kingdom of Life."

Dextrose is a sugar — Nature's OWN SUGAR. Every carbohydrate food we eat must be changed into Dextrose by digestion before we can use it as ENERGY.

Doctors recommend Dextrose for feeding new-born babies, for growing youngsters, for athletes, for men and women who work hard, for invalids and the aged. It is the only unit of food energy in the world.

Only a few years ago, pure Dextrose was not available to the public. Today, thanks to Science, Dextrose, a pure white sugar, mildly sweet, not cloying to the palate, is on sale at many grocery and all drug stores . . . or is contained in either dry or liquid form in the foods and beverages you see listed on this page.

Why Many Fine Foods and Beverages are made with Dextrose

FAR SIGHTED PRODUCERS of the highest quality beverages and foods now use Dextrose in either dry or liquid form. These progressive producers realize the tremendous importance of Dextrose — and now utilize Dextrose, "Life's Vital Force" — so that their food products bring to you an abundance of ENERGY, the kind of quick energy everyone needs to banish fatigue and restore vitality.

Whenever you see a food which contains Corn Sugar . . . Corn Syrup . . . Dextrose . . . Cerelese — nutritionally all one and the same . . . you may be certain that it is rich in food-energy.

CENTER PLAYERS TO REPEAT COMEDY

Center Formal Plans Completed: Youth Night Sunday

Due to stormy weather last Sunday evening, the Center Players will repeat the performance of "Queen's Husband", a three act comedy at the Barker Playhouse tomorrow (Saturday) evening. The audience that braved the storm to see the show gave the youthful players a fine reception necessitating several curtain calls.

The cast, composed of the following, will again appear in the Saturday evening performance: H. Willard Rifkin, Jack Smith, Sidney Long, Alec Gurwitz, Sarah Baker, Bernice Rosenberg, Anne Goldman, Selma Slavitt, Leo Cohen, Nat Roy, Irving E. Podraz, Nathan Grossman, William I. Materner, Benny Victor, sound effects, Lester Selouck, properties, Jack Alprin and Florence Shapiro.

The Barker Playhouse is located at 400 Benefit street near Transit street. The best way to reach it by machine is to travel along Benefit street and from downtown by street car, a South Main street car and get off at Transit street. A few tickets are available to the public.

Center Formal Plans Completed

The plans for the Center Formal Fiesta or Night in Mexico have been completed according to a statement made by Dr. A. Budner Lewis, chairman and Mrs. Sidney Rabinowitz, his assistant. Those attending the affair will be seated at tables in very gay surroundings. Many novelties and scenic decorations are being prepared by the committee in charge. Reservations should be made immediately either to Mrs. Sidney Rabinowitz, Plantations 3894 or at the Center, Dexter 6731.

Jewish Youth Night

More than 35 Jewish youth clubs have been invited to participate in the annual Jewish Youth Night sponsored by the Jewish Center Council. This year James Waterman Wise will be the principal speaker and he will discuss "Jewish Youth Faces the Future."

Meyer Bazar, well known violinist, will appear in several selections. Dr. Louis I. Kramer, a member of the Center Board, will preside. A social hour will follow the main program. Miss Ethel Virginia Goldman is in charge of the reception assisted by Miss Esther Goldsmith.

HOME FOR AGED REPORTS

Nat C. Cohen, chairman of the membership committee of the Home for Aged, last night announced that the institution will begin their annual membership drive next month. Other reports were read by Mrs. Samuel Deutsch, chairman of the admissions committee, and Mrs. Charles Brown, chairman of the donor's luncheon to be held March 4 at the Narragansett Hotel.

Honored by Jews on Jubilee Visited Palestine as Boy

London (WNS)—The death of His Majesty, King George V has plunged the Jews of the British Empire into universal mourning not only because the late ruler was their beloved sovereign but because he was known throughout the Jewish world as the king under whose reign the Balfour Declaration was issued. Born in 1865, seven years after the removal of the civil disabilities of English Jews, when there were only two Jewish members of Parliament, King George was destined to be identified with important chapters in Jewish history.

King George was born and brought up in a home that had many Jewish friends. His father, King Edward VII, was on terms of intimate friendship while he was Prince of Wales with Lord Rothschild, Leopold de Rothschild, Arthur Sassoon, Reuben Sassoon and Baron de Hirsch. Edward was frequently their guest, attended their weddings and shared in their other pleasures, and as long as his father's friends lived they continued to be counted as friends of King George, who as Prince of Wales also accepted the hospitality of Rothschild and Sassoon homes.

When he was 17, King George, then a midshipman on H. M. S. Bacchante, made a cruise around the world with his elder brother Prince Albert Victor in the course of which they visited Palestine around Passover. And it was in the home of the Haham Bashi of Jerusalem, Rabbi Meyer Panigel, that the future King attended the seder, an experience which he described in great detail in his journal in 1882.

On the eve of the departure of the joint commission named by the British Government and the Zionist Organization to act as a liaison between the British military authorities in Palestine and the Jewish population, King George received Dr. Chaim Weizmann, the head of the commission, in private audience. In celebration of the silver jubilee of his reign the Jews of Great Britain planted the King George V Jubilee Forest in Palestine on an area of 1,500 acres.

The silver jubilee of King George's reign, celebrated in May 1935, was marked with great joy by the Jews of the British Empire. Messages poured in from Jewries in the remotest corners of the world. A special prayer composed by Chief Rabbi Hertz was read in all the synagogues. The loyalty of the Jews of the Empire was expressed in a message presented to His Majesty by Neville Laski, president of the Board of Deputies of British Jews, and Leonard Montefiore, president of the Anglo-Jewish Association.

The roll of the distinguished Jews who served King George reads like a who's who of British Jewry. It was King George who appointed the late Marquess of Reading Viceroy of India and Sir Isaac Isaacs governor-general of Australia. Reading, Sir Herbert Samuel, the late Lord Melchett, Emanuel Shinwell, Leslie Hore-Belisha, and the late Edward Montagu were cabinet ministers during King George's reign. Many Jews were also honored by King George with titles and orders, among them Sir Robert Waley Cohen, Sir Osmond d'Avigdor Goldsmid, Sir Lionel Cohen, Sir Mark Aurel Stein, Sir Hugo Hirst, Viscount Bearsted, Sir Julian Cohn and Percy Cohen.

"DANGEROUS" WITH BETTE DAVIS AT MAJESTIC TODAY

"Pacific Fleet" Comes to
Port in Second
Feature

Bette Davis comes to the Majestic theatre today in her latest Warner Bros. production, "Dangerous," with Franchot Tone playing opposite her and Margaret Lindsay her rival.

The screen play by Laird Doyle is said to be a sheer drama of dynamic intensity and tremendous emotions. Bette has the role of a famous actress, who after rising to the top of the ladder of success, tumbles to the gutter through her own egotism and selfishness, although she calls it a jinx, dragging down those who loved her.

It is after her fall that Tone, in the role of a young architect, sets about sobering her up and trying to re-establish her as the brilliant star she had been.

But Bette loves lightly and too well. She already has a discarded husband she has ramed, of whom the architect knows nothing. The situation leads to a veritable scandal which ends in a dynamic and tumultuous scene and an amazing climax.

In the second feature "Miss Pacific Fleet" comes in port with that famous quartette of film comedians, Joan Blondell, Glenda Farrell, Hugh Herbert and Allen Jenkins heading a cast that includes hundreds of gobs and marines.

The picture is based on the rollicking comedy by Frederick Hazlitt Brennan and is said not only to be hilariously funny but to carry a humorous love triangle between Miss Blondell, Jenkins and Warren Hull, the radio star who has the romantic role in the production.

Ladies' Aid Association Revives Loan Fund

Mrs. Harold A. Bellin installed the officers of the South Providence Ladies' Aid Association at a regular meeting held last Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Louis M. Grant explained the purpose of the Loan Fund, which, although established more than a decade ago, had been neglected until recently when it was decided to revive its usefulness. Mrs. Fred Youngstein read the financial report. A social hour followed the meeting. Refreshments were served.

Is Korn got marooned by some snow bank and did not appear as per schedule.

AROUND AND AROUND

Another son to the Ben Ruttenbergs arrived on Sunday night and our best wishes to this likable couple. Also good wishes to the Sam Mamis on an arrival to their family group—the mother is the former Carrie Galinkin. Doctors Archie Alberts, Bud Lewis and Morris Lebow were much in evidence during last week's convention of R. I. Dental Society. George Wise is back in town after a pleasant sojourn in Florida. Don't forget James Waterman Wise, eloquent son of Rabbi Wise, addresses annual Youth Night at Jewish Center—Sunday night—arrive early.

Al Green, nearly every week visits his mother in New York, nice work Al and may you do it for many, many years to come. Harold Moskoff and Al Lisker were sporting many good cigars after their college class dinner in Boston last week. Harney Keener has got that lonesome look since wife Tillie left for Florida with their youngest son.

Prof. Einstein

Prof. Arthur Einstein will speak tomorrow afternoon at Temple Beth-Israel before Sisterhood Study Course. Home for Aged has made wise selection in naming Lou Rosenberg permanent chairman of its annual Ball—this boy always sees a job through. Harry Einstein, formerly of Boston and with many friends here, who created the character of Parkyakarkas with Eddie Cantor on the air, will soon be seen here in Eddie's new picture "Strike Me Pink"—however, for screen purposes he has had his name changed to Harry Parke—this accomplished young man was formerly advertising manager of the Kane Furniture Stores of Boston and now is one of the first screen comics of the air. Sam Kornstein of Woonsocket has been named to Roosevelt Day committee of that city.

Our good wishes to Eva Cohen and George Katz on the announcement of their betrothal, which was made last Saturday night at a party at the Mayfair with a hundred or more in attendance—George is the efficient boys' director at our Jewish Orphanage. Are you're boys and you're girls all set for the Center Formal Fiesta which takes place this coming Tuesday evening at the Narragansett Ballroom?—reports have it that several hundred will be in attendance to dance to music by a fine out of town band, cabaret entertainment—and this year an innovation—tables for those who want them and all this for only three dollars a couple. rather a mystifying title for that Jewish show next Monday night at the Modern—It's called "The Hidden Woman"—see you next week at the same place. . . . right here.

JEWISH COMMUNITY CENTER PRESENTS "THE QUEEN'S HUSBAND"

I am shouting from the house tops this morning. . . . The Center Players, of our Jewish Community Center, presented Robert E. Sherwood's "The Queen's Husband" at the Barker Playhouse on last Sunday evening, directed by Mrs. Samuel Starr and with a magnificent performance by every member of the cast. . . . glorious costumes, beautiful scenery. . . . and if I become eloquent—please forgive me, because I can say truthfully that this is the finest thing ever done by this able and talented group. . . . and I can also say that it was as good a job as ever done by the best of our local excellent amateur theatre groups. To Nancy Starr, patient and able director of Jewish Center productions, may we point you out as chiefly responsible for the success of this ambitious effort.

"The Queen's Husband" was produced several years ago about the time when Queen Marie of Roumania made her celebrated visit to our country, and the play probably is a satire of the elements which concern the royal family of his beloved country. . . . however, we are not concerned with the plot but with the performances of the able cast headed by Willard Riffkin who essayed the role of the King who is considered a nonentity in his own country. . . . this young man contributed one of the best performances of the year—his inflection of voice—the raising of an eyebrow all made for a truly fine portrayal. Bernice Rosenberg as the Princess to be forced into a loveless marriage, aroused every sympathy and proved agreeable to the eye and ear.

Sarah Baker as the autocratic Queen and "boss" of the family household, and also of her country, made us all dislike her very much and her playing of the role left nothing to be desired. . . . Sydney Long, Alec Gurwitz, Leo Cohen, Nat Roy, and William Matzner contributed magnificent performances and we can't forget Nat Grossman in his part of Phipps, the King's butler, who we have seen many times before with other theatre groups and who can always be depended on for a vivid and live portrayal of any role given him. . . . Jack Smith, Irving Podrat, Anne Goldman, and Selma Slavitt in lesser roles gave dependable support.

The beautiful scenery of the three acts was built by Ben Victor, the sound effects were by Lester Selonek and the properties were in charge of Florence Shapiro and Jack Alprin. Because of the storm of Sunday, which naturally made it impossible for many to see this fine production, the performance will again be presented tomorrow night (Saturday) at the Barker Playhouse. . . . I advise you to see it and to procure your tickets now as only a limited number will be sold to the general public.

BRAVE SOULS VENTURE FORTH TO SEE PERFORMANCE

There were not many of us brave souls who ventured out on Sunday night to see the production but the several scores who did were well rewarded. . . . we spotted at the Barker Playhouse—the Saul Abrams, Mollie and Etta Lavett, Jessie Joselowitz, Lou Rosenbergs with fiancé Max Lash to see Bernice perform so capably. . . . Dr. Starr whose cigars were used so agreeably on the stage. . . . J. I. Cohen and capable assistant Gertrude Tarnopol seeing that everything was in good order.

Mollie Weinberg with Shirley Levy passing out programs. . . . the Ben Riffkins with Ira and Mildred Riffkin. Dr. Jay Fishbein, Mike Cooper, Nat Gerstenblatt, Ben Liebermans,
