Nazi Revenge Seen In Expulsion Threat

Hitler Awaits End of Olympic Games For Retaliation

Berlin (WNS)—Expulsion of all Jews from Germany and the confiscation of their property, a re-enactment of the events in Spain in 1492, will be the Nazi regime's revenge for the assassination of Wilhelm Gustloff, Swiss Nazi leader, by David Frankfurter, Jewish medical student from Yugoslavia.

Although a high government official denied a report in the London Daily Herald that the expulsion decree was already framed and would be invoked at a propitious occasion, Hitler's warning to the Jews is regulated by the Nuremberg laws which "will be carried out but no changes or amendments are being considered." Despite this denial all observers here believe that when the Olympic Games are over next summer and all reason for Nazi restraint has been removed, an expulsion decree, or something like it will be enacted. Increased economic pressure on the Jews is expected to result almost immediately.

Following the example set by Hitler, who proclaimed Gustloff a holy martyr to our idea whose picture will hang in every window of Germany, the Nazis are preparing to canonize the slain leader and use the emotion generated by his death to intensify the anti-Jewish program.

WOMEN'S LEAGUE ANNUAL MEETING

18 Groups Will Participate in All Day Session

The annual all-day meeting of the League of Jewish Women's Organizations will be held at 133 Mathewson street. Registration at 10 o'clock will be followed by the regular meeting at 10:30.

Business sessions will take up the remainder of the morning. At noon, luncheon will be served. During the afternoon sessions reports of the 18 affiliated organizations will be sketched. Following a talk by Rabbi William Braude, officers will be installed. Those to be installed are: Mrs. Ethel Cohen, president; Mrs. M. Sheer, first vice-president; Mrs. Abraham Kesterman, second vice-president; Mrs. M. Beeber, treasurer; Mrs. Adolph Gorman, recording secretary, and Mrs. I. Weiss, corresponding secretary.

Pioneer Women Mark Ten Years of Service

True, that today we find the woman side by side with the man in the shop, in the factory and in the cornfield, almost all over the world. True, that today we find the woman side by side with the man taking an active part in our educational institutions, in politics and so forth.

But at the same time their activities are limited only to certain industry and to certain professions, with the exception of one country and that is Palestine. There not only will you find the modern Jewish woman of today in the office, in the shop and in the cornfield, but you will find her taking an active part in the heaviest work such as bricklayer, as brick-carrier, as stone crusher and as road paver, as carpenter as well as plumber, as roofer as well as laying foundations. There is not a branch in any industry that the Hahutzah, the pioneer women, do not take an active part, as laborer as well as

Senator LaFollette

United States Senator Robert LaFollette, will be the guest of the Jewish Community Center, Sunday evening March 1, at which time he will discuss important national problems. Possessing a keen sense of the dramatic and combining this with a vivid and fluent oratorical ability Senator LaFollette's appearance next week at Plantations Auditorium will undoubtedly constitute one of the outstanding events of the season.

Arabs Removed from Jewish Land by Police

Jerusalem (WNS—Palcor Agency)—Arab trespassers who began plowing land belonging to the Jewish settlements near Kaktur in Emek Hejer were removed by the police. Their tents were allowed to remain. Comments on the incident in the Hebrew press point out that most of the Arabs involved are employed as workers in Jewish groves.

Famous Lawyer Offers to Defend Nazi Slayer

Paris (WNS)—The International League to Combat Anti-Semitism is making plans here to obtain a famous attorney to defend David Frankfurter, the young Jewish medical student from Yugoslavia, who assassinated Wilhelm Gustloff, Swiss Nazi leader, M. Maragoffre, one of France's outstanding lawyers, may undertake to defend Frankfurter.

Women Among Leaders

You will find many women among the leaders of the Histadrut in Palestine, as Goldie Myerson, Rachael Ben Zev, Aleyshava Kaplan, Hannah Chitrick and others who are known not only in Palestine but all over the world. The Women Pioneer Organization is a part of the Histadrut with equal rights and with equal duties.

Local Group Organized

The local club was organized February 5, 1926, through the initiative of the local Poale Zion. The late Chaver Schmel Sherman was delegated to organize the local club, to which he gave much of his time, much of his energy, and still more of his enthusiasm (may his memory be remembered). FILMING OF LEWIS' NOVEL IS BANNED

Author Says Fear of Offending Hitler is Reason

Washington, D. C. (WNS)—Fear of offending Hitler and Mussolini has caused Will Hays, movie czar, to ban the screening of Sinclair Lewis' novel, "It Can't Happen Here," a story of Fascism in America, the author charged in a statement made public here. Denouncing the ban on the picture, which was ready for production, Mr. Lewis called Hays' action a "gesture to free speech and asked why Hollywood had not banned German and Italian propaganda films in this country.

Nazis Pleased

London (WNS)—Informed of the ban on the screening of Sinclair Lewis' anti-Fascist novel, "It Can't Happen Here," spokesmen for the German and Italian governments expressed pleasure and satisfaction. An official of the German film chamber declared that "if the film had contained any slurs on National Socialism we would have protested immediately. It is very friendly of America to halt such a film." An Italian official said "we are glad the film industry has seen fit to halt the spread of such propaganda."

WOMAN FENCER TO SAIL FOR OLYMPICS

Helene Mayer Returns to Visit Her Parents

New York (WNS)—Surrounded by Nazis who made sure that she didn't talk too much, Helene Mayer, the world's greatest woman fencer, who is half-Jewish, sailed for her native Germany on the S. S. Bremen to join the German Olympic team. Holder of the American women's fencing title and a former Olympic champion, Miss Mayer refused to discuss politics or to explain why she accepted Germany's invitation. All she would say was, "I've always intended going back."

She indicated that one of the chief motives prompting her return was the desire to see her mother and two brothers and the ambition to win back her Olympic title which she lost to Ellen Preis in Austrian Jewess, at the 1932 games in Los Angeles.

Miss Mayer took pains to emphasize that she had not been deprived of her German citizenship and that she wasn't at all worried because the Nazis had erased the name of herself and her father from the roster of the Offenbach Fencing Club. This intention in effect, she said, was shepherded by Ernst Schmeiz, head of the Nazi Olympic propaganda committee in this country, at whose home she stayed while in New York.

Italians Urge Jews to Be Sympathetic to Fascism

Rome (WNS)—An appeal to Jews to make an effort to understand Fascism and a warning to Fascists in other countries not to mix Fascism with anti-Semitism are contained in an editorial entitled "Fascism and Judaism," which appears in Regimo Fascisto, official organ of the Italian Fascist Party, of which Mario Levi, a Jew, is editor. The editorial points out that Jews are the worst foes of Fascism because they believe that Fascism and anti-Semitism are one and the same thing, and urges the Jews to familiarize themselves with Italian Fascism in order to see that Fascism is not necessarily anti-Jewish.

Poland May Offer New Schechita Bill

Poet and Troubadour

Carl Sandburg, lecturer, poet and troubadour, will visit Providence Sunday evening, when, under the auspices of the Jewish Community Center he will offer a program entitled, "An Evening With Carl Sandburg" at the Center. Mr. Sandburg in his address will tell what he means in his famous definition, "Poetry is the achievement of the synthesis of hyacinths and biscuits," and offers a series of answers to the old and baffling query, "What is art and when?" He reads poems of his own that have become known to millions of readers, as well as poems that will go into his next published volume of verse.

NAMED SUPERVISOR

Seattle (WNS)—Milton Heiman, 28-year old University of Washington Law School graduate, who only hung out his shingle a fortnight ago, has been named supervisor of the National Youth Administration for District No. 4.

Nazis Place Ban on New Chaplin Film

Berlin (WNS)—Although Charlie Chaplin has always staunchly denied that he is a Semite, the Hitler government apparently is not convinced to the extent of permitting his latest film, "Modern Times," to be shown in Germany. The grounds given for the ban are that the philosophy of the film does not agree with that of the Nazi movement.

Jewish Protests Force Consideration of Compromise Measure

Warsaw (WNS)—Because of the militancy of the Jewish protests against the proposed law to ban the practice of schechita throughout Poland, the Polish Government is expected to offer a compromise measure which would permit schechita but limit the amount of cattle and poultry slaughtered according to Jewish ritual to the needs of the Jewish population.

If this alternate bill becomes law it would be a moral victory for the Jews since it would enable them to continue schechita. At the same time it would be a major economic setback to the Jewish population since Jews now control the meat slaughtering business in Poland.

If kosher slaughtering were limited only to the Jews at least 7,000 Jews would be thrown out of work. Under the present system many non-Jews buy kosher meat because Jews dominate the meat industry. In preparation for this compromise bill the Polish ministry of education sent one of its experts to make a survey of the Jewish slaughter houses.

General Roman Gorecki, minister of commerce, revealed that the proposed anti-schechita law is not really motivated by any desire to eliminate so-called cruelty to animals but rather by a desire to eliminate Jews from the slaughtering business when he issued a statement saying that "the turnover in the meat trade, which has been a mainly a Jewish monopoly in Poland for centuries, reaches several billion zlotys a year, with unheard of grain and yields extraordinary profits. Much remains to be done, therefore, in the regulation of the meat trade."

SOCIAL SECURITY TO BE DISCUSSED

Abraham Epstein, Security Exponent, Will Speak

The people of Rhode Island will be afforded a rare treat in the person of Abraham Epstein, executive secretary of the American Association for Social Security, who will deliver an address on Monday evening, at 8:15 o'clock, at the Jewish Community Center. The subject of his address will be "Has the United States Met the Challenge of Insecurity?"

Mr. Epstein has long been an outstanding exponent of old-age pensions, and has done more to establish these pensions in various states of the Union than any other person in this country. He also had a great deal to do with the passage of the (Continued on Page Five)

Mizrachi Convention Hears Berlin Hit British Betrayal

Washington, D. C. (WNS)—The League of Nations, the United States and Great Britain have committed the Balfour Declaration as well as the cultural world will be appealed to, to show that Great Britain has done an injustice to the Jews by failing to carry out the spirit of the Balfour Declaration, Rabbi Meyer Berlin, honorary president of the World Mizrachi Union, told the 25th annual convention of the Mizrachi Organization of America.

Charging that "England has changed front and is placing obstacles in our path by proposing to establish a legislative council, which is in direct conflict with the letter and spirit of the Balfour Declaration," Rabbi Berlin said "we are entitled to a homeland in Palestine, but it looks very much as though Britain would like to amend the Balfour Declaration. We wish to make clear to the English government that Palestine cannot be dealt with as Syria, and that Palestine is not an Arab country. Palestine was promised not only by England but by God to the Jews."

Jewish religious leaders were praised in a message sent to the convention by President Roosevelt.

Benny Leonard Tells How He Began Boxing Career

Large Crowd Hears Champion Tell Experiences at Community Center Meeting.

There wasn't any referee—the time-keeper acting in that capacity by calling time to begin and end the rounds. After we got the gloves on and everything was ready "time" was called and we went at it.

Out Boxes Opponent
Fogarty was heavier and stronger than I, and he was a real tough fighter, but because of my long practice and the lessons I received, I was able to out-box him till the round ended. As I returned to my corner, my enthusiastic seconds snatched me down on the stool and went to work to get me in shape for the second round. Tony and Rusty Grogan each grabbed one of my legs, yanking them out from under me, and then proceeded to rub and knead and pound them with all their strength. They'd seen this done at a regular boxing club, and so thought it was quite the thing to do.

Izzie grabbed the big soda-water bottle and slashed water all over my head and face. As the water streamed over me, into my eyes and down my back, Izzie shoved my head back and rammed the water bottle almost down my throat. Water ran up my nose and down my wind-pipe and I almost strangled to death. But this wasn't all for I had extra help. One of the self-appointed assistant seconds seized this opportunity to play a taton on my stomach, pounding and kneading it lustily. Boy, were those seconds excited.

In fact, my well intentioned seconds gave me such a battering and mauling, in a mistaken effort to pep me up, that I was practically on the verge of a knock-out when the call of "time" came to my relief and I staggered away from them glad to get back into the fight, where I had only one fellow socking at me.

Poor Fogarty also took a shellacking from the seconds in his corner during the rest between rounds, and he looked even worse than I did when we squared off again. I don't remember much about the fight itself, but I do remember I thought at the finish that I had won, possibly not because I was the better fighter, but because Fogarty's seconds were much stronger than mine.

Believe me, we both took much more punishment from our over-enthusiastic seconds than we did in the fight. Well, when the purse was split up, I had to give 3 cents to Rusty, 3 cents to Tony and 3 cents to Izzie for helping me win the fight.

Well, when I reached the age of 15 one of the boys said that I could get five dollars for doing the same thing in the boxing club up the street and so one night I fought my first "professional fight" and won by a knockout in the second round. I continued boxing regularly every week, against my mother's wishes. I'll never forget my first ten-round contest. For this fight I received 20 dollars and I got my eye. My mother cried when she saw me and appealed to my father to stop me from fighting. He looked at me and said: "Look at your face—what are you fighting for?" I reached into my pocket for the $20 bill and put it in my father's hand. He turned, and showed it to my mother—my mother cried, she didn't want to see her boy get hurt. My father put the $20 bill in his pocket—patted me on the shoulder and said, "Benny, my boy, when are you going to fight again?"

From then on Papa Leonard collected regularly—and the purses were much fatter.

Special Services Arranged For Washington's Birthday

Washington's Birthday will be observed with a special service in which the liturgy will be rendered by Cantor Joseph Schlossberg and choir and an address given by Irwin N. Tobin, executive secretary of the R. I. Council for Peace Action, who will speak on "A new approach to American Patriotism." Mr. Tobin has won considerable recognition for his weekly radio comment on international news. The service is open to the public.

Sigal's Meat Market Has 5th Anniversary

The best in meats and service has been the motto of Sigal's Kosher meat market who, during the month of February, is celebrating its fifth anniversary. Since his arrival at 746 Hope street Mr. Sigal through his policy of the best in Boston Kosher meats and delivery to any part of the city, has established himself as one of the foremost leaders in the meat business.

In his efforts to assure the trade that their meats are kept fresh continually, Mr. Sigal recently installed a modern refrigeration service. This, in addition to his rapid delivery service, is assurance to the discerning customer that his meat is at all times fresh. And in conjunction with the above preparations to insure customer satisfaction there is the question of price and here Mr. Sigal points with satisfaction to his growing volume of business which clearly indicates that price and quality are obtainable at his market.

As he points toward the next five years, Mr. Sigal is determined that his present methods of improved merchandising will continue in this manner the customer obtains price, quality in meats, and confident realization that at Sigal's, only the best is obtainable.

It Can Happen Here, Says Sinclair Lewis

Washington, D. C. (WNS)—That the advent of Fascism in the United States is not by no means an impossibility is the declaration made by Sinclair Lewis, author and Nobel Prize winner, in an interview here. Among the reasons for his belief that the events chronicled in his latest book, "It Can't Happen Here," could take place if no preventive measures are taken are various proposals for reactionary legislation, the prevalence of Lynch law in some sections of the country, and what he regards as a current wave of anti-Semitism.

PETER WIERNICK, NOTED EDITOR, DIES

Journalist Was Authority on Jewish History.

New York (WNS)—Peter Wiernick, journalist, historian and scholar, who was editor-in-chief of the Jewish Morning Journal for 35 years, died here at the age of 71. Born in Vilna, he came to the United States in 1885. Self-educated, he worked as a freight handler and typewriter in Chicago.

In 1890 he became editor of the Chicago Jewish Courier, a Yiddish daily. A decade later he was invited to become the first editor of the newly-founded Jewish Morning Journal in New York, and he retained that post until his death.

While in New York, he was the Yiddish editor, Wiernick kept out of Jewish controversies. He was primarily an editor and historian who managed to hold himself aloof from the clamor of Jewish life without being alien to it.

A recognized authority on Jewish history, he was the author of the "History of the Jews in America," the first work of its kind in English. He also owned an immense Jewish reference library. As the chief editorial writer of the Morning Journal he exercised a profound influence on Jewish life during the past two generations.

He was one of the founders of the Joint Distribution Committee and a member of its executive committee. Wiernick was recognized as one of the keenest Yiddish literary critics and his editorial comments on current Jewish affairs were highly regarded. In politics he was a staunch Republican. Last year his 70th birthday was widely celebrated.

Egyptian Jew Named Head of Italian Legion

Rome (WNS)—Major M. Atias, an Egyptian Jew who joined the Italian army in Africa as a volunteer, has been appointed commander of the famous Arditti Legion, the personal guard of General Rodolfo Graziani, also a Jew, who is leading the Italian army on the southern front in Ethiopia, according to a dispatch received here from Italian headquarters in Ethiopia.

The Arditti Legion comprises picked troops who have distinguished themselves by bravery. The special Jewish volunteer regiment, comprising Jews from Egypt, Turkey, Morocco and Greece, is still quartered in Italian Somalia, where Rabbi Amadeo Terracina, one of the two Jewish chaplains with the Italian forces, is caring for their spiritual needs.

Detroit (WNS)—David Gordon has been promoted to chief deputy County Treasurer of Wayne County.

OTHER FORCING BIDS
At a later date we shall discuss other forcing bids enumerated below: (1) the forcing rebid by the opening hand; (2) the inferential force which can be shown in several different ways; (3) the semi-forced with the take-it-or-leave-it option for partner. We merely enumerate these to show you how much there is to this game if you want to learn to play it with a maximum of enjoyment and proficiency.

PREFERENTIAL RAISES

We hope we are proceeding in the proper order in discussing this subject before referring to rebids by opening bidder. So if the card is first, please file this article until we have discussed "Rebids of Opening Bidder" which should appear soon. But so long as we were on the subject of responses, this topic seemed logical to-day.

When the responding hand has made a bid after his partner has opened, and the opening bidder then bids a new suit, the responding hand must now show a preference. In showing a preference the responding hand must visualize partner's holding by the manner of his bidding. We have discussed bidding two-suiters in a previous article and suggest a review of that topic.

When a player (usually the opening bidder) has bid two suits, his partner must show preference as follows: 1. With equal length in each bid suit, prefer the second suit. 2. With greater length in one, but strength in the other (such as xxx in one and Kx in the other) prefer the LONGER.

When the opening hand, however, bids a lower ranking suit first, and then the higher ranking, indicating thereby the defeat of Haman, in the second one, the responding hand should prefer the first suit bid, even with two cards in that suit, in preference to assisting the second with three of that suit, even at the price at an increase in the contract. But with four cards of the second suit, the responding hand should, if possible, raise, for a pass would imply only a desire to play in the second bid suit at a one-trick lower contract.

Examples: Opening hand bids one diamond, partner responds with a heart or two clubs, the opening bidder now bids spades, it shows that the opening hand may be as follows: Sp AQxx, Ht Qs, Dt AKxxx, Ct xx. Assume that responding hand has bid two clubs with Sp Kxxx, Ht xx, Dt Kc, Ct AKxxx. The bidding may proceed as follows: One diamond, pass, two clubs, pass, two spades, pass, three spades, pass, four spades.

But if the responding hand held three diamonds and three spades, he would bid three diamonds usually.

There is a distinction between a raise and a preference raise, the latter indicating a mere preference without any additional values above a minimum response. The above hands are very close to minimum hands. Therefore, if holding full values for a raise, or values in excess of a raise previously given, bid one MORE than is necessary to show a real preference. That is, jump one trick in the first.

named suit, or raise one trick in the second named suit.

We suggest that you review "bidding two-suiters" again and that you deal some hands containing two bid-dable suits, as well as cards for the responding hand, and follow this article with their aid.

Tel Aviv Cancels Its Annual Celebration

Tel Aviv (WNS)—Palor Agency—Deciding that the Jewish position in many lands was "too gloomy" at the present time, this all-Jewish city of 150,000 inhabitants has decided to cancel its annual three-day carnival at Purim time next month, when gaiety marks the holiday celebrating the defeat of Haman. In taking this action, the Tel Aviv Municipal Council felt that the usual festivities would be inappropriate when Jews in Germany and other lands were undergoing great persecution. Children's parties will be permitted, however.

THE RIGHT OF FREE SPEECH

So much has been written concerning the American privileges of freedom of expression that it is probable the following opinion may seem rather trite. Yet we cannot hesitate in voicing our indignation of the flagrant abuses of this our inalienable right as American citizens.

In a recent broadcast by a member of the Federal Communications Commission it was stated that there is no censorship by that body of any verbiage going over the air waves, except profanity. While this is exemplary, we feel that there should be some move to curb the choice of words used in condemning one who differs with our own viewpoint. True, as James Farley has predicted, this coming presidential campaign promises to be one of mud-slinging, yet, more can be gained by slinging that mud in a gentlemanly manner, if mud-slinging must be resorted to.

Without attempting to enter into the discussion of the relative merits of the controversy of the Prazier Lemke Bill, we feel that the principals in the recent drama developed by that Act is a striking example of "mire hurling plus." We had occasion to tune in on Father Coughlin's tirade on Sunday afternoon last, and were much taken back by the vitriolic attack upon the House Rule Committee chairman, and it struck us that regardless of the sincerity of the clergyman's purposes they would have served better by a saner choice of expletives. But, what a surprise greeted my eyes the following morning when we read of Congressman O'Connor's reply to the attack upon him.

All of this makes excellent copy for the newspapers and commentators, and much can be said concerning the value of such caustic controversy, as inducing discussion among the citizenry of this country. And probably it awakens us all to a realization that we should know more of what goes on behind the scenes at our Capitol. BUT: It leaves us all with nasty tastes in our mouths. If we cannot enter into a sane discussion on controversial matters, it is better to say nothing than to enrage oneself in a

Queen Esther Masquerade Scheduled for March 9

Jewish Herald Loving Cup Will be Awarded to Winner of Queen Esther Contest

The fifth annual Queen Esther Purim Masquerade scheduled to be held Monday evening, March 9 at the Elks Auditorium, under the auspices of the Jewish Center Council, promises to be a more colorful event than ever, according to the announcement made by Dr. Myron Keller, president of the Council. The Jewish Herald, this year, will present the elected Queen with a loving cup.

For the past five years the Jewish Center Council has sponsored this most unique affair with the result that the beautiful Jewish holiday Purim is better known in the community than ever before. The purpose of this event is to bring out the jolly aspect of the festival by asking persons to come in costume and also by choosing Queen Esther and five court attendants, thus re-enacting the biblical event. The masquerade and the Queen Esther features make the event a most interesting one.

Nat Roy, chairman, and Edgar Dressler, co-chairman, stated that the committee is making efforts to offer beautiful prizes to the young women who will be fortunate enough to be chosen as Queen Esther and to the five lucky ones to be chosen as her court attendants. The choice is made on the evening of myriad of torrid remarks and then to back down by Apology.

Let's burn our dirty linen, for in throwing it away it may someday be resurrected, and to wash it is more dangerous for we may have forgotten a few unnoticed spots.

the affair by popular vote by those who attend the event.

Rules of Contest

Any Jewish young woman in Rhode Island 17 years or over may enter this contest. There is no registration fee of any kind and young ladies planning to enter the contest are urged to make their entries at once either by filling out a blank or by phoning the Center office, Dexter 6730.

The entry does not have to be made necessarily by the young women but any person may nominate a young woman for the position of Queen Esther or her court attendants.

Vacations in well known summer resorts in New England and all prizes donated by the local merchants are included on the gift list. The coronation of Queen Esther and her attendants is the additional prize to be offered to the lucky winners. The masquerade feature of the event will also offer attractive prizes to those appearing in the most original, most humorous and most beautiful costumes. There is no necessity for entering the masquerade contest in advance but the committee urges that those planning to come in costume give some thought to the type of mask to be worn that evening.

Dancing of course will form the main part of the program and will begin at 8 o'clock. This year's event is being held at the Elks auditorium.

Those who have entered the contest up to this date are Rosalie Make, Jeanette Markoff, Anne Stepak, Edith Rotenberg, Irma Wallack, Ruth Simmons, and Dorothy Mushlin.

Pawt. Junior Hadassah Plans Leap Year Dance

Final plans for the Pawtucket Junior Hadassah Leap Year Dance were completed at a meeting Tuesday night. Miss Ann Goldberg, chairman of the March 1 event, is being assisted by the following committee: Misses Beatrice Kaplan, Goldie Stekin, Sadie Sadelgowitz, Alice Teicher and Edith Berger.

Miss Fanny Kulach was unanimously elected hospitality chairman and a question and answer scheme was introduced as a cultural feature for all future meetings. A formal dinner for paid-up members, the latter part of March, is being arranged under the leadership of Miss Beatrice Kaplan.

Inclement Weather Forces Postponement of Meeting

Because of inclement weather the regular monthly meeting of the Miriam Hospital Association, scheduled for last Monday has been postponed until Monday, March 16.

Mrs. Joseph Smith, president, has announced that Mrs. Harry Parvey will again head the committee in charge of presenting the annual musicale which is to take place in April.

Nazis Ban Jews as Members of Bar

Berlin (WNS)—Another avenue of livelihood was completely closed to Jews when the ministry of justice made public a series of regulations forbidding Jews admission to the German bar and ordering Aryan lawyers to dissolve partnership and other ties with Jews by April 1.

Nazi Revenge Seen In Expulsion Threat

Hitler Awaits End of Olympic Games For Retaliation

Berlin (WNS)—Expulsion of all Jews from Germany and the confiscation of their property, a re-enactment of the events in Spain in 1492, will be the Nazi regime's revenge for the assassination of Wilhelm Gustloff, Swiss Nazi leader, by David Frankfurter, Jewish medical student from Yugoslavia.

Although a high government official denied a report in the London Daily Herald that the expulsion decree was already framed and would be invoked at a propitious occasion, Hitler's warning to world Jewry in a eulogy at Gustloff's funeral that the Nazi's "understand the challenge" and "accept it" is believed to foreshadow relentless retaliation.

The Nazi spokesman said that "no such decree has been drawn up nor contemplated" because the status of the Jews is regulated by the Nuremberg laws which "will be carried out but no changes or amendments are being considered." Despite this denial all observers here believe that when the Olympic Games are over next summer and all reason for Nazi restraint has been removed, an expulsion decree, or something like it, will be enacted. Increased economic pressure on the Jews is expected to result almost immediately.

Following the example set by Hitler, who proclaimed Gustloff a "holy martyr to our idea" whose picture will hang in every window of Germany, the Nazis are preparing to canonize the slain leader and use the emotion generated by his death to intensify the anti-Jewish program.

Senator LaFollette

United States Senator Robert LaFollette, will be the guest of the Jewish Community Center, Sunday evening March 1, at which time he will discuss important national problems. Possessing a keen sense of the dramatic and combining this with a vivid and fluent oratorical ability Senator LaFollette's appearance next week at Plantations Auditorium will undoubtedly constitute one of the outstanding events of the season.

WOMEN'S LEAGUE ANNUAL MEETING

18 Groups Will Participate in All Day Session

The annual all-day meeting of the League of Jewish Women's Organizations will be held Monday at 133 Mathewson street. Registration at 10 o'clock will be followed by the regular meeting at 10:30.

Business sessions will take up the remainder of the morning. At noon, luncheon will be served. During the afternoon sessions reports of the 18 affiliated organizations will be sketched. Following a talk by Rabbi William Brande, officers will be installed. Those to be installed are: Mrs. Ethel Cohen, president; Mrs. M. Sheer, first vice-president; Mrs. Abraham Kesterman, second vice-president; Mrs. M. Heber, treasurer; Mrs. Adolph Gorman, recording secretary; and Mrs. I. Weiss, corresponding secretary.

Pioneer Women Mark Ten Years of Service

True, that today we find the woman side by side with the man in the shop, in the factory and in the cornfield, almost all over the world. True, that today we find the woman side by side with the man taking an active part in our educational institutions, in politics and so forth. But at the same time their activities are limited only to certain industry and to certain professions, with the exception of one country and that is Palestine. There not only will you find the modern Jewish woman of today in the office, in the shop and in the cornfield, but you will find her taking an active part in the heaviest work such as bricklayer, as brick-carryer, as stone crusher and as road paver, as carpenter as well as plumber, as roofer as well as laying foundations. There is not a branch in any industry that the Halauteah, the pioneer women, do not take an active part, as laborer as well as skilled. You will find her taking an active part in the educational institutions of every branch and in every profession.

Women Among Leaders

You will find many women among the leaders of the Halauteah in Palestine, as Goldie Myerson, Rachael Ben Zvive, Aleyshava Kaplan, Hannah Chizick and others who are known not only in Palestine but all over the world. The Women Pioneer Organization is a part of the Halauteah with equal rights and with equal duties.

Local Group Organized

The local club was organized February 5, 1926 through the initiative of the local Poale Zion. The late Chavve Schmoel Sherman was delegated to organize the local club, to which he gave much of his time, much of his energy, and still more of his enthusiasm (may his memory be blessed). FILMING OF LEWIS' NOVEL IS BANNED

Author Says Fear of Offending Hitler is Reason

Washington, D. C. (WNS)—Fear of offending Hitler and Mussolini has caused Will Hays, movie czar, to ban the screening of Sinclair Lewis' novel, "It Can't Happen Here," a story of Fascism in America, the author charged in a statement made public here. Denouncing the ban on the picture, which was ready for production, Mr. Lewis called Hays' action a threat to free speech and asked why Hollywood has not banned German and Italian propaganda films in this country.

Nazis Pleased

London (WNS)—Informed of the ban on the screening of Sinclair Lewis' anti-Fascist novel, "It Can't Happen Here," spokesmen for the German and Italian governments expressed pleasure and satisfaction. An official of the German film chamber declared that "if the film had contained any slurs on National Socialism we would have protested immediately. It is very friendly of America to halt such a film." An Italian official said "we are glad the film industry has seen fit to halt the spread of such propaganda."

WOMAN FENCER TO SAIL FOR OLYMPICS

Helene Mayer Returns to Visit Her Parents

New York (WNS)—Surrounded by Nazis who made sure that she didn't talk too much, Helene Mayer, the world's greatest woman fencer, who is half-Jewish, sailed for her native Germany on the S. S. Bremen to join the German Olympic team. Holder of the American women's fencer title and a former Olympic champion, Miss Mayer refused to discuss politics or to explain why she accepted Germany's invitation. All she would say was, "I've always intended going back." She indicated that one of the chief motives prompting her return was the desire to see her mother and two brothers and the ambition to win back her Olympic title which she lost to Ellen Preis, an Austrian Jewess, at the 1932 games in Los Angeles.

Miss Mayer took pains to emphasize that she had not been deprived of her German citizenship and that she wept at all worried because the Nazis had erased the name of herself and her father from the roster of the Offenbach Fencing Club. Throughout the brief interview she was shepherded by Ernst Schmitz, head of the Nazi Olympic propaganda committee in this country, at whose home she stayed while in New York.

Italians Urge Jews to Be Sympathetic to Fascism

Rome (WNS)—An appeal to Jews to make an effort to understand Fascism and a warning to Fascists in other countries not to mix Fascism with anti-Semitism are contained in an editorial entitled "Fascism and Judaism," which appears in Renascita, the official organ of the Italian Fascist Party, of which Mario Levi, a Jew, is editor. The editorial points out that Jews are the worst foes of Fascism because they believe that Fascism and anti-Semitism are one and the same thing, and urges the Jews to familiarize themselves with Italian Fascism in order to see that Fascism is not necessarily anti-Jewish.

Poland May Offer New Schechita Bill

Poet and Troubadour

Carl Sandburg, lecturer, poet and troubadour, will visit Providence Sunday evening, when, under the auspices of the Jewish Community Center he will offer a program entitled, "An Evening With Carl Sandburg," at the Center.

Mr Sandburg in his address will tell what he means in his famous definition, "Poetry is the achievement of the synthesis of hyacinths and biscuits," and offers a series of answers to the old and baffling query, "What is art and when?" He reads poems of his own that have become known to millions of readers, as well as poems that will go into his next published volume of verse.

NAMED SUPERVISOR

Seattle (WNS)—Milton Heiman, 28-year old University of Washington Law School graduate, who only hung out his shingle a fortnight ago, has been named supervisor of the National Youth Administration for District No. 4.

Nazis Place Ban on New Chaplin Film

Berlin (WNS)—Although Charlie Chaplin has always staunchly denied that he is a Semite, the Hitler government apparently is not convinced to the extent of permitting his latest film, "Modern Times," to be shown in Germany. The grounds given for the ban are that the philosophy of the film does not agree with that of the Nazi movement.

Jewish Protests Force Consideration of Compromise Measure

Warsaw (WNS)—Because of the militancy of the Jewish protests against the proposed law to ban the practice of schechita throughout Poland, the Polish Government is expected to offer a compromise measure which would permit schechita but limit the amount of cattle and poultry slaughtered according to Jewish ritual to the needs of the Jewish population.

If this alternate bill becomes law it would be a moral victory for the Jews since it would enable them to continue schechita. At the same time it would be a major economic setback to the Jewish population since Jews now control the meat slaughtering business in Poland.

If kosher slaughtering were limited only to the Jews at least 7,000 Jews would be thrown out of work. Under the present system many non-Jews buy kosher meat because Jews dominate the meat industry. In preparation for this compromise bill the Polish ministry of education sent one of its experts to make a survey of the Jewish slaughter houses.

General Roman Gorecki, minister of commerce, revealed that the proposed anti-schechita law is not really motivated by any desire to eliminate so-called cruelty to animals but rather by a desire to eliminate Jews from the slaughtering business when he issued a statement saying that "the turnover in the meat trade, which has been—essentially a Jewish monopoly in Poland for centuries—reaches several billion zlotys a year, with unheated grain and yields extraordinary profits. Much remains to be done, therefore, in the regulation of the meat trade."

SOCIAL SECURITY TO BE DISCUSSED

Abraham Epstein, Security Exponent, Will Speak

The people of Rhode Island will be afforded a rare treat in the person of Abraham Epstein, executive secretary of the American Association for Social Security, who will deliver an address on Monday evening, at 8:15 o'clock, at the Jewish Community Center. The subject of his address will be "Has the United States Met the Challenge of Insecurity?"

Mr. Epstein has long been an outstanding exponent of old-age pensions, and has done more to establish these pensions in various states of the Union than any other person in this country. He also had a great deal to do with the passage of the (Continued on Page Five)

Mizrachi Convention Hears Berlin Hit British Betrayal

Washington, D. C. (WNS)—The League of Nations, the United States and other powers who counter-signed the Balfour Declaration as well as the cultural world will be appealed to, to show that Great Britain has done an injustice to the Jews by failing to carry out the spirit of the Balfour Declaration. Rabbi Meyer Berlin, honorary president of the World Mizrachi Union, told the 25th annual convention of the Mizrachi Organization of America.

Charging that "England has changed front and is placing obstacles in our path by proposing to establish a legislative council, which is in direct conflict with the letter and spirit of the Balfour Declaration," Rabbi Berlin said "we are entitled to a homeland in Palestine, but it looks very much as though Britain would like to annul the Balfour Declaration. We wish to make clear to the English government that Palestine cannot be dealt with as Syria, and that Palestine is not an Arab country. Palestine was promised not only by England but by God to the Jews."

Jewish religious leaders were praised in a message sent to the convention by President Roosevelt.

Benny Leonard Tells How He Began Boxing Career

Large Crowd Hears Champion Tell Experiences at Community Center Meeting.

There wasn't any referee—the time keeper acting in that capacity by calling time to begin and end the rounds. After we got the gloves on and everything was ready "time" was called and we went at it.

Out Boxes Opponent
Fogarty was a heavier and stronger than I, and he was a real tough fighter, but because of my long practice and the lessons I received, I was able to out-box him till the round ended. As I returned to my corner, my enthusiastic seconds snatched me down on the stool and went to work to get me in shape for the second round. Tony and Kusty Grogan each grabbed one of my legs, yanking them out from under me, and then proceeded to rub and knead my legs, pulling them with all their strength. They'd seen this done at a regular boxing club, and so thought it was quite the thing to do.

Izzie grabbed the big soda-water bottle and slashed water all over my head and face. As the water streamed over me, into my eyes and down my back, Izzie shoved my head back and rammed the water bottle almost down my throat. Water ran up my nose and down my wind-pipe and I almost strangled to death. This wasn't all for I had extra help. One of the self-appointed assistant seconds seized this opportunity to play a tattoo on my stomach, pounding and kneading it lustily. Boy, were those seconds excited.

In fact, my well-intentioned seconds gave me such a battering and mauling, in a mistaken effort to pep me up, that I was practically on the verge of a knock-out when the call of "time" came to my relief and I staggered away from them, glad to get back into the fight, where I had only one fellow socking at me.

Poor Fogarty also took a shellacking from the seconds in his corner during the rest between rounds, and he looked even worse than I did when we squared off again. I don't remember much about the fight itself, but I do remember I thought at the finish that I had won, possibly not because I was the better fighter, but because Fogarty's seconds were much stronger than mine.

Believe me, we both took much more punishment from our over-enthusiastic seconds than we did in the fight. Well, when the purse was split up, I had to give 3 cents to Kusty, 3 cents to Tony and 3 cents to Izzie for helping me win the fight.

Well, when I reached the age of 15 one of the boys said that I could get five dollars for doing the same thing in the boxing club up the street and one night I fought my first "professional fight" and won by a knockout in the second round. I continued boxing regularly every week, against my mother's wishes. I'll never forget my first ten-round contest. For this fight I received 20 dollars and a black eye. My mother cried. He turned and appealed to my father to stop me from fighting. He looked at me and said: "Look at your face—what are you fighting for?" I reached into my pocket for the $20 bill and put it in my father's hand. He turned and showed it to my mother—my mother cried, she didn't want to see her boy get hurt. My father put the $20 bill in his pocket—patted me on the shoulder and said, "Benny, my boy, when are you going to fight again?" From then on Papa Leonard collected regularly—and the purses were much fatter.

Special Services Arranged For Washington's Birthday

Washington's Birthday will be observed with a special service in which the liturgy will be rendered by Cantor Joseph Schlossberg and choir and an address given by Irwin M. Sigal's Meat Market Has 5th Anniversary

The best in meats and service has been the motto of Sigal's Kosher meat market who, during the month of February, is celebrating its fifth anniversary. Since his arrival at 746 Hope street Mr. Sigal through his policy of the best in Boston Kosher meats and delivery to every part of the city, has established himself as one of the foremost leaders in the meat business.

In his efforts to assure the trade that their meats are kept fresh continually, Mr. Sigal recently installed a modern refrigeration service. This, in addition to his rapid delivery service, is assurance to the discerning customer that his meat is at all times fresh. And in conjunction with the above preparations to insure customer satisfaction there is the question of price and here Mr. Sigal points with satisfaction to his growing volume of business which clearly indicates that price and quality are obtainable at his market.

As he points toward the next five years, Mr. Sigal is determined that his past methods of improved merchandising will continue for in this manner the customer obtains price, quality in meats, and confident reliance that at Sigal's, only the best is obtainable.

OBITUARY

JOSEPH A. WOLF

Funeral services for Joseph A. Wolf, 70, of 74 Selton drive, Edgewood, retired Providence merchant and real estate operator, who died at his home Friday, was held Monday afternoon from his home. Burial was in Swan Point Cemetery.

Mr. Wolf, the son of the late Benjamin Wolf, of Hain's Island, was born in this city Aug. 2, 1866. He was educated in the public and private schools of the city and then entered the glove business. For many years he conducted a store on Westminster street.

Mr. Wolf was once a member of the Knights of Pythias, the Elks Club and the Masonic fraternity. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Gertrude (Lederer) Wolf, and two daughters, Miss Dorothy Wolf, and Mrs. Marjorie W. Flink. Two grand-children, Robert Hahn Flink and Sallyann Flink, also survive.

It Can Happen Here, Says Sinclair Lewis

Washington, D. C. (WNS)—That the advent of Fascism in the United States is by no means an impossibility is the declaration made by Sinclair Lewis, author and Nobel Prize winner, in an interview here. Among the reasons for his belief that the events chronicled in his latest book, "It Can't Happen Here," could take place if no preventive measures are taken are various proposals for reactionary legislation, the prevalence of lynch law in some sections of the country, and what he regards as a current wave of anti-Semitism.

PETER WIERNICK, NOTED EDITOR, DIES

Journalist Was Authority on Jewish History.

New York (WNS)—Peter Wiernick, journalist, historian and scholar, who was editor-in-chief of the Jewish Morning Journal for 35 years, died here at the age of 71. Born in Vilna, he came to the United States in 1885. Self-educated, he worked as a freight handler and typewriter in Chicago.

In 1890 he became editor of the Chicago Jewish Courier, a Yiddish daily. A decade later he was invited to become the first editor of the newly-founded Jewish Morning Journal in New York, and he remained that post until his death.

Unlike most other prominent Yiddish editors, Wiernick kept out of Jewish controversies. He was primarily an editor and historian who managed to hold himself aloof from the clamor of Jewish life without being alien to it.

A recognized authority on Jewish history, he was the author of the "History of the Jews in America," the first work of its kind in English. He also owned an immense Jewish reference library. As the chief editorial writer of the Morning Journal he exercised a profound influence on Jewish life during the past two generations.

He was one of the founders of the Joint Distribution Committee and a member of its executive committee. Wiernick was recognized as one of the keenest Yiddish literary critics and his editorial comments on current Jewish affairs were highly regarded. In politics he was a staunch Republican. Last year his 70th birthday was widely celebrated.

Egyptian Jew Named Head of Italian Legion

Rome (WNS)—Major M. Atias, an Egyptian Jew who joined the Italian army in Africa as a volunteer, has been appointed commander of the famous Arditi Legion, the personal guard of General Rodolfo Graziani, also a Jew, who is leading the Italian army on the southern front in Ethiopia, according to a dispatch received here from Italian headquarters in Ethiopia.

The Arditi Legion comprises picked troops who have distinguished themselves by bravery. The special Jewish volunteer regiment, comprising Jews from Egypt, Turkey, Morocco and Greece, is still quartered in Italian Somalia, where Rabbi Amadeo Terracina, one of the two Jewish chaplains with the Italian forces, is caring for their spiritual needs.

Detroit (WNS)—David Gordon has been promoted to chief deputy County Treasurer of Wayne County.

OTHER FORCING BIDS

At a later date we shall discuss other forcing bids enumerated below: (1) the forcing rebid by the opening hand once partner has responded; (2) the inferential force which can be shown in several different ways; (3) the semi-forced with the take-it-or-leave-it option for partner. We merely enumerate these to show you how much there is to this game if you want to learn to play it with a maximum of enjoyment and proficiency.

PREFERENTIAL RAISES

We hope we are proceeding in the proper order in discussing this subject before referring to rebids by opening bidder. So if the card is first, please file this article until we have discussed "Rebids of Opening Bidder" which should appear soon. But so long as we were on the subject of response, this topic seemed logical to-day.

When the responding hand has made a bid after his partner has opened, and the opening bidder then bids a new suit, the responding hand must now show a preference. In showing a preference the responding hand must visualize partner's holding by the manner of his bidding. We have discussed bidding two-suiters in a previous article and suggest a review of that topic.

When a player (usually the opening bidder) has bid two suits, his partner must show preference as follows: With equal length in each bid suit, prefer the first suit bid; 2. With greater length in one, but strength in the other (such as xxx in one and Kx in the other) prefer the LONGER.

When the opening hand, however, bids a lower ranking suit first, and then the higher ranking, indicating thereby possibly a four-card suit in the second one, the responding hand should prefer the first suit bid, even with two cards in that suit, in preference to assisting the second with three of that suit, even at the price at an increase in the contract. But with four cards of the second suit bid, the responding hand should, if possible, raise, for a pass would imply only a desire to play in the second bid suit at a one-trick lower contract.

Examples: Opening hand bids one diamond, partner responds with a heart or two clubs, the opening bidder now bids spades, it shows that the opening hand has as follows: Sp AQxx, Ht Qx, Dt AKxxx, Ct xx. Assume that responding hand has two clubs with Sp Kxxx, Ht xx, Dt Jx, Ct AKxxx. The bidding may proceed as follows: One diamond, pass, two clubs, pass, two spades, pass, three spades, pass, four spades.

But if the responding hand held three diamonds and three spades, he would bid three diamonds usually. There is a distinction between a raise and a preference raise, the latter indicating a mere preference without any additional values above a minimum response. The above hands are very close to minimum hands. Therefore, if holding full values for a raise, or values in excess of a raise previously given, bid one MORE than is necessary to show a real preference. That is, jump one trick in the first.

named suit, or raise one trick in the second named suit. We suggest that you review "bidding two-suiters" again and that you deal some hands containing two bid-able suits, as well as cards for the responding hand, and follow this article with their aid.

Next week we shall discuss "when to choose between a takeout and a raise, when you hold requirements for both."

Later articles will include "Rebids by opening bidder" for which a review of "Playing Tricks" is suggested.

Tel Aviv Cancels Its Annual Celebration

Tel Aviv (WNS)—Palor Agency—Deciding that the Jewish position in many lands was "too gloomy" at the present time, this all-Jewish city of 150,000 inhabitants has decided to cancel its annual three-day carnival at Purim time next month, when gaiety marks the holiday celebrating the defeat of Haman. In taking this action, the Tel Aviv Municipal Council felt that the usual festivities would be inappropriate when Jews in Germany and other lands were undergoing great persecution. Children's parties will be permitted, however.

THE RIGHT OF FREE SPEECH

So much has been written concerning the American privileges of freedom of expression that it is probable the following opinion may seem rather trite. Yet we cannot hesitate in voicing our indignation of the flagrant abuses of this our inalienable right as American citizens.

In a recent broadcast by a member of the Federal Communications Commission it was stated that there is no censorship by that body of any verbiage going over the air waves, except profanity. While this is exemplary, we feel that there should be some move to curb the choice of words used in condemning one who differs with our own viewpoint. True, as James Foley, has predicted, this coming presidential campaign promises to be one of mud-slinging, yet, more can be gained by slinging that mud in a gentlemanly manner, if mud-slinging must be resorted to.

Without attempting to enter into the discussion of the relative merits of the controversy of the Frazier Lemke Bill, we feel that the principals in the recent drama enveloped by that Act is a striking example of "mire hurling plus." We had occasion to tune in on Father Coughlin's tirade on Sunday afternoon last, and were much taken back by the vitriolic attack upon the House Rule Committee chairman, and it struck us that regardless of the sincerity of the clergyman's purposes they would have been served better by a saner choice of expletives. But, what a surprise greeted my eyes the following morning when we read of Congressman O'Connor's reply to the attack upon him.

All of this makes excellent copy for the newspapers and commentators, and much can be said concerning the value of such caustic controversy as inducing discussion among the citizenry of this country. And probably it awakens us all to a realization that we should know more of what goes on behind the scenes at our Capitol. BUT: It leaves us all with nasty tastes in our mouths. If we cannot enter into a sane discussion on controversial matters, it is better to say nothing than to engross oneself in a

Jewish Herald Loving Cup Will be Awarded to Winner of Queen Esther Contest

The fifth annual Queen Esther Purim Masquerade scheduled to be held Monday evening, March 9 at the Elks Auditorium, under the auspices of the Jewish Center Council, promises to be a more colorful event than ever, according to the announcement made by Dr. Myron Keller, president of the Council. The Jewish Herald, this year, will present the elected Queen with a loving cup.

For the past five years the Jewish Center Council has sponsored this most unique affair with the result that the beautiful Jewish holiday Purim is better known in the community than ever before. The purpose of this event is to bring out the jolly aspect of the festival by asking persons to come in costume and also by choosing Queen Esther and five court attendants, thus re-enacting the biblical event. The masquerade and the Queen Esther features make the event a most interesting one.

Nat Roy, chairman, and Edgar Dressler, co-chairman, stated that the committee is making efforts to offer beautiful prizes to the young women who will be fortunate enough to be chosen as Queen Esther and to the five lucky ones to be chosen as her court attendants. The choice is made on the evening of myriad of torrid remarks and then to back down by Apology.

Let's burn our dirty linen, for in throwing it away it may someday be resurrected, and to wash it is more dangerous for we may have forgotten a few unnoticed spots.

Rules of Contest

Any Jewish young woman in Rhode Island 17 years or over may enter this contest. There is no registration fee or any kind and young ladies planning to enter the contest are urged to make their entries at once either by filling out a blank or by phoning the Center office, Dester 6730.

The entry does not have to be made necessarily by the young woman but any person may nominate a young woman for the position of Queen Esther or her court attendants.

Vacations in well known summer resorts in New England and all prizes donated by the local merchants are included in the gift list. The coronation of Queen Esther and her attendants is the additional prize to be offered to the lucky winners. The masquerade feature of the event will also offer attractive prizes to those appearing in the most original, most humorous and most beautiful costumes. There is no necessity for entering the masquerade contest in advance but the committee urges that those planning to come in costume give some thought to the type of mask to be worn that evening.

Dancing of course will form the main part of the program and will begin at 8 o'clock. This year's event is being held at the Elks auditorium.

Those who have entered the contest up to this date are Rosalie Mack, Jeanette Markoff, Anne Stepak, Edith Rotenberg, Irma Wallace, Ruth Simmons, and Dorothy Muhlman.

Pawt. Junior Hadassah Plans Leap Year Dance

Final plans for the Pawtucket Junior Hadassah Leap Year Dance were completed at a meeting Tuesday night. Miss Ann Goldberg, chairman of the March 1 event, is being assisted by the following committee: Misses Beatrice Kaplan, Goldie Slefkin, Sadie Sadyelkowitz, Alice Teecher and Edith Berger.

Miss Fanny Kulach was unanimously elected hospitality chairman and a question and answer scheme was introduced as a cultural feature for all future meetings. A formal dinner for paid-up members, the latter part of March, is being arranged under the leadership of Miss Beatrice Kaplan.

Inclement Weather Forces Postponement of Meeting

Because of inclement weather the regular monthly meeting of the Miriam Hospital Association, scheduled for last Monday has been postponed until Monday, March 16.

Mrs. Joseph Smith, president, has announced that Mrs. Harry Farvey will again head the committee in charge of presenting the annual musicale which is to take place in April.

Nazis Ban Jews as Members of Bar

Berlin (WNS)—Another avenue of livelihood was completely closed to Jews when the ministry of justice made public a series of regulations forbidding Jews admission to the German bar and ordering Aryan lawyers to dissolve partnership and other ties with Jews by April 1.

COMMUNITY DINNER

Philadelphia (WNS)—Rabbi Max D. Klein of Congregation Adath Jeshurun is to be given a community dinner in honor of his completion of 25 years in the rabbinate.

Passaic, N. J. (WNS)—A committee of Jewish citizens has been organized here to press legal action against the local branch of the American National Labor Party, anti-Semitic organization.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION

Precedent has always been a hard nut to crack. What's good enough for grandfather is good enough for me, is a stubborn attitude, difficult to debate. If our pioneers of history had been satisfied with this point of view, the wheels of progress would have rusted to a standstill. But these pioneers, defying mockery, laughter and distrust did not hesitate or diverge from their paths.

The resultant modern world with its inventions, conveniences and problems has required special consideration. And at present, one of these considerations in the State of Rhode Island is the proposed Constitutional Convention which intends to dress up the old constitution, originated in 1842, and make it sufficiently elastic to contend with present day conditions.

Progress in Rhode Island has advanced markedly since 1842. Science, education and a desire to accustom ourselves to our surroundings have forced this change. But while all this was proceeding, internal factors were being modified. The population in the rural centers shifted. The cities of the State were the gainers. Since our government is for the people, representation through proportioned population is necessary. And if our present constitution is inelastic and cannot contend with present emergencies, it must be amended.

As this has not been the first attempt to rectify certain phases of the constitution, it is evidently realized that these certain phases have become outdated and as such should be corrected. Will the proposed remedies be the proper cure is the question that must be answered. And a convention of delegates, capable, intelligent, and with a thorough understanding of their task, is a practical means of determining how our constitution can be brought up to date in order to fulfill present day requirements.

FOOLING THEMSELVES

In reporting the ice hockey match between the United States and Germany, the opening event at the Winter Olympic Games in Germany, every newspaper stressed the fact that Rudi Ball, Jewish center on the German team, was the star of the game. Thanks to his stellar play the Germans were saved from a worse defeat. What interests us, however, is not so much the fact that Nazi Germany had to recall a Jewish player from exile in order to make a decent showing, but the reaction of Ball himself to his anomalous position. All around him were fanatic Nazis and anti-Semites. He was representing in sports a country that has declared Jews have no place in sports or in any other phase of life in Germany. Yet he played as if nothing had happened. We also wonder how the Nazi sports fans felt when they had to cheer a Jewish player. Did they yell and applaud without thinking or was their ovation to Ball a cleverly-staged performance to deceive the foreign visitors?

Nazi propaganda is admittedly very clever but not quite good enough to fool the whole world. If the German government thinks that it has put an end to the fight against the Berlin Olympics this summer merely by permitting a Jewish hockey player to represent Germany it will be quickly disillusioned. The fight will and must go on. The presence of a Jewish hockey player in a German uniform is not a concession to foreign opinion but rather an ironic gesture intended to prove that Germany intends to do as she pleases. The best answer to this callous defiance of world opinion is to strengthen the fight to keep the United States out of the Berlin games this summer.

A Letter to the Editor

Thanks Co-Workers and Public for Zionist Efforts!

I note with a deep sense of pride and satisfaction that the United Palestine Appeals has successfully reached its goal of $10,000. It has been my delightful privilege to serve as Chairman of the United Palestine Appeals and I have, therefore, had ample opportunity to make several happy observations. I cannot escape the conclusion that the United Palestine Appeal Campaign has definitely demonstrated an unprecedented spirit of generosity on the part of our people. The Campaign further reflects the awareness on the part of the Jewish people throughout our State of the present situation confronting the Jews.

Not only was this campaign loyally supported by old friends of Zionism, but has enlisted many other new friends who are fast becoming conscious of the importance of Palestine and the problems of world Jewry. We may confidently state that as time goes on the Zionist cause will gain more and more friends and that even those who may still not fully lend their wholehearted support will soon rally and gather around the Zionist movement.

I would be remiss in my duty as Chairman of the Initial Gifts Committee if I failed to express my grateful appreciation for the loyal support and cooperation given by the members of the Initial Gifts Committee and the Jews of our State.

I especially desire to pay a fitting tribute and to give proper recognition to that grand gentleman whom I have recognized as my Zionist chief and co-worker, Dr. Ilie Berger. He has given his all in the interests of this campaign and his leadership and inspiration have made possible, not only a successful campaign, but a splendid organization.

With Zionist Greetings,
JAMES GOLDMAN, Chairman
Initial Gifts Committee
United Palestine Appeal.

Partially Jewish Pastor Defies Nazis in Sermon

Berlin (WNS)—Surrounded by fifty black-robed ministers, Rev. Gerhard J. Cobb, the one-quarter Jewish anti-Nazi pastor, defied a Nazi bay on him by preaching a forcible anti-Nazi sermon before a capacity congregation at the Kaiser Wilhelm Memorial Church, one of the largest Protestant churches in Berlin.

"Warned that he would be arrested if he preached, Reverend Cobb ignored the threats and delivered his sermon as his fifty colleagues stood near him on either side of the pulpit. The Voelkische Reichsbanner, Hitler's personal organ, last called Cobb "an unbelievably reckless man of Jewish extraction" whose "notorious mockery of National Socialist feelings must be stopped."

BOOK NOTES

By Esther Levine

"Silas Crockett" by Mary Ellen Chase. (Macmillan).

Mary Ellen Chase, who is a native "coast of Maine" herself, has given us the history of another family in her home state. The name of Crockett meant ships that truly sailed the seven seas. It meant bringing from afar shawls and silks and dishes and vases to a simple New England house.

The Crockett family had carried the name of Saturday Cove rear around the Cape of Good Hope to the Orient. They were respected and self-respecting. Young Silas Crockett, with whom this story opens, had won his captaincy at twenty-one and had gone round Java Head four times. Like his father, Silas had a compelling charm. He had enough imagination to thrill to the adventure and romance of the sea, but not enough to fear it.

Solace, his wife, accompanied her husband on his many trips but always she was overcome by the very active dread she felt inwardly upon leaving land. At a launching of a clipper ship from the East Boston yards, she suddenly realized the powerful attraction the sea held for Silas. Her comprehension freed her of all terror.

The book is more than the story of the Crocketts—Silas, Nicholas his son who lost his life at sea on a fishing boat, Reuben, the captain of a coastwise steamer, and young Silas Crockett who wanted to be a doctor but had to leave school to enter the herring factory. It is the past and present of a state, the decline of an industry, the changes that took place from 1830 to the present day.

The wives of the Crockett men were each interesting and had that "bit of spice" that the Crockett men demanded. Abigail, the mother of the first Silas, is perhaps the most unusual character. She was a fountain of common sense and every day wisdom. She was the sort of woman who liked to make things herself because then she knew "every dirt that's in them."

Abigail was an independent soul who said what she thought. Her views were sometimes startling as when she considered the changes that were said to be coming in the world.

"They say there'll soon be schools and colleges all over where women learn all the same things that men learn. Maybe so, but learning won't alter the fact that women are women and men are men." She smiled a bit slyly at her daughter-in-law. "Sometimes I'd that bold to think.... that if the Lord God had been born a woman of a race of people, those sturdy old men would have been more wisdom among the men."

The story is quietly unfolded. The first part, which deals with the early history of Maine, is perhaps better told—the wedding of Silas and Solace, the dinners at Summer Street mansions, etc. The book is the chronicle of a race of people whose sturdy aim was to finish what they had begun, who scorned alike cowardice and commiseration, and who held that to keep one's mouth shut in the face of hardship was not the least valuable of social virtues.

Reading Suggestions

"The Stars Look Down" by A. Cronin. (Little, Brown). A rather pessimistic picture of life in an English mining town. Reviewed last week.

Haifa District Court Gets Jewish Judge

Haifa (WNS-Palcor Agency)—After many years of insistence by the Jewish Agency for Palestine that the Haifa District Court should have a Jewish judge, the Palestine Government promoted Dr. Aaron Shems, previously a magistrate in Jerusalem, to the District Court bench here. This is the first time in nine years that this court has a Jewish member.

Dr. Shems, who has assumed his duties, had been a magistrate in Tel Aviv before he had gone to Jerusalem to replace Judge Zuckerman. He now succeeds an Arab, Shafik Dajany, deceased. Previously the membership of the Haifa District Court had been made up of two Arabs and one Englishman. The court's jurisdiction is an Englishman, a Jew and an Arab.

Poet Laureate's Ode to King Translated

Tel Aviv (WNS-Palcor Agency)—The remarkable elasticity of the Hebrew Language is shown in two striking instances here. Firstly, Reuben Grossman, American-Hebrew poet and author, has translated into Hebrew the Ode of the English Poet Laureate, John Masefield, now in California, in the original meter and scansion. It is Masefield's tribute to the late King George V. Y. Karni, Hebrew poet, has translated into Hebrew the poetic song advertising a new coffee from "Always" (Always "Toll a Jaffa by Its Juice") written and composed by a Miss Nesta Williams, of London. He, too, retained the original meter of the English verse so as to keep it attuned to the living melody.

Weizmann, Kaplan Will Study Immigration Plan

Jerusalem (WNS-Palcor Agency)—Dr. Chaim Weizmann, director of the Jewish Agency for Palestine, and Eliezer Kaplan, its Treasurer, will leave Palestine next weekend for London. In addition to a program of political activity which will engage Weizmann's attention, both will study a number of economic questions affecting the future growth of Palestine, including an examination of the German Jewish exodus plan proposed by Sir Herbert Samuel and his British associates.

It is understood here that Siegfried Hilsen, managing director of the Anglo-Palestine Bank, also participating in an examination of the economic phases of the latter subject.

Columbus, Ohio (WNS)—I. W. Garek, former assistant county prosecutor and a past president of the Ohio and National Jewish Community Councils, has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for state representative.

BAN ANTI-SEMITIC GROUPS IN FRANCE

Attack on Blum Forces Emergency Order

Paris (WNS)—An emergency decree issued by the French cabinet ordered the immediate dissolution of the Fascist, royalist and anti-Semitic Camelots du Roi. The Action Francaise and the National Federation of Students of the Action Francaise following an unprovoked attack on Leon Blum the Jewish leader of the French Socialists, by a mob of young royalists. Badly injured when the mob halted his car and administered a beating to him, Blum, who is over 60, was taken to a hospital.

The attack on Blum created a sensation throughout France. In Parliament the Fascist groups were bitterly denounced. Although three of the royalist groups have been outlawed, the royalist paper, Action Francaise, which has denounced the assassination of Blum, is still being published. Leon Daudet and Charles Marraux, leaders of the Action Francaise, may be arrested at any moment. It is also believed that the assault on Blum may force the government to take stricter measures against the other Fascist and anti-Semitic groups.

German Refugee in Palestine Dies from Attack

Haifa (WNS-Palcor Agency)—Mrs. Julia Koller, a German refugee from Germany who arrived three months ago, died here as the result of an attack by Arabs. She had left the city with her son, aged 13, for a hike on Saturday. She and her son were attacked with sticks by two Arabs, and she was robbed. The two of them were found and brought to a Haifa hospital.

Although Mrs. Koller died, her son's condition is giving no anxiety to the doctors. Police dogs were immediately set on the trail of the ruffians, and one Arab was arrested and, according to reports, imprisoned. The second Arab is still being sought.

"Eagle" Brand Name for New Palestine Beer

Rishon le Zion (WNS—Palcor Agency)—An eagle flying over a glass of beer is the trademark of the new brewery which has started operations here. It has been equipped with modern machinery and an English expert has supervised the installation as well as the instruction of the principal hands. The name of the new beer will be "Eagle" and it will be sold as low as 10c for a small bottle and 15c for a large one.

The Vienna Klinische Wochenschrift, "Reactivation" of organs and tissues is the basis of his new method for making old men young, he explained.

RUMBLINGS

The Average man is like a whale—when he gets to the top he blows.

The modern idea of raising children is by remote control.

The only friend worth having that you can buy is a dog.

Conscience does not make a good guide if it is put to bed as it begins to hurt.

Most of us criticize the man who hoards wealth because we tried it and didn't make a go of it.

One should not expect too much of the office boy. If he were smart perhaps he would be working for someone else.

MELLOW THOUGHTS

As we write this jumble of words, we look out of our office window and the snow seems to be coming from the skies in an endless fashion. . . . We should envy our friends in sunny Florida but the morning mail brings the news that the weather is so hot there that a cold day would be a relief. . . . another card says that rain has kept everyone inside for the past three days. . . . it seems that we are never satisfied—those in Florida wish for a cold day and we here look for the relief of a rise in temperature. . . . as for ourselves we are satisfied with dear old New England and if we keep our feet dry all will be well.

Our good friend Dr. Ite Berger's open letter in this newspaper a couple weeks ago seems to have stirred up plenty interest in these surroundings and I quite agree with the sentiments so aptly expressed in his letter—Dr. Berger has taken a sincere interest and a determined leadership in matters which so acutely concern us and I can appreciate his thoughts on the actions of many of our own people. . . . it seems that some people only move after the "horse has been stolen from the stable". . . . I sincerely hope that Dr. Berger's letter will focus the attention of local Jewry on conditions outside our own little state—we should remember that Jewry does live beyond the borders of Rhode Island or should I even say Providence.

HITS AND MISSES

The Sam Soforenkos are two more fortunate who are in Florida having left our frigid zone on last Saturday and friend Sam once more emerges as leading agent in the whole U. S. A. for the New York Life, being number 1 man amongst nearly 10,000, having written over $2,000,000 of insurance during the past year. . . . letter will we'll say. . . . Men's Club of Temple Beth-El will offer as main attraction at meeting on Wednesday, Feb. 26, Clarence D. McKean of the Bureau of Investigation or in other words a "G" man—looks like an interesting evening.

Rehearsals for Repertory Players production of "Success Story" which will be presented for two nights March 2 and 3 at Barker Playhouse going along in fine shape—incidentally Prof. Thomas Crosby of Brown University has been continuing rehearsals this week in absence of regular director, Bill Smith—this looks like the best production yet offered by this talented group.

Roger Williams Lodge, B'nai Brith will conduct the services tonight at Temple Emanu-El with Rev. Earl H. Tomlin, minister of Calvary Baptist Church delivering the sermon—B'nai Brith lodges in every section of the country will also hold services in nearly every city tonight as their contribution to Brotherhood Days—a worthy effort by the greatest of Jewish fraternal orders. . . . William Grayson says the water is fine at Miami.

Rabbi and Mrs. Schussheim are real proud of daughter Israela after her fine piano recital of last week. . . . several want to know who the other four couples are on my predicted list of engagement announcements—I can say is you must be patient as these will be set forth in due time. . . . saw our old crony Walter Cobe in New Haven last week and he and the missus, the former Ruth Zellermayer, want to be remembered to all "youse boys and gals."

Temple Emanu-El will act again as host to the Rhode Island Ministerial Association on next Monday afternoon when Rabbi Stephen S. Wise will be the speaker—this body's membership is composed of Protestant clergymen and Jewish rabbis from the entire state. . . . on the staffs of the St. Joseph Hospital for the coming year are listed the following: Dr. Ite Berger, Dr. Ben Sharp, Herman Winkler, Stanley Freedman, Jay Fishbein, Isaac Gerber, William Cohen, Meyer Saks, Edward Seltzer, Bradford Portnoy, Frank Jacobson, and Dr. Ed. Brown, dentist.

HELTER SKELTER

Irving Winograd and Nissey Pearlman shook a couple of mean "hoofs" at Hillsgrove on Sunday night last—my how the ladies do fight for the legalities. . . . and here I am a mere advertising man. . . . Max Rosenhirsch has been appointed a member of the Administrative Board of the local Zionist body. . . . Max Winograd left for Miami last week to join Phil Harry Gourse there. . . . glad to see Phil Taber looking so well after that long siege of illness.

Max Fradin and all his guests kissed the "Blarney Stone" on Sunday night. . . . for more details ask Max—no it is not like Monopoly. . . . the burglar alarm at Harry Pinkerton's store went better skelter the other p. m. giving our guardians a little trouble for their money. . . . Ira Galkin is waiting for partner Jake Kenner to return so he can begin that belated vacation. . . . reliable Ted Max headed Elks 68th anniversary committee and among those assisting were Jack Stallman, Nat Landy, Abe Tasher and Sam Silverman. . . . they tell me that one of the local sweet ladies will soon tell the world of her great interest in that N. Y. City young man.

Harry Loeb Jacobs carried on his usual fine style as chairman of Gov. Green's debate with Charley Sison which featured the Town Crier's luncheon at the Biltmore on Monday. . . . don't miss Carl Sandburg at the Jewish Center on Sunday night—how well I remember reading several years ago his unusual book on Abraham Lincoln, "The Prairie Years".

EMANU-EL HOST TO RABBI WISE

Will Speak Before Men's Club and Ministers

Dr. Stephen S. Wise, Rabbi of the Free Synagogue of New York will be guest speaker on two occasions when he visits Providence on Monday.

In the morning he will address 300 members of the Rhode Island Ministerial Association at Temple Emanu-El on the topic "The Christian-Jewish Tragedy—Will it Never End?" This subject was chosen in deference to the nationally observed Brotherhood Day sponsored by the National Conference of Jews and Christians.

The Men's Club of Temple Emanu-El will be hosts to Dr. Wise in the evening. He will speak then on the subject, "The World Jewish Scene Today."

Herman Aisenberg, president of the Men's Club stated that the meeting will be open to paid-up members of the club. Each member may bring one lady guest.

Hadassah Honors Mrs. Warburg on 60th Birthday

New York (WNS)—More than 2,000 members of Hadassah celebrated Mrs. Felix M. Warburg's 60th birthday by tendering her a reception at which renewed efforts were made to raise the $200,000 still needed to complete the $750,000 building fund for the Hadassah-Rothschild-University medical center in Jerusalem. Speakers included Mrs. Warburg, who made a plea for aid "to aged Jewish youth in Germany." Mrs. Ite Warburg, daughter-in-law of Professor Otto Warburg of Germany, and a leader in the Youth Aliyah project, Dr. Nathan Ratnof, president of the American Jewish Physicians Committee, and Mrs. Edward Jacobs, president of Hadassah. A half-ton model of the medical center, made of wood and steel, was displayed at the reception.

London Jews Ask Protection Against Fascists

London (WNS)—Thousands of Jewish storekeepers and merchants in the Shoreditch district of London have appealed to the British Government to protect them against anti-Semitic threats and agitation fostered by Sir Oswald Mosley's Fascist Blackshirts.
In a petition submitted to Sir John Simon, Home Minister, by M. Turtel, Labor M. P. from Shoreditch, the Jews declare that their windows have been smeared with swastikas and their shops picketed by blackshirts. They also complain that they have received threatening letters. Turtel has also received threats.
Sir John has promised to do something about the matter. The Daily News-Chronicle warns the government not to ignore this situation because such incidents may lead to Hitlerism.

MUNI AS PASTEUR AT MAJESTIC

Wini Shaw in "Broadway Hostess" Second Feature

Paul Muni comes to the screen of the Majestic Theatre today in what is said to be his greatest film characterization, "The Story of Louis Pasteur," a Cosmopolitan production released by First National.
Muni portrays Louis Pasteur, the great French chemist and bacteriologist who contributed so much to science. The story, by Sheridan Gibney and Pierre Collings, centers about Pasteur's battle against ignorance and prejudice, to save life through fertilization and the use of vaccines against disease.
Josephine Hutchinson plays the part of his faithful wife who shared his exile and aided him in his experimental work. The romantic roles are carried out by Anita Louise, as the daughter of Pasteur, and Donald Woods who portrays one of the few physicians who believed in the great chemist.
Winifred Shaw, Broadway actress, appears in a stellar singing role on the screen for the first time in "Broadway Hostess," the First National production. Miss Shaw has appeared in several films recently, but this is her first opportunity as the feminine lead.
The role was quite familiar to Miss Shaw, for she formerly sang in New York night clubs. She is teamed with Phil Regan, the masculine singing lead, with whom she started in radio work three years ago.

TEMPLE EMANU-EL

Temple Emanu-El and the Roger Williams Lodge of the B'nai B'rith are uniting in sponsoring a Brotherhood Day Service this (Friday) evening, at 8:15 o'clock.
The guest preacher for this special service will be the Rev. Dr. Earl H. Tomlin, Minister of the Calvary Baptist Church. He will speak on the subject "Ruins—Rebuilt." Dr. Tomlin has returned recently from Palestine and he has become well known for his liberal utterances on race relations. A group of members of the B'nai B'rith Lodge, led by Edward Goldberger, will lead in various parts of the religious services.

Leon Glantz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Glantz, will celebrate his Bar Mitzvah tomorrow (Saturday) morning. Fred Weiser, Director of Religious Education, will address the Bar Mitzvah boy.

Touro Fraternal Plans
Special Evening

Touro Fraternal will make merry Monday night at their headquarters with a party that contains fun for all. Under the chairmanship of Teddy Max a lively program has been arranged. Assisting Mr. Max are Dr. Albert C. Berger, Irving I. Cohen, Samuel R. Emsgold, Bernard Goodman, Benjamin Jenksy, Max Krits, Irving Loebar, Samuel Ress and Jacob Temkin, ex-officio.

PAUL KELLY TOPS
SHIPBOARD FILM

"Here Comes Trouble" Opens
at Fay's Today

Doris Skip, winner of the St. Vincent de Paul radio contest, begins a week's engagement at Fay's Theatre today. Miss Skip, who is blind, will sing several songs at each appearance.
Paul Kelly and Arline Judge, an engine room Romeo and his cuticle-cutting cutie, are the top names in the cast of "Here Comes Trouble," the new Fox picture coming today to Fay's Theatre, with a ship load of laughs and dramatic thrills in a story of life aboard a luxury liner.

Spanish señoritas get this breezy sailor into all sorts of trouble ashore, and jewel thieves keep him in mischief aboard ship. And through it all, Kelly and Miss Judge are wildly in love, even if they persist in taking it out of each other with biting comedy and sarcasm.

Mona Barrie, a lovely lady with "making ways," beguiles Kelly into becoming an unwitting accomplice in a jewel robbery, and thus leads up to the slam-bang climax of the picture. In the end, Miss Judge gets her man, although she has to lead a platoon of police and Sammy Cohen to his rescue.

Produced under supervision of John Stone, "Here Comes Trouble" features Gregory Ratoff, the Russian comedian; Edward Brophy, Halliwell Hobbes and Andrew Tombs in the leading featured roles.

Beneficial Association Will Celebrate 45th Anniversary

The Providence Workmen's Beneficial Association will celebrate their 45th anniversary at 133 Mathewson street next Sunday. The organization, formed in 1891, as the Sick and Bod Benefit, supported many institutions throughout the country.

It now has a membership of 60. The members under the direction of M. Bilstein, treasurer; Carl Michaelson, chairman of the social committee; M. E. Cramer, secretary; I. Okin, treasurer; and W. Seminoif, J. Stein, and Phillip Goldman, have arranged a fine program for the celebration.

Consumptive Relief Association
Forms R. I. Unit

Mrs. Zelig Gordon was installed as president of the newly formed Jewish Consumptives Relief Society of Denver, Colo., at a meeting held last Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Louis Lovett on Miller avenue. The meeting was conducted by Joseph Millman, field secretary, and officers were installed by Mrs. Mark Harris, president of the New York organization.
Other officers installed were Mrs. Lovitt, first vice-president; Mrs. Samuel Kasper, second vice-president; Mrs. William Lipson, third vice-president; Mrs. Harry Gilbert, treasurer; Mrs. Ben M. Poulten, secretary; Mrs. Louis Uloff, financial secretary; and Mrs. Louis Garnick, social secretary. Mrs. Harris addressed the 30 charter members present.
Dr. Eske Wandsberg then addressed the ladies on the important part surgery is playing to combat Tuberculosis. He deplored the fact that the "White Plague" is taking its death toll now mainly of young people between the ages of 18 and 22, and urged the members to do their utmost for the support of this worthy undertaking.
At the close of the meeting, Mrs. Lovett served tea from a Russian Samovar and cakes.

Worth $1,450,000

London (WNS)—An estate valued at $1,450,000 was left by the late Marquis of Reading, who died on December 30. The bulk of his estate went to his widow and son. Charitable bequests were left to the Jewish Board of Guardians.
